The rider galloped his mount down the sand about 400 yards or so. He finally wheeled the horse and remained stationary, facing his audience. The man who held the needle and thread waved them in his hand and rode toward the other. When he had covered about two-thirds of the distance he halted and waved his hand to the farther one. Immediately the latter spurred his horse into a gallop and came toward the audience at full speed. As he passed the other he took the needle and thread from his companion, bent over for a moment and pulled up when he reached the visiting Frenchman, holding the threaded needle triumphantly over his head.—St. Louis Republic.

DRESDEN POLICE.

They Are Permitted to Impose Small Fines on Offenders.

One advantage accrues to the respectable member of the community from the minuteness with which the Dresden police look into the affairs of every inhabitant of the city. If he is a careful man and always carries papers which may serve to establish his identity he is practically immune from the indignity of being arrested and marched off to the police station unless, indeed, he commits some especially heinous crime. Does he drive faster than the law permits, does he cross a bridge on the left hand side, he is stopped by the guardian of law and order and requested to give his name. If he has his papers with him the policeman may then and there impose a fine of from 1 to 3 marks. If then he admits that he is in the wrong and pays the fine the incident is closed. If, however, he wishes to appeal from the policeman's decision he may do so. Even in that case he is not arrested, but a day or two later he is notified to appear in court and answer to the charge against him. But then if he is found guilty the lowest fine that can be imposed is 3 marks. That this custom of permitting the policeman personally to impose small fines is little understood by foreigners is shown by a remark made by a gentleman who had lived in Germany the greater part of his life and in Dresden for a number of years. In reply to any inquiry as to whether there was ever any question of corruption in the police department he replied:

"No; none whatever so far as the higher officers are concerned. The individual men, however, may be bribed occasionally. For instance, if I were to walk on the grass in the Grossegarten and a policeman caught me at it I would give him a mark or two, and that would end the matter."

Crushed.

The late Sir Charles Hammond was addressing a meeting during a general election, at which he was a cent in Newcastle, when a man interrupted him. "Get yer 'air cut, Charlie!" he shouted.

Sir Charles, who was a magistrate, calmly adjusted his glasses and silenced the interrupter by saying, "My friend, if I am not mistaken, I have been the means of having your hair cut before today."—London Tatler.

Chastened.

A Wall street broker, turning the corner of Broad street, saw a friend coming down the steps which lead out of the office of a well known financier. This departing caller had a chastened and bored expression on his handsome face, and the Wall street broker inquired the cause. With thoughtful deliberation his friend replied:

"I just have been experiencing the unconscious insolence of conscious wealth."—New York Press.

Miss Griffith and Miss B. Griffith spent the past week with Miss Minnie Cookson at Delhi Cottage, Burleigh Falls.

THE NEW GOLDEN BUCKET

A few years ago, the recovery of Gold from auriferous grounds and subaqueous beds, was considered impossible. The "pan" and "grimsy:" operated by hand, appeared to be the sole method of recovering values. It was during this period that Dr. Linderman, Director of the United States Mint expressed the opinion that he who, could devise a machine, without adding proportionately to the cost of production, capable of saving 50 per cent. of all the placer gold, would not only enrich himself, but within the lives of men still living, would double the world's available gold bullion. The Director of the United States Mint further said,—"WE CAN HARDLY HOPE FOR THIS, THOUGH NO MAN DARE SAY IT IS IMPOSSIBLE."

The perfected modern Dredge, is to-day a substantial reality. Allowing for delays in shifting, for necessary repairs, etc., the Gold Dredge runs on an average about 18 hours out of twenty-four, thus making up in length of working day, loss of operation during winter months. Dredges are operated in ready made mining areas, recovering millions of dollars annually, at the lowest possible cost.

The Director of the Mint of the United States in his report for 1909 says:

"The Gold Dredge makes money where a coolie would starve."

Outing Magazine: "When you think that bold inventive talent has been able to devise machinery that makes it profitable to extract ten cents worth of gold from a ton of earth, the enterprise becomes one of the romances of American industry."

"A chain of powerful buckets bite into the earth, each bringing up a tremendous quantity of earth and gravel. These are subjected to screen treatment and the gold recovered."

California in 45 years, within radius of less than ten miles of placer ground, produced $200,000,000 in gold. To-day the vast number of Modern Dredges working over ol ground are recovering millions annually.

PAWNSHOP LINGO.

A Business Chat Between a Customer and His Uncle.

Maybe you never had occasion to go to a pawnshop. Probably it's just as well. If you ever have gone there, though, you may have learned that the pawnshop has a lingo of its own.

Here is a conversation overheard—oh, a man told me about it—in a place on Ontario street.

A young man with a worldly wise expression had just walked in, unhooked a large gold watch from a chain and handed it to the man across the counter for inspection.

"How many do I cop on the chimer?" he inquired nonchalantly.

"Cough your figure," said the duck behind the counter.

"Would four smackers find you in the front parlor?"

"Not on my cheekbone. I've got a dry load of 'em for forty."

"Aw, well, pass me over sixty Mexicans, then."

"Nope. Come again. Thirty's too strong for me."

"Say, bo, where do you think I gets this ticker—by findin' six out o' twelve faces in the picture?" inquired the young man with a disgusted look. "Anyhow, twenty-five's the rock figure. That goes. Nothin' less.

"Twenty-five on a gilt dial," murmured the money lender as he wrote out the ticket and the transaction was ended.

The next customer was a red haired youth with a forehead about one and one-eighth inch high and carrying a suit of clothes under his arm.

"How often for me happy togs?" he asked, spreading them out on the counter.

"Up to you."

"Bout four, then. They're guy ones."

"Split," said the other incoolly. "Better rake it down ten. Can't play the high one."

"What—say a double on them giddy rags?" in a tone of injury.

"Two's the limit."

"You win." And, taking the two dollar bill and his ticket, he went his way.

VOL. XXXI NO. 160 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO THURSDAY JULY 14 1910 PRICE TWO CENTS

Large Number of Pupils Likely to Fail on Matriculation Papers

Toronto, July 13.—It is thought from work already done at the Normal School, where a corps of examiners from all over the Province is engaged in examining the papers of candidates at the recent matriculation and teachers' examinations, that about fifty per cent. of the students will fail in chemistry. The paper in that subject is said to have been the hardest the candidates found. Forty per cent. of the total marks are required for pass standing. The paper in physics was also difficult, and it is expected that one-third of the students will fail in it. There was considerable trouble, too with the paper on Latin authors, and between the three subjects the percentages of failures is said to be very large.

POLICE ARE READY FOR SUFFRAGETTES

TONIGHT IF CONCILIATION BILL IS KILLED.

The Situation is Grave—Police Believe Women Will Grow Turbulent If They Don't Get Ballot.

London, July 12.—The fight for woman suffrage in England has reached the crucial stage, and the police authorities are gravely making elaborate preparations to put down disorder in the event the House of Commons tonight kills the Shackleton Conciliation bill, granting the ballot to women.

The authorities are massing as many policemen as possible in the vicinity of the House of Parliament ordering them to put down trouble with a firm hand, but to use no more violence than is necessary in subduing the women. Householders in the vicinity of Parliament, believing that the threatened revolution will be one not yet attempted by the suffragettes are barring their

To force the police to use untoward violence would, according to politicians be a great feather in the caps of the women, giving them a battle cry that their "brutal opponents" had resorted to striking "defenceless women."

A great crowd is expected in the vicinity of the House tonight when the vote is taken.

The fate of the Shackleton bill is problematical, for it is conceded that party lines will not be a criterion for the vote. Members of all parties, especially of the dominant ones, are badly divided on the question, and the vote is sure to be taken amidst scenes of disorder.

The debate on the bill last night presaged this. It was especially acrimonious.

A CONCILIATORY MEASURE.

Shackleton, the author of the measure, is a labor member from Lancashire. The measure is called the Conciliation bill, because it proposes to conciliate the militant suffragettes and the peaceful suffragettes. It proposes to allow the ballot to women who have property qualifications, and who have already voted in municipal elections. The bill, if passed, would add 1,000,000 women voters to the parliamentary registers.

LEADERS PRESENT.

Among those who spoke in opposition to the bill last night were Jannan Bryce, Richard Haldane, secretary of war; Rt. Hon. William H. Long, and others. William Redmond, the Irish leader, favored the passage of the bill, as did also Sir John Rolleston. Nearly every one of the speakers was of a different political faith, showing how badly the Commons is split on the enfranchisement bill.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York; leader of the American suffragists; the Duchess of Marlborough, Mrs. Vanderbilt, and many other American women were present during the debates.

Chancellor Lloyd George opposes the bill because its limitations are restricted. Secretary Haldane, although an advocate of the ballot for women, supported the government policy.

While addressing an anti-suffragete meeting last night, Lord Cromer was loudly hissed by suffragettes, and the police were forced to expel many women from the hall.

STEWART ROLLS KILLED.

Hero of Double Flight Fell From Aeroplane.

Bournemouth, England, July 12.—Chas. Stewart Rolls, the famous English aviator, who won the honor of being the only man to make a round trip across the English Channel from France to England was killed today in the aviation meet here.

While flying in a Wright machine in the alighting competition for a prize of $1,250, his aeroplane suddenly turned a somersault, crashed to the ground and crushed the aviator to death directly opposite the grand stand.

FRIENDS OF AVIATOR THERE.

The stand was filled with representatives of English society who had been attracted to the contest by the fact that Rolls was to compete today. Many of them were personally acquainted with or were friends of the daring aviator. They cheered him as he arose in the air to a height of 100 feet and the cheers continued as he made one circle of the aviation grounds. The cheers were silenced suddenly when it was noticed that he was having trouble. By this time he had ascended to a height of 125 feet.

MACHINE TURNED OVER.

Almost immediately after the first signs of trouble were noticed the aeroplane turned a complete somersault and then plunged straight down. Rolls attempted to extricate himself but the drop was too swift. The edge of the machine caught him as the two came to the ground together and fatally crushed him. His limbs were fractured, and he died within a few moments after the aeroplane was lifted from his body.

POLICE DROVE CROWD BACK.

Many of the women in the grand stand shrieked frantically as the aviator was seen to fall. Then several of them fainted while their men companions rushed to the field to give aid to the stricken man. They were immediately driven back by the police.

The meet, which opened so auspiciously yesterday, when Drexel, the young American aviator, broke all English records for altitude flights, was marked by a serious accident immediately upon the resumption of the flights today.

LOCAL BOWLERS LOSE.

The Peterborough rink of lawn bowlers, skipped by Mr. R. M. Waddell, after getting into the last eight in the Canadian Bowling Association's tournament at Niagara-on-the Lake, were defeated in the fourth round yesterday morning by Heaman's London rink by 21 to 13. The local quartette made a splendid showing. They won from Boulter of the R.C.Y.C. of Toronto, by 28 to 14, and in the third round from E. A. Legge of Rusholme by 20 to 7.

ARCHIE McLAUGHLIN WALKS TO EXECUTION WITH HEAD ERECT

McLAUGHLIN ADMITS SENTENCE WAS JUST

The following statement was placed in the hands of the Globe, the family newspaper, by Rev. W. B. Tighe, and is published today in the evening edition of that paper:

"Archibald McLaughlin has taken Dr. Abraham and myself into his confidence and admits the justice of his sentence. He has been truly and sincerely penitent and, assured of divine forgiveness, dies at peace with God and men. He leaves a message for young men: 'Be careful of the company you keep, and above all things keep away from all forms of strong drink, which has been my undoing.' At his own request I make this statement for the Toronto Globe exclusively.

"(Signed) W. B. TIGHE."

McLAUGHLIN ISSUES SOLEMN WARNING IN STATEMENT TO THE PRESS—HE ADMITS THAT SENTENCE WAS A JUST ONE.

The Prisoner Shows Splendid Courage Through Ordeal—Wedging of Belt Created Tense Moments When the Spectators Almost Collapsed.

Whitby, July 13.—Amid the tolling of his death knell, and after four unsuccessful attempts to spring the trap, Archibald McLaughlin, the convicted Uxbridge triple murderer, was executed this morning by Arthur Ellis in the jail yard at seven o'clock.

Trouble was caused by the gallows being erected hurriedly. There was no time to place a lever to be used in springing the trap, and the executioner was forced to use a mallet.

As Rev. Dr. Abraham, one of the prisoner's religious advisers, came to the fatal words of the Lord's Prayer, "and deliver us from all evil," Ellis hit the spring sharply with his wooden mallet. The blow resounded through the jail yard.

AGAIN THE HEAVY BLOW.

The trap did not move. Again and again he quickly repeated his strokes, each time gaining in the strength of his blows, until the last and fifth blow resembled the crack of a revolver, and could be heard on the street.

At the sound of each stroke the black capped figure of the doomed man, standing tightly bound, trembled and swayed. Every blow appeared to cut him as with a knife. His head with the rope firmly secured around it shook from side to side as if palsied, while his fingers clenched convulsively.

HORROR OF THE LONG WAIT.

At the sound of the fourth stroke his knees were slowly giving from underneath him as if he were fainting from the cruel strain and prolonged wait.

The fifth blow, following rapidly, succeeded in knocking the bolt from its position. There was a hurried rush of the body through the air, a quick convulsive motion of the rope from one side of the opening to the other, followed by a small and barely perceptible swaying. The law had taken its vengeance.

AFFECTED SPECTATORS.

The effect of the attempts to release the death trap were even more pronounced on the small number of spectators than on the prisoner. As the sickening echo of every blow resounded the witnesses flinched as if physically hurt. Faces became white and some turned their backs on the scene and hurried to the far corner of the yard.

CLERGYMEN DEEPLY MOVED.

The two clergymen were visibly affected. Rev. Dr. Abraham and his assistant, Rev. W. G. Tighe, turned their backs to the trap. The prayers said on the gallows were gasped in a voice scarcely louder than a whisper. At the conclusion of the execution Rev. Dr. Abraham remained a few moments looking down on the motionless figure, while Rev. Mr. Tighe staggered down the steps and buried his face in his hands against the stone wall of the jail."

PRISONER MOST COMPOSED.

The prisoner was the most composed of all. He was even anxious to meet his end, and stated he deserved his fate. He retired this morning about one o'clock after spending from about eight to twelve o'clock with Rev. Mr. Tighe.

This morning he arose at five o'clock in a very nervous condition. He had a light breakfast consisting of one boiled egg, two pieces of toast and a cup of tea. They were brought by Governor Schiller from his own table and the prisoner received them with a bright good morning and a smile of "Thank you."

READ AN EVENING PAPER.

The breakfast, however, he scarcely touched. Later he asked for a Toronto evening paper and with his feet cocked up on a window sill made a pretence of reading until Rev. Mr. Tighe arrived at six o'clock.

He then made his final preparations for death. As the bells chimed seven and the first stroke of the tolling was heard, McLaughlin became deathly pale. He walked from his cell to the end of the corridor, where he was joined by Sheriff Paxton, Governor of the Jail Schiller, High Constable Calvery and Chief of Police Jamieson.

HE WAS IMPATIENT.

The prisoner wanted to go immediately to the scaffold without waiting for Ellis. The latter arrived soon after, however, and against the prisoner's desire bound his hands behind his back. Then headed by the sheriff attired in his official uniform, the solemn procession started for the gallows. As they reached the door in the yard the prisoner saw Frank Bryan, the turnkey, to whom he was greatly attached. A smile played on his lips and he cheerily said; "Good-bye Frank; I'll not forget you in the other world."

Kaiser William Has Changed His Mind

Berlin, July 13.—Germany today experienced a change of heart regarding America's attitude toward her diplomatic relations with Central and South American countries.

Yesterday and this morning, those newspapers which are known to be under the domination of the foreign office declared in harsh language that Germany would never submit to American supervision of her relations with those countries under the protection of the Monroe doctrine.

This afternoon's papers, known to be equally under the control of the foreign office, take an entirely different tact, declaring that Germany recognizes the right of the United States to maintain her self-appointed guardianship over Central and Southern American countries.

ARE NOT VASSALS.

This morning, the Berliner Post, in an ingeired editorial, declared that Germany did not care what America thought of the Kaiser's letter to President Madriz of Nicaragua.

"We are not vassals of the American president, and we shall do as we please," said the editorial.

The Berliner Zeitung, official government organ, in a similarly inspired editorial this afternoon, says: "The German government does not claim the right to maintain diplomatic relations with Central and South American countries without the supervision of the American government."

All Field Crops are Good in Ontario

Ottawa, July 13.—The government crop report to the end of June issued today says all field crops are good in Ontario, the highest being 94.29 for fall and the lowest 64.79 for spring wheat.

Quebec crop ranges from 74 for mixed grains to 102 for hay and clover. These crops are also good in the lower provinces.

The general conditions of crops in Manitoba is below the average, on account of drouth. The lowest is around Brandon and Morden.

In Saskatchewan the crops do not appear to have suffered nearly so much. In Alberta, south of townships 30, the yield is below the average, but much better around Edmonton and The best reports are from the Strathcona district. The field crops in British Columbia are all good.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS THANK LOCAL CITIZENS.

They Appreciate the Way They Were Treated by Civic Officials and the Local Press.

Well, the Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias of Ontario, after meeting three days in Peterborough, has adjourned. During their visit to Peterborough the Knights thoroughly enjoyed themselves and will leave for their respective homes with only the kindest words for Peterborough and her citizens.

During the final session yesterday afternoon the Special Committee on Resolutions presented a report thanking the aldermen and City Council, the chief of the fire brigade and the local lodge and its members for their splendid efforts in the entertainment of the delegates, also thanking the local papers for devoting so much space to our proceedings.

It was decided to hold the next Grand Lodge session in Sarnia on the second Tuesday in July, 1911.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Grand Chancellor—F. B. Hubert, Hamilton.

Grand Vice Chancellor—Thos. H. Manly, Sarnia.

Prelate—H. J. Dilley, Toronto.

Grand K. of R. and S.—Alexander Coulter, Toronto.

Grand Master of E.—John Burns, Hamilton.

Grand M. at A.—Chas. Farquharson, Stratford.

Grand Inner Guard—Oscar Rumpel—Berlin.

Grand Outer Guard—Chas. Blewett Peterborough.

The officers were then installed by Past Grand Chancellor Davidson of St. Thomas. The Grand Lodge then adjourned.

OLD SOLDIER ALLOWED TO GO.

Big Array of Prisoners at Police Court Yesterday Morning.

Yesterday morning things were moving strenuously in the local police court. Some nineteen cases, in all, were tried before acting Magistrate City Clerk S. R. Armstrong. Of these fourteen were cases against citizens who used the pavements instead of the roadways for their bicycles. Each of the offendors was fined the usual $2.

A man named J. Price, who claimed to be an old soldier, was charged with having been drunk. Price pleaded for another chance, saying he was going to the Soldiers' Home. He was allowed to go.

The next alleged drunk, P. Barrie, claimed to be an old miner. Barrie said he had $50 in his pocket when he reached the city on Tuesday. The prisoner had a few simoleons left and paid a $2 fine. He left the court room saying he had still enough left to leave Peterborough on his way to the mines in Oregon.

A case of assault and two other drunks were billed for the morning, but owing to the absence of Police Magistrate Hendrie, they were left over, promising to appear on Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Nothing in the way of a cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so throughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety, even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. Its remarkable curative effect. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

THE NEW CHIEF.

Mr. Thompson Shows That He Knows How to Control Street Traffic in Emergencies.

Without wishing to throw buquets at Peterborough's new chief of police, credit should be given him for the manner in which he handled the turnout of the fire brigade yesterday at noon. The delegates to the Knights of Pythias Grand Lodge meeting now in session here, had requested that the Peterborough fire brigade gave an exhibition of their prowess. This was willingly granted. Shortly before the noon hour an alarm was sounded, and, from the fire hall, in a few seconds sped Chief Howard, followed by the hook and ladder waggon, the hose wagon, steam fire engine, in fact the full appliances of the local brigade, fully manned. The route of this exhibition turnout was along Hunter St. towards the Otonabee river. As the parade was passing George street a south bound car approached the corner of Hunter street. Chief Thompson stood in the center of George street and, as the police of, say, London or New York, in similar conditions, simply held up his hand as the car approached and commanded the motorman to stop.

Judging by his action as seen by a Times representative the motorman seemed to hesitate between his duty to the company employing him and the authority of the recently appointed chief of police. It might be noted that Chief Thompson had not yet donned his official uniform. However the authority of the new chief won out and the car stopped a few feet from where Chief Thompson stood with upraised arm.

Jury Blames Wiring For Vinette's Death

Final Session of Inquest on Isadore Vinette Brings Out Much Expert Evidence Some of It Contradictory

Last night the inquest on Isadore Vinette was continued in the City Council Chamber with Coroner Dr. Greer in the chair. Mr. Gordon, of O'Connell & Gordon, asked to take part in questioning the witnesses as he appeared for Mrs. Vinette, widow of the deceased. County Crown Attorney Wood objected, stating that the inquest was simply to find the cause of death of Vinette. He said the court was convened only to consider cause of death and that a lawyer for a third party could not work up a case for his client in that court. The coroner sustained Mr. Wood in his contention. The coroner, however consented to allow Mr. Gordon to put such questions as he wanted answered through Mr. Wood.

The first witness called was "Rock" Gordon, who said Vinette had no gloves (that is rubber gloves) on.

"Rock" Briou said he had had long experience in line work. He examined the fatal pole. The wires were in a dangerous condition. One wire came down that should not be there. The current came down this as through the main wire. This wire touched the brace to the cross arm. This made it dangerous for any man to pass through on the cross arms. His leg, as well as his arms might have got a shock. Witness said he had been 17 years at wire work, both telegraph and power. If he had gone up that pole he would have cut off the upright wire. Rubber gloves are not an absolute protection as another part of the body might be touched.

J. H. Greer, in charge of the power house at Auburn, said he went down on Monday to see the pole, at request of Vinette's brother. He went with Mr. Fife. He considered the upright to be dangerous. The faulty wire made an electrical contact with the brace. If the brace had not been there there would not have been so much danger. This brace should have been placed differently.

Batiste Vinette, a brother of the deceased, said he, as a lineman on the C.P.R., had made a thorough examination of the pole where the accident occurred. He found that one of the wires of the Otonabee Power Co., was tied by a piece of marlin to a tree so as to keep the live wire away from a seat on the telephone polecross the street. This marlin showed signs of having been there for a long time.

Thos. Sproats, foreman for the Bell Telephone Co., gave evidence similar to that given by former witnesses. He, however, was not acquainted with power lines.

This ended the evidence. Mr. Medd made as strong a case as possible for the Otonabee Co., cross-examining each witness.

Coroner Greer told the jury that they had, without being prejudiced by any consideration, to seek whether the deceased came to his death through any carelessness on his part or on the part of the Otonabee Power Co. He also recommended that the jury report whether in their opinion or not an expert appointed by the city, with no sympathy or otherwise as regards the different companies, should be appointed to thoroughly inspect all wiring throughout the city. Dr. Greer demonstrated that he simply desired the jury to bring in a verdict absolutely based on the evidence given.

The jury retired shortly after 11 o'clock and at eight minutes to twelve brought in the following verdict:

..."The verdict of this jury it that Isodore Vinette came to his death by an electric shock received from the Otonabee Light & Power Company's wires, while in their employ, which wires we think were carelessly constructed at this particular place, causing him to fall, resulting in his death. We, your Jury, would recommend that some system of expert inspection of all electric wires should be inaugurated in this city for the safety of all engaged in that work, as well as the general public."

Great Airship Was Dashed to Earth---Five Occupants Met Death

Berlin, July 13.—Falling from a great height the airship Erbsloch was today demolished near Cologne, all five occupants being killed. The ship plunged earthward when suddenly disabled.

CAUGHT IN HEAVY GALE.

The giant-carrying balloon Erbsloch, designed by Erbsloch, the daring aviator who won fame in America in 1908, when he captured the international ballooning cup, was dashed to the ground today in a heavy gale near Cologne. All five occupants of the flyer were killed.

Erbsloch was piloting the machine between Cologne and Dusseldorf when the disaster occurred. With his four companions he was dashed to the ground at terrific speed.

As soon as the news of the disaster reached Dusseldorf a detachment of troops was despatched to the scene.

This is the worst aerial disaster of the decade which has seen the greatest progress in flying, and a harder blow has been struck at the new sport and science by the tragedy than by the frequent wrecking of the Zeppelins.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

Four Deaths and Over Two Million Dollars Loss at Campbellton

THE DEAD.

Dr. Doherty,
Dr. Sproule.
Infant child named Doyle.
O'Keefe.

Campbelltown, N.B., July 13.—After laying waste practically the whole of Campbelltown and the greater part of Richardsville, the fire which started on Monday burned itself out yesterday afternoon, doing two and a half million dollars damage.

The four thousand people who on Monday morning occupied the town of Campbellton are today homeless, and in many cases utterly ruined, with neither food, spare clothing nor shelter. The Government of New Brunswick has sent money to Campbellton for temporary food supplies, and the Dominion Government is rushing tents and blankets to the scene of the disaster. The people of Ontario will now doubtless join in relief measures now that the extent of the calamity is known. Only about seven houses out of the whole town of Campbelltown remain standing. The damage done is approximately $2,500,000, only about half of which is covered by insurance.

FOUR VICTIMS.

Besides the pecuniary loss, a child belonging to a mill hand named Doyle, was suffocated, and two medical doctors, Dr. Beverley Sproule and Dr. Doherty are reported to have lost their lives, the former while trying to escape from the doomed city in his automobile, which exploded, and Dr. Doherty who was ill, in being taken across the river. Another resident, named O'Keefe, is also reported to have been killed.

CHILDREN'S CHEST TROUBLES.

Nurse Carrington Says Her Long Experience Proves the Safest Remedy is to RUB ON NERVILINE.

Every mother knows how difficult it is to get a young child to take a cough mixture. Seldom will one help unless given in large doses, and the result is to completely upset the stomach and make the child sick.

Speaking of the promptest cure for chest troubles and children's colds, Nurse Carrington says: "In all my experience in nursing I haven't met any preparation so dependable as Nerviline. It is the ideal liniment. Every drop you rub on is absorbed quickly, sinks through the pores to the congested muscles, eases, relieves and cures quickly. Especially for chest colds, pain in the side, stiff neck, earache, toothache, I have found Nerviline invaluable. In treating the minor ills of children Nerviline has no equal. I think Nerviline should be in every home."

A million bottles of Nerviline used every year—this is itself a burden of proof that it is the ideal liniment for the home. Refuse anything your dealer may offer instead of Nerviline. Large bottles 25c., five for $1.00. Sold everywhere, and by the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

EMPIRE MIGRATION.

Years ago a London woman was assisted to emigrate to Australia. On her arrival in the new land she at first positively refused to keep a cow, because she had seen one only once, and then it had run at her. A few years after that woman was one of the best butter-makers in the district and her husband the best plowman. This and other proofs of the adaptability of Londoners to life in the overseas dominions were produced at the recent British Emigration Convention in London. The story goes far to justify Mr. Magrath's theory that Western Canada will yet drawupon the congested centers of Great Britain for much of its agricultural labor. It is evident that crude city material cannot sometimes at least be converted into useful farm help.

The holding of this conference may be regarded as the first step toward the co-ordination of emigration agencies with a view to the direction of British population to other parts of the Empire, so that those who leave the Old Land may not be lost to the flag. In the twenty-three years ended in 1908 over four million people left the British Isles for other parts of the English-speaking world. Of this number, only 1,600,000 settled within the Empire. No less than 2,400,000 went to the United States. All these people and their children are lost to the flag. The conservation of all this man-power is a pressing problem. The Standard of Empire says:

"Its bearing upon Empire defence, trade, unity, and progress generally is direct and fundamental. In the matter of mutual understanding between the different peoples of the Empire, in the matter of the ties both of sentiment and material interest which unite us; in the matter of the development of natural spiritamong the Kindred, and the solution of the most outstanding social and economic problems in every part of Great and Greater Britain, the one consideration of greatest basic importance is the question of man-power; for transfer, conservation and control. Given money power is a small thing beside man power."

At the London conference Mr. L. S. Amery said that the question of distribution of population within the Empire underlay every other problem, and was the most important of all. Co-operation was the very foundation of imperial defence. He hoped that the governments of the Empire should come together, and through responsible men, decide what class of emigration should be encouraged and how it should be done.

The late King grasped the importance of the issue. Twenty-one years ago as Prince of Wales, he delivered an address, in which this passage occurred:

"The colonies offer happy and prosperous homes to thousands who are unable to gain a livelihood within the narrow limits of these islands owing to the pressure of over-population and over-competition. We regard the colonies as integral parts of the Empire, and our warmest sympathies rest within our brethren beyond the seas who are no less dear to us because if they dwelt in Kent or Sussex. In transplanting themselves to our colonies instead of to foreign lands they retain their privileges as citizens of this great Empire, and live under the same flag as subjects of the same sovereign."

It certainly is to be deplored that Britishers should suffer at the hands of the Empire for want of work while in many other parts of the Empire progress is delayed and opportunities are passed over solely from inability to secure the requisite number of workers. Tariff reform will help to provide employment for the unemployed in the Old Land, but, in addition, Imperial statesmen should be able to elaborate an effective plan for the control and direction of British emigration that will be acceptable to all parts of the Empire. Sir Frederick Young suggested the creation of an endowment fund of £10,000,000 to deal with the problem. The Imperial government is called upon to create a minister and a department of emigration. It is desirable also that the Imperial Conference of 1911 should be preceded by a special subsidiary conference upon the problem of emigration under the flag. In the British House of Commons the undersecretary for the colonies has virtually declared that the Imperial Government cannot force such a convention on the over seas dominions. It, therefore, remains for Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South African to take the initiative.

TOOK HIM AT HIS WORD.

Don Platt's Client Had a Stunted Sense of Humor.

A quaint story about Don Platt is told in the "Recollections of a Varied Life," by George Cary Eggleston. The story is given in Mr. Platt's own words:

"When I was a young man trying to get into a law practice in Ohio and eager to advertise myself by appearing in court a fellow was indicted for arson. He came to me, explaining that he had no money with which to pay a lawyer, but that he thought I might like to appear in a case so important and that if I would do the best I could for him he stood ready to do anything for me that he could by way of recompense. I took the case, of course. It was a complex one, and it offered opportunities for browbeating and 'balling up' witnesses—a process that specially impresses the public with the sagacity of a lawyer who does it successfully. Then, if by any chance I should succeed in acquitting my client, my place at the bar would be assured as that of 'a sharp young feller who had beaten the prosecuting attorney himself.'

"But in telling my client I would take his case the demon of humor betrayed me. Just across the street from my lodging was a negro church, and there was a 'revival' going on at the time. They 'revived' till 2 o'clock or later every night with shoutings that interfered with my sleep. With playful impulse I said to the accused man:

"'You seem to be an expert in the arts of arson. If you'll burn that negro church I'll feel that you have paid me full price for my service in defending you.'

"I defended him, and as the witnesses against him were all of shady character I succeeded in securing his acquittal. About 4 o'clock the next morning a fire broke out under all four corners of that negro church, and before the local fire department got a quart of water into action it was a heap of smoldering ashes, hymn books and all. A week or so later I received a letter from my ex-client. He wrote from St. Louis, 'on his way west,' he said. He expressed the hope that I was 'satisfied with results' and begged me to believe that he was a man of honor, who never failed to repay an obligation or reward a service.'"

FIRST PICTURE BOOK.

The Daring Idea That Was Carried Out by Johann Comenius.

Some 300 years ago a German savant had a wonderful vision. At that time children were taught to read by force of arms, so to speak, through hardships and with bitter toil on the part of teacher and of child. It seems curious that the first real step toward lightening the labor of children as they climb the ladder of learning was the product of the imagination not of some fond mother or gentlewoman teacher, but of a bewigged and bottled university doctor.

It was Johann Comenius, however, who first conceived the daring idea that children could be taught by the aid of the memory and the imagination working together, "by means," as he quaintly expressed it, "of sensuous impressions conveyed to the eye, so that visual objects may be made the medium of expressing moral lessons to the young mind and of impressing those lessons upon the memory." In other words, the good old doctor had the bright idea that picture books could be useful to children. Comenius made his first picture book and called it the "Orbis Pictus." It contains rude woodcuts representing objects in the natural world, as trees and animals, with little lessons about the pictures. It is a quaint volume and one that would cause the average modern child not a little astonishment were it placed before him.

As truly, however, as that term may be applied to any other book that has since been written, the "Orbis Pictus" was an epoch making book. It is the precursor of all children's picture books, and modern childhood has great cause to bless the name of Comenius.

Not the Same Spelling.

A stout man had recourse to a doctor to see whether something could not be done to reduce his size. "It's a disgrace, doctor!" he cried. "Just look at this bay window of mine! Now, what would you advise?"

"Well," replied the physician, eying his waist line, "all I can suggest is to diet."

"All right, doctor, I'm willing. What color would you suggest?"—St. Louis Republic.

A Pious Wish.

It was in a city hospital that a man refused to undergo an operation for appendicitis until his minister could be present.

"What do you want the minister here for?" asked the surgeon.

"Because I want to be opened with prayer," was the reply.—New York Tribune.

Cause and Effect.

"After all, a man who marries takes a big chance."

"You're right. I have a friend who contracted a severe case of hay fever immediately after he had married a [illegible]"—Memphis Appeal

THE NEW GOLDEN BUCKET

A few years ago, the recovery of Gold from auriferous grounds and subaqueous beds, was considered impossible. The "pan" and "grizzly," operated by hand, appeared to be the sole method of recovering values. It was during this period that Dr. Linderman, Director of the United States Mint expressed the opinion that he who, could devise a machine, without adding proportionately to the cost of production, capable of saving 50 per cent. of all the placer gold, would not only enrich himself, but within the lives of men still living, would double the world's available gold bullion. The Director of the United States Mint further said—"WE CAN HARDLY HOPE FOR THIS, THOUGH NO MAN DARE SAY IT IS IMPOSSIBLE."

The perfected modern Dredge, is to-day a substantial reality. Allowing for delays in shifting, for necessary repairs, etc., the Gold Dredge runs on an average about 18 hours out of twenty-four, thus making up in length of working day, loss of operation during winter months. These Dredges are operated in ready made mining areas, recovering millions of dollars annually, at the lowest possible cost.

The Director of the Mint of the United States in his report for 1909 says:

"The Gold Dredge makes money where a coolie would starve."

Outing Magazine: "When you think that bold inventive talent, has been able to devise machinery that makes it profitable to extract ten cents worth of gold from a ton of earth, the enterprise becomes one of the romances of American industry."

"A chain of powerful buckets bite into the earth, each bringing up a tremendous quantity of earth and gravel. These are subjected to screen treatment and the gold recovered."

California in 45 years, within radius of less than ten miles of placer ground, produced $300,000,000 in gold. To-day the vast number of Modern Dredges working over old ground are recovering millions annually.

"I am only thirty years old, yet for almost two years I have felt more like seventy-five. I have found it difficult to sleep at night and in the morning feel so depressed and heavy that effort was difficult. My hands were always clammy and perspiration would break out all over me. It was not unnatural that I should begin to brood over the chance that I should soon be unfit to do my work, and this dread made my sleepless nights perfect misery. After repeated trials of medicines and mixtures Dr. Hamilton's Pills gave me the first gleam of hope. From the very first I could see they were different in action from other pills. They didn't gripe and acted as naturally as if nature and not the pills were cleansing my clogged up system. My spirits rose. I felt much better, the sluggish action of the system gave way to normal activity Dizziness and headache ceased, appetite, good color and ambition to work returned and have remained. I am like a new man and I thank Dr. Hamilton's Pills for it all."

This was the experience of J. E. Parthurst, a well-known grocert dealer in Jefferson. Follow his advice. Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills for your stomach, kidneys and liver and you'll enjoy good health and robust good health. How About Peterborough Milk?

The recently appointed milk inspector of Buffalo, N.Y., has caused a revolution in the milk business of that city. He not only has all the milk entering Buffalo thoroughly tested, but causes his staff to visit the farms whence milk is sent to that city. By actual microscopic test he found, on taking up his inspection business, that 500,000 bacteria existed in the average samples of milk tested to the cubic centimetre, or teaspoonful. He has already reduced the average number to 125,000, and hopes to reduce the disease breeding germs to at the worst, 50,000. The point to consider is how much "coeci" could be found to a cubic centimeter of Peterboro's supply of the lacteal fluid. The Buffalo health officer, referred to, has every can of milk not meeting with full requirements to be spilled into the street gutters.

EASY TO FLOAT.

Simple Rules That Will Aid Those Who Want to Learn.

"It is inexcusable for anyone to cause the death of a good swimmer," remarked an old and enthusiastic swimmer.

"Any normal person can float in the water," he said. "A good swimmer can learn more easily than others, and he should learn it. There may be human bodies that will be entirely submerged if unsupported, but I doubt it, and I know that such bodies are rare.

"Probably the bodies of drowned people sink because they have taken in large quantities of water. Whether this is or is not the explanation is not important.

"With the air expelled as much as possible by ordinary breathing and with no swimming movement some part of the head will remain above the water. If the experiment is to be prolonged it is more agreeable to throw the head back and have the nose above the water, but that is a detail.

"When you are in the water you should practice floating. It is easier to float in deep than in shallow water, but until you have learned to swim prudence demands that you remain where you can stand with your head above water. Walk out until the surface is near your shoulders. You can float in a less depth, but it is more difficult. Allow yourself to fall backward. Make no effort to prevent sinking. Let your nose point to the south. Your head may go under water, but it will rise again. You can take my word for it, knowing that if you fail you can stand on your feet.

"If you have followed instructions you should float the first time. The important thing to remember first, last and all the time is: Hold your breath all the time unless you know you will take in air and not water.

"You who have not learned to float may be thrown into the water. You may have a few hours or a few seconds of warning. Use those few or many seconds to get control of yourself, and there are two things you should bring to the front in your thoughts. Refrain from breathing except when you know you will take in air and not water, and if a swimmer attempts to rescue you make no effort to grasp him except when and as he requests.

"If he is a wise and a good swimmer he will not allow you to do this as an effort to grasp him will add to his labors, and he will need all his strength."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE FIGHT PICTURES.

Will Not Use Arbitrary Powers to Suppress Fight Pictures.

New York, July 9.—Mayor Gaynor flatly states that he will not use arbitrary power to suppress the exhibition of the Johnson-Jeffries fight pictures and repeats that "Ours is a government of laws, and not of men. In a letter today to Rev. O. R. Miller of the International Reform Bureau, the mayor says:

"If it lays in my power to say whether the pictures should be exhibited, it would not take me long to decide it. I do not see how it can do any good to loook at them. But will you be so good as to remember thatours is a government of laws and not of men. Will you please get that well into your head? I am not able to do as I like as mayor, I must take the law just as it is, and you may be absolutely certain that I shall not take the law into my hands.

"You say that you are glad to see that the mayors of many cities have 'ordered that these pictures shall not be exhibited.' Indeed? Who set them up as autocrats? If there be some valid law giving any mayor such power then he can exercise it, otherwise not.

The growing exercise of arbitrary power in this country by those put in office would be far more dangerous and it is far more to be dreaded than certain other vices which we all wish to minimize or be rid of. People little know what they are doing when they try to encourage officials to resort to arbitrary power.

Narrow Escape From Serious Hurt.

An almost serious accident occurred at Jackson Crossing a few miles from town on Tuesday evening. Mr. Albert Millikan, who resides at the Maple Leaf Hotel, Ashburnham, whilst returning from Keene, with a friend, saw the Bellevile train approaching. The horse, instead of responding to a pull on the lines ran into the train. The driver and buggy was thrown into the ditch, and the horse fell. The train was stopped, and Mr. Millikan was taken on board and brought to the city. He was not badly hurt. The horse was injured about the shoulder, knee and mouth, but not seriously. The buggy was badly wrecke

For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. The Nipigon Drowning A Triple Murder?

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 14.—Word was received here last night from Nipigon district that the body of Geo. Grant, who was drowned there, was recovered, and would be sent to the Soo for burial.

Mystery still hangs over the accident. Two of the other persons who were drowned at the same time are said to have had $1,600 in gold in belts around the bodies. The bodies of the two have not yet been found though huge nets were strung across the mouth of the river to keep bodies from floating into the lake.

The body of Grant was found floating near the nets by Indians. There are rumors to the effect that the other two and Grant were robbed and drowned or shot. As Grants body is so decomposed, it is impossible to ascertain whether he was shot or otherwise injured. ...

EARTHQUAKE IN BAVARIA.

Whole Population Greatly Alarmed—Shocks Lasted Several Minutes.

Munich, Bavaria, July 14.— A sharp earthquake was felt here at 9.45 o'clock. The walls of several buildings were cracked.

The wave-like movement continued for three seconds, thoroughly terrifying the people, who fled from their homes and remained in the streets long after the disturbance had ceased. The shock was also felt in the surrounding villages, including Garmisch.

A report from Oberammergau says that the shock was noticeable there, but that little damage was done.

Narrow Escape at Deer Bay.

A near serious accident occurred a few days ago at beautiful Deer Bay. Mr. Nicholls, a retired school master, who spends the summer near that stretch of the Kawartha Lake, paddled out in his canoe to meet a steamer going into the Lovesick lock, and was drawn in between the boat and scow that she was towing. It was by the barest possible margin that Mr. Nicholls escaped being drawn under the scow.

Woman's Throat Cut While She was Asleep

Rochester, N.Y., July 14.—A murder took place early this morning, when the throat of a woman named Nicolino Fusio, aged 25 years, was slashed by a man who had climbed through the window of her home at 124 Magne street. After the killing the murderer set fire to the house

A 12-year-old daughter of the victim told the police that Peter Morendoli killed her mother. At the time of the crime the Fusio woman was living with Frank Zavagiseri. The police say she formerly lived with Morendoli, and jealousy is ascribed as the motive for the murder. The police are looking for Morendoli.

ENGINEERS DID NOT RESIGN.

Report That Quebec Bridge Board of Engineers Was Disrupted, is Flatly Denied.

Ottawa, Ont., July 13t—The statement sent from Montreal last night to the effect that two of the engineers engaged upon the work of preparing the plans for the new Quebec bridge, Messrs. Ralph Modjeska of Chicago, and Maurice Fitzmaurice of London, England, had tendered their resignations to the minister of railways is given an emphatic denial by Deputy Minister Campbell.

PLANS APPROVED.

Mr. Modjeska was here yesterday and had a long talk with Mr. Campbell over the bridge and Mr. Campbell states that he never even hinted at any desire to resign. The plans for the bridge, which are now on exhibition in the department were approved by the whole six engineers, and tenders have been called for based upon them returnable on September 1.

NO SERIOUS FRICTION.

While it is possible that there may be some individual friction between the three original members of the commission, owing to the fact that Mr. Vautelet of Montreal, is the only man on the spot and naturally is called upon to have a greater share in the supervision of the carrying out of the work, no information has reached the department which would indicate that it is of a serious nature.

Mr. D. McPherson, who six months ago operated a hardware store in Vancouver, B.C., and who is on a trip round the world, left yesterday morning for Toronto, after a short visit in Peterborough. This traveller is a brother of Dr. A. W. McPherson of this city. Six months ago Mr. McPherson in company with a friend set sail for Japan where a stay of some weeks was enjoyed. They then sailed down the coast of China and stopped at all the larger seaport towns and cities. Italy, Spain, Germany and France were also visited in turn. In Germany Mr. McPherson endeavored to study the national feeling towards England. Mr. McPherson made a stay of two or three weeks in each of these countries.

TRAPPED ON BURNING STEAMER PASSENGERS PLUNGED INTO SEA

108 PASSENGERS PERISH WHEN STEAMER BURNS AND FOUNDERS.

Was Loaded With Refugees—Children Were Thrown Overboard by Parents, Hoping They Would be Picked up.

A Mad Struggle for Life Follows Outbreak of the Fire— Fleet of Craft of all Sizes Hurry to the Aid of the Victims.

Odessa, July 14.—Trapped on a burning, sinking steamer, one hundred and six men, women and children perished near Kherson, on the Black Sea, according to despatches received here today.

After collision with the steamer Wampoa, the passenger steamer Lovki, crowded with passengers, foundered. Her boilers exploded, and many of the victims were scalded to death Many of the dead are reported to have been Jewish refugees.

THREW CHILDREN OVERBOARD

...Not a score of those who were aboard the ill-fated vessel, escaped, say the advices. In the tangle of blazing debris men fought down women in the struggle for safety. Mothers threw their children overboard, hoping that they would be picked up, only to see them drown. The stampede for the boats, in which all but the stronger were trampled down, was checked only by the explosion of the boilers, which lifted the steamer from the water and rendered it asunder.

ALL TRACE DISAPPEARED.

Within fifteen minutes of the collision there was no trace of the Lovki save charred debris and the bodies of the victims.

The two vessels came together, according to the first reports in the arm of the Black Sea, at the mouth of the river Dneiper, known as the Bay of Otchakov.

RELIEF FROM KHERSON.

From Kherson, a city of seventy thousand, the capital of the Province of the same name, relief was sent within a short time, a fleet of craft of all sizes hurrying to the aid of the victims.

Some were picked up. Most of those on the doomed steamer were torn to bits or stunned by the explosion, according to the few who escaped.

MANY SCALDED TO DEATH.

Those who were rendered unconscious were either drowned or scalded to death.

There were numerous instances in which the victims, while conscious, were caught in their berths and scalded to death as the ship went down.

The survivors declare that the explosion of the boilers filled the vessel with steam in a few minutes. There were many of the passengers quartered between decks and these had no means of escape from the steam.

Their shrieks as the riven vessel foundered added a weird note to the tragedy.

BOATS WERE SWAMPED.

But a fraction of the small boats could be lowered in time, the explosion tearing some of them from the davits and splintering the bottoms of others.

The rush of the passengers and the fright of the crew prevented the proper lowering of the boats also, and one, say the despatches fell into the water when it had been filled to capacity with men.

The swift tides in the bay swept away many who might otherwise have been rescued.

WAMPOA STOOD BY.

The Wampoa stood by, but her condition as the result of the collision, it is understood, was such that she could do little, although her boats cruised about, picking up a few survivors.

OVER-WORKED KIDNEYS.

Cause, Rush of Blood, Fulness, Dizziness.

J. T. Chetland, the well-known railway engineer of Hamilton, found the strain always resting upon men of his occupation vastly intensified by a tendency of the blood to rush to his head and often at times when clearness of vision and great steadiness were demanded. Finding some difficulty in bending—a stiffness with pain having settled in his back, it occurred to him that his kidneys might be at fault. "This was a happy idea, for by it I not only got rid of the pain but many other troubles as well. I took a full dose of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and was glad to note that some obstruction of the kidneys which I had lately noticed was at once relieved. The flushed appearance of my face gave way to a more rational color and there was a perceptible improvement in my appetite. Dr. Hamilton's Pills certainly act splendidly upon the blood, removing heat and fulness and that sort of dizziness that makes a man at the throttle wish when it seizes him that he was elsewhere."

No medicine gives such unquestionably good results for stomach, liver and blood troubles as Dr. Hamilton's Pills, they are mild, certain and always curative. Refuse any substitute.

All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Hon. J. R. Stratton Ill

Word was received last night that the Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., had been stricken with serious illness in Toronto. Wildest rumors were afloat regarding his condition, but we are more than pleased to say that they were apparently exaggerated. Mrs. Stratton and her sister, Mrs. Matthews, left for Toronto in their automobile. Mr. Matthews going in a freight train. Mr. A. H. Stratton will leave this morning for the Queen City. A telephone message from Toronto about midnight conveyed the assuring intelligence that Mr. Stratton was resting easily, and that there was no immediate danger. It is almost unnecessary to say that his hosts of friends in Peterborough will rejoice to learn that his illness is not as serious as reported, and will hope and pray for his speedy recovery.

An Emphatic Denial From Miss Rankin

Ottawa, July 14.—Miss Grace Rankin, a teacher in the district of No. 10 Clarence, County of Russell, writes to the Free Press giving an emphatic denial to the statement made by James Smith in the affidavit read by Rev. John Coburn in Toronto that she compelled his children to attend Catholic religious exercises and that she had a statue of the Virgin Mary in the school. She asserts that the statements are absolutely untrue and that the only prayer was the Lord's Prayer, at the opening of the school each day.

A MEAN ACT.

Young Men Give Untrue Story About Alleged Serious Accident.

For the information of friends of this or any other local newspaper, it may not be out of place to state that (self thought) jokers show extremely bad taste and poor judgment in giving false news to a reporter. On Wednesday evening three young men, meeting a Times reporter, told him in all seeming sincerity, how a certain South African veteran, had within half an hour fallen beneath the engine of a C.P.R. train. Their story even included the name of a well-known Peterborough man, who tried pluckily to save the veteran, and how the latter was taken to Nicholls Hospital. The reporter noticing that his informants were somewhat under the influence of drink, asked his informants if they were telling the truth or joking. The young men, using a common form of oath or desecration, swore they were absolutely in earnest. Our reporter decided, and wisely that the young men had, for once in their lives decided to spring a joke and made enquiries showing clearly that the young men lied. The man who will risk giving great anxiety to the friends of a man they untruthfully state to have been hurt for the sake of a "joke," should eliminate all attempt at humor from their thoughts or words. Such a transaction is not a joke it is a contemptibly mean attempt to get a newspaper man into trouble, and at the same time cause great mental anxiety to innocence people. Should any such attempt be made again in so serious a matter, to give false information, the names of those springing such a quality of "joke," will be published.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

Asbestos is One of the Natural Products in Rapidly Growing Demand.

Whilst gold is the most precious of all metals, asbestos is possibly the most in demand of all mineral substances. With the tremendous increase in the output of electrical apparatus in which asbestos is an absolutely necessary component part, that peculiar product of the earth is naturally increasing in demand. At the present time the Province of Quebec is supplying a very large proportion of the present supply in asbestos.

However the asbestos fields of Wyoming have been found to be not only the greatest in area, but supplying richer asbestos than yet discovered. The Rochester, N.Y. Wyoming Asbestos Co., who have retained State Geologist Hall as consulting engineer, have secured asbestos properties in Wyoming, about seven miles from Glenrock and within easy reach of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad. The Burlington Transcontinental Railroad, almost completed, is close to their property. Another point for serious consideration is that good coal is within easy reach; this latter means cheap handling of the company's output. Mr. Hall, State Geologist, and ex-office inspector of mines, who has thoroughly examined every condition attaching to the Canadian asbestos mines, has reported very favorably upon the property of the Rochester & Wyoming Asbestos Co. The fields of the latter company produce asbestos with fibre twice as rich as the Canadian product. The cost of mining Canadian asbestos is put at $16.41 per ton by some experts, how ever $30 per ton is more nearly correct. To mine the asbestos of the Rochester & Wyoming Co., from conditions existing at their mines would cost only about half this amount. A mill on the property of the latter company, treating three hundred tons of rock daily, would show a net profit of $900 a day. To more fully develop their property the company has decided to issue 30,000 shares of their stock, fully paid and non-assessable at $1.00 per share. Those seeking investment for capital, in large or small sums, should communicate, before the price is raised, with the Rochester and Wyoming Asbestos Co., 432 Granite Block, Rochester, N.Y.

SHOULD VISIT NIAGARA.

Splendid Water Trip From Toronto to Falls and Return.

Those of our readers who have never visited Niagara had better take the first opportunity that presents itself to see the wonderful specimens of nature's handwork around that district. Even those who have seen them should revist the place and look over the different views under modern conditions. Of course, the old places of historic interest are much the same as of yore, but modern versions of Ontario's early history and the revival of interest in the wars of 1812, and later, have increased the desire of Ontario's sons and daughters to see for themselves the spots that are so full of historic associations.

The boats of the Niagara Navigation Company, consisting of four fast observation steamers, built of steel, offer the best means of getting to Niagara. They are now making eight round trips daily, so those who go from this district will be able to make quick connection at Toronto. The train leaving Peterborough up to 6.30 a.m., arrive in Toronto in ample time to catch the 11 o'clock boat, but as there is a boat almost every two hours, one can cross the lake at any time most suitable. On the boat the passengers can get good meals at the regular hours, and there is also a lunch counter for those who do not want a regular meal. The way in which the large crowds are handled show the capabilities of the officers of the line. There is very little trouble with the customs officers on either side of the line.

At Lewiston and Queenston the traveller will find electric cars waiting to take him to "The Falls" without delay. These cars run every few minutes and give a delightful trip along the banks of that wonderful river with its ever changing views of rapids, cascades and whirlpool. The visitor should plan his sightseeing trip so that the best use of his time may be made, but one day is not enough to view nature's grandest work on this earth. By the way, you must not overlook the round trip of over twenty miles on the scenic cars, which take you all around the falls, down the Canadian side of the river to Queenstown and back on the American side by the Gorge route for a dollar; and you can also make a return trip to Buffalo by electric cars for another dollar,—these cars run every half hour.

Queen Victoria Park (kept up by the Ontario Government and free to everybody) makes an ideal picnic ground for family parties.

Good Hay Crop for This County.

Despatches say that the grain crop in Manitoba will run about ten bushels to the acre, or about half a crop. Alberta has about the same result whilst Saskatchewan has a trifle better. Yesterday a Times' reporter questioned three different milk men, who live some miles from the city. These men, who daily see the progress of the crops in this county, stated that hay is higher in growth than ever before, and as one of them remarked "It's as thick as grass on a closely cut old lawn."

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or insider nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days seem become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drag the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

The Western Crop is Better Than Expected

Winnipeg, July 14.—The following appears in the Manitoba Free Press as a summary of extensive telegraphic enquiries throughout the prairie Provinces:

A TOTAL LOSS HERE.

"Southern Alberta may be counted almost as a total loss.

"Northern and Central Saskatchewan have one of the finest crops in their history, and it must be remembered that of all the provinces, Saskatchewan has the largest area in wheat and the largest percentage of that area is in the center and northern part of the province.

"Northern Alberta generally has a good crop.

"Judging from these reports, with anything like favorable weather from now on it will be safe to count on at least 90,000,000 to 95,000,000 bushels of wheat.

"The oat crop will be light and the barley crop generally unsatisfactory, but speaking broadly, the flax crop is a success in the district where the largest areas are sown.

"The West will not harvest a bumper crop this year. That is out of the question, but she will have bread and seed, and a very fair amount for export, and the quality will be high.

"It is interesting to note in how many reports stress is laid on the fact that where careful farming has been done, the crop is good, in spite of the light tariff.

Police Commissioners Met Yesterday Morning

The recently appointed chief of Peterborough's police force, made his first official report to the Police Commissioners at the meeting of the latter held yesterday morning. At the meeting his Honor Judge Huycke presided, Messrs Mayor Morrow and Police Magistrate Dumble being present. A letter was read from Chief Thompson, making a number of recommendations which will be acted upon.

On motion of the mayor and Magistrate Dumble the chief constable was authorized to procure new summer uniforms and blue helmets for the members of the police force, and also three dark lanterns. He was also authorized to get two new bicycles for the policemen. The suggestion of Chief Thompson that the bylaws be consolidated and printed, will be submitted to the City Council with a recommendation that it be done. It was decided to pay the members of the force on the fifteenth and last days of each month, and to give them two weeks' holidays, to be arranged by the chief of police.

Former Toronto Man Wanted in Lodon on Charge of Murder

London, July 14.—Scotland Yard authorities today are bending every effort to locate Dr. Hawley Crippen, an American dentist, who disappeared last Saturday. The body of a woman, supposed to have been that of his wife, who was formerly Belle Elmore, a noted singer, was found late last night buried in the cellar of their No. 39 Hildrop Crescent, Islington, on the outskirts of London.

This afternoon it was officially announced that Crippen had been formerly charged with murder and mutilation, and that the police all over the world have been asked to arrest him on sight.

Afterward the police sent out the following official announcement:

"Also arrest Ethel Clara Leneve, ostensibly Crippen's wife, aged 27; good-looking English typist, absconded July 9; will try to leave England probably disguised as a boy."

The woman is wanted as an accessory to the murder.

A DOUBLE MURDER!

Two coffins were taken today by the police undertakers from the Crippen home at Hilldrop crescent, indicating that another corpse had been found in the house. Everyone is barred from the premises, and the police are veiling their movements in mystery.

An Enjoyable Trip

Yesterday the business men of the city entertained the professional men to a trip on the Otonabee to Rice Lake. The steamer left at 1.30. At Gore's Landing dinner was served by Captain Harris at the Rice Lake House. After a few hours spent at that beautiful resort the party embarked for home. Too much credit cannot be given those who had the matter in hand: Messrs. W. F. Lech, secretary, and J. J. Lynch, chairman of the committee.

WILL ENTER SUIT.

Closely connected with the result of the jury's verdict in the inquest upon the late Isadore Vimette, a full report of which was given in yesterday's issue, depends a possible suit for damages. Yesterday Mr. G. N. Gordon of the legal firm of O'Connell & Gordon, stated that he intended following the finding of the jury in the inquest by taking action against the Otonabee Light and Power Co., on behalf of the deceased's widow. It was his intention to issue a writ for damages at once. It was generally thought yesterday however, that a private settlement might be attained.

Nothing in the way of a cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so throughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety, even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. Its remarkable curative effect. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

HOTEL IMPROVEMENTS.

Geo. N. Graham Embellishes the Oriental by Paint and Otherwise.

Mr. George N. Graham, the enterprising landlord of the Oriental Hotel has within the last week or two, made that building, figuratively speaking, blossom like the rose. The whole front along Hunter street has been treated to a thorough coating of fresh paint.

The long stretch of brick work has been beautified with a brilliant coat of red paint that adds very materially to its appearance. The outside wood work has been given a coat of well grained dark brown that makes the wood look like quartered oak.

The interior of this hotel has also been given a generous allowance of paint and varnish as well as other improvements. The Oriental is now one of the brightest, cleanest and most attractively homelike hotel in the Province. Mr. Chris Graham, the local athlete in charge of the office department, has displayed great taste and judgment in the recent alterations.

Dysentery is a dangerous disease but can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has been successfully used in nine epidemics of dysentery. It has never been known to fail. Sciatica

EXPECTED DEATH ANY DAY.

Another Case Where Life Was Saved and Health Restored By Nerviline.

We have all read and heard of the agonies of Sciatica, but only those who have been tortured by this dread malady can fully appreciate what it must mean to be cured after years of suffering.

It is because he feels it his solemn duty to tell to the world his faith in Nerviline that Victor P. Hines makes the following declaration: "For three years I was in the Royal Mail service and in all kinds of weather had to meet the night trains. Dampness, cold and exposure brought on sciatica that affected my left side. Sometimes an attack would come on that made me powerless to work. I was so nearly a cripple that I had to give up my job. I was in despair, completely cast down because the money I spent on trying to get well was completely wasted. I was speaking to my chemist one day, and he recommended Nerviline. I had this good liniment rubbed on several times a day and got relief. In order to CURED build up my general health and improve my blood I used Ferrosone. SIX one tablet with each meal I continued this treat- YEARS. ment four months and was cured. I have used all kinds of liniments, and can truthfully say that Nerviline is far stronger, more penetrating, and infinitely better than anything else for relieving pain. I urge everyone with lumbago, neuralgia, rheumatism or sciatica to go Nerviline. I know it will cure em."

There isn't a more highly esteemed citizen in Westchester than Mr. Hines. What he says can be relied upon, for six years since being cured he hasn't had a single relapse. Don't accept anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." 25 cents per bottle or five for $1. Sold everywhere or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston.

FAITH AND THE PHYSICIAN.

Does the profession of medicine enjoy less of public confidence and esteem than formerly? Dr. George F. Butler, writing in the New York Medical Journal, seems to think so. He believes that doctors have been devoting too much attention to the study of diseases and not enough to the suffering individual. He maintains that the present practice of medicine has too little regard for anything beyond man's physical being, whereas mental, moral and spiritual disease far outnumber those of the physical body.

These views will enjoy the distinguished backing of Dr. William Osler, who in the latest issue of the British Medical Journal, comes out frankly in favor of the faith cure. Faith, he says is an essential factor in the practice of medicine. Mental healing, he declares, may have great value when carefully and scientifically applied in suitable cases. With the proper environment of faith, in an atmosphere of optimism and cheer, the hospital may perform the services of a pilgrimage-shrine, the infirmary may become a Lourdes.

Dr. Osler seems even to take a step toward Christian Science. He says that the American people have prepared themselves by a long orgy of dragging to accept a "new way of life," a "new epicureanism," whose power is in the optimism which discounts the worries of the daily round."

Dr. Butler deplores the physician's frequent lack of sympathy with patients and his proneness to look up on them as merely "cases." If faith is an important element in a cure then elders tend more to promote it than the personal sympathetic interest of the physician. The consciousness of this interest acts upon the patient and helps to establish that atmosphere upon which faith depends. Man is more than body, and the successful practitioner must remember the fact.

A CHINESE PARLIAMENT IN NINE YEARS.

Western progressives will not deplore or regret the action of the Chinese regent in rejecting the petition of provincial assemblies and mercantile organizations for the immediate convocation of a parliament. The official program is radical enough and remarkable enough. A Chinese parliament is also pretty, and many intermediate and preparatory steps [illegible] the whole [illegible] the present [illegible] greatly haste is to court failure. The Chinese people as well as the Chinese court should be thought of.

That the government for immediate foundation of representative government is significant, nevertheless, and it will, in any case, tend to increase the judicial attention of the re-iginal program. Still, there is the same curious puzzling mixture of modernity and conservatism in this movement that is observable in everything Chinese.

Among the delegates who presented the petition to the regent there were, it is reported, leading merchants and dignitaries, who had resolved never to accept a negative answer, but to stay in Peking indefinitely and press the demand at any risk and cost. Some of these delegates, it appears, pledged themselves to "commit suicide" in the event of failure. Who pledged them and how soon they must commit suicide" the despatches do not tell us. But how "Chinese" all this sounds, and how incongruous with talk of parliaments, progress and westernization!

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio., is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for a case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

VOL. XXXI NO. 162 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO SATURDAY JULY 16 1910 PRICE TWO CENTS

Great Britain to Control Big Bays

London, July 15.—At the Hague Conference, Mr. J. S. Ewart, contending for Great Britain, argued that the United States was wrong in asserting that in 1806 Great Britain had recognized that the United States had the right to fish in the Great Bays. Secondly, the word "bays:' in the treaty of 1818 should be taken in its geographical sense because the word did not then possess a judicial significance, as definite rules of international law respecting bays were not in existence at that time and Britain then claimed sovereignty and absolute jurisdiction over the fisheries of its possessions far beyond the territorial limit.

QUOTED HUGO GROTIUS.

In treaties with France in 1713 and 1763, Mr. Ewart said the French fishermen were even excluded from fishing within thirty leagues off the coast of Nova Scotia, and Great Britain claimed jurisdiction over the whole Gulf of St. Lawrence. The proportion of the bays was undetermined territorially.

He preferred the criterion of Hugo Grotius that bays belonged to the countries surrounding them. Mr. Ewart also dealt with the question whether Newfoundland had the right to prohibit foreigners from fishing in her waters and to keep this privilige from American vessels, answering it in the affirmative.

A MASTERLY SPEECH.

Mr. Ewart's presentation of the British case is regarded as exceedingly effective. His colleagues, including the British attorney-general and Sir R. Finlay, are exceedingly pleased with Mr. Ewart's style and address, it is in such marked contrast with that of the counsel for the United States who have appeared before the tribunal. Mr. Ewart's address has certainly taken a not less important place that Sir Robert Finlay's opening speech to the tribunal.

Looters Begin Their Work in the Ruins

St. John, N.B., July 15. — Despatches received here this morning from the burned town of Campbellton state that looting has broken out and the police are unable to cope with the situation. Col. McKenzie of Newcastle left this morning for Campbellton with 20 men of his regiment, who will do police duty there. As many safes and vault are lying in the fire debris and, as some of them are known to contain large sums of money, it is felt that special protection is necessary. As yet there have been no serious reports of looting, but several cases have been reported of persons searching the debris for what they can find and it is feared that an attempt may be made on safes, hence increased police protection.

MEDICAL STORES NEEDED.

Secretary Anderson of the St. John Board of Trade, who went to the scene as the representative of that body, returned this morning. He says there is now no scarcity of food, but that medical stores of all kinds are urgently needed. The work of providing shelter for the homeless is proceedingly rapidly and rough wooden shacks are springing up all over the town. The tents from the government will leave today and be ready to put up tonight. They will be a great comfort to the poor people who have been sleeping under trees or anywhere they could find shelters.

SOME PITIFUL SCENES.

The weather is fine and warm now, but those who have arrived from the burned town agree that the scenes on Tuesday night were pitiful in the extreme. Men, women and children were huddled together in the fields with no shelter from the pelting rain Several births were reported, but in all cases the little ones who entered upon this life under such tragic circumstances are now alive and thriving.

All the towns in the province are hurrying supplies or money to the scene and energetic relief committees have been formed to carry on the work.

Good Game This Afternoon Between West Ends and T.A.S. Teams.

The line-up of the West End team against the T.A.S. today in the City League series, will have to be introduced to the fans, as there are several new faces in the bunch. The Westerners expect to "beat the heads off" the Abstainers, as one of them expressed it yesterday. Their claims will be settled this afternoon when it is seen what the new men can do in action. The latest addition to the team is Kondon, from Pittsburg, who goes into the game with the advance notice of being one of the cleverest infielders that has ever performed here. He will replace Brydle, at third base. The West-End line up will be as follows; Smith c.; Hefferman, 1b; Logan 2b; Minorgan, ss; Kondon, 3b; Brydle, Gibson, Campbell, Dickie, outfield; Rose and Cresswell, pitchers.

37 MEN NARROWLY ESCAPED BEING DROWNED LIKE RATS

MEN HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM BEING DROWNED LIKE RATS.

Gates at Head of 16 Foot Waterway at Niagara Broke, and Water Started Through Tunnel With Mighty Rush—Workmen Brought to Surface Just in Time.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 15. — Thirty-seven men employed on the new pipe line of the Ontario Power Company had a narrow escape from being drowned like rats in a trap last night, when the gates at the head of the new 16-foot waterway broke, releasing a flood of water.

AT WORK IN SHAFT.

The men were drillers, helpers and muckers, who were at work in the shaft down which the water has to pass to the great turbines. The water started to come through the gate at the head of the pipe, more than a mile away and began to flow over the edge of the tunnel before it was noticed. Suddenly the gate broke, releasing the water, and it started through the pipe with a rush, carrying scantlings and everything before it.

OBSTRUCTIONS SAVED LIFE.

The tunnel had not been cleaned out. This fact alone saved the men's lives, it is said by the foreman engaged in the work, for, as the boards piled up and the earth was jammed against it, the water backed up. There is a derrick at the top of the shaft which is more than 100 feet deep. The basket was substituted for the pails, and the men were brought to the surface six at a time seven being carried on the last load.

WATER WAS WAIST DEEP.

By the time the fifth load was carried to the surface and the seven men were left below the water was more than waist deep and pouring into the tunnel in great quantities. The men, all foreigners, were terribly excited, and several leaped for the basket as it was lowered for the last time.

The gang spent the greater part of the morning cleaning away the debris and pumping out the water. It will be at least a day before the damage can be repaired.

We are pleased to be able to state that the condition of the Hon. J. R. Stratton is steadily improving. He will leave for Peterborough this morning in Mr. Wm. Committee Hears Report on Road Paving

At a meeting of the Board of Works, Ald. Hicks, chairman, presented a report of the Board's recent visit to Toronto, London and Detroit, in search of information regarding road pavements.

Following some discussion on the report, it was moved by Ald. Gillespie, and seconded by Ald. Duffus, that the chairman and mayor be authorized to insert in the board's report to the council a recommendation as to the council giving notice of its intention to pave part of George street and Charlotte street under the local improvement section of the Municipal Act.

THE CHAIRMAN'S REPORT.

Your committee appointed to visit the different cities for the purpose of enquiring into the matter of street paving, report as follows:

On Wednesday, July 6th, we visited Toronto and were taken in charge by the chairman of the Reception Committee; Ald. Maguire; the chairman of the Board of Works, Ald. Chisholm, and Engineer Powell. These gentlemen took us over fifty miles of streets in Toronto, and afforded us every opportunity of viewing the different pavements and oiled macadam roads.

In the residential streets we found many macadam roads, which had been oiled. In nearly all cases the streets have curbs and are so to consist largely of sheet asphalt, vitrified brick, and some asphalt block and bothulithic. We found their sheet pavements largely in very bad condition, owing to not having been kept in repair. We noticed some very nice vitrified brick pavement, which was newly laid. Near their freight sheds, over which a heavy traffic passed, we noticed a street of asphalt block which had stood the traffic reasonably well. The bitulithic pavement we found in very good condition having only been laid a very short time.

WINDSOR AND DETROIT.

On Friday we visited Windsor and were shown the pavements through out the city, being taken in charge by the Ontario Asphalt Block Co. We found much more of the asphalt block pavement in Windsor, in proportion, than either in Toronto or London; and all these pavements were in particularly good condition, some of which had been down seven or eight years. We also visited the plant of the above company, and were afforded every opportunity of seeing their asphalt block manufactured.

We spent Saturday in the city of Detroit, in charge of Mr. Bangham and Mr. Reid, who showed us over the city. We noticed in Detroit that they had a large quantity of sheet asphalt pavement and on any streets where there were tracks between the rails and the devil strip was laid with different kinds of block pavement.

We left Detroit on Saturday afternoon by boat to Buffalo, arriving in Buffalo on Sunday, which did not afford us any opportunity of getting information at this point. We, however, had the opportunity of seeing their streets and found them largely to conform with Toronto and Detroit.

Chairman of Board of Works.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or insider nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the onfily sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

Chicago Women are on the Warpath

Chicago, July 15.—Chicago suffragettes yesterday began to follow the methods of their London sisters and inaugurated a vigorous campaign on the streets in favor of votes for women.

The first campaigners were a woman justice of the peace, a woman doctor, four Vassar girls and two men, equipped with an automobile, a permit from the chief of police, yellow hand bills and a contempt for rain.

They preached the "gospel of equal suffrage" for the first time on the streets of down town Chicago. The women pleaded for equal rights with men with a fervor that held some men standing in the rain for the better part of an hour and drew occasional applause.

25,000 Men Are Liable to Strike

BREACH BETWEEN PENNSYLVANIA RAILWAY AND MEN SEEN TO HAVE BEEN WIDENED.

Negotiations Suspended—Both the Company and Men Remain Firm in Their Positions—Men are in Session.

THREATENED STRIKE FIGURES

States traversed by the lines: Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Virginia, West Virginia, and Maryland.

Capitalization, $593,515,694.36.

Mileage, 11,666.6.

Tons of freight moved on the lines east of Pittsburg last year, 30,413,000.

Number of men involved on lines east of Pittsburg, 14,194.

Number of men involved on lines west of Pittsburg, 10,866.

Philadelphia, July 15.—When the general committee of the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, representing the membership of these two organizations on all Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburg, went into session soon after ten o'clock today, the actions with the railroads and employes seemed to have widened, and a strike order which would tie up the entire system was looked for. Negotiations with the railroads have been suspended, and there is no apparent likelihood of their being resumed. Both the company and the men remained firm in their positions.

Before the meeting begun it was the general opinion of the committee men that a time for the walkout would be decided upon at the close of their deliberations. President W. A. Garretteon of the railway conductors, stated that whether the strike order will be given today depends entirely upon developments.

Power to call a strike was given to President Garretteon and to President W. G. Lee, of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen by the general committee of the trainmen and conductors, following the conference of its sub-committee with General Manager W. H. Myers of the Pennsylvania last night.

THE COMPANY'S STAND.

Philadelphia, July 15. At a special meeting the directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company adopted a resolution fully approving the course of its officials in resisting the demands of its employes.

The resolution is as follows:

"Resolved that the board does hereby approve of the position taken by its executive officers in relation to a demand for a further wage increase from certain classes of its employes, and is of the opinion that such position should be firmly maintained."

Important Clue in Crippen Murder Case

London, July 15.—The police this afternoon received an important clue in the Crippen case, indicating that the missing doctor and his girl companion are still in England. A thorough search of the south-east coast resorts was immediately begun.

The police resumed their search of the tragic house at 39 Hilldrop Crescent, North London, determined to uncover every trace of the murder of Belle Elmore, the actress, whose body was found buried in quicklime in the cellar. Detectives trained to such work this morning began an examination of all the floors and walls tapping and at times demolishing, under the supervision of Superintendent Froest and Sir Melville MacNaughton, chief of the Criminal Investigation Department of Scotland Yard.

The hunt for Dr. H. H. Crippen, the American husband of the murdered women, who formerly lived in Toronto, and for Ethel Clare LeNeve, his stenographer, was today pushed on with fresh vigor, every possible avenue of their flight being looked in to.

MOTIVE IN BAFFLING PROBLEM

The motive for the murder, according to the police is a baffling problem. One theory advanced today is that the murderer beat down Mrs. Crippen in a sudden fit of rage. The correctness of this view would still further carry out the analogy between the Crippen case and the Charlton murder, in which Porter Charlton, the American youth, beat his beautiful wife to death in their Lake Como villa and threw her body, in a trunk into the lake.

WHY WERE THEY LEFT?

The fact that the woman's wardrobe, worth fully $5,000 at a conservative estimate, and her jewelry were left undisturbed after her death the police say, is regarded as significant. Miss LeNeve was seen afterward wearing some of the finery, including a sealskin saque and diamonds.

The police are making a close examination to ascertain what insurance was carried on Mrs. Crippen's life. Advices from her relatives in New York, say that big policies were carried.

FUNDS ARE INTACT.

Inquiry of the officers of the Music Hall Artists' Guild today led to the declaration that the funds of the organization of which the murdered victim was treasurer, were believed to be intact.

An aspect of the case that has attracted much attention on the part of the authorities is the report that Miss LeNeve, who has been Crippen's stenographer for several years, in spite of his wife's pleas for her discharge, married Crippen after Belle Elmore's disappearance. If she did, she is his third wife. Her marital status would have great bearing on her ability to testify, regarding the case.

Cultivating Slimness.

Fat woman must take this injunction to heart if they want to be in style for the new modes will not drape over a fat figure.

The fat has got to come off quickly but without harm of course, and this means only one thing can be depended upon. Exercising or dieting are too slow. The fat woman who want to wear a form clinging gown must make an immediate trip to her druggist and get a case of Marmola Prescription Tablets, which will cost her about 75 cents.

Taking one of these after each meal and at bedtime should be enough to bring her to the losing-a-pound-a-day" stage before even the first case is used up. It is hardly believable that such delightful results can be obtained without harm and for such a small sum of money, but then, fact is stranger than fiction.

Test the effect of these tablets by getting a case yourself, either from the Marmola Co., 1192 Farmer Bldg Detroit, Mich., or from any druggist They are made in exact accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription, and consequently cannot have any ill effects.

Fanatics Made Bonfire of Their Clothes

Kamsack, Sask., July 15.—After a hard tussle, Inspector Jarvis, of the Mounted Police, and two constables managed to subdue 42 Doukhobor fanatics who had made a bonfire of their clothes and considerable money They drove the horde into a barn which they patrolled all night. Additional police are being rushed to the scene.

If your liver is sluggish and out of tone, and you feel dull, bilious, constipated, take a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets tonight before retiring and you will feel all right in the morning. Sold by all dealers.

REV. JOHN COCHRANE FROM SCOTL ND STRICKEN DURING THE NIGHT.

Had been Ailing Lately—Intended to Go to the Canadian North-West to Work in the Mission Field.

Toronto, July 15.—The body of the Rev. John Cochrane, Presbyterian minister from Edinburgh, Scotland, was found lying in the basement of the Grand Union Hotel early this morning. The body, which was identified by letters found in the coat pocket and by the monogram on a locket, was first discovered by Ernest Hoare, bartender, and was at the foot of the elevator. Death had occurred some hours earlier, and it is supposed was due to heart failure. The man had been noticed around the building last night, but it was supposed that he had gone to his lodging house, and it was not known until this morning that he had returned.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

Asbestos is One of the Natural Products in Rapidly Growing Demand.

Whilst gold is the most precious of all metals, asbestos is possibly the most in demand of all mineral substances. With the tremendous increase in the output of electrical apparatus in which asbestos is an absolutely necessary component part, that peculiar product of the earth is naturally increasing in demand. At the present time the Province of Quebec is supplying a very large proportion of the present supply in asbestos.

However the asbestos fields of Wyoming have been found to be not only the greatest in area, but supplying richer asbestos than yet discovered. The Rochester, N.Y. Wyoming Asbestos Co., who have retained State Geologist Hall as consulting engineer, have secured asbestos properties in Wyoming, about seven miles from Glenrock and within easy reach of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad. The Burlington Transcontinental Railroad, almost completed, is close to their property. Another point for serious consideration is that good coal is within easy reach; this latter means cheap handling of the company's output. Mr. Hall, State Geologist, and ex-officio inspector of mines, who has thoroughly examined every condition attaching to the Canadian asbestos mines, has reported very favorably upon the property of the Rochester & Wyoming Asbestos Co. The fields of the latter company produce asbestos with fibre twice as rich as the Canadian product. The cost of mining Canadian asbestos is put at $17.41 per ton by some experts, how over $30 per ton is more nearly correct. To mine the asbestos of the Rochester & Wyoming Co., from conditions existing at their mines would cost only about half this amount. A mill on the property of the latter company, treating three hundred tons of rock daily, would show a net profit of $900 a day. To more fully develop their property the company has decided to issue 30,000 shares of their stock, fully paid and non-assessable at $1.00 per share. Those seeking investment for capital, in large or small sums, should communicate, before the price is raised, with the Rochester and Wyoming Asbestos Co., 432 Granite Block, Rochester, N.Y.

ARE YOU IN DANGER?

You May Be Neglecting a Small Ailment and Thereby Inviting Serious Disease.

That little maladies grow into serious diseases we all know. Upon the stomach, liver and kidneys rest mainly the work of maintaining health. Most of your little sickness come from derangement of these organs. Experience proves that they are very frequently out of order, not badly perhaps, but even if only slightly out of order, it acts upon the mind and the spirits and upon the strength and regularity of the system.

It won't pay you to neglect your health; at the first sign of headache or languor take Dr. Hamilton's Pills and note how bright you feel next morning. You'll have a grand appetite, enjoy your breakfast and feel full of energy to go to work upon.

Your food soon tastes so good that you eat more than ever before and, of course, you grow stronger, ruddy, vivacious, just sparkling with energy and good health.

Soon your friends will notice the improvement, and by continuing to tone up your system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills you lay the sound foundation of permanent good health.

Nowhere is no medicine better for men, women or children, nothing for family use half so beneficial as Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. To look well, use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE MORNING TIMES

SATURDAY, JULY 16, 1910.

PHILOSOPHER, TOO.

The little Scottish boy's way of putting it when asked what he would do if he were king was, "I'd hae milk parritch and milk t' them and swing on the gate a' day." If that little boy ever became king he probably did not realize his early ambition, for history does not give us the record of any king who occupied himself in this simple and harmless way. And we remember that the genial and philosophic Thackeray has testified that when he was a boy he desired of all things to have a penny when he wished it that he might buy toffee, but when he reached the happy position of having a penny in his pocket at any time, he did not care for toffee. And even the "wisest man the world ever saw," after he had given his heart successively to wisdom and folly, to glory and to shame, to ambition and to contemplation, gave it as his opinion over and over again repeated, that all was vanity and vexation of spirit.

But hear Mr. Johnson, of pugilistic fame, while the plaudits of his admirers still resounded in welcoming him home. Asked as to his plans for the future, he replied: "Sleep some, eat a pile of good eatables, and drive my racer."

Oliver Wendell Holmes tells us how the Wishing Fairy got the laugh on the old man who wished to be a boy again. Guilefully offering him the fulfilment not only of this wish but of others, the Fairy led him to express a wish to take back with him to Boyhood land not only his wife, but his children, thus proving that what he really wanted was to be both a man and a boy at the same time.

Can it be that in Mr. Johnson we have not only the perfection of physical power, but also the embodiment of the philosophy of content which [illegible] have been striving for all these other generations? Can it [illegible] have here a greater [illegible] who has solved the riddle of the Great Thackeray insoluble.—to have at once the desire for toffee and the penny wherewith to buy it [illegible] we have the boy-king with the desire for milk parritch and the power to enjoy the unlooked-for happiness [illegible] civilization of having a hair to swing on that goes at [illegible] an hour?

The writer here interrupts his own [illegible] at the supposed [illegible] of this world to say that there is nothing better for a man than that he should eat and drink, and that he should make his soul enjoy good in his labor." Judging by the reports to the effect that Mr. Johnson smiled even in the [illegible] of his heaviest trial, that of receiving complacently deputation after deputation of strong and vainglorious opponents, it would seem that he has escaped or made his soul enjoy good in his labor. And now he will follow, in Proverbs to the rest of the text and will eat and drink. Happy Mr. Johnson!

MISHAP IN BAVARIA.

Munich, Bavaria, July 14.— A [illegible] was hit here at [illegible] when the walls of several buildings were crushed. The [illegible] continued for three seconds, thoroughly terrifying the people, who fled from their homes and remained in the streets long after the disturbance had ceased. The shock was also felt in the surrounding villages, including Garmisch.

A report from Oberammergau says that the shock was noticeable there, but that little damage was done.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio., is the only constational cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for a case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Tell Some Sick One
It Is Free If It Fails.

Will you do an act of Humanity?
Will you tell some sick friend of this, the remarkable offer?

Tell him or her, that you have learned of a medicine so certain that its maker dare say to the sick, "It is absolutely and unconditionally free if it fails."

And you, no doubt, already know of Dr. Shoop's Restorative and its popularity.

For 20 years it has been the standard remedy for Stomach, Kidney and Heart ailments everywhere in America.

When the "inside" or controlling nerves of these vital organs begin to fail, it is Dr. Shoop's Restorative that has quickly withheld, and strongly bound, and brought those nerves and organs back to health again.

I do not draw the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys other than to all create.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes direct to the cause of these ailments—the failing, faltering inside or controlling nerves. And herein lies the keynote to my success.

When those nerves are again made well and strong, then that is the certain end of all such sickness.

To me it is a great satisfaction then, I am the only physician able to say to the suffering sick, "Take my prescription for full 30 days, and if it fails to help you, the entire expense is mine—not yours."

Then why should the sick take any chance on any other medicine, when the maker dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer?

I also have a Rheumatic Remedy—and for neuralgia is covered by the same identical "No help, no pay" protective plan.

Besides, you are free to consult me just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will start up some vital ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan. My best effort is surely worth your simple request.

So let me send you an order at once. Take the message to some sick friend.

A postal will bring the opportunity.

I will have an honest and trusty druggist to whom you can conveniently go for the order.

But first, ask me for the order, for all druggists are not authorized to give the 30 day test.

So write me now and save all delay. Be sure that honorary never comes. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

THE SUFFRAGETTES.

The Women's Suffrage Bill Safely Buried By Parliament.

By one of those processes familiar to parliaments, the woman's suffrage bill has been safely buried by the British House of Commons. It has been referred to the Committee of the Whole, where the government will take care to keep it. As there was apparently an understanding that the bill was to be chloroformed, the vote of 299 to 190 in its favor on the second reading haslittle significance. Many found it convenient thus to square themselves with the suffragettes when they knew that their vote would have no actual result.

Unquestionably, however, the suffragettes have more supporters, in parliaments and out of them, than they had a few years ago. Their cause is gaining ground. The right of womankind to a vote, if the majority of them want it is now recognized in quarters where such a suggestion would have been met with open scorn in the nineties. But they want it? The belief that the franchise is sought by the comparatively few is still strong in the minds of most people. In Canada it has been strengthened by the division in the ranks of the National Council of Women upon the suffrage question. When the suffragettes have convinced their own sex, their battle will be more than half won.

THE NEW GOLDEN BUCKET

A few years ago, the recovery of Gold from auriferous grounds and subaqueous beds, was considered impossible. The "pan" and "grizzly," operated by hand, appeared to be the sole method of recovering values. It was during this period that Dr. Linderman, Director of the United States Mint expressed the opinion that he who, could devise a machine, without adding proportionately to the cost of production, capable of saving 50 per cent. of all the placer gold, would not only enrich himself, but within the lives of men still living, would double the world's available gold supplies. The Director of the United States Mint further said,—"WE CAN HARDLY HOPE FOR THIS, THOUGH NO MAN DARE SAY IT IS IMPOSSIBLE."

The perfected modern Dredge, is to-day a substantial reality. Allowing for delays in shifting, for necessary repairs, etc., the Gold Dredge runs on an average about 18 hours out of twenty-four, thus making up in length of working day, loss of operation during winter months. These Dredges are equipped in ready made mining areas, recovering millions of dollars annually, at the lowest possible cost.

The Director of the Mint of the United States in his report for 1909 says:

"The Gold Dredge makes money where a cattle would starve."

Outing Magazine: "When you think that bold inventive talent, has been able to devise machinery that makes it profitable to extract ten cents worth of gold from a ton of earth, the enterprise becomes one of the romances of American industry."

"A chain of powerful buckets bite into the earth, each bringing up a tremendous quantity of earth and gravel. These are subjected to screen treatment and the gold recovered."

California in 40 years, within radius of less than ten miles of placer ground, produced $200,000,000 in gold. To-day the vast number of Modern Dredges working over ground are recovering millions annually.

Disease of The Kidneys Brought on By Catarrh.

Pe-ru-na Made a Well Man of Me.

I Cannot Speak Too Highly of It.

Mr. George King, 403 St. Denis Street, Montreal, Canada, a well-known business man of that city, writes:

"Peruna cured me from what the doctors were afraid would turn into Bright's disease, and after you have gone through the suffering that I have with catarrh of the bladder and kidney trouble, and have been cured you are pretty apt to remember the medicine that did the work.

"Peruna is a blessing to a sick man. Eight bottles made me well and were worth more than a thousand dollars to me. I cannot speak too highly of it. It is now four years since I was troubled, and I have enjoyed perfect health since. Every spring and fall I take a bottle of it and it keeps me well."

MR. GEORGE KING

CATARRH of the kidneys is a very much neglected disease.

It is not until the disease has a firm hold upon the kidneys that the patient begins to realize that there is some derangement of these organs.

The slight backaches, the feelings of lassitude, and other warning symptoms of kidney disease are overlooked.

They are not serious enough to detain the patient from his regular work.

Even when he discovers that the kidneys are affected, he does not suppose the difficulty can be anything except catarrh.

Catarrh is sometimes so very prudent in its approach and its earlier symptoms assume such slight discomfort that it is not noticed.

However, when it is once firmly seated in the kidneys it becomes a difficult disease to exterminate.

Indeed, catarrh of the kidneys is more serious than catarrh affecting some of the other organs of the body.

In the kidneys it is liable to terminate in Bright's disease or diabetes, both of which are recognized as very serious ailments, if not fatal.

The thing to be done, when catarrh of the kidneys is discovered, is to take some internal, systematic catarrh remedy, one that reaches the very source of the catarrh and removes the cause of the difficulty.

Such a remedy has been found in Peruna. It reaches catarrh, no matter where it may be located in the body—whether in the more exposed membranes of the nose and throat, or whether in the remotest part of the kidneys.

That Peruna is at once the safest and most reliable remedy for catarrh of the kidneys is proven by the many testimonials written by those who have experienced its benefits.

The testimonials given here are only specimens of the many testimonials on our records, pertaining to the relief effected by Peruna in severe cases of kidney trouble.

Kidney Disease of Long Standing.

Mr. Samuel A. Foster, 1115 Tenth Ave., Kansas City, Mo., member L. O. O. F. and National Annuity Association, writes:

"I am a well man to-day, thanks to your splendid medicine, Peruna. I was troubled with catarrh and kidney disease of long standing when I first began using Peruna. I soon found I was getting better and continued taking it for four months. It cleared out the system, leaving me well and strong and feeling better than I have in years."

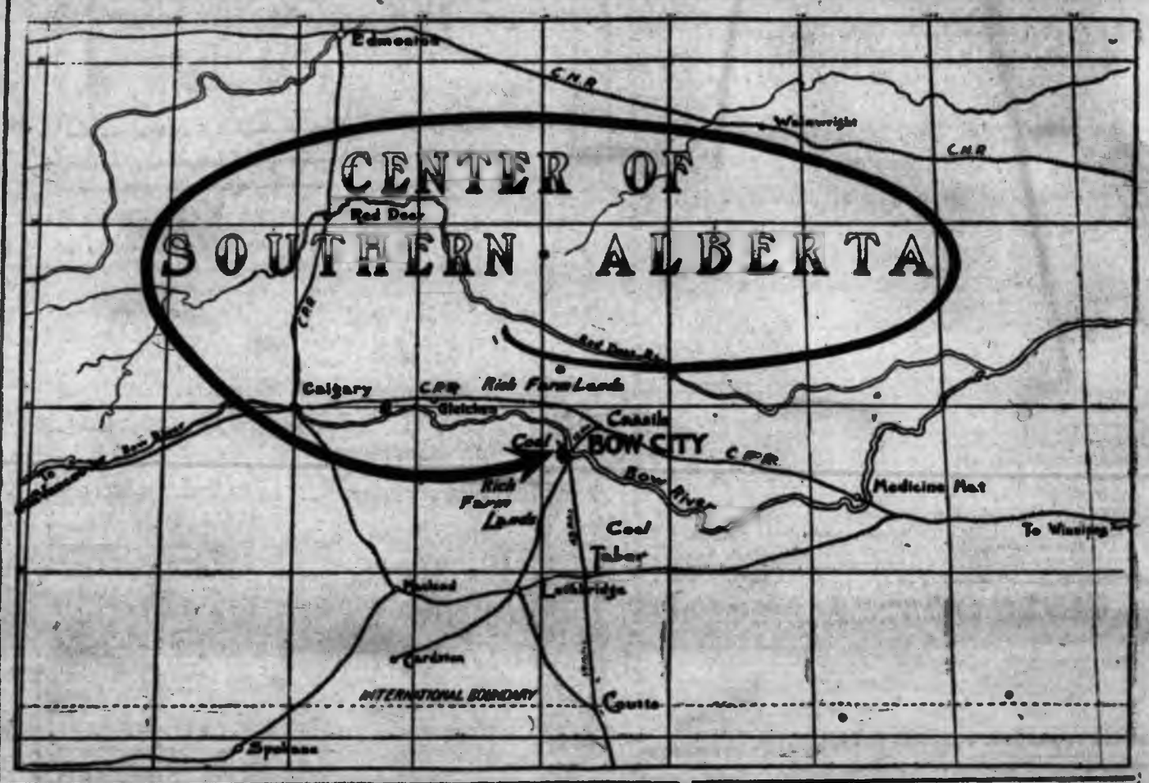
Bow City

The Metropolis of Southern Alberta

Situated in the centre of Southern Alberta, and on the famous Bow River, at the intersection of two projected railways, is Bow City—the logical location for a great commercial and industrial city.

Bow City is surrounded by thousands of acres of broad, open, fertile prairie land, while the city itself is immediately above one of the richest beds of bituminods coal ever unearthed in the Western Provinces.

The Bow Centre Collieries, Limited, are now developing their coal lands at Bow City. This gigantic corporation will, through the operation of their coal lands, eventually give employment to some 1,500 miners the whole year round —these miners will form the basis for a most prosperous town, while the thousands of prosperous farmers in the immediate vicinity of Bow City, will naturally establish a market and purchasing depot, equally as prominent and as important as Winnipeg, Calgary or Edmonton.



Bow City has a future; it is the point in the Western prairies endowed by nature with all the natural resources which go towards laying the foundation for a great city.

The map reproduced herewith is taken from the Government survey, and gives you the true location of Bow City.

You will see that it is twelve miles from the main line of the C. P. R.

Bow City is to be the headquarters of the Bow River Railway Company's lines of railway operating south of the C. P. R. main line and to the United States boundary, tapping, as they will, the richest farming lands in the Province of Alberta.

The farmers in the vicinity of Bow City have no fear of drought, since the great C. P. R. irrigation system completely envelopes the whole district, thereby supplying water in dry seasons, insuring the maximum growth of crops at all times.

There is only one Bow City—there will never be another in our Western heritage. It will be too late for you to apply for ground-floor prices in lots in Bow City a few days hence. This great coal mining and farming townsite will be sold of the market in the immediate future.

If you act promptly, you can buy lots in Bow City at prices which prevailed in Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, Brandon and other great points in the Western prairies five years ago.

A 50-dollar lot in Bow City, judging from the experience in other cities, should be worth and sell for $250 to $300 in four years' time. This means that those who take advantage of this advertising announcement, and make application at once for a $50 lot, remitting by the same mail ten per cent. —$5, will be allotted a $50 lot close in.

Remember, the terms of Bow City are:—Ten per cent. cash, balance ten per cent. per month; or, one quarter cash and balance one-quarter each three months. Where all is remitted, a discount of ten per cent. will be allowed.

Plans of the Bow City townsite, price list and full particulars may be had on application to the Sub-Agents or General Agents of the Bow City Townsite.

The Throne of Spain Totters--Plot on King's Life---Troops Ready

General Uprising Affecting Every Important Centre Planned--Guards About the Palace Gates Doubled

Madrid, July 16.—The discovery of a revolutionary plot affecting every important city in Spain today started the government and a meeting of all cabinet officers was immediately called by Premier Canaljas for tomorrow.

GOVERNMENT IS ACTIVE.

The throne is tottering, according to authentic reports, and the government has ordered all troops in readiness for instant service.

The situation of Barcelona, chief anarchistic headquarters is worse, according to semi-official statements than it has been since the height of the riots following the execution of Francisco Ferrier.

PLOT ON KING'S LIFE.

The discovery of a plot on the life of King Alfonso yesterday at Valladolid, while he was en route to Segovia, is but a part of the general revolutionary scheme, but it is on that that the order for the arrest of every known anarchist, issued today, is based.

The guards about the palace, had been doubled, and the king's personal body guard was still further increased in spite of his protestations.

RADICALS ARE ACTIVE.

The government's opposition to the Catholic church has done little to placate the extreme Radicals, particulatly at Barcelonia, according to current reports.

Troops have been ordered to Gi-on in preparation for a general strike called there, and the declaration of martial law at several places within 48 hours.

"Can be depended upon," is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by all dealers.

A Warm Attack on Orange Orators

Montreal, July 16.—"It would be a good thing for the peace of Canada and the good repute of Protestantism if some of these 12th of July orators would disappear."

So declared Hon. Mr. Devlin, Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries, in the course of a warm attack on Ontario Orangemen, which he made in the course of a speech at Harley, Quebec, yesterday afternoon.

"What have they to do anyway with the Catholic Church in the Province of Quebec?" continued the Provincial minister.

"What business have they meddling in matters which do not concern them? Let them look after their own congregations, and the Catholics in the Province of Quebec, who never attack or insult, never invade the rights of others will continue their peaceful and progressive course."

"Annihilate the Catholic Church in our Province!" exclaimed Mr. Devlin, "Do away with the priests and our communities. Well, that is a bigger task than all the 12th of July orators from the Atlantic to the Pacific could accomplish."

Don't waste your money buying plasters when you can get a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment for 25 cents. A piece of flannel dampened with this liniment is superior to any plaster for lame back, pains in the side and chest, and much cheaper. Sold by all dealers.

Novel Methods to Check Prize Fights

Los Angeles, Cal., July 16.— By making it illegal to charge admission fees to ring contests, the legislation committee of the city council believes it has found a means of barring prize fights from Los Angeles without conflicting with the State law relative to boxing matches.

The committee has voted to recommend the passage of an ordinance embodying this anti-prize fight feature at the next meeting of the council, Monday. The passage of the ordinance would prevent the weekly card of entertainments at Naud Junction, at the same time it would not interfere with amateur boxing matches in legitimate athletic clubs.

CRACK IN WALLS OF NEW MUSEUM.

Contractor and Government Architect Say That it is Owing to Settling of the Building.

Ottawa, July 16.—There is a crack in one of the inside walls of the Victoria Memorial Museum, and some local gossip is being caused on account of it. The contract and government architect, however, are not worrying.

"It is quite true the plaster in the room near the tower has cracked, but it is no serious structural defect," declared George Goodwin, the contractor for the building today. "There is little or no rock where the foundation was excavated and the building has settled as mine out of ten do. The outside walls are intact."

SETTLING CAUSED IT.

David Ewart, chief contractor of the government, says that they tested a hundred feet below the foundation without striking rock. "It is the settling," he said, "that has caused the plaster to crack. If you examine the House of Commons, which is built on rock, you will find a crack there also, from the same cause—settling."

TOOK JOB AT LOW FIGURE.

The contract for the museum was awarded at a price away below the estimate and after tenders. The contractor stood to lose a lot of money but it is said he will even up by getting jobs outside of the main contract without tender, but at the departmental expense. Mr. Ewart denies a rumor that the break has caused some bricks to crush. The cracked places will be replaced.

FIRE AT LAKEFIELD

Yesterday evening the large flour mills at Lakefield, owned by Mr. S. J. Charlton, were completely destroyed by fire. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is alleged that an unknown man was seen about the mills, late in the afternoon, and shortly after the whole mill was in flames.

DO NOT DELAY.

A Rare Opportunity for Safe and Lucrative Investment.

The words "Black Hills" are synonymous with "fortunes in gold." From this rich section of South Dakota, many millionaires of today have drawn their fortunes. The mines there, that are today shipping out their golden flood of wealth represent but a part of the wealth that is still to be dug from that auriferous district. In the center of the fabulously rich Hornblend Mining district, Pennington Co., South Dakota, the Black Hills-Anaconda Mining and Milling Co., of that State, has secured 14 claims, comprising 280,0-10 acres of rich mining ground. The company are preparing to purchase machinery and appliances needed to work their magnificent property, located in the center of the richest hundred square miles of mineral belt in the world. To obtain capital needed at once to develope and work their ore, the company has decided, for a limited time to offer a small allotment of stock at par, viz., $1 per share full paid and non-assessable. This company duly incorporated under the laws of South Dakota is capitalized at $1,500,000. This property is already developed by shafts, drifts, open cuts and tunnels, with buildings etc. They have exposed 300,000 tons of ore, as good as that on their dumps, which means gross values of one and one half million dollars. For full particulars and stock address Dongidson & Co., fiscal agents 30, 84 Adams street, Chicago, Ills. Stock at price quoted above may be withdrawn without further notice. See adv. in this issue.

LOCAL MAN FULL.

The Hilarious Atmosphere of Lindsay Caused Him Trouble.

James Wilson of Peterborough came to Lindsay on Tuesday to witness the celebration. Now, James is an Indian liater in that town, and he was not long here until he carried a jag that was an incandescent success. He is a very modest individual when sober, but when "pickled" becomes very noisy. James varied the program of tunes played on the 12th by lustily singing "Has anybody here seen Kelly," and generally acted in a boisterous manner. He finally landed in the cells, and informed the police that if he was not liberated he would kill himself. He had a ticket in his possession for Peterborough, and he was shipped back to that city.—Lindsay Post.

So Says Tex. Rickard—Still Believes That Jim is as Good as Jack.

Los Angeles, July 15.—According to Tex Rickard, at present a visitor in Los Angeles, "there is one good fight left in Jim Jeffries, and I'm going to try and bring it out." This was the reply Rickard made to a reporter who questioned him on the report that he was here to secure Jeffries' consent to a return match between the former champion and Jack Johnson for next Thanksgiving Day.

"I have not as yet talked to Jeffries," continued Rickard. "Jeffries, Kipper and myself will start late to day on a hunting trip. We expect to be gone several days. When I find Jeffries in a good humor I will propose a return match with Johnson, to be pulled off in Nevada, probably in Reno on Thanksgiving Day. I believe Jeffries is a good match for the negro, and I am willing to offer a good purse for another match between the two."

It is said that the hunting trip on which Rickard, Jeffries and Kipper, will start, is a jaunt to Catalina Island, thirty miles off the coast from Los Angeles.

PUT OWN DEATH NOTICE IN PAPER

NEW YORK INSURANCE BROKER ADOPTED SCHEME TO GET WIFE HOME.

The Woman is in Canada—She Will Not Come Back and Obituary Ruse Was Resorted to—Husband is Disappointed at the Outcome.

New York, July 16.—It is not every man who has the privilege of reading his own death notice printed by himself. The distinction belongs to John H. Buttle, an insurance broker of Brooklyn. Yesterday in one of the morning newspapers there appeared the following:

"Buttle, suddenly, July 14, 1910, John H. Buttle, 40 years old, of 25 Madison street, Brooklyn. Notice of funeral hereafter. Please omit flowers. Canadian papers please copy."

SAID "POOR JOHN."

The notice was inserted by Buttle himself. Yesterday his friends who read it went around and said "Poor John." Several persons who would have sent flowers to show their respect for his memory, regretted his request that they refrain from so doing.

Buttle was dead as a mackerel to his friends until a call was made at the home of W. H. Buttle, father of the supposed dead man. There was no crepe on the door, and no evidence of mourning. There was no shower of grief at the wooden house of W. H. Buttle in Manhattan.

DESIRED TO REACH WIFE.

Mr. Buttle was found last night. He was alive and not inclined to be communicative, but explained that his desire was to reach the eyes of his wife with the advertisement. She is in Canada, and according to her husband, has been away six months on a visit to her sister, Mrs. George B. Ross, in Glengarry, N.W.T.

She has shown no inclination to return home and Buttle believed if she heard he was dead she would come home.

SHOULD VISIT NIAGARA.

Splendid Water Trip From Toronto to Falls and Return.

Those of our readers who have never visited Niagara had better take the first opportunity that presents itself to see the wonderful specimens of nature's handwork around that district. Even those who have seen them should revisit the place and look over the different views under modern conditions. Of course, the old places of historic interest are much the same as of yore, but modern versions of Ontario's early history and the revival of interest in the wars of 1812, and later, have increased the desire of Ontario's sons and daughters to go for themselves the spots that are so full of historic associations.

The boats of the Niagara Navigation Company, consisting of four fast observation steamers, built of steel, offer the best means of getting to Niagara. They are now making eight round trips daily, so those who go from this district will be able to make quick connection at Toronto. The train leaving Peterborough up to 6.30 a.m., arrive in Toronto in ample time to catch the 11 o'clock boat, but as there is a boat almost every two hours, one can cross the lake at any time most suitable. On the boat the passengers can get good meals at the regular hours, and there is also a lunch counter for those who do not want a regular meal. The way in which the large crowds are handled show the capabilities of the officers of the line. There is very little trouble with the customs officers on either side of the line.

JUST ESCAPED JAUNDICE.

Shows How Important it is to Keep Liver and Kidneys Active.

When you read of the growing yellowness of the skin extending to the whites of the eyeballs, as described by Mr. J. P. Nostrand, a well-known grocer in Manchester, you will realize that jaundice is nothing to be sniffed at. "Despite the best medical skill my face grew more yellow every day. It is no fun," he writes, to be given a lemon and find its hue reflecting itself upon every part of the body. My physician informed me that a catarrhal condition had resulted in a plugging of the bile ducts and the absorption of the bile into the blood. I had some knowledge of the remarkable, stimulating and healing qualities of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and started in using them. At first I felt better, had more appetite, and entire freedom from headaches. Then came an easier feeling in the region of my stomach and I saw an almost imperceptible fading away of the yellow tinge in my skin. I persevered; used Dr. Hamilton's Pills for twelve weeks. My reward was cure—today I am healthy, happy and well."

Nothing ever discovered has such an influence on liver diseases as Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Refuse any substitute. Price 25c per box, all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Crippen Now Believed to Have Murdered Stenographer

Missing Man Exercised Strange Spell Over Miss Le Neve—Her Marriage to Him Evidently a Mock One

London, July 16.—Ethel Clare Le Neve, the beautiful girl sought with Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen in connection with the atrocious murder of Mrs. Crippen (Belle Elmore), was under the hypnotic control of the American doctor, according to a statement made today by her father Walter Neave. He also believed that Crippen, to further his chance of escape, has killed the girl.

DRAGNET IS COMPLETE.

The latter belief is supported by the attitude of the police, who declare that were the girl with Crippen the pair would undoubtedly be captured, so complete is the dragnet that has been cast around the world.

That a strange thrall drew the young woman into the most remarkable mystery of a decade is also the belief of the authorities.

HAD HOLD ON WOMAN.

In connection with this development of the case, every effort is being made to trace the doctor's connection with various women, some of whose names are already in the hands of the police. From acquaintances of the fugutive, it has been learned that Crippen frequently remarked on his hold on women. Acquaintances regarded his power as canny.

"From the time my daughter first met Dr. Crippen," said Mr. Neave today, "he seemed to have an extraordinary power over her. It worried me a good deal; in the end I came to the conclusion that only by psotism could account for it."

The campaign was conducted under the leadership of Mr. Calhoun of the International Committe and he was given great praise tonight when the result was known. Mr. J. L. Outlook for Fair Crops in the West is Brighter

Toronto, July 16.—While the very hot weather of the last three days is undoubtedly, prejudicial to the Western wheat crop, the reports received at the Northern Railway offices this morning, from every section of the Western lines, indicate that, except in Southern Manitoba, and the adjoining section of Saskatchewan the grain was in good shape to with stand a heat spell of considerable severity.

The alarmist reports in the morning's papers deal almost entirely with the territory adjacent to Winnipeg but there is a great difference between Southern Manitoba and North Manitoba.

Negro Shot Minister, Organist and Finally His Mother-in-Law

Tampa, Fla., July 16.—While crazed with drugs Will Ellison, a negro, went on a rampage last night, killed three persons, badly wounded three others, and then killed himself. His outbreak started in a church, where a protracted meeting service was just ending. Entering with a shot gun over his arm, Ellison announced that he was Celia Bryant, his mother-in-law, and going to send all sinners to their eternity. His first shot killed Rev. J. W. Avery, who was conducting the services. Then Ellison shot and killed Henry Clark, the church organist.

He ran from the church to his home nearby and shot and wounded his wife and his sister-in-law, Mary Bryant. He then started down an alley to a point where he had a horse tethered, on which he had planned to make his escape.

Policeman Hayman heard the firing and started in pursuit of Ellison. The negro opened fire on him, wounding him in the left breast. Hayman returned the fire, and Ellison took refuge in a yard nearby. The police reserves soon afterward arrived, and found Ellison lying on the ground unconscious. He was taken to the station house to prevent a lynching, as a mob was forming, but he died on the way. It was found that he had drunk the contents of a whiskey bottle in which he had placed strychnine.

During the shooting in the church a stampede for the exits took place and a number of women and children were knocked down and tramped on.

St. John's Church Chancel.

The chancel of St. John's church presents a most attractive appearance since the decorations of last week were applied. The color design is pleasing to the eye and harmonizes well with the general design of the church. Many flattering remarks were heard yesterday morning as the congregation was leaving after the service. The rector noted that a hardwood floor will be added to the chancel.

PRICES AND PEOPLE.

We moderns take endless pride in the fact that we have learned to control natural forces which our fore fathers believed to be of inevitable action. We do not lie down and die in the poisonous breath of a great plague; we know that a plague is not a decree of Fate, but a mere multiplicity of unfriendly germs, and we destroy these germs as we would a pack of wolves.

The worst disserve that science has rendered us, perhaps, is in changing the attitude of the public mind in relation to prices. The remedies that the forefathers applied to the disease of unfair prices may have been somewhat hasty and a trifle ineffective. For instance, to hang a man as a forestaller and regrater, or to bury a Jew alive because he took an exhorbitant rate of interest, does not seem to have always had the desired effect of establishing strict justice in commercial dealings. But, at least, these old worthies, our ancestors, were above the superstition of many moderns, who when it comes to a question as to the price of a pound of butter, put the subject aside with some meaningless jargon about "supply and demand," or the "trend of the market." The fact is that a high price for a given commodity is no more inevitable than smallpox is inevitable. We do not cure smallpox by hanging the man who has exposed himself to infection nor can we hope to regulate prices by sending one dealer or another to jail; but in neither of such evils are we justified in assuming that, because such remedies will not work, therefore the evil must be allowed to take its own course.

A table appears in the latest issue of the Labor Gazette, for instance, which shows at a glance the price of staple commodities in the cities and towns throughout the Dominion during the months of May. Of course it would not be reasonable to accept these figures as final in regard to detail. Prices vary day by day, and in different shops in the same city, so that it would be quite impossible for any compiled table to show just what people everywhere are paying for their goods. But a study of the table shows that even now, when our information is so incomplete, different things to show themselves that appear anomalous, and which, if anomalous, are certainly unjust.

There are many articles in the list of commodities covered by the tabl referred to that cannot be safely used now to make comparisons. For instance, the various cuts of fresh meat. So much depends upon the way in which [illegible] that it is claimed that an apparently high price may really low. But strictly fresh cuts [illegible] of the larger places of Ontario were paying [illegible] British Columbia [illegible] thirty-five cents, except Vancouver people, who were last [illegible] except that it may be worth while to get an explanation of the fact from the [illegible] dealers.

There is [illegible] field and [illegible] also. The [illegible] for the wide [illegible] ion. And Canada water white coal oil is an article which, by reason of Government inspection and other causes, is of fairly definite and established quality. There are fewer reasons for local differences of price in this commodity than in almost any other, and fewer chances of error in reporting prices. In London, next door to the oil fields, the price was fifteen cents gallon, but in St. Thomas, next door to London, the price was eighteen cents. St. Catharines, which is much distant, paid only seventeen cents, while Niagara Falls only a stone's [illegible] had to pay twenty cents. Toronto got off with eighteen cents, but here in Peterborough we paid two cents more. And in the West the prices ranged from thirty-five cents in Winnipeg to fifty cents in Moose.

Get Health
First
Then
Pay
Afterwards

Don't think over a penny—small health restorer. And I mean just exactly that.

I say the one physician who is to the sick, at his own personal cost, pay for your medicine if it fails to bring you help!

For 20 years Dr. Shoop's medicines have been used and recommended in every city and hamlet in America. They are practically found in every community and everywhere.

When why pay the enormous cost at every visit, for other unwarranted and uncertain medicines, when Dr. Shoop's Restorative, Dr. Shoop's Night Cure, Dr. Shoop's Pain Relief, Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy, Dr. Shoop's Kidney Remedy, Dr. Shoop's Blood Health Coffee, Dr. Shoop's Health Salts, Dr. Shoop's Re-Vitalizing Tablets will all be sent you positively on no money whatever.

Then when you have got back to health and strength, when you have proved to yourself that these remedies have done you good, then you will send me what you think such help is worth to you.

Then will all myself gladly pay the druggist for the medicines used. And for that such a bill as may seem right to you.

Then will more delay and disappointment.

Just address me, Dr. Shoop's Racine, Wis.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, Dr. Shoop's Night Cure, Dr. Shoop's Pain Relief, Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy, Dr. Shoop's Kidney Remedy, Dr. Shoop's Blood Health Coffee, Dr. Shoop's Health Salts, Dr. Shoop's Re-Vitalizing Tablets are sold by druggists everywhere, or by mail, or direct from me, but my "no money" medicines to the sick.

Tell me also which book you need.

The books below will surely open up new and helpful ideas to you. Which one you are particularly free to accept, or would your case. My advice and the medicines below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up serious sickness almost. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan. My best effort is always at your service.

THE NEW GOLDEN BUCKET

A few years ago, the recovery of Gold from auriferous grounds and subaqueous beds, was considered impossible. The "pan" and "grizzly," operated by hand, appeared to be the sole method of recovering values. It was during this period that Dr. Linderman, Director of the United States Mint expressed the opinion that he who, could devise a machine, without adding proportionately to the cost of production, capable of saving 50 per cent. of all the placer gold, would not only enrich himself, but within the lives of men still living, would double the world's available gold supply. The Director of the United States Mint further said,—"WE CAN HARDLY HOPE FOR THIS, THOUGH NO MAN DARE SAY IT IS IMPOSSIBLE."

The perfected modern Dredge, is to-day a substantial reality, Allowing for delays in shifting, for necessary repairs, etc., the Gold Dredge runs on an average about 20 hours out of twenty-four, thus making up in length of working day, loss of operation during winter months. These Dredges are employed in ready made mining areas, recovering millions of dollars annually, at the lowest possible cost.

The Director of the Mint of the United States in his report for 1909 says:

"The Gold Dredge makes money where a cookie would starve."

Outing Magazine: "When you think that bold inventive talent, has been able to devise machinery that makes it profitable to extract ten cents worth of gold from a ton of earth, the enterprise becomes one of the romances of American industry."

"A chain of powerful buckets bite into the earth, each bringing up a tremendous quantity of earth and gravel. These are subjected to screen treatment and the gold recovered."

California in 45 years, within radius of less than ten miles of placer ground, produced $200,000,000 in gold. To-day the vast number of Modern Dredges working over old ground are recovering millions annually.

CRICKET CAMP FOLLOWERS.
Men Who Fatten on the "Flannelled Fools."

It is impossible to be among the crowd at a great cricket match without being struck by the number of persons unofficially connected with the game who appear to be reaping a rich harvest out of it. Vendors of sweets sandwiches, and cheap literature are most frequently met with; but one well-dressed gentleman used to frequent Lord's with a huge bag crammed with field-glasses, which he let out at sixpence each for the game.

Craig, "the Surrey Poet," is said to have made as much by the sale of his tropical apparel during the season as many a novelist does by his books; and a London artist found a way to popular notice in his young days by doing lightning caricatures of famous players in characteristic attitudes on the ground, and then putting them up for auction during the luncheon interval. More curious was an old soldier's device for earning money during the cricket season on one of the Midland grounds. To a considerable section of the crowd the scoring-board is invisible, and he therefore took up a post where he could view every detail of the game, which he announced in a loud voice to the crowd in return for any trifle they cared to drop into his hat on the conclusion of the game.

Other ruses are to take camp-stools, which are readily hired to stand upon by those forming the outer fringe at a big match; to bowl to gentlemen cricketers at the nets, the latter often placing coins on the stumps, to go to the bowler clever enough to beat the bat; to obtain and sell to enthusiasts the autographs of famous players; and to beg for the return passes of gentlemen leaving early in the day, and dispose of them to later arrivals.

A shrewd Yorkshireman used to make money on the northern grounds by exhibiting a very clever parrot, that not only knew the names of the principal players, but would cry, at appropriate times: "Well fielded, sir!" "Bang it over the grand stand!" and "Bowl the beggar out!" A Lancashire enthusiast had a pet canary, whose prophecies as to the number of runs a batsman would make—the bird picking numbered cards out of a rack with its bill—were so frequently near the mark that its owner made a good deal by means of bets and little exhibitions.

The Woolsack of Cricket.

The Earl of Londesborough, who has just been elected to the presidency of the Marylebone Cricket Club—a post which may be described as the Woolsack of Cricket—succeeds a famous line of aristocratic sportsmen. His lordship is patron of the Scarborough Cricket Week, and is Hereditary High Admiral of the Yorkshire Coast. At Blankney, his Lincolnshire seat, a large ship of sugar is annually served to keep this quaint office in remembrance. Lord Londesborough is rightly described as "an all-round man." Besides being captain of his own fire-brigade, he is a good judge of horses, a distinguished amateur actor, fond of cricket and football, and always ready to lend his patronage in the interests of sport. It was whilst the guest of Lord Londesborough's father that the late King, then Prince of Wales, was attacked by typhoid fever in 1871.

Melodramatic Suicide.

Pericles Iasepoulos, a Greek poet, compared by Mme. Leblanc-Masterlinck to Hermes for his personal beauty, has committed suicide in melodramatic fashion at Athens.

At a banquet to which he had summoned all his friends he showed them a trunkful of manuscripts that were to be destroyed. "To-morrow I am going on a journey," he said, as they left him. The next morning each of them received by post an exquisite statuette of a horse.

At the same time Iasepoulos rode out of the city to Mount Aegaleos, gathered a garland of flowers, and then made a dash for the sea. At the time a violent storm was raging. Iasepoulos, driving his spurs into the horse's flanks, urged the maddened beast into the foaming waters of the bay, and shot himself through the heart.

Curiosities in Bookbinding.

Extravagance in binding has frequently furnished an opening for the display of fantastic tricks and fads. In an old bookseller's catalogue may seem an advertisement of a Lydia copy of Apelelis's "Golden Ass," bound in the skin of a Jerusalem ass, the leather being still unhaired. A book by Jeffrey Hudson, the noted dwarf, was bound in the silk waistcoat of Charles I., the dwarf's patron saint. A de luxe edition of Fox's historical works, specially fitted up for Edwards, the philosopher, was bound throughout in foreskin, forty-seven pairs of these little animals being required to complete the job. O'Connell, who so delighted in the possession of a first edition of Bacon's works, had the entire set rebound again in pigskin and always lovingly referred to them as his "Baconrind" books.

A Chance to Dry.

Lord Dufferin always said that the happiest years of his long official life were those spent in Calcutta. He revelled in the sunshine. A friend one day expostulated with him for his reckless exposure of himself to the weather. "Well, you see," said the viceroy, "they have always sent me to cold places. They sent me as viceroy to Canada, where one must live a third of the year in bedlake furs. They sent me to St. Petersburg, where one has to hibernate like a bear. So when they ordered me to India I rubbed my hands and said to myself, 'Now I can hang myself up to dry.'"

A CLEVER TRIO.

Vaudeville Artists at the Royal Delight Crowded Audiences.

There is no denying the fact that the public of Peterborough wants, and in fact, as far as the cheaper priced places of amusement go, demands good clean, interesting vaudeville. This was clearly demonstrated yesterday afternoon at the Royal, when, during a hot afternoon, the four hundred seats odd of this popular place of amusement, were, almost to a unit filled. At night, notwithstanding the large seating capacity, Mr. Pappas, the proprietor, had hard work to accommodate the hundreds who eagerly sought admission. The crowd, however, was well handled. The pictures, including a splendid new film, entitled "An American Romance," drew rounds of applause. The vaudeville, however, was possibly the chief feature. The Milton Sisters, Sarah and Ruth and their little brother "Jack," gave the cleverest song and dance act seen here in years. In the "buck and wing," and other dances, these little girls took well the parts of veterans on the vaudeville stage. This vaudeville act will be continued today and tomorrow. Mr. Victor Lostus in new songs. Admission only 5c, worth 50 cents.

Local Man Weds in Cobourg.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKinnon, Cobourg, was the scene of a pretty marriage on Thursday afternoon, July 14, when their daughter Helen, was married to Mr. Chas. Battars, Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Battars, Cobourg. The bride was for some time organist and choir leader of the Cobourg Presbyterian church, and amongst the many beautiful gifts which she received was a cabinet of pearl-handled knives and forks from the choir, and a Limoges china set from the managers and session.

LATER DETAILS.

The Floor Mills Burnt at Lakefield Not Covered by Insurance.

Confirming the report of the serious fire in Lakefield on Sunday night, given in these columns in yesterday's issue, it might be mentioned that later details show that the buildings and contents are a total loss, except the coal. The Cavendish Lumber Co.; F. J. Moore & Sons, and the village fire appliances kept five streams of water on the building. At one time the lumber and other buildings were in the greatest danger. The loss is $10,000. The building is owned by the Dickson Company of Peterborough. The loss is covered by insurance in the Atlas Phoenix and Commercial Union. The origin of the fire is unknown.

They're building a new $5,000 grand stand for the Grenadier Guards band at the Canada National Exhibition Grounds, Toronto.

New Factory to Begin Aug. 1st.

Mr. Fred Lillicrap of the Tate-Lillicrap Lumber Co., of Lakefield, was in the city yesterday and assured The Times that the new furniture factory, to be erected near the docks in that village will be begun by the first of August. We might remind our readers that the new factory is to be 300x60 feet, i.e. the first building erected, as others will be added. It is expected that eventually 300 men will be employed in this new factory. Mr. Lillicrap and his partner own a large percentage of the stock in this new company.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only relief, but I dreaded it. My friends would recommend most everything they dreamed of, but all they wanted was my money. I got tired of trying to look upon all doctors as little better than quacks. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my troubles. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and got rid of his Varicose Veins. I wrote them and got their free opinion. They answered promptly, telling me what I was suffering from and what they could do for me. I was somewhat discouraged, as I had undergone treatment for three months before and was no better. I decided to write them, and they told me to go home and take a rest for three months, and if I was not cured they would pay my railway fare to Detroit and back. I could only spare a week in a month for three months, but I am cured to-day and never loose a day. I am glad to recommend them to all sufferers."

HAS YOUR BLOOD BEEN DISEASED?

BLOOD POISONS are the most dreadful and insidious diseases. They start with Pimples or Sores, and end in Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, Insanity or Consumption. They are the most horrible diseases that afflict humanity. If you suspect the symptoms—any Blood Sores or Pimples—

YOU'VE GOT BOTTLE ACID SORE—Shooting pains or aches, sometimes worse at night, Mucous Patches in mouth, Sore Throat, Hair or Eyebrows falling out, Copper Colored Spots, Ulcers on any part of the body. If these symptoms appear you have Blood Poison. Don't make any mistake about it. Don't trust to local applications. They only drive the poison back into the blood, to return with renewed violence. Don't waste time with patent medicines. They contain Mercury, Potash or Strychnine, which only make you worse in the end. Don't be afraid to tell your case to your doctor. Tell him all the symptoms you have, and ask him frankly what he thinks of your case. If he tells you that you have a Blood Disease, and that Mercury or Potash will cure you, then leave him at once. He is ignorant of your disease. Mercury and Potash are dangerous drugs, and cannot cure Blood Poison. They only drive it into the system, to return in a more malignant form. Don't be afraid to tell your doctor you have been using Mercury or Potash. He knows that they cannot cure Blood Poison, and will not be offended. Don't be afraid to tell your case to your doctor. WILL THE C.P.R.'S NEW LINE CONNECT WITH PETERBORO?

Company Have Given Way to City in Everything, but Object to Paying $15,000 for Water Front Property—Mr. Overend will Endorse a $6,000 Proposition, but Nothing More

The Special Committee of the City Council appointed to negotiate with the C.P.R. re the entrance of the company's new Georgian Bay seaboard line into Peterborough met last night in consultation with Mr. J. Overend, the C.P.R.'s general superintendent, Mr. A. G. Hertsburg, the company's resident engineer at Toronto, and Mr. Harshaw, divisional superintendent of the new line. These gentlemen were legally supported by Mr. George Hatton of town.

In going over the proposition in question the company have given way to the city on almost every point. They originally asked that Stewart, Rink, Park and Chamberlain streets be closed, and a subway constructed at Park street. Last evening, however, in deference to the interests of south-end citizens the company's representatives agreed to erect their subway at the corner of Romaine street and Monaghan road, and that the only street to be closed should be Chamberlain, all trains to stop at Park street, before reaching Braund's store. The company also give the city a right of way to the river. The city's committee considered that the company had gone the limit in fairness and consideration on these points; but the price to be paid by the railway for the water front land west of the C.P.R.'s present spur line, characterized by Mr. Overend as a garbage dump so far, proved a stumbling block in the negotiations. The committee are asking $15,000 for this property, which Mr. Overend was quite emphatic in saying his people would not for one moment consider. We come, he contended to Peterborough at no inconsiderable sacrifice in cost of operation as our engineer advises us that we could reach Havelock, considerably further on, at the same cost as would be entailed by entering this city. He thought that if Peterborough could get this seaboard air line for practically what is at present a garbage dump along the water front, the city would be making the best bargain it has ever entered into. Years ago Peterborough voted $150,000 for each of two railways to connect with it, but the C.P.R. entered the town without accepting one cent in the way of inducement. When this line came here Peterborough's population was about 5,000, since which time it has increased to 18,000, in no small measure, the result of railway connection. The bringing of the new Georgian Bay line into Peterborough will have a substantial effect upon the city's future expansion. It will make Peterborough the pivotal point for summer and winter traffic to the great North-west now opened up. It will put this city 60 miles closer to the Pacific Coast, and will attract attention to Peterborough as a desirable industrial and manufacturing center. We have gone to a large expense in making additional surveys to remove objections made by the city's residental citizens, said Mr. Overend, and he did not think the city justified in asking a fancy price for the water front land. Mr. Leonard, he offered, would have considered $6,000 for the whole front, canoe company's property included; but $15,000 for the city's land is out of the question.

The C.P.R.'s representatives here withdrew, leaving the question open for a short time.

The company intend erecting at once a freight shed on Mrs. English's property, north of Sherbrooke street, to meet custom's requirements should a satisfactory settlement with the city be reached.

The divisional superintendent intends living in Peterborough and his assistants' furniture is already at the station.

LATER.

The council, while in session, considered the situation between their special committee and the C.P.R. Mayor Morrow reported that if the city will accept $6,000 for the water front property, the cost of filling it in, Mr. Overend will endorse the proposition.

The matter was left in the hands of the committee to make a counter proposition.

The C.P.R. want to connect their new grain route with Peterborough and the latter is anxious that such connection should be made. But it is to be hoped that counter proposition will not remain in order until the company bid goodbye to Peterborough and proed directly onward to Havelock.

Nothing in the way of a cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. THE KING'S FUNERAL.

First Original, Complete and Clear Gaumont Picture at the Crystal.

Mr. W. A. Edwards, proprietor of the Crystal, has succeeded in obtaining the original Gaumont film of King Edward's funeral. This picture authorized and approved by his Majesty to perpetuate this great historical event is altogether different from all of the so-called pictures of the obsiquies.

It does not contain parts of films taken of Queen Victoria's funeral nor scenes taken during the removal of the body to Westminster Hall. The pictures shown are all taken from the actual funeral and are the clearest yet shown. Every face and detail is clearly shown. At the Crystal today, admission afternoon 5c., evening, 10c. Full orchestra and special quartette.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for a case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Local Fireman Loses His Babe.

The death took place yesterday of Clarence Todd, the year-old-son of Mr. Todd, locomotive fireman on the G.T.R. Mr. Todd was moving from Lindsay to Belleville, and during his stay here, the little fellow contracted a disease which resulted in his demise. He died at 505 Rubidge St., and was sent to Belleville on the 1.40 train. He will be buried today at Deseronto. Mr. and Mrs. Todd have our deepest sympathy in their bereavement.

Another Engineer For Three Months

The City Council met in special session last night. All the members were present.

Ald. Hicks presented the Board of Works report re south end sewer and drainage system as follows:

Gentlemen,—Your Board of Works beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. We received a request from the county clerk applying on behalf of the county for permission to connect a boiler house and lavatory with the sewer on Brock street, and grant ed the request, the county to pay all the expenses, and the work to be done to the satisfaction of the city engineer.

2. We recommend that Willis Chipman, C.E. be engaged to prepare plans and specifications for the sewers, pumping station and drainage provided for under Bylaw No. 1534, and also to act as consulting engineer and to furnish a resident engineer during the progress of the work he to be paid two and one-half per cent. on the amounts of the contracts for the plans and specifications and $300 a month for the services of a resident engineer, and his services as consulting engineer, he to have the plans and specifications ready not later than August 15th next and to be prepared so as to provide for separate contracts for the sewers, the pumping station, the machinery and the drains. We also recommend that tenders be taken for the work.

3. Members of the board and the city engineer visited several cities to enquire regarding street paving and a report of this is attached to this report.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Ald. Buller objected to the clause providing for paying $300 a month for a resident engineer to supervise this work. He thought the city was going too far in heaping up expense upon the ratepayers. Our own engineer should attend to this matter, even were it necessary to get him an auto or some other conveyance to carry him from one section of work under way to another. Ald. Batten, Morgan and Graham lined up with Ald. Buller.

Ald. Hicks, supported by Ald. Bradburn and others contended that it would be utterly impossible for Mr. Hay to supervise all the work underway at one time. Then the new pumping station will require an engineer on the spot most of the time. The south end sewer and drainage system must be done well or not at all.

Ald. Buller—"If Mr. Hay cannot do the city engineer's work, get some one who can."

Ald. Duffus remarked that the whole thing resolved itself into the stand previously taken by him that Mr. Hay should have an engineer for an assistant in his office.

Ald. Buller and Ald. Morgan's motion that the clause in question be struck out was lost.

Street Paving Got a Shunt Last Night

Ald. Hicks presented the report of the special committee on street paving at the council meeting last night.

He moved, seconded by Ald. Duffus,—That notice be given that Charlotte street from Grand Trunk station to George, and George from C.P.R. to McDonnel, street be paved this year.

Ald. Buller recorded his objection to the scheme. Citizens, he said, think a 23 mills rate high enough without heaping on more expense. Paving can stand over four or five years until this rate is reduced. A macadam road, well oiled, instead of watered should answer all purposes for a time.

Ald. Hicks offered that such roads might answer for residential districts, but are not substantial enough for heavy traffic. He then went on to say that conditions in Peterborough exist all over the country. Buffalo has a 23-mill rate, and Toronto's 17-mill rate is not an honest one—that to say it will not take care of all calls and requirements. The energetic chairman of the Board of Works strongly supported the pavement movement as an economic one, the saving from which would to a large extent take care of the debentures issued for pavements of the same. For years past it has been a settled policy to appropriate $15,000 or $16,000 for Board of Works purposes, and after all calls are met this amount peters down to some $5,000 or $6,000 for road improvements. With 60 or 70 miles of streets he would like to know how the city expected to maintain all its highways in good condition with the present system of doing business. Pavements built at say $4000 a mile, which will last some ten or fifteen years is the policy adopted by all wideawake cities, and Peterborough should follow suit.

The worthy fathers were at sixes and sevens on the question of how such pavement should be paid for—some proposed straight frontage tax, others on 60 and 40 per cent. basis, like the concrete walks, while Ald. Metheral wanted 70 and 30 per cent. basis.

An agreement seeming impossible, the resolution was withdrawn, and the whole question side-tracked for the present.

SNOW PLOWING.

On motion of Ald. Turner, citizens will have to keep their sidewalks to and from the railroad stations, absolutely clean from edge to edge—not this week, however, He said it was absurd that three people could not walk on a ten-foot sidewalk to the C.P.R. in winter.

ANOTHER RAILWAY.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Hicks,—That the mayor and Ald. Phelan act in conjunction with the industrial commissioner in regard to endeavoring to secure the entrance into the city of the Canadian Northern Railway.—Carried.

Ald. Morgan asked that the new syndicate be approached with a view to getting a substantial bridge at the new dam at Auburn, together with fire protection for that neighborhood. Also an extended street car service.

Although ad vised that the Board of Works had these matters in hand, he seemed afraid that they would die there.

The Milton family, including two girls and a little boy, now at the Royal delighted crowded audiences yesterday with their very clever song and dance act. This is one of the best seen in Peterborough for years.

Big Circus Prorprietor on Trial Here July 23

In the Sudbury Star of July 16th appears the following article referring to alleged trouble in this city:

"On advice received from Peterborough on Thursday, Ernest Haag, the proprietor of the Mighty Haag circus which showed here on Friday was arrested early Friday morning by Chief Thompson, the charge being he had brought an unmuzzled dog into Peterborough, a prohibited district, where dogs are not allowed the freedom of their face.

The offence was committed on June 28th last, which leads one to believe that the Peterborough authorities have been a long time in making up their mind what to do. Mr. Haag also stated that he had been showing in the district around Peterborough for several days after that on which the offence is alleged to have been committed.

He was brought before Magistrate Brodie at once and allowed out on bail of $1,000, to appear for trial in Peterborough on July 23rd.

Mr. Haag took the matter philosophically. He thought it was an injustice he should be arrested. He was in possession of a plant worth $100,000, had a cash deposit of $500 with the Ontario Government for behavior of his show while in the Province, and a summons would have served the same purpose."

Last night a Times' representative interviewed Chief Thompson, who informed him that the article was correct.

Belleville Lady Drowned

Belleville, July 18.—News reached this city today of the drowning of Mrs. Fred C. Linke of Abbotsville, South Carolina, while on way to this city to participate in the Old Boys' reunion this week. She was 41 years of age, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Biscomb.

PEACE REIGNS.

Would-be Chemong Litigants Figuratively Smoke the Pipe of Peace.

Even up-to-date christian citizens although spending the summer months under the pines of Chemong Park, soothed by the gentle surf music of the lake wavelets and hearing the wind softly playing on invisible eolian harps amid the tree tops, sometimes forget those old lines, "Let dogs delight to bark and bite, etc.," and quarrel among themselves. It seems that two gentlemen summering at that delightful spot let their angry passions rise a few days ago, and not only quarrelled but brought their quarrel yesterday morning before County Magistrate Edmison. Mr. Gordon, who appeared for the plaintiff in the quarrel, consented to allow the matter to drop, provided the defendant promised to be in good behavior. This was fortunately arranged, and it is to be hoped that the would-be litigants will, when the corn ripens, sit round the fire and both chew off the same cob.

OBITUARY.

The death occurred yesterday evening about six o'clock of Mrs. John Marshall, aged 80 years. The late Mrs. Marshall has for a number of years made her home at Mr. D. J. Lundy's, 196 Aylmer street, coming to this city from Monaghan some years ago where her husband predeceased her.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock to Monaghan cemetery. Funeral private.

THE SUFFRAGETTES.

By one of those processes familiar to parliaments, the woman's suffrage bill has been safely buried by the British House of Commons. It has been referred to the Committee of the Whole, where the government will take care to keep it. As there was apparently an understanding that the bill was to be chloroformed, the vote of 299 to 190 in its favor on the second reading hasllittle significance. Many found it convenient thus to square themselves with the suffragettes when they knew their vote would have no actual result.

Unquestionably, however, the suffragettes have more supporters, in parliaments and out of them, than they had a few years ago. Their cause is gaining ground. The right of womankind to a vote, if the majority of them want it is now recognized in quarters where such a suggestion would have been met with open scorn in the nineties. But they want it? The belief that the franchise is sought by the comparatively few is still strong in the minds of most people. In Canada it has been strengthened by the division in the ranks of the National Council of Women upon the suffrage question. When the suffragettes have convinced their own sex, their battle will be more than half won.

BLACK HILLS GOLD.

Search for True Fissures Like Homestake Mine is Finally Rewarded.

Sioux Falls, S.D., July 16.—After search which has continued at intervals for a period of more than 30 years, it is now fully believed that the rich vein of gold ore which has made the Homestake Mining Company one of the great gold producers of the world, has been found out side of the mining ground owned by the Homestake Mining Company.

The direction in which this vein led always has been a source of keen speculation on the part of mining men of the Black Hills. Now that a well defined vein, a continuation of the Homestake vein, only much richer in the precious metal has at last been discovered, there is little doubt in the minds of disinterested residents of the Black Hills that their mining region will become only second to the rand in South Africa, and that the annual gold production of the Black Hills will be increased many times over.

The attention of investors is directed to the Black Hills-Anaconda Mining and Milling Company's advertisement in this issue.

"FEELS LIKE A NEW WOMAN."

Years of Ill Health Cured.

..."Like many another woman," writes Mrs. J. H. Hilliard of Ashland, N.Y., "continued weakness caused by poor stomach and constipation led me to believe I would always be sick. It was Mrs. Ryan, my neighbor, who advised me to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills and it was the means of teaching me 'It is never too late to mend.' I am rather a small woman, always pale, except when my skin becomes a muddy yellow. I never had much of an appetite because my digestion was never very good and still worse my system was seldom regular. Mrs. Ryan had become healthy and well with Dr. Hamilton's Pills and kept telling me that they would fix my system so it would work well too. Certainly Dr. Hamilton's Pills must have made right all that was wrong, because I weigh ten pounds more than ever before and feel fine. If you could see my rosy color and watch how quickly I do my housework. I am sure you would think just as much of Dr. Hamilton's Pills as I do. They are a real fine medicine for women and like as not would do a man just as much good too."

There is no remedy for general use in the home to make you well when sick, to keep you from getting sick—no medicine with half the merit of Dr. Hamilton's Pills—see you get em, all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

FAITH AND THE PHYSICIAN.

Does the profession of medicine enjoy less of public confidence and esteem than formerly? Dr. George F. Butler, writing in the New York Medical Journal, seems to think so. He believes that doctors have been devoting too much attention to the study of diseases and not enough to the suffering individual. He maintains that the present practice of medicine has too little regard for anything beyond man's physical being, whereas mental, moral and spiritual disease far outnumber those of the physical body.

These views will enjoy the distinguished backing of Dr. William Osler, who in the latest issue of the British Medical Journal comes out frankly in favor of the faith cure. Faith, he says is an essential factor in the practice of medicine. Mental healing, he declares, may have great value when carefully and scientifically applied in suitable cases. With the proper environment of faith, in an atmosphere of optimism and cheer, the hospital may perform the services of a pilgrimage-shrine, the infirmary may become a Lourdes.

Dr. Osler seems even to take a step toward Christian Science. He says that the American people have prepared themselves by a long orgy of drowning to accept a "new way of life," a "new epicureanism," whose power is in the optimism which discounts the worries of the daily round."

Dr. Butler deplores the physician's frequent lack of sympathy with patients and his proneness to look upon them as merely "cases." If faith is an important element in a cure few things tend more to promote it than the personal sympathetic interest of the physician. The consciousness of this interest acts upon the patient and helps to establish that necessary nexus on which faith depends. Man is more than body, and the successful practitioner must recognize the fact.

SPRAINED WRIST AND ANKLE.

Pain for Ten Days, Rested Was Gained Instantly By Applying NERVILINE.

One of the most soul-distressing accidents that can befall one is a bad ankle or wrist sprain. "If I had only known of 'Nerviline' earlier, I could have saved myself an enormous amount of pain, and many agonizing nights of sleeplessness." Thus writes P. P. Quinn, a young farmer living near Brockville. "I tumbled from a hay loft to the barn floor and sprained my right ankle and left wrist. They swelled rapidly and caused excruciating pains. It was not convenient to go to the city, and the liniment in the house was useless. When I got Nerviline relief came quickly. It took down the swelling, relieved the pain, and gave me wonderful comfort.

"I can recommend Nerviline for strains, bruises, swellings muscular pains and sore back. I have proved it a sure cure in such cases."

Think what it might some day mean to you to have right in your home ready for an accident or emergency sickness, a bottle or two of Nerviline. Get it today, 25c., or five for $1.00, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston Ont.

SIR WILLIAM CROOKES.

Sir William Crookes, who has just been awarded the Order of Merit by the King, is perhaps the most versatile man of genius alive He is a recognized authority in more departments of scientific research than any other man. He would be sure of celebrity among future generations by his discoveries in electric science, the Crookes tubes being sufficient to preserve his name and fame. In radioactivity, in metallurgy, in industrial chemistry and agriculture, in sanitation, and all branches of these matters he is a leading authority. He belongs to nearly all the learned societies at home and abroad of any distinction, and has been president of the British Association. And yet the bigotry of science is such that the work upon which he chiefly prides himself is never mentioned by the majority of his fellow workers. In "Who's Who," no mention is made of his standing as an authority in psychic research, of his presidency of the S.P.R., nor to the fact that when president of the British Association he took pains in delivering his presidential address to affirm that he had never wavered in the opinions he had formed as a result of his investigations forty years ago, but had confirmed the conclusions then arrived at by many subsequent experiences, Lombroso and Schiapatelli, who both died recently, endorsed his views in this respect, and so do Camille Flammarion and Alfred Russell Wallace and many other eminent men. But to accept Sir William Crookes' views would mean such a portentous subversion life that the cautious scientists may of all the generally accepted ideas of be pardoned for their fears of such a radical philosophy. And as, long as everybody agrees to say nothing about the public will be none the wiser.

It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drug the organ. A CHINESE PARLIAMENT IN NINE YEARS.

Western progressives will not denounce or regret the action of the Chinese regent in rejecting the petition of provincial assemblies and nationalist organizations for the immediate convocation of a parliament The official program is radical enough and remarkable enough. A Chinese parliament in nine years, with many intermediate and preparatory steps spelling reform in various directions, seems almost incredible to the western mind. To proceed with greater haste is to court failure. The chinese masses as well as the classes must be thought of.

But the movement for immediate introduction of representative government in significant nevertheless, and it will, at any rate, tend to hasten the [illegible] of the original program. Still, there is the same curious puzzling mixture of modernity and conservatism in this movement that is observable in everything Chinese.

Among the delegates who presented the petition to the regent there were, it is reported, leading mandarins and dignitaries, who had resolved never to accept a negative answer, but to stay in Peking indefinitely and press the demand at any risk and cost! Some of these delegates, it appears, pledged themselves to "commit suicide" in the event of failure. Who pledged them and how soon they must commit suicid" the despatches do not tell us. But how "Chinese" all this sounds, and how incongruous with talk of parliaments, progress and westernization!

Mosquitos Scarce This Summer.

Two cottagers summering at Chemong Park yesterday assured The Times that "the mosquitos this summer are not nearly as plentiful or as hungry as in past years." Still, possibly, like residents in the city who cannot summer at the lakes, even the residents at Chemong or Kawartha Lakes in general, find that, as far as mosquitos or not, are concerned, the bills come with regularity and despatch. The stayer in the city, however, when he gets the bill pays it with hard-earned coin of the realm, whilst the cottager, to whose system comes the bill of the mosquito, pays his expenses and runs a risk of all kinds of germs. Still the mere sojourner amidst bricks and mortar would risk the bills belonging to diplococci or any other old bug to get out to the lakes.

Six-Year-Old-Tot Strayed on Manitoba Prairie

St. Laurent, Man., July 16.— A vigirous search is being prosecuted for little six-year-old Mandie Muxton. On Saturday and Sunday a large crowd was out, and the sweep of the circle extended from seven to a dozen miles from the village. A farmer who was unaware that a child was missing heard a cry as he passed, and thought nothing of it until arriving in town, he heard of the missing child. He promptly drove back with a search party to the spot, but they failed to locate the child.

HAVE GOT DOGS.

It is considered strange that no sign has been found of the child, as it is considered almost certain she would discard her hat or some of her clothing.

Nothing in the way of a cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so throughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety, even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. Its remarkable curative effect. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

Broke Leg While After Bees.

A peculiar accident happened recently at Villiers. It seems that Mr. Robt. Wood of that village, a bee raiser, had a hive which swarmed in a tree in his orchard. Mr. Woods procuring a ladder, started to climb up into the tree, intending to capture the queen bee and incidentally the swarm. Unfortunately, however, he lost his footing on the ladder and fell to the ground, breaking his leg. The accident will render him helpless for some time.

Little Miss Collins' Sad Death.

Another sad proof that the invisible microbes which now attract attention from the world's scientists, are ever present, is shown by the lamented death of little Mary Dorothy, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Collins, of Hunter street east. It seems that the poor little child had eaten overripe bananas. On Monday evening, she was taken seriously ill. Medical aid was at once summoned and everything known to human skill applied, but, in vain. The funeral, which is private, will be held today to St. Peter's cemetery. The child's parents will have the heartfelt sympathy of the whole community.

Dolan Block Finally Sold.

The Toronto Savings & Loan Company has purchased the Dolan block, George street, which was bought a couple of weeks ago from the executors of the Dolan estate by Hon. Mr. Stratton. The company has now the block complete from Phelan's hotel, Simcoe street, to the Harper block on Charlotte street. The new purchase will give them the right of way by direct lane from Charlotte street to Simcoe street if found desirable, with a large depth of property facing on George street.

Hundreds Denied Admission.

Last night fifty three hundred people were turned away from the Crystal Theater. This was due to the immense interest taken in the original pictures, as authorized by his present majesty of the Gaumont pictures of King Edward's funeral. Those missing this great sight, however, can see it today at the Crystal if they come early enough.

Last night Victoria Park resounded with the grand strains of music rendered there by the magnificent band of the Salvation Army. A large attendance thoroughly enjoyed the concert.

CONDUCTORS AND TRAINMEN ON THE G.T.R. ARE ON STRIKE

MR. CHARLES M. HAYS.
President of the Grand Trunk Railway.

"FIGHT TO FINISH" IS THE SLOGAN BUT NO DISORDER OR INTERFERENCE WITH THE COMPANY, SAY MEN.

Company Imports Men—Many Buildings Will Be Turned Into Dormitories—Have Rifles and Ammunition to Protect Property.

Montreal, July 19.—"It's a fight to a finish," was the slogan sounded today both by the officials of the Grand Trunk Railway System and the leaders of the 4,500 employes who struck last night for higher wages. The union leaders reported today that every member of the organization affected had obeyed the strike order, and that by tonight scarcely a wheel would be turning on the 3,260 miles of the railway.

"But there will be no interference service," was the declaration of the company officials. The importation of strike-breakers, both on the Grand Trunk proper, and the Central Vermont, the New England subsidiary, is being rushed today. Hundreds of men are already at the divisional points to take the strikers' places, and hundreds more are on the way.

READY FOR LONG STRUGGLE.

After the last train that began its run before the walk-out at 9.30 last night had been taken to the end of its run the company began attempting to run trains with employes unaffiliated with unions. This morning several clashes had already been reported.

...Vice-President James Murdock, of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, said today: "The men are firm, and we have plenty of funds for a long struggle. We are fighting for the wages set by the Board of Conciliation, and we mean to get them."

STRIKE BENEFITS.

President Charles M. Hays, of the Grand Trunk, said: "We have done all in our power to avert trouble, and now that a fight has been forced, we will maintain the position we believe to be right."

SCIENCE WAR OVER.

Fifteen Members of the Stetson Faction Excommunicated at New York.

Boston, July 18.—What is regarded as probably the last act of Christian Science war in which Mrs. Augusta Stetson of New York, was a leading figure, has ended here today by official publication at the Mother Church of the excommunication of fifteen New York practitioners who were members of the Stetson faction.

No direct statement was granted as to whether the war is over with the ousting of this group of men and women but from admissions made it is believed that their discipline has smothered the last spark of opposition to the present manageress of Mrs. Eddy's church.

Negro Shot Dead Another Cut Open

Chatham, Ont., July 19.—As a result of a drunken row in the east end of the city amongst the colored population, Jacob Enos, colored, has dead at the morgue with a bullet wound through his eye, and Guy Needham, also colored, is in a dangerous condition at his home, King street east, with a razor slash extending all the way across his stomach. The police, who have been working on the case ever since last night, have as yet, found no clue which would lead to the identity of the man who did either the slashing or the shooting.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Jacob Enos and a friend named Griffin were walking down Wellington street late last night when they met a crowd of colored men walking in the opposite direction, including one named Jackson, another Parker, and another Harbert. A row ensued, and Griffin passed on. When he noticed that Enos did not follow he started back to where the crowd was still quarreling. He was met on his way back by Jackson, who, it is said, pointed a revolver at his head and fired. The shot missed its aim, but Griffin's face was burned by the powder. Griffin then made a hurried retreat and did not come back. He says that he did not hear any other shots fired and did not see a razor used.

FOUND DEAD MAN.

The police were notified late last night, and they made an investigation. They found Needham at his home with his stomach cut, and as the negroes were very quiet mouthed over the whole affair, they thought that this was the most serious part of the row. Needham could give very little information to them. It was not until this morning that the body of Enos was found on the boulevard on Wellington street, opposite the residence of Dr. J. P. Rutherford, where the row occurred.

G.T.R. Hopes to Move Freight in a Day or Two

Toronto, July 19.—General Superintendent Brownlee of the G.T.R., made the following statement at noon today.

"Reports have been received from the various Grand Trunk divisions as follows:

"Eastern Division —Including the entire lines east of Toronto, All passengers trains are running, and one freight train left Brockville at 10.30 a.m. for Montreal.

"Middle division—including the lines from Toronto to Niagara Falls and Buffalo, Toronto to Port Huron, Toronto and Windsor, Buffalo and Goderich, and branch lines to Kincardine, Southampton and Owen Sound. All passenger trains but one are running. The local train due to leave London at 7.30 was cancelled, and consolidated with the 9 o'clock train from London.

"Northern Division—The morning passenger trains leaving Belleville, Lakefield, Haliburton, Beeton, Meaford and Penetang were on time. All through trains between Toronto and North Bay, with the exception of the Muskoka Express due to leave Toronto at 11.30, left on time. The latter express was consolidated with the Huntsville train, and pulled out at 13.10 p.m.

"We are getting recruits just as fast as we can use them," said Mr. Brownlee, "and they are all experienced men, of course. Some of our old pensioners have remained loyal to the company, and have been placed in charge of trains that are running today. We hope to be able to improve on the passenger service and move our freight trains within a day or two."

"Don't Let Children Kiss or be Kissed"

Denver, Col., July 19.—The following advice to parents will be given by the National Dental Association at a public meeting tomorrow night in the Auditorium.

"Don't allow children to kiss or be kissed.

"Don't let your child eat half an apple and give the other half to Johnny.

"Don't let your boy swap dishes of ice cream with his playmates.

"Don't let children exchange pencils. Johnny will suck Willie's pencil and get a germ. Same thing applies to sponges.

"Don't let children drink from public fountains where everybody uses the same cup. Make them carry their own cup or drink from the spout."

The convention got down to business today, with one thousand dentists present.

The famous set of false teeth of George Washington, valued at $5,000, are on exhibition at the convention hall.

Hope That the Strike will be Settled Soon

The main topic of conversation throughout the city yesterday was the Grand Trunk Railway strike. This is a matter that must solve its own difficulties. The general hope, however, is that the G.T.R. and its employes may get together and come to an agreement whereby the wheels greased by mutual understanding and good fellowship will revolve so that commerce along the company's lines will not be interrupted. In this inland city, we are almost to a unit dependent upon the traffic carried by the railroads entering the city. The "pros and cons" of this dispute must be settled by those directly concerned. For the good of the country for the welfare of Peterborough, and for the future prospects of both the road and its employes, it is to be hoped that an amicable settlement may be attained without delay.

A TEN DAYS' OPTION.

New Suit, Not Paid for, May Cost County a Few Dollars.

City Clerk Armstrong sat in the seat of justice at yesterday's session of the police court. A man named Meakins was on trial, alleged to have got a suit of clothes from a local dealer named Schwartz, and not having paid for the same. It seems that Schwartz went after his money. The result was a $2 fine, of getting cheque, note draft, or good hard or paper coin, seems to have got, what some people call the muddy end of the stick; or, in other words, the dealer did not get his money. The result was a $2 fine, with the option of ten days' free board and unterrupted use of a buck saw on the cordwood piled up at Castle Nesbitt, kept partly for heating purposes and possibly to enable boarders at the county's expense an arena whereby and wherein, to display their muscular ability and work off their superfluous fat and debt to the laws.

Good Excursion by Y.W.C.A.

Last night the good ship Otonabee, took some two hundred and fifty members of the Y.W.C.A., and their friends down the river on a moonlight excursion. The weather was all that could be desired and everybody on board thoroughly enjoyed the evening's outing. A good program of music enlivened the proceedings.

The Causes of The Grand Trunk Strike

IMMENSE DISTURBANCE OF BUSINESS AND LOSS TO INDIVIDUALS AND COUNTRY AT LARGE.

Acceptance by the Company of the Award of the Board of Conciliation Yesterday Afternoon Might Have Been Too Late to Be Effective.

Toronto, July 19.—The strike of Grand Trunk trainmen, which everybody has hoped might be averted, has been declared. Immense disturbance of business and loss to individuals and the country at large will be the inevitable consequence. Large sections of Canada are served only by the Grand Trunk Railway. Many industrial concerns have only shipping facilities over that road. If, therefore, the strike is prolonged, its effect will be felt in numberless homes and cause privation and hardship far beyond what now may appear to be the area of disturbance.

The first question to arise in the public mind will be upon whom should be placed the responsibility for the state of affairs with which Canada is today faced. The Times has found it difficult to believe that a basis would not be found for an agreement between the company and its men. A prolonged and thorough investigation of the dispute by a Board of Conciliation resulted in an award which it was hoped would, with modifications, be acceptable to both parties. When the award was made, the signers of that award had good authority for believing that it would be acceptable to the men. The chairman hoped with some reason that if nothing better could be obtained by negotiations by Mr. Hays it would be accepted by him on behalf of the company. There appeared to be, therefore, only one point in connection with which danger of a strike existed.

The award recommended that wages on the Grand Trunk should be brought up to the standard paid by the C.P.R. and other railroads by two steps, the first of which would give the men five-eighths of the difference between the existing scale and the standard. The remaining three-eighths was to be given later on. The date of the second step was a matter of much discussion. The men refused in the early stages to listen to a later date than September 1st, 1911, which is the date fixed for the second step towards standardization of wages on the Erie Railway. But to this date the chairman of the board could not agree. Finally the date in the award was left blank with the understanding that it would form the subject of negotiation between the parties.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for a case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

No Strike on the C. P. R.

Montreal, July 19.—There will be no strike on the Canadian Pacific. Mr. McNicholl met Messrs. Berry and Murdock, representing the men, today and an agreement was drawn up which, if looked upon in the same light tomorrow as it is today, will be signed. All hands looked happy after today's conference, and the men seemed especially confident.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gently stimulate the liver and bowels to expel poisonous matter, cleanse the system, cure constipation and sick headache. Sold by all dealers.

IS THE CASE WORSE?

Indictment Point to a more Serious Charge Against Haag Than Mentioned Yesterday.

In an article of yesterday's issue, we gave an extensive account of the bringing here of Mr. Ernest Haag, proprietor of the "Mighty Haag Circus," as defendant in a case wherein the latter is accused, by the local police of bringing an unmuzzled dog to Peterborough. Now, on mature reflection, it seemed that, as possibly, three thousand dogs of parentage from a cross between a Chinese pug and a woolen Teddy bear, which are allowed to run the streets of Peterborough without muzzles, something more than an unmuzzled dog would impel the police of Peterborough to bring here for trial a man whose time is worth possibly $100 a day. It was whispered yesterday that the Ontario Government is indirectly the charge against Mr. Haag. It is intimated that the real and most valid charge is that of bringing to Peterborough a dog or dogs, from one of the hydrophobia infested parts of the Province. In any event Chief of Police Thompson must have had good reason for the action he took. The trial is set for July 23rd.

LEAVING FOR CANADA.

Miss Minnie Wareham and Miss Ida Shera are visiting at Mrs. Harry Clarke's, Springville.

ARE YOU IN DANGER?

You May Be Neglecting a Small Ailment and Thereby Inviting Serious Disease.

That little maladies grow into serious diseases we all know. Upon the stomach, liver and kidneys rest mainly the work of maintaining health. Most of your little sickness come from derangement of these organs. Experience proves that they are very frequently out of order, not badly perhaps, but even if only slightly out of order, it acts upon the mind and the spirits and upon the strength and regularity of the system.

It won't pay you to neglect your health; at the first sign of headache or languor take Dr. Hamilton's Pills and note how bright you feel next morning. You'll have a grand appetite, enjoy your breakfast and feel full of energy to go to work upon.

Your food soon tastes so good that you eat more than ever before and, of course, you grow stronger, ruddy, vivacious, just sparkling with energy and good health.

Soon your friends will notice the improvement, and by continuing to tone up your system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills you lay the sound foundation of permanent good health.

There is no medicine better for men, women or children, nothing for family use half so beneficial as Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. To look well, use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Another Case Where Life Was Saved and Health Restored By Nerviline.

We have all read and heard of the agonies of Sciatica, but only those who have been tortured by this dread malady can fully appreciate what it must mean to be cured after years of suffering.

It is because he feels it his solemn duty to tell to the world his faith in Nerviline that Victor P. Hiroe makes the following declaration: "For three years I was in the Royal Mail service and in all kinds of weather had to meet the night trains. Dampness, cold and exposure brought on sciatica that affected my left side. Sometimes an attack would come on that made me powerless to work. I was so nearly a cripple that I had to give up my job. I was in despair, completely cast down because the money I spent on trying to get well was completely wasted. I was speaking to my chemist one day, and he recommended Nerviline. I had this good Ointment rubbed on several times a day and got relief. In order to build up my general CURED health and improve my blood I used Ferrozone. SIX one tablet with each meal I continued this treat- YEARS. ment four months and was cured. I have used all kinds of liniments, and can truthfully say that Nerviline is far stronger, more penetrating, and infinitely better than anything else for relieving pain. I urge everyone with lumbago, neuralgia, rheumatism or sciatica to use Nerviline. I know it will, cure em."

There isn't a more highly esteemed citizen in Westchester than Mr. Hiroe. What he says can be relied upon, for six years since being cured he hasn't had a single relapse. Don't accept anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." 25 cents per bottle or five for $1. Sold everywhere or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston.

GEORGIAN BAY CANAL.

The Georgian Bay Canal Company has made a third offer to the Government, undertaking to do the work of construction, if the Government will guarantee three and a half per cent.. on the cost, the company to collect the tolls which must be subject to Government supervision and the Government to have the right to take over the work at any time.

This offer looks tempting, says the Kingston Standard, but we fear the Greeks et dona ferentes. If the company is willing to hand over the canal at any time what consideration will they expect for it? These promoters are not working for nothing—that goes without saying. There must be a profit in the scheme somewhere apart from the 3½ per cent. interest. Who is to figure the cost of this work and so get at the amount onwhich the government is to guarantee 3½ per cent? We all know how the work has been done on the National Transcontinental. That scheme is likely to cost three times the original estimate, a good deal of which must have already gone into the pockets of the contractors. No, these gentlemen are not working for the love they have for Canada or for a return of 3½ per cent. on their money.

Apart from this however, a canal should be a national undertaking and should be built by the government who should be in a position to fix the tolls. If the company builds the canal the tolls will have to be high enough to pay 3½ per cent. on the cost or the government will have to make up the difference. And that is where the shoe pinches. What is going to be the cost?

Is the government at present in any shape to undertake this gigantic scheme, and is the canal necessary at the present time or will it be necessary for some years to come? The government is already up to its neck in costly undertakings—the Transcontinental, the Hudson Bay Railway, the navy and a dozen others that will cost hundreds of millions. Canada is borrowing enormous sums in Britain. How long can this state of affairs be kept up? The Georgian Bay Canal will not be a necessity for twenty years to come. The great railroads—the C.P.R., the C.N.R. and the Transcontinental have been built to carry the Western grain and the Welland canal when rebuild will take care of a large part of it. What is the object of building the Transcontinental through the Province of Quebec if the grain can be switched down through the Georgian. Hey Presto? Both of these can not be necessary.

Evidently the Georgian Bay Canal scheme can wait.

A Little Touch of CORBY'S Makes The Whole World Kin

The Aroma is fragrant enough to suggest the mythical "ambrosial nectar".

The flavor is a revelation—not a suspicion of the "tang" or harshness that mars the average whisky. Connoisseurscommend its velvet smoothness.

CORBY'S
Special Selected RYE WHISKY

is distilled to absolute purity from the choicest grain we can buy—then matured for years in Charred Oak barrels the only way a good Whisky can be matured.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt wisely explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

COSTLY SIGHT-SEEING.

Big Fees Paid by Sightseers Whom Pageants Are Under Way.

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good, and the death of a monarch puts money into the pockets of thousands. Those who profit most largely by such an event are the seat-mongers on the line of the funeral procession.

The value put upon seats is always rising. When Edward I. became king a farthing was charged for a seat to see the coronation procession. On the accession of Richard II. the price rose to 1d.; and from Henry V.'s coronation to Henry VII.'s it was 2d. By the time Charles II. was crowned it had gone up to 2s. 6d.; while exactly double as much (5s.) was paid at the coronation of William III. Then the value of seats on such occasions appreciated enormously. To see the procession when George III. was crowned half a guinea was paid; and sightseers on George IV.'s day of days cheerfully paid five and in some cases ten guineas. This was considered the climax, but the value put on seats in later days has been much greater.

Why the enormous rise? The main reason, so far as our own times are concerned, is that wealthy Indians, Americans, and other foreign visitors have been willing to pay anything for a seat to witness a state pageant. Hence the value has been inflated.

The present high scale was set at Queen Victoria's Jubilee, when large sums were paid for rooms from the windows of which the procession could be seen. Few rooms, however small, could be hired for less than 10 guineas, and for many 100 guineas was demanded and paid. A large building on the route, being empty, was secured for the day by an enterprising individual for 1,000 guineas, and he had no reason to repent his outlay.

On the occasion of Queen Victoria's funeral the Jubilee rate for seats was confirmed. In St. James' street £10 had to be paid for a single chair, while seats which a few days before the procession were offered for 3 guineas afterwards fetched 5 guineas. A window which let when Lord Roberts came home for £210 found a hirer at £400 on the occasion of the Queen's funeral. As it will hold only fifty people at the utmost, the hirer must have charged pretty heavily for every seat in it. Again, some rooms in Piccadilly let for as much as 200 guineas.

High as these figures are, however, they were surpassed in several instances. The most remarkable "deal" in connection with the funeral was that of a gentleman who took a mansion near the Marble Arch for the day for the amazing sum of £1,500!

At Edward VII.'s coronation, and again at the royal progress, the prices of seats was equally high. In South London some landlords evicted tenants that they might obtain windows for the function, and received more for a single day's occupancy of a part of their premises than they get in normal circumstances for the use of the whole for a year. Others, however, let their tenants make as much as possible on the occasion, with the result that many strenuous workers made handsome sums by letting their humble homes to sightseers.

Perhaps the highest price ever paid for a window was £1,000 secured by a landlord near the Marble Arch to enable some Americans to view the funeral procession of the King on its way to Paddington.

Queen-Mother's Relations.

No royal lady of any time has been so intimately related to such a large number of kings and queens as the Queen-Mother of Great Britain, who has been the recipient of world-wide sympathy in her great grief and sorrow. Her father and mother were king and queen, her husband was a king, her mother-in-law was the late Queen Victoria, her son is now King of Great Britain, her daughter is Queen of Norway, a sister was for some years Czarina of Russia and is now Dowager Empress, one brother is King of Denmark, another brother King of the Hellenes, one of her nephews is Czar of Russia, and another nephew, who is also her son-in-law, is King of Norway while a third and fourth are destined to be King of Denmark and King of the Hellenes respectively.

"Charlie" Carrington.

Earl Carrington, who was recently appointed Lord Great Chamberlain of England by King George, is one of the largest landowners in England. The late King Edward and "Charlie" Carrington, as he is popularly known to his intimates, grew up together in close intimacy. For five years he was governor of New South Wales, where he studied agriculture. Lord Carrington returned home a convinced and enthusiastic land-reformer. He believes in getting men back to the land, and has established no fewer than 8,000 small holdings on his estates. The new Lord Great Chamberlain has a wide reputation as an excellent administrator.

Toy Spaniel an Old Breed.

The English toy spaniel is undoubtedly one of the oldest and most popular breeds of pet dogs known. As far back as the days of Charles the Martyr this breed was much prized by the ladies of the court. In the narrative of the execution of Mary, Queen of Scots, indorsed in Lord Burghley's hand and forwarded to the court, it was recorded that one of the executioners found her little pet (a spaniel of practically the same type as those afterward known in the reign of Charles II.), which had crept under the folds of her garments to be near her and which would not be taken away.

The Great Cod Banks.

There is just one other great cod bank in the world besides those off Newfoundland. It lies off Cape Agulhas, which is the southern tip of Africa and south of the Cape of Good Hope. The Agulhas plateau is said to be almost a duplicate in size and richness of the north cod banks. But this is too far off, so there is little promise of its appeasing the hungry appetite of the world for cod.

A Clever Ruse

But It Was Very Unexpectedly Thwarted.

By WILLARD BLAKEMAN

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

On coming home from business I found my wife in the dumps.

"What's the matter, dear?" I asked.

"It's all up with us."

"Bottom dropped out of the universe?"

"Worse. Aunt Abigail will have to live with us. She's written that her friend with whom she has had a home is to give up her house the 1st of May, and that throws her out. I am her only relative, and of course she expects me to take her in."

"She's a bit cranky, isn't she?"

"Cranky is no name for it."

"Well, we'll have to make the best of it."

Aunt Abigail arrived. We had previously considered our home entirely our own. With the coming of our relative we saw at once that all this was changed. She settled herself down with an appearance of permanency that made my blood run cold.

"Well," she exclaimed, looking about her, "how did you ever come to build this house down in a hollow—it must have been a swamp once—when you could as well have put it up on that hill, where you could see something?"

"We five here winter and summer, Aunt Abigail. Up there we would freeze in cold weather."

"Fresno! Nonsense! Some people are always afraid they'll breathe a little fresh air. I'm not. I sleep with my window open, and I like to have a gale blowing in right on me. You should have fronted your house to the south.

"I can't stand this. We must get rid of her, I said to my wife."

"To turn her out would be awful."

"We needn't do that. We can fix it so that she will go of her own accord."

"For heaven's sake explain."

"You know the homeopathic principle—like cures like. Well, my Uncle Robert is more disagreeable, if that is possible, than your Aunt Abigail. He is a dictatorial old curmudgeon, with no respect for any one's opinion but his own. He is as poor as a church mouse, living in a miserable room in a rookery by himself. He amuses himself abusing his neighbors from his window and shying anything he can get his hands on at the cats. Now, it has occurred to me to bring him here as a foil for your aunt. She can't possibly endure to stay in the house with such a man, and when she's gone I'll find a way to get rid of Uncle Robert. Perhaps they may both go to get rid of each other."

"Your plan seems rather impracticable to me, Billy, but I have a good deal of confidence in those roundabout ways of yours. Suppose we try it?"

So I wrote Uncle Robert offering a home temporarily and, if he liked it, as long as he lived. He accepted eagerly, and it was not long before he was down upon us bag and baggage.

"My dear boy," he exclaimed, putting me on the back, "how you do remind me of your father! He and I were inseparable as boys, and I've carried you on my shoulder often. And to think that I'm to have a home with you! Put me anywhere. A garret is good enough for a broken down old codger like me. Phew! Somebody's been smoking here. Do you smoke? How I hate tobacco! It makes me sick."

"I won't smoke any more in the house since you've come, uncle," I said.

"Oh, don't mind me. I can stand anything; got to stand it. I've made a dead failure of life and don't deserve anything else. You don't mind my opening the window, do you—just to let the odor out?"

"Fanny has a bad cold, you know."

"Just the thing to cure her. Let her breathe the cool air of heaven."

Up went the window and out of the room went Fanny. Half an hour after my uncle arrived dinner was announced. I was watching our guests when they entered the dining room. It was like a dog and a cat at first catching sight of each other. Both seemed to crouch for an encounter. Neither spoke to the other for some time after taking seats at table. Then a remark of Uncle Robert's ruffled Aunt Abigail.

"This woman's voting craze"— he was beginning.

"Voting what, sir?"

"Craze, madam," raising his voice.

"I'm not deaf. I heard you well enough. I object to you calling woman's suffrage a craze."

"Are you an advocate of woman's suffrage, madam?"

"I most assuredly am."

"I believe in any one who advocates a principle standing by that principle and not attempting to straddle"—

"Sir!"

"That is, to equivocate or knuckle down, defending the cause with all his or her strength. For contra. I reserve the same privilege for myself. Woman's suffrage I consider the most abominable, diabolical, illogical rot that was ever sprung on a Christian people."

"And I consider it one of the holiest causes"—

"Aunt Abigail," interposed my wife, "do let me help you to this little bit of wing. You're not eating enough to feed a sparrow."

"I'm inclined to think," remarked Uncle Robert, "that there's a good deal in this new idea of diet. The man who's-his-name who is proving that the less we eat the more work we can do is going to create a revolution."

"Have you adopted his idea?" asked Aunt Abigail spitefully.

Considering that I had just filled Uncle Robert's plate for the second time this was unkind.

"I have not, madam, for the reason that I am not yet satisfied that his views are correct. I'm nothing if not scientific. I must see a thing proved before I adopt it."

"Would you prove woman's suffrage before adopting it?"

This was quite bright of Aunt Abigail.

"I admit," replied Uncle Robert, "that to prove it before adopting it would be impossible. It isn't necessary to prove it. Any fool can see that the idea is ridiculous."

"Uncle," I interrupted for the purpose of calling a truce and preventing Aunt Abigail from firing a return shot, "let me fill your glass."

"No, sir," putting his hand over it—"not at all, sir. I drink just one glass of wine with my dinner. And that's enough for any man."

"Quite right," I replied and filled my own for the third time.

"One is too much for any man, especially an old man," snapped the aunt. "Nothing is so disgusting to me as an old toper."

The shot, while it applied partly to me, was fired at Uncle Robert.

"Not at all," he replied. "One glass is good for the system. You know what St. Paul says. 'Take a little wine for the stomach's sake.'"

"Yes," retorted Aunt Abigail, "and I know that the devil can quote Scripture."

This was so well turned that I felt like patting the old lady on the back. But it did not squelch Uncle Robert for the simple reason that he was unsnubbable. The skirmishing went on, getting better and better, till at last, to prevent an open rupture, my wife arose from the table. She, poor woman, was dreading a fracas, and I was not anxious to have a break occur so early in the game.

As soon as Fanny and I were alone together we sat down and laughed.

"Did you ever see anything work more beautifully?" I said, clapping my leg.

"Never."

"Let them go their own gait. My opinion is that one or the other will get out within a week."

Every day my uncle came to me and said that he couldn't live in the same house with a cat and was going tomorrow. Every day Aunt Abigail went to Fanny and said she could not possibly endure that opinionated old heathen and she was casting about for another home, but it was dreadful that she should be alone in the world, with no one to love but Fanny, and Fanny must needs be incumbered by all her husband's relatives. I told my uncle that if I were deprived of the comfort of caring for my father's brother in his old age it would break my heart. Fanny made faint thwarted attempts to quiet her aunt and agreed with her that my uncle was a trifle hard to get on with, regretting at the same time that he had the same claim on me that her aunt had on her. It is true that occasionally there would be a lull in the hostilities and we would find the two chatting quite amicably. But this was when they happened to strike some subject which was a pet with both. As soon as they drifted into topics on which they disagreed the roar of battle recommenced.

Several weeks passed in this way, and Fanny and I were getting impatient for the denouement, when one day uncle came to me and said that he would like to have a few words with me and Fanny alone. He looked very serious, and I felt quite sure he would announce his departure. He was a born gentleman, and nothing would be further from his nature than to hurt one's feelings, and to appear ungrateful would break his heart. I called Fanny into the library, shut the door and waited for the old man to speak.

"My dear boy," he began, taking my hand, "and my dear little girl," taking Fanny's hand, "I have something to announce which will surprise you. I am going to leave you!"

"Oh, uncle!" we both exclaimed, trying hard to appear much disappointed, even shocked.

"Yes, I am going away, and your aunt is also going."

This was indeed a surprise.

"Your kindness has brought about a great change in two lonely lives. For a time it seemed to both of us that we must thwart your plans for the happiness of both of us. It has not seemed that we can live under the same roof together."

He paused, and I thought he was going to shed tears. Then he added abruptly:

"We are both going to leave you tomorrow."

"Both?"

"Yes, both. We are to be quietly married at 9 o'clock and leave on a short wedding trip on the 10 o'clock train."

"Goodness gracious!" from Fanny.

"Great Scott!" from me.

"But we shall be gone only a few days."

"And then!" exclaimed Fanny and I breathlessly.

"And then," resumed the old man putting a hand on each of our heads, "we return to spend the rest of our lives with our dear niece and nephew."

Heaven helps those who help themselves. At any rate, heaven came to our relief. I inherited $20,000 from a maternal uncle. Of this I put $5,000 in a home for the old couple and invested the rest in an annuity for them. Strangely enough, they are quite contented together.

Another New Foundry to be Erected Here

Once more the factory world of Peterborough is to be stimulated by a substantial increase. As can be seen in another column of this issue, Messrs. Adam Hall & Sons, Peterborough's oldest hardware and plumbing firm are advertising for tenders for the erection of a solid brick foundry and machine shop, at the corner of Bethune and Simcoe street. Plans and specifications for the new foundry can be seen at the office of Mr. Wm. Blackwell, the local architect. The building contemplated will be one hundred and fourteen feet long by about forty-five feet wide. Messrs. Hall & Sons expect to employ from thirty to fifty men in the new foundry on its completion, but hope soon to enlarge the premises when, of course a much larger payroll of employes will have to be met weekly. It is of some interest to note that this, one of the oldest firms in the city, who have paid taxes and other civic expenses for more years than the average Peterborough merchant has been in business, do not ask the city for any subsidy, exemption or other aid. Should the firm however, later on, decide to enlarge the premises now under completion, they may ask for some grant as to exemption or fixed assessment, as is apparently demanded by nearly every manufacturer who locates or goes into business in Peterborough.

Actress Murder a Most Brutal One

London, July 19.—More details of the methods used in murdering Belle Elmore, American actress, are coming to light and operatives from Scotland Yard declare the crime was one of the most brutal in English criminal annals.

A large force of men with grappling hooks today began dragging Rel gent's canal, in the hope of finding the missing head, feet and hands of the slain woman, together with other portions of the flesh from the torso.

Some of the detectives, however, believe the bones were dissolved in a vat of sulphuric acid.

The fiendish intelligence with which the crime was committed and the proof of murder wiped out, stamps the murderer as an abnormally acute criminal, the police say.

They point out that the initial stories of the wife's hurried trip to America and her subsequent death there were sufficiently well told and so skilfully fabricated that the murder would probably never have been discovered had not Dr. H. H. Crippen bolted with Miss Leneve, his typist, a little while after he was questioned by the police.

But, even after his flight, and the finding of the human flesh in the basement of his Hildrop Crescent home, it was discovered that so thoroughly hidden were the traces of the crime and the identity of the victim that considerable doubt exists if the murderer could be convicted if captured.

In the hole in the cellar the police found large chunks of human flesh, together with a bloody pyjama coat a handkerchief and other pieces of cloth. The whole was buried in caustic lime, the flesh being terribly corroded by the chemical action. The anatomists have been able by microscopic tests to determine definitely that the flesh came from a human body. But no head, hands or feet, have been located. Not a single bone was found in the cellar. The flesh had been pared away from the skeleton as thought by a skilful dissector No portion of the flesh was large enough for the physicians to determine whether the victim was a man or a woman.

The arrest of a man early today at Canterbury gave the detectives hope that the alleged murderer had been captured, but it later developed that the man was not Crippen though answering his description very closely. The police are still looking to America to apprehend the missing doctor-dentist, believing athat he is on board a liner bound for some port in the United States.

TEACHER HONORED.

Presentation to Popular Lady in Township of Smith.

Miss Wright, teacher of S.S. No. 12, Cavan, was presented with a bracelet and address by her pupils at her home. The address was as follows:

Dear Miss Wright,—It is with feelings of deep regret that we, your pupils, have learned of your departure from our midst.

Oftentimes, no doubt, we tried your patience to the utmost, yet you were ever kind and gentle and have made every effort to guide us in the right path, which effort in years to come we will perhaps appreciate more fully.

Will you, therefore, accept this slight token of our appreciation to your services, and may it bear with it our every good wish that happiness and prosperity attend you as you speed along the pathway of life.

Signed on behalf of the school and section.

Flossie Stewart,
Hazel Byers.

The teacher, though taken by surprise, gave a very appropriate answer.

Former Ward Resists Shelter.

Mr. Wm. Henry has a visitor at the Children's Shelter this week, in Walter McKenzie, a ward of the society two years ago. The lad who is but eleven years of age, has been making his home with Mr. Northey, of Buckhorn, and is getting along nicely. It is worthy of note that he is a visitor at the Shelter at his own request and is enjoying himself immensely.

FIVE WESTERN TOWNS THOUGHT TO BE WIPED OFF THE MAP

GRAND FORKS, SANDOON, JAFFRAY, BAYNES LAKE AND RYAN SAID TO BE DESTROYED.

Impossible to Confirm the News—One Tract of Fire is Fifteen Miles Long and Seven Miles Wide—Towns Mentioned are in Heart of British Columbia Mining District.

Nelson, July 20.—From the fire districts reports are that the Slocan fires are raging fiercely.

It is reported, but not confirmed, that Grand Forks is completely wiped out, and that Sandoon is doomed Furious fires are also reported to have wiped Jaffray and Bayne's Lake off the map.

It is impossible at present to obtain particulars. At Kaslo the fire is traveling rapidly, and back firing it being resorted to.

At Moyie, the fire is still causing anxiety, but at present the town is safe.

The bodies of the four victims at the Lucky Jim Mine have been removed to Kaslo for burial.

The air round Nelson is dense with smoke, and fires both of the city are still blazing furiously.

From Spokane, Wash., comes the report that the little town of Ryan twelve miles south of the Canadian border, on the Columbia River, is also wiped out by the forest fires covering approximately a tract of fifteen miles long and seven wide, on the west side of the Columbia River

The towns mentioned in the foregoing despatch are in the heart of the British Columbia mining district and some of them are important centers. If Grand Forks, for instance, is destroyed, the loss will be a serious one. Grand Forks is on the Ket tle River, and is reached by the C P.R. and G.N.R. It has four churches, an electric light plant, and a smelter, producing blister copper and large values in gold and silver. The town also, has iron works, a steel plant, nurseries, two banks, two newspapers, and a livery stable. Population is about 3,000. The other places reported destroyed are small centers, but other important towns are in the danger zone. Slocan, on the Slocan Lake, is the principal mining town of the zinc and silver-lead district. It has a population of 500. Moyie is situated on the shores of Moyie Lake, nine miles long. It has five hotels, three churches, and 13 stores. Four mining companies have their works in Moyie, one of them the largest silver-lead mine in Canada. Moyie has a population of about 1,000. Nelson has a population of 7,000, and has electric cars, four banks, a large smelter, a flour mill, two saw mills, a tannery, and various factories. It is the center of the fruit growing industry.

NEW ASSOCIATION.

Ratepayers' Association Bound to Investigate Public Local Expenditure.

Last night one of Peterborough's most prominent business men handed The Times the following report of a meeting held during the evening by the "Peterborough Ratepayers Protective Association." This association has been formed, and the meeting referred to convened, to enquire into the "pros and cons" of how and why the people's money is being expended. The association is bound to enquire into municipal expenditure in every shape and form The object of this new local association, as explained to The Times, is somewhat after what might be called "A Financial Vigilance Committee," with the ultimate object of "purifying local government." The gentleman handing particulars of the meeting to The Times last night, remarked that through the Peterborough press, the local ratepayers will be informed of, and invited to, a general public meeting soon to be held under auspices of the association. As far as could be ascertained last night, the association, whilst still almost in "embryo" is born of vigorous parents, and will have a future marked by effective work. The officers are to be nominated at next meeting.

OLD RESIDENT GONE.

Sudden Death of Mrs. McWha of Ashburnham.

One of Ashburnham's oldest and most generally respected citizens passed away suddenly yesterday morning in the person of Mrs. Sarah McWha, who died at her residence, 249 Rogers street, after a few months' illness. Mrs. McWha, who had been ill for four months past, did not present any symptoms of immediate danger, however in the morning she was seized with pains in the throat and died shortly afterwards.

Surviving are three sons and two daughters, namely, Harry, of Florida; John and Hugh of this city, and Mrs. Geo. Prentiss, of Tweed, and Mary, at home. The deceased was 71 years of age.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon to Little Lake cemetery, and the Rev. Dr. Langfeldt will conduct the funeral service.

Dinny Leaves Local Option.

"Dinny" Daly, known to hundreds of our citizens, has been working at Chemong for the past few months. On Tuesday Dinny came into the city and tried to make up for lost time. Chemong is local option. The trial made by Dinny was an hilarious success. However, "Oh what a difference in the morning!" yesterday P. C. McGinty assisted in the difference.

The Labor Minister will Intervene Now

Ottawa, July 20.—Hon. Mackenzie King, minister of labor, has authorised the statement that he is contemplating a certain course of action within a few hours with the object of bringing the parties together. What that action would be he was not prepared to state in advance of its communication to the company and the men, but it can be taken for granted that very little time will elapse before the minister of labor will take a step toward renewal of industrial peace on the Grand Trunk system.

The only course possible seems to be a proposal for arbitration, but there the chief difficulty seems to be that neither side will accept the same form of arbitration, but this may be met by compromise.

CHURCH DENOUNCES BIRD-MEN.

Official Organ Declares God Never Intended Man Should Fly.

Cleveland, July 20.—Aviation was denounced in this week's issue of the Catholic Universe, the official organ of the Catholics in Ohio. Under the head "Those Who Exhalteth Themselves," the paper today said editorially:

"The craze for dirigible balloons and air ships should be legally restricted. We do not think the Creator intended man should inhabit the air or fly like the birds, else he would have furnished us with wings. The numerous deaths that have occurred from the attempts to fly should warn man that his habitation and home is on the earth. To get wings: 'Seek first the kingdom of God and His justice and take the commandments for your daily chart and guide.'"

Interesting Ceremony at St. Peter's

An interesting ceremony was performed at St. Peter's Cathedral on Tuesday morning at seven o'clock mass, the occasion being the ordination of Rev. Fergus O'Brien of Downeyville, into the office of subdeacon. His lordship Bishop O'Connor conducted the ceremonies. Rev. O'Brien is a student of St. Michael's College, Toronto, and also of the Grand Seminary, Montreal. This morning at the same hour he will be ordained a deacon.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for a case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

WRONGLY ACCUSED.

Young Man Succumbs to Heat and His Condition Misunderstood.

"Poor fellow, he looks like he is dying:" "The drunken immigrant, he should be ashamed:" "Why don't his friends take him home:" "Such an exhibition is a warning to the children:" "These Englishmen don't seem to be able to stand Canadian whisky!" ! ! ! These are a few of the kind and charitable remarks heard at five o'clock yesterday afternoon on George street, just in front of the store recently vacated by Mr. Frank Mason, the florist. The object of this philanthropic talk was a young man who had just left the Crystal theater, one door north of the scene referred to. It seems that the young man had become prostrated, almost, by the heat. He went into the Crystal to watch the pictures, but although the electric fans were running full speed, did not regain his strength. As he was leaving the theater he fainted and was assisted by pedestrians, to a seat on the edge of the pavement. Here he sat in a half unconscious condition for some minutes, until recovered. The young man, respectable, well dressed and of good appearance owed his condition at the time mentioned go more to alcohol, as suggested by the opening sentence than he did to an immediate return from the south pole or the equatorial jungles of Africa. He, after resting about an hour was able to take a car and go to his home.

Brave Miner's Heroic Deed---Died Trying to Rescue One of His Men

Nelson, July 20.—Charles Norman of the Lucky Jim, near Kaslo, one of the five who perished in Saturday's bush fire, died in an attempt to rescue one of his men and after having seen to the safety of all in his charge.

In addition to Norman's heroism, there were many instances of brave conduct at the mine. One woman went down a 70 foot ladder in the darkness with her child, Pickney and a companion, against strict orders, went into the mine and succeeded in saving several lives, and finding some of the bodies.

TRAIN CREW WORKED HARD.

Great Praise is accorded Superintendent Walsh, of the Great Northern Kaslo and Bloean branch, who with the train crew, worked hard. The Great Northern is a heavy loser Ten cars as McGuigan are burned, and all the bridges from No. 9 on are gone. The company also have lost $100,000 in timber. About 200 miners and their families, who have lost everything, are encamped on vacant lots in Kaslo and are being looked after.

Vancouver, B.C., July 20.—Forest fires are raging over 250 square miles in West Kootenay district and Northern Idaho, destroying vast timber tracts, villages and mine buildings with a heavy toll of life.

From advices reaching here today it is believed that fully fifty persons have lost their lives, and it is possible that the death list will be much larger, as several mining town are directly in the path of the resistless flames. Only a heavy downfall of rain can save them.

Men, women and children have been the victims of the flames, though the heaviest loss of life has been among miners who were trapped in isolated sections and suffocated by the flames.

Relief trains carrying fire fighting apparatus, nurses, physicians and supplies were sent out today, but it is feared that they will be unable to go through the wall of flame that has already burned six towns and destroyed many miles of railroad.

CHEAPER MEAT.

Mr. D. Porter Takes Over Talbot's Delicatessen, and Will, on a Cash Basis, Reduce Prices.

Another business change in Peterborough has been consummated whereby Mr. D. Porter has acquired the grocery store and meat market operated by Mr. Albert Talbot on George street, next door to the Crystal theater. It will be remembered that Mr. Porter, who, has since operated an hotel at Cochrane, Ont., originally opened "Porter's Delicatessen," at the spot referred to. This new deal will probably mean a good deal to the thrifty housewife of Peterborough. Mr. Porter intends at once to place all the canned goods and other groceries up at auction, and confine his attention exclusively to the meat business. Mr. Porter recognizing that the man who pays cash for his meat, pays in the price demanded the bad debts of those who do not pay, intends to cut prices about in half for meat, but strictly for cash. The man whose cheque is good for, say, $20,000, will not be able to get half a pound of beef for beef tea unless it is paid for at time of purchase. This new cash basis scheme of Mr. Porter's reducing as promised, the price of meat by about 50 per cent., will be welcome news to the housewives of Peterborough. The exact date of the auction sale of groceries will be announced later in these columns.

TURN OVER IN TIME.

When Nature Hints About the Food.

When there's no relish to any food and all that one eats doesn't seem to do any good then is the time to make a turn over in the diet, for that's Nature's way of dropping a hint that the food isn't the kind required.

"For a number of years I followed railroad work, much of it being office work of a trying nature. Meal times was our busiest and eating too much and too quickly of food such as is commonly served in hotels and restaurants, these together with the sedentary habits were not long in giving me dyspepsia and stomach trouble which reduced my weight from 205 to 160 pounds.

"There was little relish in any food and none of it seemed to do me any good. It seemed the more I ate the poorer I got and was always hungry before another meal, no matter how much I had eaten. ... ...

"Then I commenced a fair trial of Grape-Nuts food, and was surprised how a small saucer of it would carry me along, strong and with satisfied appetite, until the next meal, with no sensations of hunger, weakness or distress as before.

"I have been following this diet now for several months and my improvement has been so great and the others in my family have taken up the use of Grape-Nuts with complete satisfaction and much improvement in health and brain power.

"American people undoubtedly eat hurriedly, have lots of worry, thus hindering digestion and therefore need a food that is predigested and concentrated in nourishment."

The Grand Trunk Railway Strike, The Officials Issue Statements

NEWS IS ENCOURAGING SAYS A GRAND TRUNK OFFICIAL AT MONTREAL.

Some Efforts Being Made to Move Freight—Men are Confident That They Will Win Out.

"We are satisfied at present, and the men will be looked after meantime."—Vice-President Murdock, for the men.

"We are not worrying about the outcome. We have said our last say, and we will now fight the matter to a finish."—President Hays for the company.

Montreal, July 20.—With declarations on their lips that they are satisfied with the progress of the strike so far, both sides have squared their shoulders, prepared to handle the situation in the best possible manner for their own interests on what is generally conceded will be, perhaps, the most crucial day, whether the strike be of long or short duration.

The men left the company because they felt that they could not receive their demands unless through a strike. At that time they had a friendly feeling towards the company despite their walkout, but certain things have happened, and certain statements have been made since which have tended, and are tending to stir up an acrimonious feeling against the Grand Trunk, and its officials who are handling the strike.

One of the happenings was the closing of the shops in Montreal, Toronto, Stratford and other places, an action the men deem entirely unnecessary, except as a means of forcing the strikers to come to time.

In addition to this, Mr. Murdock, vice-president of the Trainmen's Union, charges President Hays of the Grand Trunk with bad faith, and says that negotiations were broken off for that reason.

Mr. Murdock declares that although Mr. Hayes offered to accept the award of the Conciliation Board as a matter of fact what he did offer was very far from this.

"For instance," he said, "on the Portland-Montreal runs we find Mr. Hays offering $2.25 per 100 miles to passenger conductors, instead of $2.46 8-10, as filed in the board's award; we find on the Montreal-Toronto runs he offers conductors $2.31 per 100 miles, instead of the board's award of $2.45 8-10. The minimum standard monthly salary for a passenger conductor in the territory is $125 a month; the board recommended $101 a month. Mr. Hays suggested very many runs at $100 a month, and some as low as $80 a month. The minimum monthly pay for a passenger brakeman recommended by the board was $56. Mr. Hays offers in many cases $55 a monthly increase of $5 on a $50 salary." Mr. Murdock further said that Mr. Hays ignored entirely the board's recommendation to standardize the conditions.

MR. HAYS' REPLY.

In reply to this allegation, Mr. Hays issued the following statement:

"For the information of those who made to the company's proposition by Vice-President Murdock. In working out the schedule on a systematic basis the company has adhered exactly to its promise, and has given the men increased wages to the extent of eighteen per cent. over what they were getting for the same class of labor heretofore."

Passenger Trains Running but Freight Traffic is Tied Up

Toronto, July 20.—At 9.30 last night forty-eight hours had elapsed since the break between the Grand Trunk and its conductors, trainmen and yardmen.

For the public and for the railway company, the strike is a grave misfortune. The men balance against any immediate consequences the principle for which they declare themselves to be fighting.

The company is settling down for a long fight and the men are prepared to accept the consequences. As usual the public—the shipper, merchant and innocent bystander, to use the vernacular of the ourbstone—gets it under the collar.

The company has cut off all its unremunerative services, such as the Montreal suburban, has closed its shops, and expects, little by little, to get its freight cars on the move.

"We are operating passenger trains," says General Superintendent Brownlee, in effect, "and getting all the men we require."

The men, through their officers, reply: "We never honed to bottle up the passenger service. It is unnecessary to our plans. Freight is at a complete standstill, however. It may be a long fight but it is a fight to the finish."

The Str. Otonabee will leave Wolfe street wharf today, Thursday, July 21st on the arrival of the 11.26 C.P.R. train from Toronto, calling at all points on Stony Lake, Burleigh Falls, Bobraycreen, Buckhorn and Fenelon Falls.

WORLD PILGRIMS.

Three years ago a section of the Doukhobors made a famous pilgrimage. They came as far east as Port Arthur, whence they were returned to their Saskatchewan homes. The announcement that thirty nude Douks have left Yorkton on a journey of somewhat the same nature, only emphasizes the fact that most of these Slabs have become industrious farmers and—some of them—the best navvies that railway construction contractors can hire.

It should not be forgotten that five hundred of them have started on another sort of pilgrimage, but this time they travel in colonist cars. And on their journey to the new Doukhobor fruit farms in British Columbia there will not be one of them so Peyter Verigin boasts, who will not be able to ask any necessary questions and make any necessary answers in English. They have not been wasting their time during the last ten years. Apart from certain harmless religious prejudices there is no reason why they should not become good Canadian citizens whenever they desire to avail themselves of the privilege which the Canadian people extend to aliens dwelling within our borders.

The habit of wandering does not belong to the Doukhobors alone. There are enthnologists who tell us that our pre-Saxon forebears emancipated themselves from the Medean captivity on the banks of the river Gozon, marched diagonally across Europe to the marshy country of the Elbe Valley, and there laid the authentic foundations of our race. Since those days we, too, have done some wandering. The best part of the globe have become ours, and the Doukhobors, whom some of us as critisize, are merely wanderers of today, so far as our own West is concerned, while we were wanderers of yesterday.

On the plains of Western Canada, in the focus of modern civilization, we see the recrudescence of two ancient and Oriental fixtintes. The seemingly aimless wanderings alike of the Doukhobors and of the Anglo-Saxons are alike instances of atavism, the desire to do what some unremembered ancestor did when the world was young. In both cases the desire for a home of their own animates the pilgrims. But the difference comes in here. As Taine points out, the first desire of the Anglo-Saxon always has been after the plot of land and the wattled hut, the cottage, the manor, or the castle, that is his and his alone. He would fight to obtain and retain doing the necessary fighting to own them. The Slave were not so and are not so—as the Doukhobor community system proves even today.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

BELIEVES IN CEREMONY.

King George of England is reported to intend reigning with a good deal of style and ceremony. It is understood that he believes in the value of impressive form in order to strengthen the imperialist idea which has become so strong in the nation. That he is entirely right in his view of the case there can be no doubt. If England were to become a republic to-day, her imperial domain would be scattered tomorrow.

It seems to be contrary to the nature of things that a republic should rule great provinces and vast countries as England rules India, for example, or Egypt. Bonds of friendship might exist between a central power and distant ones so that Canada and Australia and South Africa might remain on cordial terms with the home government for a long time, but ultimately, with a republic installed in London, there would be wholly independent government in Ottawa, Cape Town and Dalgety.

The imperialist idea requires much of parade, much of pomp and ceremony in order to sustain itself. Men love a parade; thousands will follow a band at any time and, in fact, there is a great deal of excellence in government under limited monarchy of the people's own establishment which continues to be managed according to their liking. The new king displays his high statesmanship at the outset of his career as monarch by recognizing the need of posing as a king and not merely as the head of a constitutional republic.

Nothing in the way of a cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so throughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety, even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. Its remarkable curative effect. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

The Aroma is fragrant enough to suggest the mythical "ambrosial nectar".

The flavor is a revelation—not a suspicion of the "tang" or harshness that mars the average whisky. Connoisseurs commend its velvet smoothness.

is distilled to absolute purity from the choicest grain we can buy—then matured for years in Charred Oak barrels the only way a good Whisky can be matured.

THE BEST MEDICINE.

Pure Air Cures Many Ills and Means the Prolongation of Life.

"Pure air is more precious than gold," said the venerable physician. "It is the best medicine in the world and means the prolongation of life and the cure for many ills which make my calling necessary and profitable. Don't tarry too long in crowded, ill-ventilated places and beware of 'stuffy' rooms. Now, the dangerous element in a stuffy place, like a rush hour subway train is, strictly speaking, not due to carbonic acid gas. That in its pure condition would speedily cause death, but it has been established that the chief danger in breathing vitiated air is not entirely or even chiefly due to carbonic acid gas, but rather to organic impurities which are invariably present in vitiated air.

"And here it may be pointed out that the other chief constituent of breath is water, and an amount varying from six to twenty-seven ounces, it has been calculated, may be given off in the course of twenty-four hours. Dr. Du Chaumont, a well-known authority on this subject, has estimated that an assembly of 2,000 people during a period of two hours—that is, the duration of an ordinary meeting—may exhale in respiration and give off in perspiration about seventeen gallons of water.

"The amount of carbonic acid given off by a man amounts to about three-quarters of a cubic foot an hour, or nineteen cubic feet in twenty-four hours. Each individual, therefore, may be said to destroy about fifteen cubic feet in twenty-four hours. And the man who occupies a hall bedroom and keeps his window down while he reads by gaslight far into the night should know that the burning jet gives off as much carbonic acid as he does himself. Then he may let in a little air."

Bismarck on Women In Politics.

Some interesting observations of Prince Bismarck on female suffrage have come to light. Of women in politics he said: "We men are all clumsy. We Germans especially are always ungainly bears, even diplomatists. Moreover, much less would be made public, for a sensible woman's mouth can keep silence. On the other hand, it can draw from an opponent in a tone of harmless chatter many a secret that he would not give up to us men. Woman's mouth chats so ingratiatingly on most subjects that we never notice, old donkeys that we are, that we have told them more than we intended to, for everything that is feminine beats us in canning."—London Telegraph.

The Crucial Test.

At an adjourned town council meeting in the north a member casually mentioned that a person could not enjoy or even distinguish between drinks in the dark. A worthy bailie denied this and offered to bet that, blindfolded, he could name any drink given him. The bet being accepted and the bailie blindfolded, the test commenced. The bailie drank everything submitted, smacked his lips and correctly named the drink until the taken was in despair. Then "try him wi' water," whispered a councillor, and the hint was taken. Sip—smack—sip—a shake of the head—"I canna jaud, mind the name o' this, but I mind o' tastin' it when I was a wee laddie."—London Standard.

Japan's Police Force.

Japan's police force was originally the most aristocratic body of the kind in the world. Its establishment was almost coincident with the Emperor's decree forbidding the wearing of swords. By a stroke of the imperial pen the samurai were deprived of cherished weapons by which the gentlemen of Japan had been accustomed from immemorial times to advertise their rank. So they went into the police, where it was still possible to carry a sword. And a very formidable weapon it was then, being of the two-handed variety.

How Do You Take Your Defeat.

The way a man takes his defeat is a pretty good test of his caliber. The strong man uses his failures for stepping stones instead of stumbling blocks. I know a very successful young man who has made it a rule of his life to use every misfortune that comes to him as a point of departure for something better. He has had losses and misfortunes which would have crushed most men, but they only stiffen his resolution, nerve him up for a new start. They only make him more determined to conquer the next time.—Success.

The Worst Drink.

"But chi-chi, the chi-chi of Patagonia! That is the worst drink in the world," said a naval man. "The Patagonians gather wild apples. They dig pits and line them with horse hides, and in those pits they leave the apples to rot and ferment. When the pits are full of foamy, hissing juices the Patagonian warriors gather for their annual jag, and the women and children go off and hide in the woods. No wonder, for chi-chi is a terrible drink. It is a thick gray foam that hisses. It seems to be alive. It is like drinking snakes."

Getting Even.

Some retaliations are too clever to be resented. They seem to be almost a logical part of the circumstances that evoked them. Dr. Wines was formerly the principal of a boys' school. One day he had occasion to trounce a lad, who naturally resented the punishment. On the doctor's front door was a plate bearing the one word "Wines." That night a bold and clever hand added three words to the inscription, so that in the morning the doorplate read this way: "Wines and Other Lickers."

Receding Chins.

The minority who have square chins and big lower jaws say that we of the receding chins have neither will nor strength of character, which is absurd, as anyone may know who remembers that Gen. Wolfe and Mr. Pitt had practically no chins at all, to say nothing of living soldiers and statesmen. To judge a man by his chin is no less foolish than to judge him by the bumps of his skull.

Enjoyed C.P.R. Steamer Trip.

A letter was yesterday received by friends in the city from Mrs. Gilbert St. J. Bayly, who, with her husband, took the C.P.R. steamer route for their home in far off Alberta. Mrs. Bayly made reference to the most enjoyable passage they had had on the C.P.R. steamer across Lake Superior. She noted that no passenger was seasick, and that the service, etc., was perfection. On arrival at Fort Arthur passengers were heard to say that this trip is the most enjoyable they ever experienced.

VOL. XXXI NO. 167 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO FRIDAY JULY 22 1910 PRICE TWO CENTS

Slightly Tempestuous Session of the F. W. and L. Committee

The Mayor and Ald. Buller Left the Room, Refusing to Sit and Listen to Complaint They Considered Irregularly Brought Before the Committee

The City, Fire, Water and Light committee had a somewhat tempestuous session last night, when the committee indulged in a slightly Chairman Ald. Morgan introduced the question of hearing ex-Fireman McBride, who had a grievance against McBride, who had a grievance against Chief Howard. McBride, it appears had been discharged by his chief and wished to bring the matter before the committee.

His worship had moved, seconded by Ald. Buller, that Chief Howard be granted two weeks' holidays in August, but the chairman insisted that ex-Fireman McBride be heard first.

The chief who was present on business, wished to retire. He contended that the committee should not call for an investigation every time he discharged a man. He would trouble the chairman not to interfere with his men, and reserved to himself his prerogative of discharging and engaging the firemen.

Ald. Morgan denied interfering with the brigade. This man, he said, knowing the committee were to meet tonight, had asked for a hearing, to which he (Ald. Morgan) thought him entitled.

Chief Howard—"You have no business to cause a young strike in which six of the brigade quit at once."

Ald. Morgan said he had not influenced the six men in question in any way, and if the chief asserted he had he was a —— very untruthful man.

Chief Howard had been given to understand it that way, he said and in this complainant's case, which he contended the committee had no jurisdiction over, he would stand or fall by the issue.

The Mayor—"If this man (McBride) has any charges to make let him send them to the council in writing, and the council can refer the case to the committee should circumstances warrant such a procedure. I am tired of such irregular committee investigations."

Ald. Buller,—"Yes, that is the proper course to pursue."

Ald. Batten also agreed to this.

Ald. Morgan said there is a raw bunch of men at the fire hall now.

Ald. Graham wanted to know why this should be. There must be some reason for frequent changing of men.

The chief contended that the pay is not sufficient to keep good men.

Ald. Metheral—"That is not the reason. I investigated the matter myself, and the men complain of the treatment they receive."

The chief thought Ald. Metheral had an axe to grind.

The worthy alderman denied this allegation and characterized the chief by an epithet that usually causes one man to strike another.

An exchange of compliments here naturally ensued.

The firemen get a graded scale of wages, commencing with $600 a year.

Ald. Graham here moved, seconded by Ald. Metheral, that the ex-fireman be heard.

The motion was first lost, but subsequently carried on Ald. Batten changing his mind.

The mayor and Ald. Buller refused to sit and listen to a complaint from a discharged fireman, which they contended, as also had Ald. Batten previously, should have first been submitted to the council in writing.

His worship and Ald. Buller here left the room, followed by the chief, and ex-Fireman McBride was called in.

THE COMPLAINT.

McBride—"At the fire last Friday afternoon the chief said I was drunk and ordered me away. I have witnesses to prove that I was sober. My wife telephoned on Saturday that I was sick and the chief replied that I had been discharged. On Monday I went to the fire station, when Chief Howard said I was no good and discharged me."

This was all McBride had to say and withdrew.

Ald. Batten put no faith in believing everything one hears and expressed hear-says that certainly did not strengthen McBride's alleged grievance.

The whole thing filtered out into a tempest in a tea pot with no cogent results.

Ald. Buller here re-entered the committee rooms, and explained the circumstances under which a local junk dealer purchased scrap iron, etc. at the fire hall, during his (Ald. Buller's chairmanship), and which has not yet been paid for.

This was a perfectly legitimate business deal and although a little reasonable misunderstanding occurred, the city is guaranteed payment.

Ald. Buller regrets that the chairman did not consult him in the matter for had he thought the city stood to lose by the transaction.

Ald. Metheral, that the chief be not Ald. Graham moved, seconded by Ald. Metheral, that Chief Howard be not granted two weeks' holidays.

Ald. Buller thought the mayor's resolution seconded by himself, granting the chief two weeks' holidays had been carried earlier in the session, during the storm. This paper's representative thought so likewise.

However, Ald. Graham's motion was voted on and carried.

Had the mayor been present it undoubtedly would have been lost, and the chief's holidays granted.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—taken from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or insider nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drug the organ. PILASTERS OF PUBLIC LIBRARY MUST BE RE-CONSTRUCTED

POLICE COMMISSION ASKED FOR MUCH NEEDED CHANGE TO POLICE STATION CELLS AND POLICE COURT.

This Was Decided by the Property Committee Last Night—Cost of Public Library Has Now Reached $36,000.29.—Mr. Carnegie to Be Asked to Donate Another $5,000.

The Property Committee of the City Council met last night. There were present Mayor Morrow and Chairman Ald. Duncan, Aldermen Batten, Morgan and Graham.

Ald. Morgan moved, seconded by Ald. Batten,—That the pilasters in front of the Public Library building be taken down and rebuilt symetrically, the chairman to see that this is done.

The wall tiling for the lavatories at the Public Library are to be left 4x4 as provided for in the specifications and not changed 3x6.

Mr. Sheehy asked that the rent for the 25 feet of the river front, north of the C.P.R., he rents from the city for quarry purposes, be reduced from $25 a year to $5, he having done no business there the past two years and not likely to do so in near future. No action was taken, on motion of Ald. Morgan.

The Police Commissioners asked for much needed changes to the police station cells and police court. Sanitary and ventilation improvements are necessary and more adequate accommodation all round provided. The chief's private office also needs attending to.

A resolution asking that the Police Commissioners' request be complied with, will be forwarded to the City Trust Commissioners.

PRESENT COST OF LIBRARY.

The cost of the new Public Library to date is $26,669.29, and it is esytimated that it will reach the $30,000 mark when completed.

Ald. Morgan moved, seconded by Ald. Graham.—That in view of the cost of the Public Library, Mr. Andrew Carnegie be asked to donate an additional $5,000, the city agreeing to expend $3,000 a year for maintenance of same.—Carried.

A Silly Rumor

A silly rumor was in currency yesterday on the street to the effect that the C.P.R. was having some difficulty with its employes, and that, as a result the trains were not running on time. There is not a word of truth in this canard. Every train advertised is running, from one end of their system to the other, strictly according to schedule, and there is no difficulty existing or anticipated. The authors of such an unfounded rumor should remember that a statement of this kind is very close of kin to slander.

Park for East City Decided by the F. W. and L. Committee

The Fire, Water and Light Committee of the City Council met last night, Ald. Morgan in the chair. There were also present, Mayor Morrow and Aldermen Batten, Buller, Graham and Metheral.

NEW HYDRANTS.

The placing of a hydrant at the corner of London and Gilchrist street, was left in the chairman's hands with power to act.

Ald. Buller moved, seconded by Ald. Graham, —That a hydrant on Sophia street, north of Mr. Lundy's property, be provided.—Carried.

An agreement will be drawn up between the city and Mr. Robinson by which the latter agrees to remove all manure from the fire station each week, and pay the city $7.00 a year.

MORE LIGHT.

Ald. Graham moved, seconded by Ald. Buller.—That an arc light be placed at the corner of Rubidge and Wolfe in center of street, an incandescent lamp on Brock street, between George and Aylmer, and an incandescent on Brock west of Reid. Also that the chairman be authorized to have the arc lamp on Wescott street moved and replaced by four incandescent lights.—Carried.

ASHBURNHAM PARK.

Ald. Batten moved, seconded by Ald. Metheral.—That the Parks Committee be requested to purchase the two small houses in Ashburnham alongside the drill shed, to provide a park for that section of the city.—Carried.

The two houses in question can be purchased for $800.

RESULT OF CHARITY.

Motorman Who "Staked" Alaskian Miner is Heir to Fortune.

MACON, Ga., July 22—Shortly before the Klondyke gold boom, W. X. Miller, a motorman, met J. F. Curley, a miner, stranded and without funds. He took him in, fed him, and gave him money to pay his fare as far as Birmingham.

That was the last he ever heard of Curley until yesterday, when he received word the miner had died in Dawson City, Alaska, and left him a fortune estimated at $500,000.

A Sad Loss of Two Children.

One sad home is that of Mr. and Mrs. Fleming, 191 Antrim street. Yesterday morning the grim reaper called away their little child, Mary Gertrude, who died at six o'clock, after suffering with bronchial pneumonia. This death is particularly sad when it is explained that the grief-stricken parents, lost their little son on the day before. In fact the boy's funeral which was to have been held yesterday morning, was postponed so that a dual funeral may be held today. The girl was five years old, and the boy about a year. This is a sad event and the sympathy of the community will be extended to the heart-broken parents

A Quietly Celebrated Wedding.

A quiet wedding was solemnized yesterday morning at 11.30, when Mr. Robert Dickson was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Annie Hayes. The bridesmaid was Miss C. Chiles of this city, while the groom was attended by Mr. S. Sands, also of this city. After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. H. J. Keith, the happy couple took a trip up the lakes. They will reside at 516 Bolivar street upon their return.

Baseball Challenge Taken Up.

The West End ball team who put it over the T.A.S. last Saturday are out with a challenge to a picked team from the league to meet them in an exhibition game Saturday. Manager Oldham thinks that the team he had on last Saturday is the strongest in the city, and is willing to match them with anything that comes along. As he who looks for trouble generally finds it, it might be noted that this challenge is already taken up by a picked team from the City League. This team is chosen from the T.A.S., P.A.C. and Strathconas.

The world's most successful medicine for bowel complaints is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It has relieved more pain and suffering, and saved more lives than any other medicine in use. Invaluable for children and adults. Sold by all dealers.

Passenger Trains Moving.

There is little new in the local G.T.R. strike situation. Yesterday the G.T.R passenger trains were running as on Wednesday. The morning train arriving from Belleville and going on to Lakefield, and the Port Hope-Toronto train running as usual although Conductor Hornby, who is ill, was off the run yesterday. The 11.45 from Toronto came in and the 5.30 from Toronto arrived about an hour late. The flyer has not run since the strike was inaugurated.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Duggan, Division street, wish to convey their most heartfelt thanks to their many friends, who showed so much sympathy and kindness to them during their hours of acute distress, caused by the death of their little daughter Hazel.

Roof Garden Song.

The big roof garden show this summer is on top of the New York Theatre, overlooking famous Long Acre Square. They are singing a song there this summer that has got New York going. The New York World has arranged to give this song hit, words and music complete, free with next Sunday's issue.

THE WEATHER.

A few local thunderstorms.

Two Towns Destroyed, Others are in Danger

Nelson, B.C., July 21.—The forest fires which have been blazing during the past week are still burning, but the fire fighters are gaining the upper hand, and it is believed that the worst is over, except in the town of Sandon, which is in the gravest danger, and may be wiped out at any moment.

The citizens of Sandon are preparing to leave and women and children have already left.

Nelson is still in dense smoke from the blaze at Hall's bush, but the fire has ceased to cause anxiety. The Slocan and Kaslo fires are not yet out, but if the calm weather continues further serious damage is not anticipated.

The latest report from Sandon states that the town is imminent danger, and the trains are crowded with refugees ready to leave. Three Forks, which was reported burned, is still in existence, although surrounded by fire.

The total destruction of White Water, and the destruction of most of McGuigan, is authoritatively confirmed.

Another fire is reported in the neighborhood of Rossland, but particulars are lacking.

In buying a cough medicine, don't be afraid to get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it, and relief is sure to follow. Especially recommended for coughs, colds and whooping cough. Sold by all dealers.

C. P. R. Grant Employes Increase Standard Scale is Agreed Upon

A PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT ARRANGED SAYS MR. JAS. MURDOCK, THE MEN'S REPRESENTATIVE—A FEW MINOR POINTS TO BE SETTLED.

General Manager Leonard, of the C.P.R., Says an Amicable Agreement Has Been Reached With the Men—Negotiations Were Always Carried on With a Good Feeling.

Montreal, July 21. — Yesterday your correspondent was authorized to state by Mr. J. W. Leonard, general manager of the C.P.R., that the conference with Mr. Murdock, vice-president of Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, which was still in progress late this afternoon, would result in an amicable understanding with the C.P.R. and its employes.

He said that the standard scale of wages had already been agreed upon and that only a few minor points remained to be settled. He believed that both parties would arrive at a complete and satisfactory understanding before they adjourned this evening. The company and men have carried on negotiations with a marked feeling of kindly relations and both were eager to avoid trouble.

At the conclusion of the first part of today's conference between the C. P.R. officials and Mr. James Murdock, for the C.P.R. trainmen, Mr. Murdock stated that a peaceful settlement was at last arranged. Only a few minor points of difference remained and the company seemed willing to make concessions.

RUSSO-JAP PLOT SEEN.

China Thinks Pact is to Exclude America and Germany From Manchuria.

PEKING, July 22.—Announcing an early reply to Japan and Russia, the semi-official press states that China will protest the new combination of these two powers as endangering not only the rights of China, but equal opportunity rights of the other powers, guaranteed to them by China's treaties.

With significant unanimity, the leading papers pronounce the new arrangement to be manifestly aimed at America and Germany, as well as against China. They assert Great Britain promoted it for the purpose of halting American advance in Manchuria and forming virtually a quadruple alliance against Germany in Asia and Europe. They argue that China's only hope lies in the closest relations—an alliance if possible with Germany and Japan.

They charge Japan's action as a wilful violation of the provisions of a secret protocol.

LEAP INTO WHIRLPOOL.

Rendered Desperate by Grim Poverty They Seek Refuge in Death.

Lisbon, July 20.—A terrible tragedy is reported from Cascais, where a mother and two daughters yesterday committed suicide.

Recently, Don Jose Mattos, a custom house official, died, leaving his wife and three grown-up daughters penniless. The mother was in poor health, and the daughters endeavored to keep the home going by working at millinery work, but they were unaccustomed to the work and failed. They were unable to pay the rent and were obliged to leave their house. In despair the mother and daughters walked to an immense precipice known as the Mouth of Hell, at the bottom of which there is a whirlpool, and the mother and two daughters threw themselves over into the sea.

The youngest daughter, who was hesitating, was seized by a spectator of the tragedy, who rushed to the spot and took her away.

Freight Situation Quite Alarming at Points

London—No freight has been moved yet, but the company says it will start very soon.

Lindsay—Freight completely tied up. Flavelle, Limited, has been compelled to call in its buyers.

Barrie—Grocers are running short of supplies, and by Saturday conditions will be quite serious.

Bostle—No freight cars have arrived, and efforts to secure strike breakers not very successful.

Chatham — Freight blockade not very great, owing to presence of C. P.R. and M.C.R.

St. Alban's—Several mills are on the point of closing owing to lack of raw material. Freight tie-up is complete.

Niagara Falls—No attempt is being made to move freight.

Nothing in the way of a cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety, even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. Its remarkable curative effect. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

Mr. Harvey Staunton Made Heroic Rescue

Mr. Walter Sindon and a lady friend had a miraculous escape from drowning last night when Mr. Harvey Staunton hearing their cries, came to their rescue just in time, as they were completely exhausted, having been hanging to the upturned canoe for over half an hour in an exhausted condition.

Mr. Sindon and lady friend, who are visiting in the city, in company with Mr. Harvey Staunton and lady friend went out canoeing. Mr. Sindon left some time before the other party. When in the vicinity of the G.T.R. bridge his fair companion was about to change her position in the canoe when it upset. Mr. Sindon managed to grab her and got hold of the upturned boat, but could not reach shore. The girl began to weaken. Mr. Staunton, who was rounding the cemetery point, heard the cries and quickly paddled to their assistance. With one hand he caught the girl and pulled the upturned canoe and Mr. Sindon, while he paddled with the other to shore. Both the unfortunate canoeists were in a very exhausted condition and were taken home.

ADVOCATES THE IDEA.

Ratepayer Endorses the Association. Formed on Wednesday Night.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Sir,—I read the article in your paper of yesterday regarding the proposed ratepayers' association, with much interest. It is to be hoped that the association will be backed up by those to whom it may and certainly can, bring the greatest benefit. Peterborough seems to have gone financially mad. Expenditures are made of the ratepayers' money for which there seems no real justification or plausible explanation. As an old resident remarked to me yesterday, "Every tenth man you meet daily on George street, is either in the pay of the city or getting money out of the city treasury. Whilst I would be the last one to even hint that any individual member of the City Council is taking the money of the city illegally, there are expenditures made of public money that might well be investigated by the association referred to in yesterday's Times. Keep this idea before the public, Mr. Editor, get the association going, let good business men be elected to office in it, and the expenses of civic government in Peterborough will be very materially reduced.

A SEASONABLE HINT.

The London "Canadian Gazette" calls the attention of British manufacturers who are desirous of extending their trade in Canada to the methods of their rivals in the United States to secure a share of Canadian business. There is no doubt that the manufacturers and merchants in Great Britain could with advantage to themselves study the manner in which our neighbors on the other side of the Boundary endeavor to overcome the obstacle of a high tariff and the lower cost of production possible to their Canadian competitors by the cheaper cost of living in the Dominion. British manufacturers have advantages over their American rivals in several particulars, but at the same time can get some "pointers" by a study of the latters' methods.

Grew Dull, Lost Snap, Vim.

A man never realizes the strain of life until failing ability to work brings it sharply home to him. "I am an insurance agent," writes Mr. W. E. Nemmo of Montreal, and to make commissions, a man must have both energy and snap. My digestive organs began to give out; first a sluggish action of the bowels filled my blood with humors. A little scratch would fester and my face get red and pimply. Hot rushes of blood to the head made me very irritable and prevented sleep. I thought I could exercise it off, but the more I did, the more strength I lost. Finally I asked my druggist to recommend a pill that would cure constipation and slow-acting liver—he endorsed Dr. Hamilton's. The first dose told me he had hit it right. So active yet so mild in action—no trouble to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I think them a wonder. I am now as fat as ever, blues all gone, energy enough to get business and give me pleasure and interest in life. Dr. Hamilton's Pills I consider a wonder."

Refuse any other pill but Dr. Hamilton's 25c per box, all dealer, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

SPRAINED WRIST AND ANKLE.

Pain for Ten Days, Relief Was Gained Instantly By Applying NERVILINE.

One of the most soul-distressing accidents that can befall one is a bad ankle or wrist sprain. "If I had only known of 'Nerviline' earlier, I could have saved myself an enormous amount of pain, and many agonizing nights of sleeplessness." Thus writes P. P. Quinn, a young farmer living near Brookville. "I tumbled from a barn floor and sprained my right ankle and left wrist. They swelled rapidly and caused excruciating pains. It was not convenient to go to the city, and the liniment in the house was useless. When I got Nerviline relief came quickly. It took down the swelling, relieved the pain, and gave me wonderful comfort.

"I can recommend Nerviline for strains, bruises, swellings muscular pains and sore back. I have proved it a sure cure in such cases."

Think what it might some day mean to you to have right in your home ready for an accident or emergency sickness, a bottle or two of Nerviline. Get it today, 25c., or five for $1.00, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE REFERENDUM.

The State of Oregon has followed the Republic of Switzerland in establishing a referendum system, and the Ottawa Citizen would like to see Canada take action along similar lines. It believes that much excellent legislation might thus be initiated, and some questionable legislation annulled. In taking this ground, it has the advantage of relying upon the attractive principle of popular control, and with the referendum principle, there could be no disputing its advantages.

The Oregonian idea is to make a popular vote compulsory whenever a petition is presented by a given percentage of the voters, eight per cent. where the petitioners are taking the initiative, and five per cent. in cases where they are merely demanding a referendum on some act already passed by the legislature. Provision is made for the circulation of printed pamphlets wherein the proponents and opponents of the legislation may state their respective cases, the actual cost of paper and printing to be borne by the contesting parties. It is a plausible proposition and at first thought may seem a sound one, but there are many difficulties in the way of ascertaining popular opinion by means of a referendum vote, that the advantages of such a system become rather doubtful.

Anyone with a petition can get signatures by the thousands. Many people seem to have a passion for signing their names to such documents. Whether the object in view be the release of a murderer or the hanging of a cat, the requisite signatures are always forthcoming. When another man with a contrary petition calls the next day, the same section of the community will sign his document just as promptly as they did the first. This may seem a somewhat cynical view of human nature, but its correctness has been demonstrated by the history of local improvement petitions in Peterborough. That various faddists could secure frequent and unnecessary referendums, there is no doubt. The cities, with their large population in a small area, would have so immense advantage over the country in any movement which depended upon the petition idea for its initiation.

As to the result of the votes which might be taken, there is again room for doubt. The obviously desirable result might often be frustrated by reason of its attainment being every body's business and nobody's business. Moneyed interests, if assailed in this way would see that their cause was clearly presented in the pamphlets, and that there was a splendid organization to get out the vote favorable to them. Still less representative might be the vote with regard to acts already passed. Legislation often represents a compromise. Clearly the extremists on both sides of the question would be likely to unite in appealing it on a referendum.

A case in point is the government naval policy, which the Citizen believes a referendum would have defeated. "It certainly did not have the approval of a majority of the electorate of Canada," it remarks. One is inclined to ask whether any policy could have been formulated that would have had the approval of a majority. Had a referendum been taken the Dr. Lavergne and the Do Nothing would have alike voted to annul the government's bill. The imperialists and the anti-imperialists would have fought side by side.

The Citizen seems to have chosen its illustration unfortunately, for it still further weakens its case by a reference to the hydro-electric policy of the Ontario Government. It says:

"The methods adopted by the corporate interests to misrepresent and murder this measure unpopular are still fresh in the public mind. Had the system of direct legislation been in vogure, the self-interested opponents of the act might have been challenged by the government to produce a petition if they could, and call for a referendum. They would have had to put up or shut up, for they would have been between the devil and the deep sea, and all the subsequent obstruction would have been oviated."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for a case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Tell Some Sick One

It Is Free If It Fails.

Will you do an act of Humanity?

Will you tell some sick friend of ours, or remarkable offer?

Tell him or her, that you have learned of a medicine so certain that its makers dare say to the sick, "It is absolutely and unconditionally free if it fails."

And you, no doubt, already know of Dr. Shoop's Restorative and its power.

For 20 years it has been the standard remedy for Stomach, Kidney and Heart ailments everywhere in America.

When the "tender" or controlling nerves of these vital organs begin to fail, it is Dr. Shoop's Restorative that quickly vitalized, and strengthened, and brought those nerves and organs back to health again.

I do not dose the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys—for that is all wrong.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes direct to the centers of these ailments—the failing, faltering inside or controlling nerves. And herein lies the beginning of my success.

When these nerves are again made well and strong, then that is the certain end of all sick sickness.

To me it is a great satisfaction that I am the only physician able to say to the starving sick, "Take my prescription for full 30 days, and if it fails to help you, the choice expense is mine—not yours.

Then why should the sick take any chance on any other medicine, when makers dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer?

I also have a Rheumatic Remedy—and that remedy is given to you by the same identical "no help, no pay" protective plan.

Besides, you are free to consult me just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some other ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan. My best effort to avail worth your simple request.

So let me see if you are order as soon. Take the message to some sick friend.

And I will bring the opportunity.

I will have an honest and trustworthy drug get to you as conveniently as for the 3 day test.

But first, ask me for the order, for all first orders are now distributed to give the [illegible] and save all delays. Remember that improper letter orders. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

My Unknown Love.

I met her once—or so—in the park
Dabbled a moment—no more,
While this poor heart went pleased
To see a form so fair.

I grew to know her lovely eyes,
Her cheeks that flush and pale,
But who can see a maiden's blush
Beneath an auto veil?

In whose she's an Hibbens
In heavy furs arrayed,
In summer she is nothing but
A crumpled mummy maid.

And so my heart has ceased to throb
At mask of hair or hat,
It might be Angelina,
If I were I could not tell.
—Harper's Weekly.

Mrs. Smith-Jones-Brown (effusively)—Congratulations, my dear! I hear you just received your final decree.

Mrs. Greene-Robinson-Johnson-Jackson—Yes, indeed, and the judge paid me such a pretty compliment.

Mrs. S.-J.-B.—Really? What was it?

Mrs. G.-R.-J.-J.—He said that in view of my excellent record in the divorce courts an honorary decree should be conferred on me.—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

O summer girl, sweet summer girl,
We're watching now for you!
We're waiting for you to arrive,
You and your peekaboo.
The winter girl is very sweet,
And she has many charms,
But now the summer girl we want
To greet with open arms.

O summer girl, sweet summer girl,
Come early as you can
And be, as you have always been,
A blessed boon to man!
We'll lavish on you all our love
As we have done before,
And we'll agree to bow the knee
And worship and adore.

Courtesy.

I deemed it of good augury that the man to whom I presented the bill was courtesy itself.

"Surely," quoth I, "you will not let me go away under the impression that courtesy doesn't pay?"

He started, as though such general aspects of the business had not much engaged his attention.—Puck.

THE NEW GOLDEN BUCKET

A few years ago, the recovery of Gold from auriferous grounds and subaqueous beds, was considered impossible. The "pan" and "primitive," operated by hand, appeared to be the sole method of recovering values. It was during this period that Dr. Linderman, Director of the United States Mint expressed the opinion that he who, could devise a machine, without adding proportionately to the cost of production, capable of saving 50 per cent. of all the placer gold, would not only enrich himself, but within the lives of men still living, would double the world's available gold supplies. The Director of the United States Mint further said:—"WE CAN HARDLY HOPE FOR THIS, THOUGH NO MAN DARE SAY IT IS IMPOSSIBLE."

The perfected modern Dredge, is to-day a substantial reality. Allowing for delays in shifting, for necessary repairs, etc., the Gold Dredge runs on an average about 15 hours out of twenty-four, thus making up in length of working day, loss of operation during winter months. These Dredges are operated in ready made mining areas, recovering millions of dollars annually, at the lowest possible cost.

The Director of the Mint of the United States in his report for 1909 says:

"The Gold Dredge makes money where a needle would starve."

Outing Magazine: "When you think that bold inventive talent, has been able to devise machinery that makes it profitable to extract ten cents worth of gold, from a ton of earth, the enterprise becomes one of the romances of American industry."

"A chain of powerful buckets bite into the earth, each bringing up a tremendous quantity of earth and gravel. These are subjected to screen treatment and the gold recovered."

California in 45 years, within radius of less than ten miles of placer ground, produced $600,000,000 in gold. To-day the vast number of Modern Dredges working over old ground are recovering millions annually.

Hoodlums at Auburn Bridge.

Persons having occasion to pass over Auburn bridge complain that boys and young men, during the evenings, play successfully the part of hoodlums at that spot. It is even suggested that a police officer should be sent to the bridge to prevent these "fresh alecks" insulting passers by. Surely in this enlightened age and in our moral city of Peterborough, young men, or boys on the threshhold of manhood should know better.

VOL. XXXI NO. 168 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO SATURDAY JULY 23 1910 PRICE TWO CENTS

Supt. Farrel Pays a Tribute to Strikers

Toronto, July 22.—"There's not a man on the Grand Trunk who would do such a thing."

When Superintendent Farrell was asked about the accident which took place near the Dundas bridge, where a passanger train was derailed, he said that it was obvious that some one had tampered with the switch, but he absolved his men with the sentence quoted. Even if someone had tampered with the switch, he was quite certain no former Grand Trunk man had done it.

And the superintendent knows his men. He didn't rise from the ranks for nothing, and he has been everything from brakeman up. The conduct of the men in Toronto so far has justified his confidence.

When the strike order went out, practically all the men who are now striking were out on a run of some kind. Then instead of leaving the trains wherever they might be, they finished the runs and took the freights into switches, the passenger trains to the stations. In every way they have acted in a peaceable and reasonable way.

The usual and immediate result of even a small strike has always been trouble, trouble of all kinds, and plenty of it. The Grand Trunk strike has not had that result. Instead of trying to block the railway company in their efforts to keep the passenger service on schedule, they have stood aside and let matters take their course. In every way they have tried to keep the confidence of the public.

MRS. METHERAL'S DEATH.

Caretaker of Local Armories Has Sympathy of the Community.

The sympathy of the community will be extended to Mr. W. G. Metheral, caretaker of the armories, in the sad loss he has sustained in the loss of his wife, Milly Thorndyke, who passed away Thursday night at 10 o'clock. The deceased who was forty-four years of age, had lived the greater part of her life in Peterborough and had many warm friends to whom the intelligence of her death will bring genuine sorrow.

She is survived by her husband, her mother, Mrs. Thorndyke, corner of Aylmer and Murray streets, and one brother, Albert, residing in Peterborough.

The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the residence of her mother at the corner of Aylmer and Murray streets, to Little Lake cemetery.

SPEARMINT WINS.

Most Widely Advertised; Best in Flavor and Material; Most Popular in Public Demand.

In these days of strenuous business competition, the goods which command the largest sales, and being ultimately the greatest dividends to the manufacturers are the goods of highest quality when brought before the buying public through the most judicious kind of advertising. Possibly if all the best advertised goods now on the markets of America, which have the greatest desideratum of quality to endorse them is the celebrated Wrigley Spearmint Pepsin chewing gum. The sales of Spearmint exceed those of the cotemporaneous gum trust. There are three reasons for this: Spearmint is widely advertised; Spearmint is always fresh, and Spearmint excels in taste, material and durability all and every other kind of gum now on the market.

VICTIMS OF OBESITY

Cure Yourself at Home in Comfort.

As a bodily affliction Obesity often seems to be inexplicable, so rapid is the increase of weight and bulk, even in cases where the victims are studiously temperate in eating, etc. There is evidently a predisposition that way, and neglect only tends to confirm it. The remedies tried may have greviously disappointed you.

Here is one that will not do so, and you may get the ingredients at your druggists and mix them your self without trouble; ask for ½ oz. Marmola, ½ oz. Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 4½ oz. Peppermint Water. Shake together in a good-sized clean bottle. Simply take this mixture after each meal and at bedtime, one teaspoonful to the dose and give yourself no further trouble; the superfluous fat will subside with wonderful rapidity.

Dieting need not worry you in the least, nor is violent exercising at all desirable. Wasting methods of weight reduction are not naturall Try the pleasant treatment above prescribed for a week or so, and you will be fit, strong and free from all bodily discomfort, besides having regained correct weight and a shapely figure.

They are visiting Dr. Thexton's sister, Mrs. John Best, 426 Donegal street.

His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—those weak and faltering inside nerves. FREIGHT SERVICE WILL START TODAY, SAY G.T.R. OFFICIALS

THEGRAND TRUNK OFFICIALS MADE THE ANNOUNCEMENT YESTERDAY.

A Large Number of Men are Ready—But Municipalities Must Provide the Necessary Police Protection for Strike Breakers.

Toronto, July 22.—"We are in better shape this morning than at any time since the strike was called. We have now sufficient crews of experienced men to handle all our passenger service, and a large number of conductors and brakemen who are being examined and instructed today to put in charge of freight trains to morrow. To the extent of our ability we will furnish one of our old men as pilot on each of these trains. By pilot I mean a man who is thoroughly conversant with our rules, and the physical peculiarities of the lacteal fluid. In any case these four days are liktly to be crowded with incident and impressions, though it is a pity that they cannot devote a week to agriculture. The few extra days might deter any would-be authors among them from attempting to write a book.

WANT POLICE PROTECTION

From Mr. Brownlee's conversation it became evident that the only thing that the railway is waiting for, to put all its freights on the road in a body, is a certainty of adequate police protection for when the freights start they expect trouble from the strikers. To this end they are communicating with the police authorities of the different towns, to be assured of what protection they can get from the town itself. Where they cannot have it from the town itself, they are evidently prepared to provide it themselves, as they are getting more special constabes up from Montreal each day.

In a despatch which Mr. Brownlee showed the reporters, it was stated that the sender understood that the Dominion police were to aid in the protection of districts 6 and 7. His information came from Mr. Fitzhugh.

In the report of Superintendent H. E. Wittenberger of Montreal, the information was most enthusiastic as regards to their power to move freight at any time that they wished.

"We can start a through freight service from Brockville and Belleville at any time that the authorities are able to furnish proper protection for our men against the mob which continues to molest them around the stations and yards," read Mr. Brownlee from the report.

MR. BORDEN WILL GO WEST.

Leader of Opposition Predicts Conservative Victory.

From Liverpool comes the news that the first touring party of university students has just left for Canada and the States. The visit owes its origin to the beneficence of an anonymous philanthropist. We read that the itinerary will include all the larger cities of Canada as far west as Winnipeg, near which city the men will devote four days to actual farm work as a practical way of obtaining an insight into the conditions of Canadian agriculture. From Winnipeg the party will cross the border. Four days should not prove a long time to get a practical insight into our farming conditions, though it will probably be somewhat tedious to the students. Probably they may have hazy ideas as to whether our western kine should be approached on the port or starboard side in order to elicit a full pail of the lacteal fluid. In any case these four days are liktly to be crowded with incident and impressions, though it is a pity that they cannot devote a week to agriculture. The few extra days might deter any would-be authors among them from attempting to write a book.

THREE TO DIE.

Murderers to Forfeit Life for Heinous Crimes.

Boston, July 23:—All preparations have been completed at the State prison in Charlestown for the electrocution of Napoleon Rivet, the Lowell murderer, which will probably take place early Monday morning. The electrocution will be the first at the prison since the Chinese tong murderers were put to death last year.

The crime for which Rivet is to pay the death penalty was the murder of Joseph J. Gallioux, a tinsmith, at Lowell, Feb. 27, 1908. The body of the murdered man was found in a plumbing shop in the section of Lowell known as Little Canada, which is inhabited almost wholly by French Canadians. The prosecution alleged that Rivet's motive for the crime was his intention to collect the amount of an insurance policy, which had been pledged to him as collateral for a debt owed by Gallioux.

First Freight Train Moves at Port Huron

Toronto, July 22.—W. G. Brownlee, general transportation manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, received a telegram from Superintendent Gillen at 1.40 this afternoon notifying him that the first freight movement on the Grand Trunk had commenced. The telegram was as follows:

"The first freight train left Port Huron at 12.25 p.m., and passed Sarnia at 1.37; It contains 15 cars of which six are of perishable freight and nine of dead freight."

In speaking to a reporter, Mr. Brownlee emphatically stated that this is the commencement of the regular freight service, and that the company expect to have everything running on a regular schedule within a few days.

Peterboro's Mayor with Peterboro's Ex-Mayor

Yesterday Peterborough had within her walls an ex-mayor of Peterborough, England. Mr. T. R. Slater, who two years ago was mayor of the celebrated railway center of England, named similarly to our own flourishing city, has been out to the Pacific Coast of Canada, and is now on his way home after making some considerable investments in this country. Mr. Slater is an exception to the general ruler in England when the only man holding important office, is distinguished by many bygone years and consequent white or absent hair. Mr. Slater conversing with The Times at the Oriental last night, said that the Peterborough where he permanently resides, is between 30,000 and 40,000 in population. It is a great railway center, as five railways enter that city. It is on the main line of the East Coast Line to Scotland, and about 60 miles north of England. Peterborough, Eng., Mr. Slater told The Times is a great place for engineering activity and manufacturing. Mr. Slater, who is engaged in the grain business, remarked that there is an immense trade between his part of England and this continent in agricultural binders and implements. He had no hesitation in saying that the Canadian made binders and reapers are considered superior to those shipped to England from the United States. From close observations made whilst in this country, Mr. Slater thinks Canada has a wonderful future ahead of her. A Liberal and a free trader in politics, Mr. Slater thought that, for this part of Canada a modified protective tariff was necessary, "but how about the farmer out in the Northwest?"

In response to a question, "How about the suffragette movement in your country?" Mr. Slater, in a way criticised an unintentional lapse on the part of the Times man, by replying "My country! Why my country is yours, and your country is mine. We are practically all one country, at least one empire without real division. As regards the suffragette movement. My wife like many other ladies is a member of the Poor Law Board that looks after public charities. The widows and spinsters with property qualifications are certain to get the privilege of voting, and they should have it." He noted that two years ago, Ald. Redhead of his city, was here and had strongly recommended him to stop off at the Electric City. The worthy ex-mayor, after undergoing a cross-examination very good naturedly, later on by several other reporters, escaped by the midnight C.P.R. train en route to England.

During the afternoon Mayor Morrow did the honors of the city to his ex-confrere from England.

RICHES OF ONTARIO.

Returns of the Ontario Bureau of Mines show that the output of the metalliferous mines and works of Ontario for the three months ending March 31st last totalled over six millions of dollars. This is a gratifying production of mineral wealth and puts Ontario well in the fore as a province of riches both in farm and mine.

Men well informed on geological formations, on strata and the peculiarities of mineral deposits are firmly of the belief that away to the north of Cobalt, Copperclif, Porcupine and Kooee Mountains are minerals hid away in the rocky areas that will some day be revealed and repeat the pride of these well known producing centres. If they be correct, and any one who has travelled through the vast northern expanses imagines the same things there are millions more hid away in our great province than we "dream of in our philosophy."

NOT A PRIZE FIGHT AS DESCRIBED BY LAW.

As is generally known to patrons of the moving picture houses, the Ontario Government, owing to the discussion in the press of the continent about the Jeffries-Johnson fight, has issued an edict prohibiting pictures of prize fights. This is admitted by most right thinking people to be quite right. To show tender children and gently reared ladies some 2000 feet of fi s showing two human brutes pommelling one another's features to a jelly for so many thousand dollars per side, is not an edifying nor an educational exhibition.

Yesterday the Crystal Theater had a picture incidentally including a few scenes in which two young men with soft gloves on hand give an exhibition of the noble art of self-defense. The plot of the play shows, displays the love of a French coast for an American girl. The girl, however, loves a young college student, a great athlete and boxer. At a certain theater is advertised a ten-round bout between two professional pugilists. One of the "pugs" is sick. An offer of $1000 reward is offered to anyone standing up before the remaining pugilist. The young collegian, in love, to win the money, but more to win the girl, takes the offer and wins. The proprietor of the Crystal, to prevent possibility of clash with either laws or public opinion asked Chief Thompson to witness the picture. The chief, anxious both to oblige a citizen and even more so to observe the law, sat through the production of the film. His answer was to this effect: "Oh I guess that picture is all right. What the government wants is to prevent such degrading sights as a real prize fight being shown in pictures. These are only kids with soft gloves on.

Be sure and take a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with you when starting on your trip this summer. It cannot be obtained on board the trains or steamers. Changes of water and climate often cause sudden attacks of diarrhoea and it is best to be prepared. Sold by all dealers.

CHIEF THOMPSON HAD BUSY TIME

Some little excitement was caused at the corner of George and Hunter streets last night when Chief Thompson was making an arrest. It is alleged that a number, who were under the influence of 'Old John Barley Corn,' and were using unsavory language, tried to prevent the chief from taking one of their party to the police station. It looked like a general melee but the chief came out on top and landed his man behind the bars.

WITH THE PROGRESS OF THE STRIKE SO FAR—MR. MURDOCK'S STATEMENT.

No Freight Being Moved—And the Passenger Business is Not as Good as the Company Maintains.

Montreal, July 22.—The fourth day of the strike shows no apparent modification in the attitude of the contending parties. The company's officials continue to speak of the strike as of something already broken, while the men have not in the least changed their optimistic outlook, at least, so far as outward appearances are concerned.

To show how difficult it is to form anything like an accurate estimate of how the struggle is going, your correspondent was told yesterday by a representative of the company that the passenger trains all over the system were running practically on time, while one of the men asserted this morning that scores of passenger trains had been cancelled, and that many of them were running as much as five hours late.

THE FREIGHT SITUATION.

Both sides profess to be most completely satisfied with the freight situation, the company with the manner in which it is being handled the strikers with their version of it that it is not being handled at all. Probably the only ones who know are the manufacturers and the way their products and freight are being moved tells pretty accurately the condition in which the freight business is going ahead.

WHAT MR. MURDOCK SAYS.

"Everything is going all right so far as we are concerned," Mr. Murdock said. "There is nothing whatever in the statement made by the company that it is handling freight. We have personal knowledge that the freight is not being handled, and also that the passenger business is not in as good shape as it is said to be."

Brutal Crime of a French Rag Picker

MURDERED FIVE CHILDREN OF FRENCH FARMER NINE YEARS AGO AND NOW CONFESSES.

Father Found Guilty—He Protested His Innocence at the Time But Was Convicted and Later Died in Prison.

Tours, France, July 22.—A rag picker named Joseph, has confessed to the assassination, April 21, 1901, of five children of a farmer named Briere, in the vicinity of Chartres. The father of the children was found guilty of the murders and sentenced to life imprisonment. He died in prison.

FATHER WAS HANGED.

The trial of Briere attracted the attention of the whole of France. Four of his daughters, aged respectively 14, 11, 5 and 4, and his son aged 7, years, were found in bed one morning, stabbed and beaten to death. The farmer was arrested and charged by the police with the crime. According to a theory advanced by the police to provide for the crime, Briere, who owned a small farm near Cernaces, wished to marry a woman of considerable wealth. Circumstantial evidence led to the conviction that the farmer considering his family an encumberance murdered his five children in order to carry out his wishes.

MAINTAINED HIS INNOCENCE.

Briere stoutly maintained his innocence throughout the trail and declared that two tramps entered the house during his absence and killed the children. He added that he returned while the murderers were rob bing the place and that they attacked him and left him for dead. During the trial the judge got down from the bench and gave loud expression to his opinion of the guilt of the prisoner, while the spectators yelled with fury: "Kill him; kill him."

A pathetic incident of the trial occurred when Briere's surviving daughter, who, the police declared, only escaped the fate of the other children by not responding to Briere invitation to go to see him, went on the witness stand sobbingly protested that her father was innocent and begged the court to restore him to her.

Municipalities Appeal to Hays for Peace

Montreal, July 22.—Two telegrams were received at Grand Trunk head quarters this morning from municipalities which are suffering from the strike, urging on President Hays the necessity of an and the desirability of arbitration. The telegrams were as follows:

Stratford, Ont., July 21, 1910.

President Hays,
Montreal,

With the example of Britain and the United States arbitrating at the Hague to avoid war between the nations, Stratford appeals to you to accept the minister of labor's proposal to arbitrate to stop industrial war with harsh inflictions upon combatants and the country at large. This city is hard hit, although innocent of blame. With fair reference secured through the minister of labor there will be no loss of dignity or advantage to either party to accept arbitration.

(Signed) W. B. Dingman,
Mayor.

The other message came from Orillia, and was as follows:

"Ori.Ma, July 21.

"C. M. Hays, president G.T.R. Montreal

"Strike is causing serious public inconvenience and also loss here. Board of Trade urges that it is imperative in the public interest that parties should find immediate solution to prevent dispute either by compromise or arbitration.

C. H. Hale,
President Board of Trade.

President Hay feels that his reply to Hon. Mr. King's offer of arbitration is an adequate expression of his attitude as to reaching a settlement by the means referred to in the foregoing telegrams.

"WAS FADING AWAY."

A Young Woman—Scarcely Thirty—Seemed to Be Dying on Her Feet. Dr. Hamilton's Pills Cured.

"I think it should be the duty of the schools to teach the children how to keep well," writes Miss Nannie E. Naydon, a well known and highly esteemed resident of Bristol. "Ignorance of the laws of health and the use of improper remedies destroyed my vigor and led me to the verge of invalidism. I was as a girl ruddy and strong. Nothing seemed to affect me until I was about thirty. Then gas began to form in the stomach. I suffered with bloating and a general failure in strength set in. If I went upstairs my breath hurt. My system was very irregular and until I grew pretty bad I didn't pay much heed to my condition. Then I got blue, worried all the time, wakened in the night and couldn't get to sleep again. None of the medicine I took helped me. One day I was read ingof a very interesting case like mine cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I took the same treatment. It was just right—didn't physic me to death, but took hold of the weak, sick parts of my system and set things right. It seems as if Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made me young again, and all my color, spirits, vigor and health of former days have returned to stay."

Every girl and woman should use Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly. They help a woman in many ways. Beware of the dealer who asks you to take an inferior pill on which gis profit is larger than on Dr. Hamilton's. Sold in yellow boxes, 25c per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Will Open Shops in Montreal on Monday

Montreal, July 22.—President Fitzhugh of the Grand Trunk Railway announced this afternoon that if condition favored it, all the car shops along the Grand Trunk would be opened on Monday. Any further expression of the contemplated move he declined to make at present.

This is taken here to mean that the Grand Trunk directors consider the strike broken.

Great Gathering of the Roman Clergy

Montreal, July 22.—There are only a few weeks to the opening of the 21st Eucharistic Congress, and, in view of the great importance of the coming event, not only to the city of Montreal, but to the entire Roman Catholic world of America, preparations are made upon a scale befitting this great gathering, which is destined to mark an epoch in the history of the Church in America.

Since the first congress of this kind was held in Lille, France, in June, 1818, in answer to call issued by Bishop Gaston de Segur, many Eucharistic Congresses have been held, always in cities intimately connected with some of the most important phrases and epochs in the history of the Roman Catholic Church. In consecutive order, Lille, Avignon, Liege, Freyburg, Toulouse, Paris, Antwerp, Jerusalem, Rheims, Pary-le-Monial, Brussels, Lourdes, Angers, Namoure, Angouleme, Rome, Tournai, Metz, London and Cologne were the meeting places of the past Eucharistic Congresses. It will be seen from that list that heretofore but one of the twenty congresses was held outside of Europe, the one which met at Jerusalem. The coming congress which will meet in Montreal on September 6th, and will continue till September 11th, will have the distinction of being the second outside of Europe and the first on the American continent.

SPRAINED WRIST AND ANKLE.

Pain for Two Days. Relief Was Gained Instantly By Applying NERVILINE.

One of the most soul-distressing accidents that can befall one is a bad ankle or wrist sprain. "If I had only known of 'Nerviline' earlier, I could have saved myself an enormous amount of pain, and many agonizing nights of sleeplessness." Thus writes P. P. Quinn, a young farmer living near Brockville. "I tumbled from a hay loft to the barn floor and sprained my right ankle and left wrist. They swelled rapidly and caused excruciating pains. It was not convenient to go to the city, and the liniment in the house was useless. When I got Nerviline relief came quickly. It took down the swelling, relieved the pain, and gave me wonderful comfort.

TESTIMONIAL NO. 4266.

"I can recommend Nerviline for strains, bruises, swellings muscular pains and sore back. I have proved it a sure cure in such cases."

Think what it might some day mean to you to have right in your home ready for an accident or emergency sickness, a bottle or two of Nerviline. Get it today, 25c., or five for $1.00, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE CANADIAN ATLANTIC SERVICE.

The competition between the different companies in the steamship service between Canada and the United Kingdom is likely to lead to great improvements in it. The passenger accommodation has been greatly improved during recent years, and now with larger and faster vessels that the companies are putting on, the time occupied in crossing the Atlantic is likely to be considerably shortened. There are advantages in the shorter distance of the Canadian route as compared with that to New York, and with vessels having a speed approaching that of the vessels on the southern route, a much larger volume of trade will be secured. The mail service will, of course, be similarly improved, and while the time occupied in the transmission of a letter between London and Montreal, will be reduced by twenty-four or thirty hours, the greater number of sailings will probably give one or two additional mails weekly—a great advantage to business.

INCREASING STRENGTH.

An important result of the Lloyd George budget is a lessening of the consumption of whiskey, and a corresponding lessening of drunkenness. Mr. George says that in Scotland there has been a fall of thirty-three per cent. in the convictios for drunkenness. The prison chaplain of Edinburgh says: "The reductions in admissions to the jail from April to December as compared with 1908 were nearly two thousand cases." In the opinion of the governor of the prison and of the chairman of the Prison Commissioners, this is entirely due to the increased tax on whiskey. In Ireland there has been a great fall in the convictions for drunkenness. In England the number of convictions has gone down something like 18,000 in the year!

That people can be made sober by legislation is a proposition that is sometimes denied, but experience shows that legislation which makes intoxicants dearer and more difficult to obtain is effective in reducing intemperance. A great deal of the drunkenness which prevailed in Canada many years ago was undoubtedly due to the cheapness of whiskey. It is true that restrictive legislation has been accompanied by changes in social and business habits. The law has made it more difficult to obtain intoxicants while the social and business penalties for intemperance have been growing more intemperance have been growing more and more severe.

The individual finds that life is so strenuous that he cannot afford to unbalance his judgment and lessen his energy by so-called stimulants, which stimulate only the emotions. In a nation the same thing happens upon a larger scale. If Great Britain is really in danger of falling behind in the race, she must get rid of every unnecessary weight. She cannot afford to waste money, brains, physical and moral force. And the consumption of intoxicants is the main source of that kind of waste. The Lloyd George budget may figure in history as a great national and imperial measure, adding immensely to the wealth and strength of the nation!

A NEW INVENTOR.

Mr. Westinghouse, the American inventor, has designed a motor car with steel tires, the shocks of the road being absorbed by air cushions, and experimental trips support a notion that this new car rides more easily than the present air cushion tired machines. The rubber tire with its frequent puncture is the weak point of the motor car of today and the increasing price of rubber, due to the scarcity engendered by the enormous demand has helped materially to increase the price of this sport. If Mr. Westinghouse's invention, upon further trial, proves reliable, it may mean a big change and advance in the art of motoring, and a correspondingly large decrease in the price of the cars.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for a case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE NEW GOLDEN BUCKET

A few years ago, the recovery of Gold from auriferous grounds and subaqueous beds, was considered impossible. The "pan" and "grizzly," operated by hand, appeared to be the sole method of recovering values. It was during this period that Dr. Linderman, Director of the United States Mint expressed the opinion that he who, could devise a machine, without adding proportionately to the cost of production, capable of saving 50 per cent. of all the placer gold, would not only enrich himself, but within the lives of men still living, would double the world's available gold bullion. The Director of the United States Mint further said,—"WE CAN HARDLY HOPE FOR THIS, THOUGH NO MAN DARE SAY IT IS IMPOSSIBLE."

The perfected modern Dredge, is to-day a substantial reality. Allowing for delays in shifting, for necessary repairs, etc., the Gold Dredge runs on an average about 16 hours out of twenty-four, thus making up in length of working day, loss of operation during winter months. These Dredges are operated in ready made mining areas, recovering millions of dollars annually, at the lowest possible cost.

The Director of the Mint of the United States in his report for 1909 says:

"The Gold Dredge makes money where a coolie would starve."

Outing Magazine: "When you think that bold inventive talent, has been able to devise machinery that makes it profitable to extract ten cents worth of gold from a ton of earth, the enterprise becomes one of the romances of American industry."

"A chain of powerful buckets bite into the earth, each bringing up a tremendous quantity of earth and gravel. These are subjected to screen treatment and the gold recovered."

California in 45 years, within radius of less than ten miles of placer ground, produced $200,000,000 in gold. To-day the vast number of Modern Dredges working over ground are recovering millions annually.

My Unknown Love.

I used to meet her in the park
Behind a prancing pair,
While their poor heart went pitapat
To see a form so fair.

I grew to know her lovely eyes,
Her cheeks that flush and pale,
But who can see a maiden's blush
Beneath an auto veil?

In winter she's an Eskimo
In heavy furs arrayed,
In summer she is nothing but
A goggled mummy maid.

And so my heart has ceased to throb
At sound of horn or bell,
It might be Angelina,
If it were I could not tell.

HUNTING RARE ORCHIDS

IT HAS LURED INNUMERABLE COLLECTORS TO DEATH.

Terrible Dangers Constantly Menace the Man Who Seeks the Beautiful Tropical Plants—It is a Task For the Dauntless and Only a Small Percentage of the Men Survive—Cruel Disappointments.

Orchid hunters continually face hardships and terrible dangers and many a collector has paid for his daring with his life. The rarer specimens of these plants are generally found in the wildest depths of tropic forests. They abound in the greatest profusion in the hot, damp parts of the West and East Indies, in Madagascar and other islands in the same region, in the moist forests of Brazil, the warm parts of Central America and western Mexico. Not dependent on the soil for their nutriment, they are mostly found clinging to the trunks and branches of trees and to stones and crags where they vegetate among ferns and other shade-loving plants.

Warmth and moisture are essential to orchids, and warmth and moisture in tropical countries are synonymous with miasma and fever. Wild animals also, and poisonous serpents, abound in the umbrageous depths wherein the rarer varieties lie hidden.

One firm of orchid importers reported a year or two ago that they had five collectors killed in as many months by the wild tribesmen of the western Himalayan slopes; while three others, even more unfortunate, were made prisoners and carried off to undergo the nameless horrors which have from time immemorial been characteristic of Central Asian slavery. If the pay is big, the risks an orchid hunter runs are correspondingly great. Cutting his way through tangled forests, wading often up to the waist through stagnant swamps, always on his guard against beasts and still more savage men, the orchid hunter earns every penny of his money. Even the natives avoid the districts into which the intrepid collector penetrates.

A few years ago eight orchid hunters met at Tamatave, and then separated in search of specimens. Within a year only one of them survived and he had spent months in the most pestilential swamps, from which he emerged with his health impaired. One of the others had been captured by the native priests, who drenched him with oil and burned him to death on the altar.

M. Hameline, one of the most successful of all collectors, and the discoverer of many new orchids in the little-known island forests of Madagascar, tells how, in these regions, "not only was our party exposed to the risk of being strangled by hostile and ferocious tribesmen—a fate which befell many a poor fellow belonging to our expedition—but we had to struggle almost night and day against the wild animals that haunt these primeval forests." He himself, in the same country, had to go through the ceremony of being made "brother-in-blood" to King Moyambassa in order to penetrate the interior of the island, an honor which nearly cost him his life.

Speaking of wild animals he says: "The most terrible of all is the fossa (a carnivorous beast related to the cat tribe), against which we had constantly to be on guard. One of these animals caused the death of the brother-in-law of the king, a fine, handsome, well-built man. It pounced upon his shoulder, rending the flesh from his back, and mangling him in a frightful manner. Being 'brother-in-blood' to the king, and thus a relative of the deceased man, I had to take part in the funeral ceremony and worse than that I had to obey their laws, which command that if any one has the moral responsibility of an accident, and death is the result of it—especially of a relative—he has the choice of being greased and burned alive or of taking the whole family of the deceased and of marrying his wife.

When a hunter finds an orchid there are three ways of getting it. He may cut down the tree to which it clings, he may lasso the branch or limb on which it hangs and draw it to him, or he may cut a sapling, lean it against the tree and climb up and bring down the plant. As a precaution against snakes and scorpions, which are as often found in trees as anywhere else, cutting down the tree is with most orchid hunters the favorite method of securing the coveted plant.

In addition to the dangers and difficulties inseparable from the actual finding of the orchid, there are innumerable troubles ahead of the indefatigable collector before his work is done. The difficulties of getting it out of the country and safely on a home-going boat are almost insuperable and nothing but the most indomitable perseverance could overcome it. Occasionally an unforeseen circumstance robs a collector of the spoils for which he has so strenuously striven. The cruel luck of one unfortunate hunter would be hard to beat. After months of ceaseless toil, exposed to the usual risks and hardships of his profession—occasionally wading up to his waist in mud and at other times venturing into almost inaccessible places—he at last succeeded in collecting between 3,000 and 4,000 orchids of an exquisitely beautiful and rare species. His delight knew no bounds, and with all possible haste he commenced his tortuous journey back to the seaboard, whose his precious and dearly-won floral treasures would be shipped to England.

His plants safely on board, that very night a fire broke out in the hold of the vessel and not a single plant was saved. The collector was nearly distracted when he realized what had happened. With a heavy heart he wired to his employers: "Collection destroyed by fire. What shall I do?" Back came the mandate from the disappointed orchid importers: "Go back at once!" And back he went, with the rainy season at hand, to perhaps the wettest country under the sun.

Glances.

He would have been glad to exchange glances with her.

But a fair exchange were no robbery.

And she chose rather to steal a glance when she thought he wasn't looking.

"Oh, woman, woman!" he murmured, but dared not reproach her openly.—Puck.

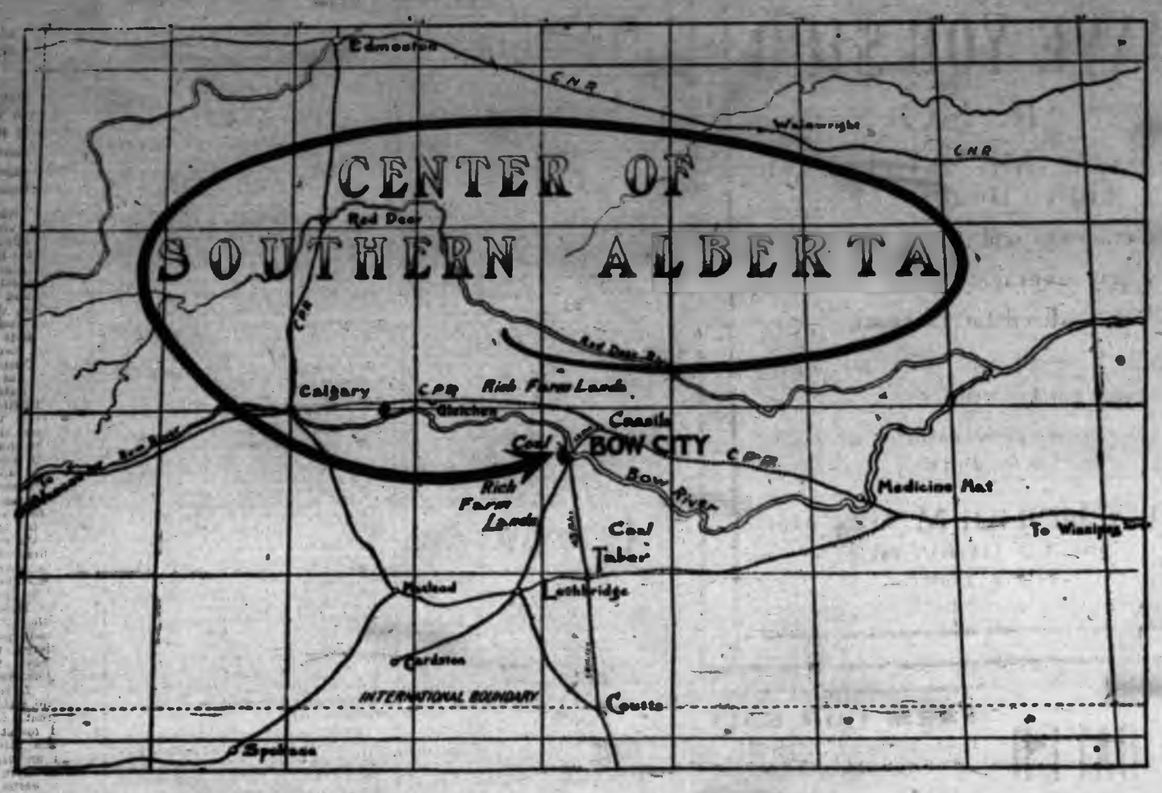
"GIVE YOUR SON A DEED"



If, by way of illustration, you will review the history of the men in your town who have made money out of real estate, you will find that in each and every instance their profits were made from real estate acquired at ground floor prices.

More money can be made by those who acquire a realty interest in a town at its inception per dollar invested than from investments made after a period of years.

Do you know that you can purchase with $5 cash a full sized residential lot in Bow City, Alberta the logical location for a great city, a city which is destined to be known, the world over, as a market place annually for hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain, grown on the vast irrigated fields surrounding Bow City, a shipping point for coal from the great Bow Centre Collieries, and a purchasing depot for hundreds of prosperous farmers resident throughout Southern Alberta.

To-day is your opportunity to acquire an interest in Bow City at the ground floor price.

It will be too late six months hence, to apply for a lot in Bow City at the present prices and on such easy terms as are offered you in this advertisement.

Why not follow Russell Sage's advice given in a letter published some years ago to the fathers in the Western States:—

"Buy your son a lot in a town being the "centre of a great agricultural country—when "he comes of age that lot will be worth consid-"erable money and will provide a handsome "stake for him in life; it is at least most sub-"stantial life insurance—sure and certain."

Buy your son a $50 lot in Bow City, the coming metropolis of the western prairies. In a very short time he can re-sell the same at a big increase, which money he will find advantageous in business pursuits or in a college course.

Bow City, the centre of the great granary of Southern Albert has a future concerning which no sane business man or banker has any doubt.

When you are assured of the success of the city, when you have proven to you beyond the shadow of a doubt that Bow City will, in the very near future, be one of the most active, one of the most progressive towns on the Western prairies, you should not hesitate to acquire at least one $50 residential lot, when same is on sale on such easy terms as 10 per cent cash and the balance 10 per cent per month until paid--a deed at any time.

Bow City is in the heart of a famous irrigated farming belt whose farmers are assured of a crop every year. They are prosperous and their prosperity will naturally enhance the value of Bow City real estate.

The great coal mines of Bow City will furnish work for 1,000 to 1,500 miners daily, these miners will constitute a substantial basis for a successful city.

The present owners of Bow City have decided that no licenses shall be issued for the sale of spirituous liquors; they intend that this great mining and agricultural centre shall be free from any traffic in intoxicating drinks—it will be a clean city.

Bow City is the headquarters of a railway which taps a territory unparalleled for richness in crops and natural resources.

The Sale of Bow City Lots opened but a few days ago

If you are desirous of acquiring a $50 residential lot close in you should lose no time in making application by wire direct to the General Agents of the townsite, or to the nearest sub-agent.

Do not delay by sending your apulication by mail.

Wire at once your reservation for one or more lots On receipt of wire your name will be placed on the closest-in unsold lot or lots and same will be held in your name, allowing you sufficient time for your cash payment, mailed same day you wire, to travel from your home to the head office.

You may find it to your advantage, if you are desirous of securing a business opening, or a business lot, to write for copy of the plans, booklets and descriptive matter concerning Bow City, all of which may be had on application, free of charge.

GIGANTIC AMAZON

It is the Greatest as Well as the Strangest of Rivers.

ITS UPPER PART A MYSTERY.

Shrouded in Impenetrable Forests and Vine Growths Through Which a Gleam of Sunlight Never Shows—A Curious Woodland Tangle.

While the Amazon is the world's greatest river, if not in length at least in the volume of water which flows through it, it is the world's strangest river as well.

The few travelers and explorers who have journeyed up this water course to its many sources in the glaciers of the South American mountains tell stories which are almost incredible about the eternal mass of streams which unite to form it, each stream having its birth in one of the great ice masses. Yet a few hundred miles below, where they merge and create the river, the temperature is such that it works its way through a perfect labyrinth of tropical vegetation.

Only the mariner can tell the place where the Amazon really has its mouth, because the opening it has made on the eastern coast of South America is so wide that it extends over 100 miles. A long distance before one comes to the mouth of the river, however, one is really sailing on the waters of the Amazon, because they force their way so far out into the ocean. They say that 200 miles out at sea off the mouth of the Amazon you can hoist a bucketful of fresh water out of the ocean from the deck of a ship, such is the quantity of its water that flows from that gigantic basin.

Long after you have entered the actual river and have its banks north and south of you if you are in midstream you will still be out of sight of land, such is the breadth of the vast channel. The river stretches far into the ocean and far up the country. Take a map of South America and look up a place called Iquitos. It lies four-fifths of the way across the continent from east to west. Yet from Iquitos there is a fortnightly service of ocean going steamers to Europe which descend some 2,000 miles of the river before they reach the sea.

It is not only one branch of the Amazon, but many, that are thus to be regarded as the same as ocean highways. The southern branches of the Amazon are broken by rapids along a line where a low continental shelf exists. Above these rapids, however, there is again deep water. Thus beyond the falls of the Madeira there are over 30,000 miles of navigable water on that river and its branches.

Not only Sir Martin Conday, but other travelers who have ventured along the upper river and its tributaries, say that here a curious woodland tangle exists. To the surface of the water the sun's rays seldom reach, and one may go many miles along waterways where it is well nigh as dark as night because the sky is almost completely shut out by the mass of vines which intermix the trees and are so thick with leaves. Deprived of the sunlight, all is dark and rank. The damp air is laden with unhealthful vapor. The surface of the water in places where the current is too sluggish to carry it away is covered with scum and weed.

It requires no little courage to explore these fastnesses, for a miss really takes his life in his hands, so unhealthy are they. Occasionally, however, one can see the upper portion of the forest where there is a little creation in its roof of vines. Above this is really a scene of life and beauty. Birds and butterflies and other gorgeous insects are flying from place to place; flowers of hundreds of hues and shapes are blooming from the plants attached to tree, branch and trunk. While below all may be lifeless and silent, above the height where the mass of vines overshadow the river nature has created a world of brightness and animation; but, as already stated, it is almost entirely shut out from the human eye.

To attempt to break through this canopy of vines which hide it from the lower world is almost impossible because the vines grow so thickly, but some naturalists have penetrated it and say that the forests really have two surfaces, the one above this artificial roof and the one below. That which is above is barred from human entrance. Its inhabitants are mostly birds and insects that are radiant with beauty unequaled in the world.

Whatever grows in the Amazon seems strives with desperate internecine struggle to reach this sky appeared surface and there blossoms. Beneath, where man can walk or float, all is dark. Only here and there a sifted ray of sunlight struggles through. Orchids blossom within this shadowy region.

You can see these bright creatures dimly to the covers below, but not in all their glory, as they must behold one another above. Sometimes as they flit about beneath they will chance to cross a sunbeam shooting through a hole in the vegetation; then for an instant they flash into view like an explosion of burning color. It is then that the great butterflies are seen to the best effect. No one can imagine what a picture they produce in their native heaven as their wings flash and close and flash again in the sunlight as they fly.

He; this upper world of the Amazon jungle has been signed, so human beings and promises to remain a perpetual mystery unless with the aid of some aerial craft one may be able to visit it.—Chambers' Journal.

BIG FAKES.

Great Feats of Strong Men Seen From the Inside.

"The most showy feats in a strength display on the stage are usually the simplest," says a veteran showman. "In the majority of instances they are pure fakes. Real feats of strength are seldom picturesque enough to be relished by audiences. The touch of sensationalism is needed, and the presence of danger must be scented.

"When you see a strong man in evening dress, bending a horseshoe with his hands, watch him carefully and see how he uses his thigh as a lever. You may depend upon it that beneath his trousers or tights he has a metal plate on which to bend the horseshoe. If he tear a tennis ball with his fingers depend upon it the cloth on the ball has been interfered with and the ball punctured.

"When you see a strong man tearing packs of cards as you would a cigarette paper you may be sure the cards have been well baked before using. Sometimes the cards in the centre of the pack are specially prepared.

"The breaking of a champagne bottle on the biceps is a trick which never fails to rouse the enthusiasm of an audience. It is impossible for any man breathing to fracture a perfect champagne bottle on his biceps, yet many have claimed the feat as within their powers.

"The way it is managed is this: A small hole is scratched in the surface of the bottle, a sharp spike is worn on the biceps, and the spike is forced into the hole. The strength necessary to bring about a fracture of the glass with these aids is not great, but the audience believes that the apparently impossible has been accomplished.

"The feats which consist of bearing a dozen people on a platform hanging from the strong man's teeth, of allowing a motor car to cross the body, of holding two motor cars in check, and others of a similar nature are all 'fakes' of an elaborate kind. That they are ingenious I will not deny; the majority of them have taken a deal of careful thinking out. Many are adaptations of engineering feats, in which seemingly eccentric effects of leverage are accomplished."

Nuremberg.

Nuremberg was once almost the richest and most famous town in Europe. The well-known saying of Pope Pius II. that a Nuremberg citizen was better off than a Scottish king was justified by the accounts that have been preserved of the town and its burghers. In the fifteenth century there came from Nuremberg the first watches, known as "Nuremberg eggs;" the first cannon, the first gun lock lock, the first wire drawing machine, the clarinet, certain descriptions of pottery and the art of painting on glass. For 800 years its walls defended the valley of the Pegnitz against all enemies. Four hundred towers once topped the walls, but only about a third of them now remain.

An Awful Jolt.

"I see you have a new automobile," said Wiggs enviously.

"Yes," responded Biggs as he shoved up the machine near the sidewalk. "And it's a beauty. Everything works like clockwork."

"That's good."

"The tires are puncture proof."

"Better still."

"And she goes like the wind."

"Gee whiz Wish I owned one."

"By the way, are you fond of riding?"

"Am I fond of riding? Well, I should say so!"

"Well, here's a street car transfer I just found. I won't need it, and you can ride home on it."

Where Pa Came In.

The young couple were out with the new baby when they met the man who had formerly been the husband's rival.

"So this is the new baby," said the former rival enthusiastically. "What a beautiful child he is! He looks just like his mother. He has eyes of blue just like hers, and his nose is just the same. He has her chin and mouth, and did you ever see such a resemblance in their ears? What a beautiful child!"

The wife beamed, while the husband stood by glumly.

"Hey!" he blurted out. "The kid hasn't grown his teeth yet. Do you think I've got a chance there?"

The Oriental Weavers.

More than 3,000 years ago, as tiles and marbles from Nineveh show, splendid fabrics were being produced for the adornment of the palaces of the kings of Assyria, and every oriental rug becomes a magic carpet when one realizes how through the long days of the long centuries these simple people have been weaving in with the colors of the jewels and the rainbow the sunshine and shadow of their own lives. How much of tears and sighing has gone to the tying of the myriad knots or followed the flying shuttle on its journeys to and fro!

Thought It Was a Regatta.

"I suppose," said the facetious Mr. Codding to Mrs. Malaprop, who had just returned from abroad, "that you saw an Italian vendetta while you were in that country?"

"Oh, yes, indeed!" replied the guileless lady. "We saw one in the canals at Venice, with all the dongolas decorated most lovely."

Uncelish.

Dad—My son, hard work brings the only true happiness. Why don't you work?

Son—Father, I intend to lead a life of self-denial. Why should I seek selfish happiness? Nay, nay—no work for me!"

Willing to Waive That.

"Miss Ang-line," began the poor but proud young man, "if I were in a position to ask you to be my wife—"

"Good gracious, Mr. Thrupson!" she exclaimed. "In a position? The idea! Do you think I would want you to get down on your knees?"

A Rare Opportunity for Safe and Lucrative Investment.

The words "Black Hills" are synonymous with "fortunes in gold." Every citizen of South Dakota and many settlements of today have drawn their fortunes. The mines that are today shipping out their golden flood of wealth represent but a part of the wealth that is still to be dug from that auriferous district. In the center of the fabulously rich Homestake Mining District, Pennington Co., South Dakota, the Black Hills-Anaconda Mining and Milling Co., of that State, has secured 14 claims, comprising 289,8-10 acres of rich mining ground. The company are preparing to purchase machinery and appliances as needed to work their magnificent property, located in the center of the richest hundred square miles of mineral belt in the world. "Yes," answered the native, "there are about 10,000 people in this town."

"Thank you," said the man who was looking for information.

"Don't mention it," said the native. "I'm glad to be able to oblige you."

Married by Accident

A Man Wins a Wife by Getting into the Wrong House.

By REGINALD B. HAVEN

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

On —— street is a block of ten houses, every house exactly like every other house. I once lived in one of these houses, and I never went home but I ran a risk of getting into the wrong house.

In the fourth house was a young lady whose appearance I especially admired. I considered her very pretty, and she was certainly very stylish.

"Now, that's just the girl I would like for a wife," I used to say when I saw her going into or coming out of her home.

One afternoon I went home, and, finding the front door ajar, I walked in, put my hat and overcoat in the hall closet and went upstairs to a sitting room on the second floor. The room was shut in by brick walls, and I seldom sat there without turning on the light. Being tired, I threw myself into an easy chair and, closing my eyes, sat thinking on a matter of business that had occurred during the day. Presently, hearing a footstep and looking up, I saw a woman's figure standing in the doorway. There was not enough light to distinguish who she was, but I was not long kept in ignorance. She pressed a button beside the door, and a bright electric light showed me the girl who lived two doors from me.

"How in this?" I stammered. "Have I got into the wrong house?"

"I expect you have," replied the girl.

"Pardon me. I assure you I had no idea— I'm very careless."

At that moment I heard the front door close. The girl heard it, too, and changed countenance.

"Good gracious, my aunt!" she exclaimed.

"Well?"

"It is very unfortunate your being here. She is a very suspicious woman."

"I see. It would grieve me terribly to have her think"—

"Dear me, she's coming up here!"

"Can I get out without meeting her?"

"No. Go in there."

She shut me up in a large closet, and the next minute I heard the harsh voice of an old woman in the adjoining room.

"Lois," she said severely, "that young man you admire so much who lives in this block is in this house. I was sitting in Mrs. Deacon's window, next door, and saw him come up and walk in at the front door. What are you doing in this room with all this light turned on?"

"Why, Aunt Jane, you must be mistaken."

"Mistaken! Do you think I haven't eyes? Oh, heavens, Lois! Can it be possible that you are—are a wicked, bad girl? Upon my word, I believe you are hiding a lover. I'm going to have a look."

She made for the only place in the room possible for concealment—the closet—and had her hand on the door knob when I heard a slight scuffle, and the young lady said:

"Aunt Jane, before you open that door I wish to say something to you. I have been deceiving you. I have been wooed and won clandestinely by the young man you have referred to. He is in that closet."

I must hasten to protect the honor of one I had compromised by my stupidity. I flung open the door, put my arm around the girl who had been driven to this falsehood, threw back my head proudly and said dramatically:

"No power on earth shall separate me from my wife."

"Well, I declare!" exclaimed the old lady.

My reputed wife buried her face in her hands, whether because the particulars of the matter had occurred to her or whether to conceal laughter at its absurdity I did not know.

"Do you mean to say," continued the old lady to me, "that you are married to my niece?"

There would be no use in silencing matters. I swore that I was her niece's husband.

"And you, Lois," continued the aunt —"are you really married to him?"

A faint "Yes" came from under the girl's hands.

"Well, well, well! How you two young people could have done your courting without my finding you out is remarkable. How did you manage it?"

"Love laughs at lockmaiths," I said knowingly, not having any explanation ready.

"I should think so," said the aunt impressively. "How long have you been married?"

I didn't dare risk an answer to this question, fearing to be caught in a trap. I threw the burden on my bride.

"Lois, dear," I said, "tell your aunt all about it. She will be more forgiving at getting the story from one she loves. Or would you prefer sitting down with her alone and talking it all over with her?"

"I think I would like to have a little time," stammered Lois faintly.

"And I think I want the whole story this minute," cried the aunt.

"Had I not better withdraw?" I suggested. I was beginning to get very hot in the face. Confound these houses built in blocks! I'll never live in one again!

By this time Lois had thought what answer would be best likely to stick us deeper in the mire. It occurred to her that if she said we had just been married the result in the end would be less compromising, so she told her aunt that we had been married that day at noon. She hit upon this hour because she had been away from home at that time. Then her aunt asked if we had been married by a clergyman. Lois, dreading that the old woman would pounce on the deception, told her that we had been married by a justice of the peace.

"A justice of the peace!" exclaimed the old lady contemptuously. "Do you call that a marriage? I shall telephone for our own rector at once. If you probably you shall not want to be married religiously."

She was making for the telephone. We both clutched her.

"Madam," I cried, "permit me to say a word. I beg of you to leave me and my—your niece alone together for awhile that we may talk this matter over. These unconventional marriages are liable to bring a stain upon the parties concerned. You certainly don't wish your niece to suffer in that way, do you? Give us an hour to decide as to when and how we shall publish our union to the world."

With a sniff the old lady bounced out of the room.

The girl and I looked at each other. We would have laughed, but the affair was far too serious for mirth.

"You've got me into a terrible pickle," said Lois, much irritated.

"I? I ask a thousand"—

"Why did you say we were married? I only said we were engaged. There was a retreat from that. There is none from marriage."

"An engagement doesn't warrant a girl having a lover in a closet."

"I don't suppose it does."

"Marriage is the only thing that will excuse that."

"But how are we going to get out of it?"

"Can't you confess the whole thing? It's a splendid joke, awfully funny. Hasn't your aunt any sense of humor?"

"About as much as a cat has of poetry."

"What do you suggest?"

"I can't think of anything unless I do as you say—confess—but that would be the same thing as acknowledging criminality. Aunt Jane would never believe anything else."

"Then you can't get out of it without being smirched, at least to your aunt?"

"No, and she can never keep the secret. Others will know it. It will go everywhere. What shall I do?" She wrung her hands.

"There's another trouble in the way," I said. "She asked each of us if we admitted we were married. That in the presence of a witness makes us man and wife."

"Oh, my goodness gracious!"

There was a silence, at the end of which I said:

"I'm responsible for all this. Now let me make an admission. I have seen and admired you before, and I have said to myself, 'That's a girl I would like for my wife.' I heard your aunt refer to me as a person you had"—she hung her head—"had admired. Now, suppose we let the matter rest, pledging your aunt to keep our secret till we can determine what we wish to be the outcome of this singular adventure. I will keep my home; you can keep yours. If we decide not to be man and wife we can find some way out of it with your aunt. If we wish to be married we can have a more pretentious ceremony than the one just performed."

We filled up the hour deliberating, but found no better plan than this. Then we rejoined Aunt Jane, and I acted as spokesman.

"Aunt Jane," I said—"I presume I may now call you aunt—I admit that I have done very wrong in hurrying your niece into a secret marriage, especially since my affairs are not just now in a condition that will enable me to take care of a wife in the style to which she has been accustomed. I ask a short time in which to get them in such condition, and I shall then acknowledge the marriage. As for myself, I would be willing to do this now, but Lois, whom we both love and whose reputation we are both bound to protect, thinks that we had better wait awhile, then announce an engagement and after a brief one celebrate a marriage without saying anything about the one that has occurred. Meanwhile I ask permission to visit my wife just as I would visit her with your permission to win her. I should have taken this course before. The strength of my love for her is my only excuse for not doing so. I am convinced that in she turns out to be as estimable a lady as her aunt I shall have won a treasure."

Aunt Jane gave me reason to be proud of myself for this speech by saying that it was never too late to do the right thing and she hoped I would prove myself as worthy as my words indicated.

I kissed the old lady at my departure, and my wife followed me to the door for the ostensible purpose of receiving a marital salute. I offered to avail myself of the opportunity, but Lois drew back.

I then returned to my own home, having been in the wrong house an hour and a half, during which I had married a wife to whom I had never before spoken a word and had established her guardian.

It was exciting winning my wife's consent to a public engagement and even got her consent to shape for a public wedding. When we entered the church there was not a person present who knew that the union of the contracting parties occurred from the groom having got into the wrong house.

ANY remedy that benefits digestion strengthens the nerves.

The nerve centers require nutrition. If the digestion is impaired, the nerve centers become anemic, and indigestion is the result.

Peruna is not a nervine nor a stimulant. It benefits the nerves by benefiting digestion.

Peruna frees the stomach of catarrhal congestions and normal digestion is the result.

In other words, Peruna goes to the bottom of the whole difficulty, when the disagreeable symptoms disappear.

Mrs. J. C. Jamison, 61 Merchant street, Watsonville, Cal., writes:

"I was troubled with my stomach for six years. I tried many kinds of medicine, also was treated by three doctors.

"They said that I had nervous dyspepsia. I was put on a liquid diet for three months.

"I improved under the treatment, but as soon as I stopped taking the medicine, I got bad again.

"I took the medicine for two years, then I got sick again and gave up all hopes of getting cured.

"I saw a testimonial of a man whose case was similar to mine being cured by Peruna, so I thought I would give it a trial.

"I procured a bottle at once and commenced taking it. I have taken several bottles and am entirely cured.

"I have gained in strength and feel like a different person. I believe Peruna is all that is claimed for it."

Nervines, such as coal tar preparations, are doing a great deal of harm. Sleep medicines and headache powders are all alike,—heart depressants, and should never be used. The nerves would be all right, if the digestion were good. Peruna corrects the digestion.

WAITED TEN YEARS.

Wedded After Lover Had Come Back From Transportation.

Among aged folk who remember the Young Ireland movement of 1848 memories of a romance of the time will be awakened when they read of the death in Brisbane, Queensland, of Mrs. Kevin Izod O'Doherty, who at that troublous period was popular by reason of her poetic contributions under the pseudonym of "Eva" to Gavan Duffy's "Nation."

Mrs. O'Doherty, who was then Miss Eva Mary Kelly, had as a fellow contributor "Speranza," the title chosen by Lady Wilde, mother of the late Oscar Wilde.

Among the admirers of "Eva's" poetry was Kevin Izod O'Doherty, a young medical student who was also engaged in the patriotic movement. From a literary admirer, O'Doherty advanced to the position of "Eva's" lover.

As registered proprietor of the "Tribune," another Dublin paper of rebellious tendencies, he was arrested for seditious writing, and had as his prison companion the late Sir Charles Gavan Duffy. The jury disagreed twice, and on the eve of his third trial he was offered what was virtually a pardon if he pleaded guilty—he had certainly written the article which was the basis of the charge. He then sent for "Eva."

"I don't like this idea of pleading guilty," O'Doherty said; "what shall I do?"

"Do?" asked "Eva"; "why be a man and face the worst; I'll wait for you, however long the sentence may be."

The third trial day came off; O'Doherty was found guilty, and was sentenced to ten years' transportation. Before his deportation to Australia "Eva" was allowed to see him in his cell.

"Be you faithful," she said to O'Doherty; "I'll wait."

O'Doherty was transported, but, being allowed out on parole in Australia, he was able to finish his medical studies and take out his degree. Years passed, and he returned to Ireland, where "Eva," true to her word in the prison cell, awaited him. Two days after his return to Dublin they were married, and O'Doherty, with his bride, returned to Australia as a voluntary exile.

In 1885 O'Doherty came back and entered the British House of Commons as member for North Meath. He quickly tired of Parliamentary life however, and once more returned to Australia, where he died a few years ago.

Romantic Story of Peer.

The death at Llandaff House, Weybridge, Wales, recently, of the Earl of Stamford recalls one of the most romantic histories of the peerage.

The family is a very old one, dating from the time of Richard Coeur de Lion. Lady Jane Grey, who occupied the throne of England for a few days, was perhaps its most notable member.

[illegible] Stamford's earldom was created for a Grey who led a Roundhead host in the field against his sovereign. Royalist historians write him down as a bad general and a cowardly rabbler, while his Puritan compatriots [illegible] assembly. But when the tide turned he had the sense to look about, and so, in spite of the doings of a son whose name is on King Charles' death warrant, the new earldom was saved to his descendants.

The seventh earl died in 1883, and his heir was discovered in South Africa, an untrained missionary, who, after two marriages in humble life, had lately legalized his union with a half-breed Kaffir woman, the sister of a Dutch wine-grower's slave boy. English society did not call back the new earl. He was content to live on in his corrugated iron shanty at Wynberg, adding to his seats a stone-built house, which he called "Stamford Hall."

He lived happily with his colored wife for several years, and had one daughter, who married Mr. Pieter Pieterse, of the Transvaal. There were no children of the two previous marriages.

When the late earl succeeded to the peerage he was professor of Classics and Philosophy at Codrington College, Barbados.

Duke's Interest in Horses.

The Duke of Teck, who is to be president of the forthcoming Richmond Horse Show, has been devoted all his life to horses. Horses in general attract him, and horses for polo-playing in particular. His Serene Highness has signalled his presidency of the Richmond Show by presenting a magnificent trophy, the Teck Cup, to be won outright in a jumping competition for officers in uniform. The duke has apartments in Henry III.'s tower, Windsor Castle, where is gathered one of the most interesting collections of curios ever gleaned from the corners of the globe. The duke was military attache in Vienna for some time, and has seen service in most foreign countries.

G. B. S.'s Suspicions.

Mr. G. B. Shaw has a way of his own, even on post cards. A second-hand book-seller secured, in the ordinary way of business, a manuscript of his story, "Love Among the Artists." The book-seller told Mr. Shaw that he held it, thinking, perhaps, that the author would be as keen a purchaser as anybody. "Excuse me, where did you get it? . . . . Are you a book-seller by day and a burglar by night?" wrote "G.B.S." The book-seller is still asking one hundred guineas for his "find"; the post card he will not part with.

Kitchener Wanted to Know.

With "carpet-knights" Lord Kitchener, naturally, has little patience. He likes a soldier to be one of the good old sort, sleeping on an iron bed and with a severe taste in "domestic accoutrements." The Kaiser once remarked, "The Hohenzollerns don't wear dressing-gowns'" And Lord Kitchener, viewing with disPleasure a young lieutenant of his who had purchased for himself a very elaborate gold-fitted suit-case, asked of him, "What is your taste in hairpins?"

WILL NOT STRIKE.

A rumor was current throughout the city yesterday to the effect that the G.T.R. engineers would strike. The engineers will stay with the company as long as competent men are in charge of the trains, as their agreement does not run out with the company until August, said an officer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

His Money.

A poor beggar received a monthly allowance of $5 from a rich man. The money used to be paid to him regularly by the bookkeeper. On one occasion when the poor man came around the bookkeeper handed him only $3. The poor man remained standing quietly until the bookkeeper asked whether there was anything else he wished.

"You must have made a mistake," he said. "I always get $5."

"Yes," replied the bookkeeper; "that has now been changed."

"Changed? Why?"

"You see, the boss recently married off his eldest daughter, and he had a great deal of expense, as you may imagine—the dowry and so forth. You can easily understand"—

"Yes, yes!" grumbled the beggar. "Give your employer my best wishes and tell him that if he ever marries off another daughter he may do it with his own money, not with mine."—Macedonia.

His Error.

The young man who loved the daughter of the widow had called to get the mother's consent to lead the fair girl to the altar, but he blundered at the very outset.

"I have come, madam," he began in a voice that was agitated and beseeching, "to ask you for the blessed privilege of working for your dear daughter, taking care of her, giving her a home and"—

He got no further. The widow, with indescribable eagerness, threw herself into his arms. "I gladly give you the privilege," she cried. "You don't know how I have hoped and longed for a model man like you to be my darling daughter's father!"—Chicago News.

Why He Was Seated.

A stout woman entered a crowded car and took hold of a strap directly in front of a man seated in the corner. As the car started she lunged against his newspaper and trod heavily on his toes. As soon as he could extricate himself he arose and offered her his seat.

"You are very kind, sir," she said, panting for breath.

"Not at all, madam," he replied. "It's not kindness; it's simply self defense."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

The Reason.

"Talking about women," observed the peach to the potato, "I can't bear these so called notable housewives with their energy in providing for their families."

"Why not? What effect do they produce on you?" asked the potato.

"They jar me," answered the peach. —Baltimore American.

TROUBLOUS TIMES IN CANADA.

We were in receipt a few days ago of a copy of "Troublous Times in Canada." This is a bound booklet, written by Capt. John A. Macdonald, a veteran of 1866 and 1870. This book is well written and, in typography excellent. The author, Capt. Macdonald, gives a full and comprehensive history of the Fenian Raids of the years noted above. Among the troops called out for active service, by orders from Ottawa, on June 1st, 1866, are mentioned the Peterborough Infantry Company. The book gives a somewhat humorous account of the name—which "General" O'Neil, of the Fenian Army who was arrested by a U.S. marshall. PORCUPINE CITY

THE PORCUPINE BOOM has started. The district is proven. It is to-day the greatest Gold Camp in the world.

With a present population of over 5,000 in the district, which will increase to 15,000 or 20,000 before the snow falls, the opportunities for rapid growth of the Camp's business centre are self-apparent.

PORCUPINE CITY

The Townsite has already the "Porcupine Post Office," two Banks, one 75-room Hotel, general stores, hardware stores, hospital, a drug store, bakery, theatorium, laundry, several office buildings, and numerous boarding houses and dwellings.

Townsite lots worth to-day from $60.00 to $300.00 should treble in value by Christmas, and be worth many times this amount within the next year or two.

SUDBURY, COBALT, HAILEYBURY and NORTH BAY have returned fortunes to the original investors in their real estate when these towns were young. They thrived on the returns from the baser metals—copper and silver.

Rain Doing Untold Benefits to the Crops ---Put Out Forest Fires

Regina, Sask., July 23.—Early last evening rain fell for an hour and a half in this district. The rain was light, only one-eighth of an inch being registered, but it will be of great value to the filling of the grain at this stage.

AT SASKATOON, ALSO.

Saskatoon, Sask., July 23.—A heavy wind and rain storm here this evening did some damage to the decorations being prepared for Sir Wilfrid Laurier's approaching visit, and did considerable good in aiding to fill the fast maturing grain.

PUT OUT FOREST FIRES.

Nelson, B.C., July 23.—Rain is falling here today, and the danger from the forest fires may be considered at an end. Yesterday a strong wind revived the fires at Moyie, and the gravity tramway, with the blacksmith shop at the St. Eugene mine, were destroyed at Nichel. Fire at Bald Peak destroyed a million feet of logs piled on the limits of the new Michel sawmill. In the vicinity of Phoenix dangerous fires were reported early today, but the fires are now believed to be under control. The Board of Works has passed a resolution condemning the reports circulated regarding the bush fires, and the resolution that the damage done by the fires was greatly over-estimated.

Attack Made on The Royal Family Expenses

London, July 22,—After an acrimonious debate, in which the Royal family was dubbed "immoral" by a Laborite, the House of Commons this evening granted the King and the members of the royal family a civil list of $3,106,600.

A motion made by George Barnes, the Labor leader, to reduce the civil list by $950,000 was voted down, 266 to 26. Kier Hardie moved to omit from the list provision for all the King's children with the exception of the Young Prince of Wales, and to provide for the Queen Mary only in the event she survives King George. "These proposals mean that the English people must furnish money to enable royalties to lead lives of ease and luxury and idleness without giving any service to the public in return," shouted Hardie, who challenged chancellor of the exchequer Lloyd George to reply, but the noted Welshman said nothing.

W. H. Dickinson, M.P., suggested to the Commons that it was absurd to give young children the expectation that eventually they would come into great sums of money without even their father having a "say so" in the matter. Chancellor Lloyd George, replying to Dickinson, said he agreed with all the demands of the government, adding that the money for the minor children of the Royal families would have to be paid over to their trustees. Hardie's motion to exclude the children was defeated 267 to 26.

The government's proposal carrying a civil list of $3,106,600, was thereupon formally adopted.

BACKBONE OF STRIKE BROKEN SAYS VICE-PRES. FITZHUGH BUT MEN CONFIDENT AS EVER

Wabash Trainmen go Back to Work

St. Thomas, July 23.—The Wabash trainmen, headed by T. Todd, came to an agreement with Lake J. Ferriter, superintendent of the Wabash Railway, and the men all went back to work at one o'clock.

The agreement seems to have been reached by the Wabash Company promising to pay the men the increase which the Grand Trunk men would receive when the strike is settled, and if the latter should not get their increase, then the company has agreed to pay the Eastern Association Standard rate.

In the meantime the men will only handle Wabash business.

STRIKE OUTLOOK DOES NOT IMPROVE—THE DEADLOCK WILL GROW WORSE.

Adequate Protection of Company's Property the Only Thing Necessary for Resumption of Complete Service, Passenger and Freight—Brockville Disorder, Says Prominent Shipper is the Beginning of the End.

The strike outlook does not improve Armed men, militia to be called out, rioting, fights, attacks the new hands, wrecks, these things are not of an encouraging nature. It looks as if they would grow worse, and, growing worse they will force the drivers and firemen to withdraw their services in the face of danger to themselves. Any headway gained one day may be lost the next. The most significant factor is the determined character of Mr. Hays.

Quite a lot of people are hopeful and write hopefully, but if you look at the bottom, you will see little of encouragement.

Some way must be found to break the deadlock. Because the deadlock will not improve—it will grow worse.

Montreal, July 23.—"The backbone of the strike is broken absolutely and without doubt. You can make that statement as emphatic as you like."

This was the announcement made today by E. Fitzhugh, first vice-president of the Grand Trunk. "In this strike we have two problems to contend with," continued Mr. Fitzhugh. "First we had to draft off a lot of men from other work to protect our property, and, secondly, we have had to engage and train a lot of men to take the place of those who have left our service.

"I am now in a position to state that the company has all the men needed to resume its full traffic service, both passenger and freight.

"All we want now is for the authorities to provide adequate protection for our property. The moment this is done such a large number of men will be released from duty as guardians of our property that we can, at an hour's notice, start the full freight service into operation. All we want is protection, and if the authorities provide that, as they should do, the country will be at once relieved from all dislocation of traffic.

WILL NOT ARBITRATE.

"Mr. Hay has apparently put aside all thought of arbitration, seeing that it was so peremptorily refused by the men before the strike. The men still insist that if the matter is arbitrated. Clarke and Morrisey must be the arbitrators. Many railway men think a few days will probably see the end of the struggle, without any reference to arbitration.

MR. BORDEN WILL GO WEST.

Leader of the Opposition Predicts Conservative Victory.

Halifax, N.S., July 23:—Mr. R. L. Borden spoke for about an hour at a smoking concert at the A.B.C. Hall last night. He predicted a Conservative victory at the next general elections, and said that a change of a few thousand votes throughout the Dominion last time would have defeated the Liberals.

The popular vote in Nova Scotia was about even, he declared, though on six Conservatives were elected.

He declared that the people will in due time awake to the incompetency of the present government. He reviewed his trip to the West and said that at all the meetings there was evidence of a growing dissatisfaction with existing condition, and a desire among the people to return to honest and effective government.

In a jocular mood he referred to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's present trip, and said that later he was going west again and would make it his business to learn what misrepresentations had been made, and he would endeavor to disabuse the minds of the people of the influence and effects of the premier's statements. Mr. A. B. Crosby, M.P., J. C. Mullin, and J. W. Regan also spoke.

Mr. Robert Pimmitt's Death.

Mr. Robert Pimmett, at the venerable age of 90 years, passed away last week at Young's Point. The late Mr. Pimmett had been a resident of that village for forty years. He settled in Oronabee when coming to Canada as a boy.

A Presentation.

A pleasing function was enacted at noon Saturday when Mr. Fred Miller, who has been connected with the Wm. English Canoe Co., but who is severing his connection with that old time Peterborough industry, was made a handsome presentation by the employes and company.

Ordination at St. Paul's Church.

The service at St. Paul's church yesterday was made more than usually interesting by the ordination of four new elders elected recently to that high office. Those ordained were Messrs. Elias Beavis, John Gillespie, H. B. Cowan and W. A. Logan. The pastor took as the text for his address, "Why am I a Presbyterian?" and preached a clear and argumentative sermon.

Dr. Crippen on His Way to Canada?

London, July 23.—Inspector Dew of Scotland Yard, who has been in charge of the search for Dr. H. H. Crippen, murderer of his wife, Belle Elmore, left hurriedly today for Canada, after admitting that information had been received which indicated that an important clue had been found there as to the whereabouts of the missing man.

His departure for Canada is explained by the receipt of a wireless message at Liverpool. This message, which came from a vessel in mid-ocean, declared that two passengers greatly resembling Dr. Crippen and Miss Leneve are on board bound for Canada. The police are withholding the name of the ship on which the suspects are sailing.

Scotland Yard undoubtedly had a strong clew that these suspects are really Crippen and Miss Leneve, for the despatching of Inspector Daw to Canada is regarded as an important move towards their apprehension.

British Military Force to be Doubled in Egypt

London, July 23.—Now it's the big stick for Egypt. The British military force there is to be doubled within a short time, making a total of 10,000 troops, according to a semi-official report current here today.

This is regarded as significant in view of the Guild Hall speech of Theodore Roosevelt, in which he urged more stringent measures in Egypt and the subsequent development seems to imply that he spoke with the tacit or expressed permission of the authorities.

The growing unrest in Egypt and the increase in the ranks of the Nationalist are held responsible for the increased troops.

FORMER CITIZEN VISITS CITY.

Dr. Crevier Meets Many Old Friends Here Who Give Him a Hearty Welcome.

On Saturday Dr. Crevier, V.S. was impelled to hold a reception to his many old friends, somewhat resembling the greeting of a prominent politician. Dr. Crevier, for many years one of Peterborough's leading veterinary surgeons, went to Detroit, Mich some ten or twelve years ago where he was appointed, and for several years acted as veterinary of the fire brigade of that city. Dr. Crevier was seen by his many friends to be the same old "jollier" as of yore, only he lacked part of one leg. About two years ago, the doctor, whilst jumping from his verandah in Montreal, where he now carries on a real estate business, had the misfortune to fall and break the lower bones of his left leg. This resulted in Dr. Crevier having to have the lower part of the leg amputated. He now wears an artificial foot, and, as yet, is compelled to use crutches. This former popular local citizen left last night for his home in Montreal.

HAAG HEAVILY FINED.

Government Inspector Demonstrates That Dog Laws Must Be Observed.

At Saturday's session of the police court it was clearly and undeniably shown that the Ontario government in passing laws to prevent the spread of hydrophobia, is not making a gallery play for political ends. In reply to a charge of bringing dogs here from an infected district, Mr. Haag pleaded guilty. Several witnesses, including Dr. W.-W. Stork Dominion Government veterinary inspector, gave evidence against Haag, and as a result a fine of $115 in all was imposed.

Mob of Women and Children Started Disturbance at Brockville

FORTY-FIRST REGIMENT CALLED OUT AS THE RESULT OF THE DISTURBANCES IN THAT TOWN.

Crews of Trains are Armed With Revolvers—Trouble Feared at Hamilton.

Brockville, July 23. — Brockville was the scene of wild disorder all night on account of the strike, and the town is now under martial law, with Lieut.-Colonel Buell and sixty-five men of the 41st Regiment guarding the company's property.

Several doors and windows in the G.T.R. station are wrecked, and two striking trainmen are hurt. Charbonneau and Fred Botsford, both of this town, are now under arrest.

T. J. Wilcox, a Toronto man, who arrived here on the local at nine o'clock; Emil. Manseau, a strike breaker of Montreal, and Edmund Conee, a Thiel detective, are in St. Vincent de Paul hospital. Wilcox is the most seriously injured as the result of knocks and kicks about the platform while the others are suffering from cuts and bruises on the head.

All, however, insisted on going home today, although it is feared Wilcox is internally injured.

The trouble started by a mob of women and children, assisted by a few male strike sympathizers, attacking the office of yardmaster Hatton, in which were seated the strike-breakers and detectives. They were driven out with a hose, and upon reaching the platform, were attacked The militia was called out at three o'clock, and more trouble is feared.

TROUBLE FEARED AT HAMIL

TROUBLE AT HAMILTON.

Hamilton, July 23.—The Grand Trunk made no attempt here this morning to move freight, and as soon as it does it is feared that there will be a clash between union sympathizers and train crews. In fact, some of the strikers openly declared that trouble would follow the first attempt made by the company to handle freight trains in the Hamilton yards. A freight from Sarnia bound for Montreal, passed through the Junction this morning. Referring to it, a number of members of the local executive declared that had it come into the yards it would have never got through. The company, it is believed, will make an effort to morrow to get some of the many freight trains stalled here, ready to to start out at night, and the police are prepared for trouble.

Today the local committee of the engineers received instructions from their headquarters in Cleveland that the engineers were to remain strictly neutral and not to do any more work than called upon. They are not to do any piloting. The company is hard pressed for conductors on train running out of Hamilton, and John Grey, general agent, was compelled to act as conductor on the Toronto train leaving here at 5.40 yesterday afternoon.

The mail train from Toronto this morning broke loose twelve times on the way to Hamilton and came in late. The union men have a perfect picket system here, nearly two hundred strikers covering the outposts.

TRIED TO DITCH TRAIN.

Woodstock, July 23.—Some person unknown, evidently bent on ditching the G.T.R. yard engine, placed a large timber across the track at Bain's siding last night. It was discovered in time, and no damage resulted.

The C.P.R. is supplying employes with meals right on job to try and keep up with heavy traffic both in ex pressand freight. The factories here are not inconvenienced as yet.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is today the best known medicine in use for the relief and cure of bowel complaints. It cures griping, diarrhoea, dysentery, and should be taken at the first unnatural looseness of the bowels. It is equally valuable for children and adults. It always cures. Sold by all dealers.

Three Alleged Thieves Captured.

As a result of recent robberies committed in the city, the local police force have been on the qui vive to locate the perpetrators. The officers who have had their suspicions aroused have been watching for Wesley Crouter, Frank Hamilton and James Wilson. On Saturday morning P. C. Newhall learned that these three men were in a house on Euclid hall and Constable Foster of Lindsay, drove over to Euclid avenue and succeeded in capturing the trio, who avenue. Chief Thompson, P. C. Newendeavored to escape. They will appear for trial in the police court this morning.

Would-be Suicide Doing Well.

In Nicholls hospital lies William Fortune, who has made his home with his brother, about a mile from Villiers. Fortune, who is about fifty-four years of age, on Thursday night last, went out to the barn and on Friday morning was found lying in the loft, in a pool of blood with his throat gashed and the wind-pipe partly severed. Dr. McWilliams of Keene, was at once sent for, and on arrival had the would-be suicide taken to Nicholls hospital. On Saturday morning Dr. Young assisted Dr. McWilliams in trying to relieve the suffering of the unfortunate man.

Enquiries made last night elicited the fact that Fortune was resting well and it is hoped that there is good prospects for his recovery.

If your liver is sluggish and out of tone, and you feel dull, bilious, constipated, take a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets tonight before retiring and you will feel all right in the morning. Sold by all dealers.

Some Freight Has Begun to Move

HOUSING THE IRISH.

Splendid Work Being Done by British Parliament.

London, July 25.—In the long and bitter war between landlords and tenants in Ireland, many of the rural districts were devastated, and in 1869 it was necessary to repair the wreckage, and as many as 50,000 cottages were then erected. In 1896, when the Right Hon. James Bryce, then Secretary for Ireland, got the Labourers' Act passed, as many houses were rebuilt in a few years as in the whole of the quarter of a century preceding. That grant is again exhausted and Mr. Birrell finds there are 42 districts with 3,500 cottages waiting to be rebuilt. The Government in the vote for Irish Estimates, has now got £1,000,000 for building of Labourers' cottages. This distress of poor Ireland is perhaps the main reason why Ireland still wants Home Rule.

"THIS DATE IN HISTORY"

1759—Fort Niagara capitulated to the British after a bloody battle.

1805—Clark and Lewis discovered the three forks of the Missouri River.

1809—Danes defeated the Schleswig-Holsteiners in battle of Idstedt.

1868—U.S. Congress passed a Bill providing for the payment of the national debt.

1894—Great damage caused by forest fires in the northern counties of Wisconsin.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. Sold by all dealers.

PROGRESS IS SLOW, HOWEVER—MANY POINTS WILL TRY TO START TODAY.

Two Freights Started at Sarnia and Two Started From London on Saturday Afternoon.

Sarnia, July 23.—Two freight trains were moved this morning, one at four o'clock, going to Hamilton, and the other going to Island Pond, Vermont.

Richmond, Que., July 23.—Some G.T.R. freight trains have passed through here, but no freight is being handled at this station. Everything is quite now. The strikers are very orderly.

London, July 23.—Two freight trains containing perishable goods have been sent from London over the Grand Trunk in the last 24 hours. No violence has been reported.

Boston, July 23.—The success encountered in moving freight over the railroads in New England, affected by the conductors' and trainmens' strike on the Grand Trunk Railroad yesterday, caused the officials to put freight and passenger trains in operation today. Freight that had been standing on the rails of the Central Vermont Railroad was again started towards its consignees today.

No outbreaks between strikebreakers and union men or their sympathizers were expected today, following the quiet of last night.

Hamilton, July 23.—There is no change in the strike situation, and the G.T.R. officials here say that no attempt will be made to move the freight for at least three or four days. The detectives are working for the company, and the freight from Port Huron to Montreal, which passed through the junction about a mile west of the yards, last night, contained 15 cars, and each car was in charge of a detective. Thomas Gray, the local agent, has been detailed to take charge of a train, and is on the run between here and Toronto.

The strikers here say that the engineers will remain neutral, and will leave their grievances if they have any, at the expiration of their agreement, to a committee.

Stratford, July 23.—Everything is quiet round here today, and outward ly apparently no change in the situation. However, there is a feeling that something is brewing, and it is likely it will develop into an effort to make a start moving freight on Monday.

Passenger trains are running on all branches out of Stratford, not the full schedule, but all districts are getting a service. A more rigid exclusion from railway property of those not having business there and the preparation of sleeping accommodations in the xcompany's buildings point to an early effort to extend operations.

Detroit, Mich., July 23.—The prospects of arbitration of the Grand Trunk wage question, which was reported yesterday had little effect on local conditions. The company is going ahead with its preparations for starting up freight trains and the strikers are holding enthusiastic meetings all over the city.

BACK-WEARY MEN.

The Helping Hand of Dr. Hamilton's Pills Will Cure in a Few Weeks.

"Foundry work compels men to work in the winter in very cold shops," writes Tasse T. Bolter, a well-known mechanic in Hamilton. "I contracted a very severe cold a few months ago which settled in my back and kidneys. I suffered constant pain, and in bending over my work and in heavy lifting, the pain at time was excruciating. My digestion got all out of order, doubtless because the kidneys didn't work right. My wife had used Dr. Hamilton's Pills as a family medicine and I took her advice and started them also. To my great delight a few doses helped me so much it was proof I was using a true remedy. Natural action of the kidneys was brought about, burning and aching ceased, and the back-lameness gradually disappeared. I no longer fear my work. I feel strong and robust, and with such a remedy as Dr. Hamilton's Pills at hand I will probably never again be sick. I advise every working man to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

No other medicine will regulate the system and maintain health like Dr. Hamilton's Pills—beware of the dealer who tries to induce you to take something else on which he makes more profit. Sold in yellow boxes 25c. Prepared by The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ontario.

THE CANADIAN ATLANTIC SERVICE.

The competition between the different companies in the steamship service between Canada and the United Kingdom is likely to lead to great improvements in it. The passenger accommodation has been greatly improved during recent years, and now with larger and faster vessels that the companies are putting on, the time occupied in crossing the Atlantic is likely to be considerably shortened. There are advantages in the shorter distance of the Canadian route as compared with that to New York, and with vessels having a speed approaching that of the vessels on the southern route, a much larger volume of trade will be secured. The mail service will, of course, be similarly improved, and while the time occupied in the transmission of a letter between London and Montreal, will be reduced by twenty-four or thirty hours, the greater number of sailings will probably give one or two additional mails weekly—a great advantage to business.

Satisfactory Award Re C.P.R. Operators

Toronto, July 23.—Mr. J. E. DeVal, chairman of the Board of Conciliation, in an interview made this morning, made the following statement:

"I am pleased to say that an agreement was reached this morning between the officials of the telegraph department of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the representative of the Commercial Telegraphers satisfactory to all parties. It would of course be improper of me to give out any details of the agreement until after our report has reached the minister of labor. President Konenkamp of the Telegraphers' Union, who represented the men, states the agreement is satisfactory."

Three Murderers to Die.

Albany, N.Y., July 26.—Three murderers are scheduled to die in the electric chair in the New York State prison this week. They are Carl Loose, Guiseppe Gambaro and William Gilbert. Loose shot and killed his daughter on Nov. 24, 1909, and Gambaro his brother on Feb. 5, 1909. Both deeds occurred in New Yory. Gilbert, a negro, killed his sweetheart in Olean last December.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or insider nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

EXPECTED DEATH ANY DAY.

Another Case Where Life Was Saved and Health Restored By Nerviline.

We have all read and heard of the agonies of Sciatica, but only those who have been tortured by this dread malady can fully appreciate what it must mean to be cured after years of suffering.

It is because he feels it his solemn duty to tell to the world his faith in Nerviline that Victor P. Hires makes the following declaration: "For three years I was in the Royal Mail service and in all kinds of weather had to meet the night trains. Dampness, cold and exposure brought on sciatica that affected my left side. Sometimes an attack would come on that made me powerless to work. I was so nearly a cripple that I had to give up my job. I was in despair, completely cast down because the money I spent on trying to get well was completely wasted. I was speaking to my chemist one day, and he recommended Nerviline. I had this good liniment rubbed on several times a day and got relief. In order to build up my general CURED health and improve my blood I used Ferrozone, SIX one tablet with each meal. I continued this treat- YEARS. ment four months and was cured. I have used all kinds of liniments, and can truthfully say that Nerviline is far stronger, more penetrating, and infinitely better than anything else for relieving pain. I urge everyone with lumbago, neuralgia, rheumatism or sciatica to try Nerviline. I know it will cure em."

There isn't a more highly esteemed citizen in Westchester than Mr. Hires. What he says can be relied upon. For six years since being cured he hasn't had a single relapse. Don't accept anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." 25 cents per bottle or five for $1. Sold everywhere or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston.

CHILD IMMIGRATION.

The world is finding out that there is less in heredity than it supposed. It is realising that the child of vicious parentage has often a fair chance to succeed in life if it is removed in time from parental influences and placed in an healthy atmosphere. In England the other day grating poor children to Canada, re- Earl Grey spoke favorably of emimatring that "the child who is reared under the Poor Laws is inevitably handicapped by conditions and a hint-smart which fitted that child again into pauperism as an adult. But if the poor children could be settled singly in rural Canadian homes, long before they have learned to be conscious of the existence of Poor Laws: if they could grow up in the free and bracing atmosphere of Canadian farm homesteads, then one could say of them, practically with certainty, that not a single one among them all would ever, in his or her after life, come into con They would grow up good country tact with any form of pauperdom. Canadians, than which no better, healthier or more useful destiny could be achieved.

The prejudice against the class known as "Home children," against the boys and girls brought to Canada by various charitable institutions has gradually disappeared, for good and useful citizens. In this the majority of them have made child immigration seems to lie the solution of the farmhand problem in Ontario. With sons and daughters daughters leaving the farms for the West, and with a class of adult immigrants who have neither the physique, training, nor inclination for farm life, the agriculturists of the Province have been hard put to it for help. A limited number of immigrant children have been furnished by the homes, but the demand is far greater than the supply. The farmer of today who undertakes to care for one of these immigrant children, and who fulfills his obligation intelligently is providing against a future scarcity of farm help which promises to be even more embarrassing than the present situation.

SPEARMINT WINS.

In these days of strenuous business competition, the goods which command the largest sales, and bring ultimately the greatest dividends to the manufacturers are the goods of highest quality when brought before the buying public through the most judicious kind of advertising. Possibly if all the best advertised goods now on the markets of America, which have the greatest desirability of quality to endorse them is the celebrated Wrigley Spearmint Pepsin chewing gum. The sales of Spearmint exceed those of the cotemporaneous gum trust. There are three reasons for this: Spearmint is widely advertised; Spearmint is always fresh, and Spearmint excels in taste, tactful and durability all and any other kind of gum now on the market.

A NEW INVENTOR.

Mr. Westinghouse, the American inventor, has designed a motor car with steel tires, the shocks of the road being absorbed by air cushions, and experimental trips support a notion that this new car rides more easily than the present air cushioned machines. The rubber tire with its frequent punctures is the weak point of the motor car of today and the increasing price of rubber, due to the scarcity engendered by the enormous demand has helped materially to increase the price of this sport. If Mr. Westinghouse's invention, upon further trial, proves reliable, it may mean a big change and advance in the art of motoring, and a correspondingly large decrease in the price of the cars.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for a case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

IF SICK--WHY PAY

Unless Health First Returns.

Here is what should and can be done!

Now you would not willingly pay for that that was worthless would you?

Then why pay for medicine until there much else first proves to you its actual worth?

Positively knowing what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do for the sick, I say to all sufferers: Let me prove to you by a free test that my Restorative will do for you. Write me for this test. No risk. No cost. No obligation.

I positively refuse to let the sick everywhere miss "Dr. Shoop's Restorative should be tried by free & it fails". Let others do the measuring their promises.

If you need more strength, more nerve force, more vitality, more vigor or more vim, I will honestly say so. If I can't help you I will frankly tell you so. When the stomach, heart, or kidneys are wrong, then test Dr. Shoop's Restorative by the 36 symptoms found in no other. Then if wrong, I can tell you so. If you have kidney trouble, then I can tell you so. If you have bladder trouble, then I can tell you so. If you have liver trouble, then I can tell you so. That is why I can afford to say: "Take no chances on a medicine unless another does and knows it just as I do by this remarkable offer".

So write me today for the order.

I have convinced hundreds and will gladly convince the worst sufferer in every community by these same methods.

Just write me first for the order.

All druggists sell Dr. Shoop's Restorative—all are authorized to give the 30 day test.

So drop me a line, please—and then get comfortable and relax. Tell me also which book you need.

A postal will do.

Besides, you are free to consult me or your regular home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or more from me will clear up some stubborn ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription and personal advice plan. My best effort is at your service if required. So write now and you have it from in mind, for tomorrow may come. Dr. Shoop, Box 21, Racine, Wis.

A FEAT OF HORSEMANSHIP.

Threading a Needle While Riding at Full Gallop.

Some astonishing feats of horsemanship have been performed by cowboys and Indians, not to speak of those astonishingly expert Comanche, but it is doubtful if these have ever exceeded the feat of a Sikh irregular cavalryman.

Comanche have been seen to snatch a baby from its mother's arms at full gallop, toss it into the air, catch it and repeat the performance. Indian riders in the far west have sprung from their horses' backs while the animals were moving at full gallop, picked up arrows and remounted instantly in a standing posture. But who ever heard of a Comanch, an Indian or a cowboy threading a needle while at full gallop?

The horsemen of the Sikh count one small mouth; slight, but quick and wiry, of thoroughbred Arabian barb type. These of the irregular cavalry perform all manner of charges and evolutions. They will throw their swords and matchlocks into the air, catching them by the hilts and stocks. On one occasion, by way of offering some new and unusual entertainment to a French officer visiting that region, it was announced that one rider would attempt the needle threading feat.

A needle and a piece of thread possibly two or three feet in length were produced. They were both handed around for inspection. The needle was a cambric one and the thread fifty or sixty fine.

The rider galloped his mount down the sand about 400 yards or so. He finally wheeled his horse and remained stationary, facing his audience. The man who held the needle and thread waved them in his hand and rode toward the other. When he had covered about two-thirds of the distance he halted and waved his hand to the farther one. Immediately the latter spurred his horse into a gallop and came toward the audience at full speed. As he passed the other he took the needle and thread from his companion, bent over for a moment and pulled up when he reached the standing Frenchman, holding the threaded needle triumphantly over his head.—St. Louis Republic.

DRESDEN POLICE.

They Are Permitted to Impose Small Fines on Offenders.

One advantage accrues to the respectable member of the community from the minuteness with which the Dresden police look into the affairs of every inhabitant of the city. If he is a careful man and always carries papers which may serve to establish his identity he is practically immune from the indignity of being arrested and marched off to the police station unless, indeed, he commits some especially heinous crime. Does he drive faster than the law permits, does he cross a bridge on the left hand side, he is stopped by the guardian of law and order and requested to give his name. If he has his papers with him the policeman may then and there impose a fine of from 1 to 3 marks. If then he admits that he is in the wrong and pays the fine the incident is closed. If, however, he wishes to appeal from the policeman's decision he may do so. Even in that case he is not arrested, but a day or two later he is notified to appear in court and answer to the charge against him. But then if he is found guilty the lowest fine that can be imposed is 3 marks. That this custom of permitting the policeman personally to impose small fines is little understood by foreigners is shown by a remark made by a gentleman who had lived in Germany the greater part of his life and in Dresden for a number of years. In reply to any inquiry as to whether there was ever any question of corruption in the police department he replied:

"No; none whatever as far as the higher officers are concerned. The individual men, however, may be bribed occasionally. For instance, if I were to walk on the grass in the Grosse garten and a policeman caught me at it I would give him a mark or two, and that would end the matter."

Crushed.

The late Sir Charles Hammond was addressing a meeting during a general election, at which he was a seat in Newcastle, when a man interrupted him. "Get per 'ale out, Chawles" he shouted.

Sir Charles, who was a magistrate, calmly adjusted his glasses and straightened the interrupter by saying, "My friend, if I am not mistaken, I have been the means of having your hair cut before today."—London Telegraph.

Chastened.

A Wall street broker, turning the corner of Broad street, saw a friend coming down the steps which lead out of the office of a well known financier. This departing caller had a chastened and bored expression on his handsome face, and the Wall street broker inquired the cause. With thoughtful deliberation his friend replied:

"I just have been experiencing the unconscious insolence of conscious wealth."—New York Press.

THE NEW GOLDEN BUCKET

A few years ago, the recovery of Gold from auriferous grounds and subaqueous beds, was considered impossible. The "pan" and "grizzly," operated by hand, appeared to be the sole method of recovering values. It was during this period that Dr. Linderman, Director of the United States Mint expressed the opinion that he who, could devise a machine, without adding proportionately to the cost of production, capable of saving 50 per cent. of all the placer gold, would not only enrich himself, but within the lives of men still living, would double the world's available gold tribute. The Director of the United States Mint further said:—"WE CAN HARDLY HOPE FOR THIS, THOUGH NO MAN DARE SAY IT IS IMPOSSIBLE."

The perfected modern Dredge, is to-day a substantial reality. Allowing for delays in shifting, for necessary repairs, etc., the Gold Dredge runs on an average about 18 hours out of twenty-four, thus making up in length of working day, loss of operation during winter months. These Dredges are operated in ready made mining areas, recovering millions of dollars annually, at the lowest possible cost.

The Director of the Mint of the United States in his report for 1909 says:

"The Gold Dredge makes money where a cockle would starve."

Cutting Magazine: "When you think that bold inventive talent has been able to devise machinery that makes it profitable to extract ten cents worth of gold from a ton of earth, the enterprise becomes one of the romances of American industry."

"A chain of powerful buckets bite into the earth, each bringing up a tremendous quantity of earth and gravel. These are subjected to screen treatment and the gold recovered."

California in 45 years, within radius of less than ten miles of placer ground, produced $260,000,000 in gold. To-day the vast number of Modern Dredges working over old ground are recovering millions annually.

Former Harvey Man to Hang.

Percy Vickers, who is sentenced to be hanged on Sept. 21st, for the murder of a companion in the woods of Northern Ontario, near Cobalt, was a resident of Harvey township for nearly three years. A portion of that time he was in the employ of Mr. Robert Shaw, reeve of Harvey, and also for several of the Windover brothers. While in Harvey Vickers had a good reputation.

Two Weeks' Holidays For Fire Chief Howard

Ald. Graham Says His Committee are Turned Down on Most Every Question, and Were He Chairman He Would Resign.

The city fathers met in special session last night. There were present, Mayor Morrow, and Aldermen Hicks Duffus, Duncan, Morgan, Butler, Bradburn, Turner, Metheral Graham Batten, Gillespie and Phalen.

FIRE CHIEF'S HOLIDAYS.

Fire Chief Howard wrote, appealing against the action of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, in refusing him his summer holidays and respectfully asking that the council give him two weeks' leave in August so that he could attend the Fire Chiefs' convention to be held at Syracuse. The chief also thought that as he would represent the city at the convention he should be allowed $60 for expenses.

Ald. Butler moved, seconded by Ald. Turner,—That the fire chief be granted two weeks' absence at his own expense.

Ald. Morgan remarked that he had no objection to the chief having two weeks' holidays, but he wished the council to consider seriously for the fire hall. He did not think the present fire brigade sufficiently responsible to be left without a chief in charge. When he (Ald. Morgan), sent in an alarm on Wednesday night only seven men showed up, although earlier in the evening Chief Howard had told the committee he had 12 men at the hall.

Ald. Hicks was in favor of the chief being granted the holidays asked for. He would, however, like the resolution so worded (without overriding the Fire, Water and Light Committee) that a competent force is left at the hall in the chief's absence.

Ald. Graham was strongly of opinion did not consider the brigade capable of handling the situation in Chief Howard's absence.

The Mayor—"Don't you think the deputy chief could [illegible] er.) "I was at the fire hall on Friday night when eleven men were on duty."

Ald. Butler did not think the city would suffer in the chief's absence. Many old members of the brigade would lend a hand should occasion call for assistance, and even the old chief, Mr. Rutherford, had expressed his willingness to help at any time.

Ald. Duffus—"If Chief Howard represents the city at the Fire Chiefs' convention I don't see why his expenses should not be paid the same as those of any other deputation.

The resolution was here voted on and carried, although no notice was taken on the chief's request for $60 for expenses.

$60 EXPENSES FOR CHIEF.

Later on in the evening Ald. Duffus again raised the question of paying Chief Howard's expenses incurred inattending the Fire Chiefs' convention at Syracuse, and moved, seconded by Ald. Batten,—That the fire chief be allowed $60 for expenses in attending the convention of fire chiefs. Carried on the mayors casting vote.

Ald. Graham—"This Fire, Water and Light Committee is turned down on every occasion. We don't get a fair show, and if I was chairman I would resign."

Ald. Morgan asked for the ayes and nays, which resulted again in a tie vote, and his worship once more voted with the ayes, which assured Chief Howard his $60 for expenses.

THE GARBAGE QUESTION.

Ald. Turner moved, seconded by Ald. Duffus,—That the Property Committee be asked to look into the matter respecting [illegible] garbage, define the area, etc. Also to confer with the medical health officer in this question. The committee to report to council.—Carried.

Ald. Morgan remarked that it would be [illegible] garbage question, as the people, after paying their taxes, were often left with sufficient cash with which to purchase enough necessities to create any alarming quantity of garbage.

A communication from S. E. Sails, asking for reconsideration of the judgment against him, re income tax, was referred to the Finance Committee.

HOLIDAYS.

By resolution the city clerk, Mr. Quartermaine and Caretaker Robert Wilson, were each granted two weeks' holidays in August.

Child's Narrow Escape.

An almost fatal accident was, by a hair's breadth averted on Sunday afternoon at the Little Lake. Had not James O'Neill acted promptly, little five year old Helen Carson, daughter of Mr. Robert Carson, Lock street, would have filled a watery grave. Whilst stepping to a boat alongside her father's punt in which she was playing, the child fell into the lake. The child's companion raised lusty cries, which were heard, and the little one was saved just in the nick of time.

The British Medical Congress.

London, July 25.—The great gathering of medical men at the London University have an interesting list of imperial problems whose full discussion will stimulate intelligent public opinion. Emigration and who are the most suitable men for the varied climates of the empire, may raise the delicate question of Canada's prohibition of certain English immigrants who are being deported to prevent the propagation of feeble folk with inherited tendency to disease in the rising communities of the West.

ASTONISHED THE QUEEN.

They Knew Their Bible But Not Their Court Etiquette.

Recently two little girls from London came down to spend the day at Windsor Castle with the little Battenbergs, Queen Victoria's grand children, and it so happened that Her Majesty paid a visit to the nursery and found them there.

The young visitors were taken aback; they had not expected to see the Queen, and had not been instructed how to conduct themselves in the presence of royalty; but they had been well brought up and knew their Bibles, and they thought at once of Daniel before King Darius. They decided that what Daniel had done must be correct, so the pair threw themselves on their faces on the floor at her astonished Majesty's feet, and cried out with a loud voice:

"Oh, Queen, live forever!"

However, this proved an excellent introduction, and presently the Queen and they became great friends. She took one of them on her knee, and all three chatted together in the friendliest way.

"And whereabout in London do you young people live?" asked the Queen.

"Oh, said the little girl on her knee, "we live just opposite W's,"—naming one of the new mammoth stores that had just been opened in London.

"But please won't you tell us where you live when you go to London?" said her little friend.

The Queen looked thoughtful for a moment, and then remembered that in Buckingham Palace road there is also a mammoth store. "Oh," said she, smiling, "when in London I live opposite Gerringe's."

On an Ostrich Farm.

A writer in a recent number of the Boy's Own Paper gives an interesting account of a visit he paid to a South Australian ostrich farms at Port Augusta. The ostriches, he says, were chiefly hatched in incubators. The eggs take 45 to 60 days. The chicks are first fed on bread crumbs, bran, and water. On the fourth day a little enclosure is made round the incubator, and the young are allowed to take exercise. They are then fed on grain, green vegetables, and water. The dangerous age is from birth to three months, after which time they generally live. When the ostrich is seven months old the first crop of feathers is ripe. At 12 months he begins to develop black feathers, and his plumage reaches perfection at the end of three years. The hen ostrich lays from 12 to 20 eggs, but if these are removed she will continue laying like a domestic fowl. One bird has been known to produce 120 eggs annually. Both parents share the duties of incubation. The hen covers the nest during the day, and the cock throughout the night. The chicks are released by the old bird pressing upon the shell with its hard breast. Ostriches are not expensive to keep, because the greater part of the year they find sufficient food in the paddocks, and at other times they only require a little Indian corn or beans and some additional green food, such as lucerne or cabbage.

Russia's Greatest Dancer.

So, by general consent, Mlle. Anna Pavlova, whose wonderful dancing at the Palace Theatre in London has aroused such enthusiasm, has been termed. Mlle. Pavlova, in her infancy, decided to become a dancer. She was taken by her mother to see a ballet. The dancers fascinated her, and she exclaimed, enthusiastically, "Oh, mother, that's what I want to do. I want to be a dancer, too. I must dance. I'll never do anything else when I grow up." And before she was ten she entered the Imperial School of Dancing in St. Petersburg, and studied under M. Petitpas, who danced with Taglioni and the great dancers of the past. And when the curtain fell after her debut the old dancer, who is now ninety-two years of age, put his hand on her head and said: "My child, you are the only woman fit to dance in Taglioni's shoes." so impressed was he with her performance.

"Hard Wood."

Ever since he was a boy at school Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, who recently celebrated his seventy-second birthday, has had a tough time, and often has been called "Hard Wood." At the age of ten he went to Marlborough Grammar School, and then to the college in the same town. Here he received his baptism of "war." It was a riot among the boys, brought about by the prohibition of pyrotechnic displays on the Fifth of November. The culmination was a month of mutiny, during which the head master's desk was burned and great damage done to the premises. Young Wood was flogged, fined $10, and given 300 lines of Latin to learn by heart.

Gladstone Talks Dutch.

Lord Gladstone, the first Governor-General of South Africa, left London recently to take up his new duties. The large party which gave him a rousing send-off, included a number of Dutchmen. So much progress has Lord Gladstone made in learning Dutch that he was able to converse with them in their own tongue and to promise of his policy in South Africa that "Alles zal recht kommen" (the Dutch proverb, "All shall come right").

A Moist Show.

A catchy unrehearsed act took place at a London music hall the other night. When the fireproof curtain was about to be lowered, a stage hand new to the work pulled the wrong handle with the result that the water sprinkler was set in motion. The stage was swamped, the orchestra receiving a shower bath, to the considerable amusement of the audience.

Pursuer Shoots Friend.

Extraordinary excitement prevailed over the pursuit of the escaped prisoner Powelka, who has been terrorizing the Manawatu district of New Zealand. Scores of armed men were out in pursuit of the robber. One of the searchers, by an unfortunate accident, shot another member of the pursuing party, who died of the injuries received.

Mrs. Joseph Trussler and children have returned from a pleasant visit with friends in Rochester, N.Y.

PROFIT SHARING SCHEME.

How Labor and Capital Co-Operate In England.

London, July 25.—The improvement in the volume of our staple trade is necessarily increasing the demand of the workers for an advance in wages, and thus once more drawing public attention to the problem of profit sharing between capital and labor. It is interesting to notice that in serveral of the largest industrial concerns in England the difficulty is being solved by a permanent system like that adopted by the great steel and shipbuild firm of Armstrong, Whitworth & Co., Ltd., of Newcastle on Tyne. This firm has an employes' bank, and the savins ranging from one shilling to £1 asked of each man, is deducted from the wages and deposited and a fixed rate of interest paid to each workman. Those who keep thier savings in the company's business, get in addition to the interest a bonus once a year equal to half the difference between the four per cent. interest and the dividend payable on the shares of the workers. Thus the workers are induced to take a proprietary interest in the concern, whose latest, balance sheet shows £230,000 of its capital held by workmen, who are never tempted to leave the works and go on strike. This system applied to smaller businesses might be equally attractive ro employers anns workers, for trade disputes are thus impossible and thrift and croncemy are made the bulwark of capital and labor alike.

Mr. J. J. Lundy's New Offices.

The business and business movements of a prosperous and popular citizen, especially those of a former ex-M.P.P., and mayor, must of necessity be of interest to the community. Those clearly watching business events in Peterborough may have noticed that Mr. J. J. Lundy the ex-local official, as noted, and well-known capitalist, is undergoing what the average householder has to suffer every spring when the latter's wife, towel on head and upturned sleeves, undertakes "house cleaning." By this is meant that Mr. Lundy is changing the location of his old offices on Water street, near the post office, to new quarters at 93 Hunter street, just in front of St. John's church. Here Mr. Lundy and his numerous clients, instead of having to climb a flight of stairs, as of yore, will enter offices on the ground floor. The front office will be occupied by Mr. D. J. Lundy. To the rear, separated by an ornamental opaque glass partition, will be Mr. J. J. Lundy's private office, with a fire and burglar proof vault attached. It is exported that Messrs Lundy Bros. will complete their change of location on Saturday. This change of location will result in the saving of considerable time and trouble on the part of both Mr. Lundy and his clients.

Chief to Investigate

Yesterday afternoon two local merchants called at the police station and had an interview with Chief Thompson regarding the evening meetings of the local Salvation Army. These merchants contended that the stand on Simcoe street, usually occupied by the Salvation Army interferes with general business. They thought that the Army meeting could, for the benefit of that association be just as well and much better for Simcoe and George street merchants be held at the south-east corner, as the Dominion Bank there is closed at night, and thus no one, directly concerned, would suffer. Chief Thompson promised to investigate the matter.

WANTED IN CANADA.

Farm Laborers of Better Class to Be Imported.

London, July 25.—It appears the problem of finding employment for lads after they have served as telegraph messengers at the G.P.O. has suggested the emigration of the lads when they have reached the age for men's work. The vacancies that occurr for postmen number about 600 annually, whereas the boy messengers taken on every year number nearly 2,000. Thus the G.P.O. is sending adript in our cities a vast army of unskilled labor. Now, however, there is a chance of these stalwart lads of respectable character being saved for the colonies. Heretofore the passage money has been the chief deterrent, and it is good news that the Canadian Government will receive those who are suitable for farming to the number of 25 every month for a start and place them in situations on farms. This enterprise is also favored by the Australian government established for the emigration of a large body of desirable settlers who will be saved from the misery of our large cities.

To Pave George and Charlotte Streets with Asphalt Block

NOTICE TO THIS EFFECT WILL BE GIVEN THE RATEPAYERS WHO WILL HAVE ONE MONTH IN WHICH TO OPPOSE MEASURE.

Ratepayers and Tenants Who Pay Taxes on a Lease Extending Over Ten Years Have a Voice in This Matter.

The city fathers, last night agreed by resolution to give notice of their intention to pave George street from the C.P.R. station to Melbourne street, and Charlotte street, from [illegible] with asphalt block. This work to be paid for in ten yearly installments, and on a basis of 60 per cent. frontage tax against the ratepayers directly affected, and 40 per cent by general tax, the interesting streets to come under the latter basis, which really makes the system for payment a 50 and 50 per cent. one. This pavement will cost $2.75 per square yard.

By provision of the Municipal Act City Engineer Hay reported on this question, recommending the foregoing, which was adopted. The city fathers, however, decided the matter of taxation, which was not within the engineer's jurisdiction. The council will give notice of their intention to undertake the work this year, and ratepayers and tenants with leases extending over ten years and who pay taxes, will have one month from the date of first publication of such notice to record any objection to the measure. A majority of the ratepayers and leaseholders appealing against this proposition will stop proceedings, so they have the matter in their own hands.

This measure did not go through without strong opposition from Ald. Morgan and Buller. The latter offered that the committee had not reported on granite block paving used largely in Toronto, the material from which is at Stony Lake, practically at our own doors. He contended that that this would make a satisfactory and suitable pavement, and should be resorted to giving employment to our own people instead of sending to Windsor for asphalt block.

Ald. Hicks was not [illegible] by pavement unless satisfactory to council. He did not think Ald. Butler's suggestion practicable. We have not the plant for quarrying the granite mentioned.

Ald Butler warmed the whole question up on the table and for year. "Taxes are high enough now," he remarked.

Ald. Morgan said the majority of the council would reject the proje- down unless paid for by a straight [illegible] tax.

Ald. Bradburn opposed a straight frontage tax. Merchants are not going to be exclusively benefitted. In- [illegible] derive much [illegible] benefit from the pavement.

Ald Buller moved, seconded by Ald. Morgan.—That no action be taken this year.—Lost, only mover and seconder in favor of motion.

Ald Turner asked if the condition of George and Charlotte streets would warrant the city taking another years service out of them without traffic suffering to any extent. Ald. Hicks did not think so.

Ald Metheral offered ring granite block pavement in Rochester had proven highly satisfactory and durable.

Ald. Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Duffus.—That asphalt blocks be Duffus.—That asphalt block pavement be used.—Carried.

Ald Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Duffus.—That the basis of payment be 60 and 40 per cent. [illegible] sidewalk.—Carried.

Ald Morgan moved, seconded by Ald. Graham, in amendment.—That the pavement be paid for by straight frontage tax.—Lost, only the mover and seconder voting for it.

Ald Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Duffus.—That this work be paid for in ten yearly payments.—Carried.

Wm. Hamilton Co... ... ...$1 00

SERVICE.

Baltimore, Md., July 23:—Many congratulatory messages were received at the archi-episcopal residence to-day to remind Cardinal Gibbons of his seventy-sixth birthday anniversary. Among the clergy and laity of the archdiocese plans are already being discussed for an elaborate celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his elevation to the cardinalate.

Grand Trunk Bureau in London.

A part of the magnificent Headquarter's Building recently built by the Grand Trunk System on Cockspur street, London, is to be devoted to the Bureau, through which is to be distributed information concerning Canada. The Standard of Empire calls it "A new Canadian Commercial Embassy."

Above the main offices of the Grand Trunk are spacious rooms set apart for this work. Here visitors may rest and read the news of the Empire, ask questions and receive expert advice about the Dominion of Canada.

A NEW SCHEME.

Co-Partnership Houses to Be Erected in Canada.

London, July 25.—Mr. Herbert Vivian, M.P., who has been so prominently associated with the garden city movement and as chairman of the Co-partnership Tenants' Association has interested Earl Grey and other other public men in Canada in the great social reform of town planning, which would save the new towns which are pouring up all over the Dominion from the slums which are such a serious evil in the old country. Mr. Vivian sails for Canada as soon as parliament rises, and it is expected in the autumn he will launch an organization in Canada for the spread of tenants' co-partnership which should prove the greatest blessing to the new country.

"FEELS LIKE A NEW WOMAN."

Years of Ill Health Cured.

..."Like many another woman," writes Mrs. J. H. Hilliard of Ashland, N.Y., "continued weakness caused by poor stomach and constipation led me to believe I would always be sick. It was Mrs. Ryan, my neighbor, who advised me to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills and it was the means of teaching me 'It is never too late to mend.' I am rather a small woman, always pale, except when my skin becomes a muddy yellow. I never had much of an appetite because my digestion was never very good and still worse my system was seldom regular. Mrs. Ryan had become healthy and well with Dr. Hamilton's Pills and kept telling me that they would fix my system so it would work well too. Certainly Dr. Hamilton's Pills must have made right all that was wrong, because I weigh ten pounds more than ever before and feel fine. If you could see my rosy color and watch how quickly I do my housework. I am sure you would think just as much of Dr. Hamilton's Pills as I do. They are a real fine medicine for women and like as not would do a man just as much good too."

There is no remedy for general use in the home to make you well when sick, to keep you from getting sick—so medicine with half the merit of Dr. Hamilton's Pills—see you get so, all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

RAILWAY BOARD MAY INTERFERE IN G.T.R. STRIKE

Toronto, April 23.—"Immediate action should be taken by the Dominion Railway Board for the protection of the lives of the traveling public, said J. G. O'Donoghueof the Conciliation Board on recent trouble "Mr. Mackenzie King has at least tried to do something. Where is the Railway Board? Are the members on vacation? I do not desire to say a word which would interfere with a possible settlement, but the running of freight trains by incompetent men, if they do not know enough to protect their own trains, would make collision enevitable.

"It will be too late for the public safety to delay investigations until after collisions have occurred with probably loss of life. The safety of the traveling public is of far more importance than the profit and loss in the freight. The Railway Board should take the initiative before accidents occurred.

"It is no time for tea part procedure, such as waiting to be invited in. The charge is being openly made that the trains are undermanned, and incompetently manned. The Railway Board should meet at once; there is no time for delay.

In labor circles yesterday the refusal of the Grand Trunk strikers to go into further arbitration proceedings unless with the arbitrators they had named, was heartily endorsed. One of them said: "The Grand Trunk does not carry out in good faith the awards of boards. There was one appointed under the railway disputes act, the act under which Mr. Hays suggested another board, between the Grand Trunk and the telegraphers, which reported several years ago and the company has not yet put that board's findings into effect.

"The same is the case in relation to the findings of the board of which Mr. Atkinson was chairman.

"In the present dispute the company has not accepted the recommendations of the Conciliation Board. The three recommendations were that in view of the fact that the C.P.R. paid a 40 per cent. higher scale, the Grand Trunk should adopt a similar standard. Mr. Hays gave as a substitute an offer of 16 per cent.

"The Conciliation Board also called for a mileage basis, instead of a monthly, which Mr. Hays declines to accede to. Under these circumstances it is no wonder the men hesitate to go into another arbitration."

SCOTTISH HOME RULE.

Steps to this End Now Being Taken in Britain.

London, July 25.—The Scottish Steps to this end now being taken in Estimates are to be discussed in the House of Commons, and it is significant of the desire in Scotland for Local Self-Government that on the Monday preceding the debate a meeting of Scottish members will pass a resolution recommending the formation of a permanent National Committee to deal with local affairs. Thus it is clear that Dissolution is not claimed for Ireland alone, and that in the future the Imperial Parliament will deal with imperia, questions and that local parliaments will control the purely local affairs of distant parts of the Kingdom remote from London.

KILLED IN A FIRE.

Three Hundred Tenement Dwellers Driven Out by New York Fire.

New York, July 21.—One person was killed, another is missing, and 300 tenement dwellers were driven from their homes in a panic as the result of a fire which early today burned out the three upper floors of a seven-storey building at Lewis and Rivington streets, near the Manhattan end of the Williamsburg bridge. The dead man was Parrish Eged, a watchman, whose burned body was found on the sixth floor.

Miss Salome Soucie of Brooklyn, N.Y., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. T. J. Douris, Cedar street.

NERVILINE.

Fifty years ago Nerviline was used from coast to coast and in thousands of homes this trusty liniment served the entire family, cured all their minor ills and kept the doctor's bill small. Today Nerviline still holds first rank in Canada among pain-relieving remedies — scarcely a home you can find that doesn't use it.

TESTIMONIAL NO. 4986

From Port Hope, Ont., Mr. W. T. Greenway, of the Guide newspaper staff, writes: "For twenty years we have used Nerviline in our home, and not for the world would we be without it. As a remedy for all pain, earache, toothache, cramps, headache and disordered stomach, I know of no preparation so useful and quick to relieve as Nerviline."

Let every mother give Nerviline a trial; it's good for children, good for old folks—you can rub it on as a liniment or take it internally.

Wherever there is pain, Nerviline will cure it. Refuse anything but Nerviline, 25c. per bottle, five for $1.00, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

A SEASONABLE HINT.

The London "Canadian Gazette" calls the attention of British manufacturers who are desirous of extending their trade in Canada to the methods of their rivals in the United States to secure a share of Canadian business. There is no doubt that the manufacturers and merchants in Great Britain could with advantage to themselves study the manner in which our neighbors on the other side of the Boundary endeavor to overcome the obstacle of a high tariff and the lower cost of production possible to their Canadian competitors by the cheaper cost of living in the Dominion. British manufacturers have advantages over their American rivals in several particulars, but at the same time can get some "pointers" by a study of the latters' methods.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for a case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

A PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT ARRANGED SAYS MR. JAS. MURDOCK, THE MEN'S REPRESENTATIVE—A FEW MINOR POINTS TO BE SETTLED.

Montreal, July 21. — Yesterday your correspondent was authorized to state by Mr. J. W. Leonard, general manager of the C.P.R., that the conference with Mr. Murdock, vice-president of Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, which was still in progress late this afternoon, would result in an amicable understanding with the C.P.R. and its employes.

He said that the standard scale of wages had already been agreed upon and that only a few minor points remained to be settled. He believed that both parties would arrive at a complete and satisfactory understanding before they adjourned this evening. The company and men have carried on negotiations with a mark ed lack of kindly relations and both were eager to avoid trouble.

At the conclusion of the first part of today's conference between the C.P.R. officials and Mr. James Murdock, for the C.P.R. trainmen, Mr. Murdock stated that a peaceful settlement was at last arranged. Only a few minor points of difference remained and the company seemed willing to make concessions.

In despair the mother and daughters walked to an immense precipice known as the Mouth of Hell, at the bottom of which there is a whirlpool, and the mother and two daughters threw themselves over into the sea.

The youngest daughter, who was hesitating, was seized by a spectator of the tragedy, who rushed to the spot and took her away.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or insider nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the oddly sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

RESULT OF CHARITY.

MACON, Ga., July 22—Shortly before the Klondyke gold boom, W. X. Miller, a motorman, met J. P. Carley, a miner, stranded and without funds. He took him in, fed him, and gave him money to pay his fare as far as Birmingham.

That was the last he ever heard of Carley until yesterday, when he received word the miner had died in Dawson City, Alaska, and left him a fortune estimated at $500,000.

Remember, you are free to accept me by letter or from yourself your home physician. Let me know and finally—if you choose, My address and the book below are yours—and without cost. Perhaps a card or two from me will clear up some puzzling ailments. I have helped thousands right in the privacy of my private consultation or personal advice plan.

Besides, the books will open up new and helpful ideas to you. They tell of my 3 point method and what it has done for others. All plainly explained. Then, if you have decided to try me, I'll give the Dr. Shoop Restorative treatment. Remember, this is no "patent medicine" dose. It is not a stimulant. Nor a habit forming drug. Miss Connie Gordon of Rochester, N.Y., returned home yesterday after noon after a three weeks' visit with Miss F. Pearce, Walton street.

TOOK HIM AT HIS WORD.
Don Platt's Client Had a Stunted Sense of Humor.

A quaint story about Don Platt is told in the "Recollections of a Varied Life," by George Cary Eggleston. The story is given in Mr. Platt's own words:

"When I was a young man trying to get into a law practice in Ohio and eager to advertise myself by appearing in court a fellow was indicted for arson. He came to me, explaining that he had no money with which to pay a lawyer, but that he thought I might like to appear in a case so important and that if I would do the best I could for him he stood ready to do anything for me that he could by way of recompense. I took the case, of course. It was a complex one, and it offered opportunities for browbeating and 'bulldozing' witnesses—a process that specially impresses the public with the capacity of a lawyer who does it successfully. Then, if by any chance I should succeed in acquitting my client, my place at the bar would be assured as that of 'a sharp young feller who had beaten the prosecuting attorney himself.'

"But in telling my client I would take his case the demon of humor betrayed me. Just across the street from my lodging was a negro church, and there was a 'revival' going on at the time. They 'revived' till 2 o'clock or later every night with shoutings that interfered with my sleep. With playful impulse I said to the accused man:

"'You seem to be an expert in the arts of arson. If you'll burn that negro church I'll feel that you have paid me full price for my service in defending you.'

"I defended him, and as the witnesses against him were all of shady character I succeeded in securing his acquittal. About 4 o'clock the next morning a fire broke out under all four corners of that negro church, and before the local fire department got a quart of water into action it was a heap of smoldering ashes, hymn books and all. A week or so later I received a letter from my ex-client. He wrote from St. Louis, 'on his way west,' he said. He expressed the hope that I was 'satisfied with results' and begged me to believe that he was a man of honor, who never failed to repay an obligation or reward a service.'"

FIRST PICTURE BOOK.
The Daring Idea That Was Carried Out by Johann Comenius.

Some 300 years ago a German savant had a wonderful vision. At that time children were taught to read by force of arms, so to speak, through hardships and with bitter toil on the part of teacher and of child. It seems curious that the first real step toward lightening the labor of children as they climb the ladder of learning was the product of the imagination not of some fond mother or gentlewoman teacher, but of a bewigged and bestilted university doctor.

It was Johann Comenius, however, who first conceived the daring idea that children could be taught by the aid of the memory and the imagination working together, "by means," as he quaintly expressed it, "of sensuous impressions conveyed to the eye, so that visual objects may be made the medium of expressing moral lessons to the young mind and of impressing these lessons upon the memory." In other words, the good burr doctor had the bright idea that picture books could be useful to children. Comenius made his first picture book and called it the "Orbis Pictus." It contains rude woodcuts representing objects in the natural world, as trees and animals, with little lessons about the pictures. It is a quaint volume and one that would cause the average modern child not a little astonishment were it placed before him.

An truly, however, as that term may be applied to any other book that has since been written, the "Orbis Pictus" was an epoch making book. It is the precursor of all children's picture books, and modern childhood has great cause to bless the name of Comenius.

Not the Same Spelling.

A smart man had recourse to a doctor to see whether something could not be done to reduce his size. "It's a disgrace, doctor!" he cried. "Just look at this hay window of mine! Now, what would you advise?"

"Well," replied the physician, eying his waist line, "all I can suggest is to diet."

"All right, doctor, I'm willing. What color would you suggest?"—St. Louis Republic.

A Pious Wish.

It was in a city hospital that a man refused to undergo an operation for appendicitis until his minister could be present.

"What do you want the minister here for?" asked the surgeon.

THE NEW GOLDEN BUCKET
A few years ago, the recovery of Gold from auriferous grounds and subaqueous beds, was considered impossible. The "pan" and "primitive," operated by hand, appeared to be the sole method of recovering values. It was during this period that Dr. Lindermann, Director of the United States Mint expressed the opinion that he who could devise a machine, without adding proportionately to the cost of production, capable of saving 50 per cent. of all the placer gold, would not only enrich himself, but within the lives of men still living, would double the world's available gold supply. The Director of the United States Mint further said:—"WE CAN HARDLY HOPE FOR THIS, THOUGH NO MAN DARE SAY IT IS IMPOSSIBLE."

The perfected modern Dredge, is to-day a substantial reality. Allowing for delays in shifting, for necessary repairs, etc., the Gold Dredge runs on an average about 16 hours out of twenty-four, thus making up in length of working day, loss of operation during winter months. These Dredges are operated in ready made mining areas, recovering millions of dollars annually, at the lowest possible cost.

The Director of the Mint of the United States in his report for 1909 says:

"The Gold Dredge makes money where a cookie would starve."

Outing Magazine: "When you think that bold inventive talent has been able to devise machinery that makes it profitable to extract ten cents worth of gold from a ton of earth, the enterprise becomes one of the romances of American industry."

"A chain of powerful buckets bite into the earth, each bringing up a tremendous quantity of earth and gravel. These are subjected to screen treatment and the gold recovered."

California in 45 years, within radius of less than ten miles of placer ground, produced $200,000,000 in gold. To-day the vast number of Modern Dredges working over old ground are recovering millions annually.

THE CANADIAN ATLANTIC SERVICE.

The competition between the different companies in the steamship service between Canada and the United Kingdom is likely to lead to great improvements in it. The passenger accommodation has been greatly improved during recent years, and now with larger and faster vessels that the companies are putting on, the time occupied in crossing the Atlantic is likely to be considerably shortened. There are advantages in the shorter distance of the Canadian route as compared with that to New York, and with vessels having a speed approaching that of the vessels on the southern route, as much larger volume of trade will be secured. The mail service will, of course, be similarly improved, and while the time occupied in the transmission of a letter between London and Montreal, will be reduced by twenty-four or thirty hours, the greater number of sailings will probably give one or two additional mails weekly—a great advantage to business.

PORCUPINE CITY

THE PORCUPINE BOOM has started. The district is proven. It is to-day the greatest Gold Camp in the world.

With a present population of over 5,000 in the district, which will increase to 15,000 or 20,000 before the snow falls, the opportunities for rapid growth of the Camp's business centre are self-apparent.

PORCUPINE CITY

The Townsite has already the "Porcupine Post Office," two Banks, one 75-room Hotel, general stores, hardware stores, hospital, a drug store, bakery, theatorium, laundry, several office buildings, and numerous boarding houses and dwellings.

Townsite lots worth to-day from $60.00 to $300.00 should treble in value by Christmas, and be worth many times this amount within the next year or two.

SUDBURY, COBALT, HAILEYBURY and NORTH BAY have returned fortunes to the original investors in their real estate when these towns were young. They thrived on the returns from the baser metals—copper and silver.

VOL. XXXI NO. 171 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO WEDNESDAY JULY 27 1910 PRICE TWO CENTS

Regulars Leave for Brockville Yesterday Afternoon at 4.45

Toronto, July 26.—Fifty soldiers in heavy marching order this afternoon at 4.45 boarded the regular Grand Trunk express for Brockville.

A train crew could not be secured in time to operate a special.

Major Carpenter issued to the men on General Cotton's instructions, five thousand rounds of ball cartridge.

"We will use only bayonets until forced to do otherwise," said Major Carpenter, "and will not shoot until the local magistrate or mayor has read the riot act."

"I do not anticipate any serious trouble," he added. "Ball cartridge is of little use in riot emergencies."

The men are taking one day's rations, and after that provision for their accommodation will be secured locally.

ARMED WITH ROSS RIFLE.

The men are armed with the Ross rifle. They are in heavy marching order.

At 2.45 the troops lined up, and were inspected. The serious and determined faces indicated that they were prepared to do their duty, however unpleasant it may be.

Major Carpenter, who will be in command of the troops from Toronto, will be assisted by Captain Carlin, and Lieutenant Gillman. This is the fourth strike Major Carlin has been called to. The first was at the "Soo," when the Lake Superior strike was on; the second was the Toronto Street Railway, and the third was the London Street Railway.

They are wearing khaki uniforms, with campaign equipment, including water bottles. A military cartload of provisions are also being sent with them.

WHAT GENERAL COTTON SAID.

When General Cotton was interviewed this afternoon, he said:

"We received a request from Colonel Leonard, adjutant-general of the Canadian militia, this afternoon, asking us to send fifty troops to Brockville. All we could do was to obey instructions. I ordered Major Carpenter to prepare to go at once, and rations for a day. He has done so."

That was all General Cotton would say. The men were at the rifle ranges, but on receipt of the request were brought in and equipped for the journey as soon as possible.

CITY SAYS COUNCIL IS WASTEFUL.

Citizen Claims Taxes are Soaring and Must Stop.

To the Editor of the Times:—

The burden of taxation is becoming unbearable in Peterborough, and unless the citizens form a strong association to put a sharp check upon the extravagance of the Council, we may as well all sell out and leave. Take one instance among many: A short time ago when the Council wanted to find out something about the streets of other cities, the Mayor and Engineer and six lay members of the Council had to form the delegation; one would suppose that the Mayor and Engineer would be quite competent to see the streets and make an intelligent report. But our Council seems to go on the principle, that the more cost, the more honour.

These gentlemen began their trek westward about the same time the Doukabors started for the east. There was a marked difference, however, between the two pilgrimages. Whereas the Doukabors were stark naked and crazy, our pilgrims were clothed and in their right minds.

And when the bunch of eight sat around a sumptuous table in the big hotels (at the expense of the taxpayers) they were all happy, and looked as wise as a whole treetull of owls. But seriously, some legislations seems to be necessary to make such reckless waste of the people's money an indictable offence.

TAX PAYER.

It is claimed that in a matter of this kind involving the expenditure of many thousands of dollars, the members of the Council, who are called upon to give an intelligent vote on the question, must perforce be possessed of all facts and figures necessary to enable them to do so.—Ed. Times.

Funeral of the Late Mrs. Metheral.

The late Mrs. Wilt Metheral has been laid to rest in Little Lake cemetery. Rev. Mr. Pogue officiated at the obsequies. Mr. Metheral's friends in the 57th Regiment, as well as numerous other friends, sent floral tributes. Out of town mourners were W. C. Metheral and William Thompson, of Rochester; W. Howard and Mr. and Mrs. Clarke, Toronto; Mr. Mellwain, Balls. Muskoka, Wm. Thorndyke, Port Hope; Mrs. Stewart, Denver, Col.; Miss William son, Toronto; Miss Dennis, Palmyra, N.Y.; Mr. Williamson, Millbrook.

Death of Otonabee Citizen.

A highly respected citizen of Otonabee, Mr. Joseph Gallipeau, 58 years of age, died yesterday morning, after a lingering illness. The deceased was born in Perth, and came to this country in his youth, settling in the township of Otonabee, concession 10, where he resided at the time of his death. The funeral will take place at 11 o'clock this morning.

COMPANY CLAIMS 72 FREIGHT TRAINS ARE MOVING OUT OF A NORMAL OF ABOUT 830

THE CITY AMUSED.

Clever Comedians at the Royal Makes the People of Peterborough Laugh.

Without doubt the proprietor of the Royal Theater has the faculty of procuring talent for his vaudeville stage that is of exceptional merit. For today five high class comedians put on, not only soul stirring vocal music, but an act that that would make a blue spotted china dog laugh. The man who will not have to laugh when he hears and and sees this musical comedy is a subject for the undertaker. New moving pictures of the best make are clearly shown. Catchy songs by the moving picture world nightingale, Mr. Victor Loftus. Admission to the Royal, daytime 5c, evenings, owing to the increased expense of producing this show 10 cents.

Rumor says that Mr. N. Kilgour caught a 24-pound lunge yesterday morning.

GOLD AND COPPER.

Two Metals That Have Made and Will Make Millions for Many.

In these days of strenuous business competition, people of moderate means naturally seek safe investment for their funds where safety and good interest are assured. Possibly this desideratum is best obtained by investment in good mining property. In another column of this issue may be seen the advertisement of the ing Co. This company owns one of Black Hill Anaconda Mining & Millthe most promising copper and gold properties—the very centre of the richest mining sections on the continent. It is interesting to note that within the first four months of this year 101 American Mines and Metal logical companies, disbursed over $25,492,066 dividends. Of this vast sum copper properties contributed over one half the amount. The Anaconda Company is offering for a short time a limited amount of stock, fully paid and non-assessable, at 25c per share, worth $1.00. For full particulars address John Donaldson, Secretary-Treasurer, 84 Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

BATTLE TO A FINISH IS THE WAY G.T.R. STRIKE IS SIZED UP.

Company Maintains Strike is Over, and the Men are Confident of Winning—Will Not Accede a Point—Will Make up a List.

Montreal, July 26.— The strike is one week old, and after an interview with the leaders of both sides it looks much as though the dove of peace had taken permanent roosting place in the highest tree in the Dominion of Canada.

Once upon a time a college professor asked an ultra clever student what would happen if an irresistible force struck an immovable body. The student thought a moment and replied: "I am not sure, probably a very interesting development of by-products."

That is the worst of the strike. One can never tell just who is going to get hurt worst, or in other words what the by-product will be.

The Grand Trunk does not admit that there is a strike in progress any more. The attitude they take is that a number of men have peacefully left their service, and that they are now engaged in filling their positions as rapidly as possible. This may look like a theoretical difference merely, but it has its practical side as well. Suppose the men do not win out, and they want to come back, they will be received as new men, hiring themselves for service. This is all right for the brakemen and yardmen, nearly all young fellows, but it is a different matter for the conductors. They are practically all middle-aged men, and on the Eastern division at least, they do not engage any men over fifty years of age. The same rule, or one very similar, obtains in the other divisions.

A PROTRACTED FIGHT.

Unless a new factor crops up, or one side or the other weakens suddenly, there is no alternative in sight but a protracted fight.

It would be a big fight if it were for nothing but the men at the head of the opposing forces.

On the one side, Mr. Hays, keen, alert, a masterly railroad man, resourceful, resolute now with his back to the wall, his black eyebrows contracted over his piercing eyes, his closed mouth bringing the sparse black beard aggressively up and out. E. H. Fitzhugh, grey haired, polished, a master of tact and diplomacy, with the ready smile following the well chosen words, sitting with his eye on the steam gauge and his hand on the throttle of the whole system from the Atlantic to the Great Lakes, in momentary communication with the chief by word of mouth.

BERRY AND MURDOCK.

On the other hand, "Sam" Berry, head of the conductors, massive, deliberate, slow of speech, diplomatic in the extreme, the representative of the conservative element among the strikers, slow of action, but powerful as a mogul freight engine, thought fully backing up his statements with sheafs of neat documents, his smooth shaven face more given to kindly smiling, but capable of dropping into resolute line once a decision is taken. Finally, "Jim" Murdock, the idol of the younger fellows, the striking brakemen, baggagemen and yardmen. He it is who has been in the spotlight since active trouble began. There is nothing of the typical blatant agitator about Murdock, nothing of the soap box "wage slave" type, a ready, facile talker, using the right word for the right idea, not given to sensationalism, holding his young blood in check before the temptation to say startling things, speaking slowly through half shut teeth, brushing back his long hair with his well kept hand, the product of the better school of labor man, never indulging in personal abuse of his opponents, deerying violence, holding a position of enormous responsibility, sleeping four hours a night or less—he is one of the most interesting figures in the contest. Something of a dreamer, one imagines again in the turmoil and shock of things, where men's very lives depend on his decision, and where the whole lives of many of the little children of today may be influenced by his word, his is a position that few will envy.

Then there is the enormous wealth of the company on the one hand, its prestige, its organization, pitted against the large organization and wealth of the International Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. Neither can afford to lose, yet one or the other must.

"From what machine will a god descend to untie this knot.

According to Mr. Brownlee's summary the total number of freight trains run by the company yesterday was seventy-two.

WHAT MR. MURDOCK SAYS.

"If you wish an accurate statement of just what the Grand Trunk is really doing in the matter of moving freight I will try and have a list ready tomorrow," said Mr. Murdock to a reporter yesterday. "We are in a position to give just as accurate information as the Grand Trunk is, and we will be able to show you that the company is not telling the truth when it gives out the list that it has been giving."

"For purpose of arguing, let us admit that they did run twenty-eight freight yesterday, as they say they did in the division. They did not move any more on the other divisions, and I calculate that their entire freight list on an ordinary busy day would be about 800 trains. So you can see that we are not far out in our statement when we say that they are not handling two per cent. of their business.

DUMMY TRAINS.

"Then there is another thing that we can prove, that some of the trains sent out were simply dummies. One 'train' which left here yesterday consisted of an empty stock car, and they call it a freight train. That's about how much truth there is in that caintention. This morning I have a telegram from Chicago saying that only one train left there for the East yesterday, and that none came in."

A deputation of Central Vermont strikers arrived in Montreal yesterday afternoon to talk over the situation. There is a rumor of trouble with the engineers and firemen on that line, as they are not paid according to the Grand Trunk schedule but Mr. Murdock did not care to discuss this question, preferring that the representatives of the engineers on that road should give any information that it is desired should be given. Negotiations are now being carried on between the company and these engineers at present.

A Revolution is Brewing in Spain

Barcelona, via Cerbero, Franco-Spanish frontier, July 26.—Owing to the report of governament spies that a bloody revolution is imminent, 10,000 troops and 2,000 additional gendarmes, armed with rifles and riot cartrides, today occupy strategical positions all along the city of Barcelona, which is practically under martial law, although the constitution has not yet been suspended.

Reinforcements, consisting of trained veterans, are being held in readiness to rush into the city from Saragossa and Valencia at a moment's notice. Troop trains, with engines always under steam, are on the tracks in the two former cities, and the soldiers are being held in their barracks.

Mrs. J. C. Turnbull's Sister Here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. James, of Vancouver, B.C., arrived in the city yesterday, per C.P.R. They will spend a week or so with friends in the city. Mrs. James, who is a sister of Mr. J. C. Turnbull, a former prominent dry goods man of Peterborough, left this city a quarter of a century ago, and for some time lived in Manitoba. While in that Province a romance was in evidence and Miss Turnbull became the bride of Mr. James. Mrs. James, in conversation with The Times, noted that Mr. J. C. Turnbull is now living in Vancouver, having retired from business and living on the interest of his money.

PROTESTING AGAINST CHINA SENDING AN ARMY TO THE INDIAN FRONTIER.

The Forces Increased — Additions Made to British Garrison Along the Thibetan Frontier.

London, July 26.—Strong reinforcements, reported from Simla as joining the British garrisons along the Thibetan frontier, leave no doubt that the government is anxious over the danger of Chinese aggression against India. At the same time that it is strengthening its own forces, England is protesting to China because the latter is doing the same thing.

"His majesty's government is unable to believe," explained Foreign Minister Sir Edward Grey, in a recent letter directing England's representative at Pekin to warn China, "that the presence of a large Chinese army on the frontier can be required for simple police duty."

What England most fears is that China will attempt to seize the three border States, Nepal, Sikkim and Bhutan, which, because of their friendliness toward England, have been allowed to maintain nominal independence under their Hindoo princes, but subject to British supervision.

ADMINISTRATIVE CHANGES.

Sir Edward Grey covered this matter very closely in his letter to Pekin, by saying:

"We cannot allow any administrative changes in Thibet to affect or prejudice the integrity of Nepal or the other two smaller States, and we are prepared if necessary to protect the interests and rights of these three States."

Sir Edward did not take the trouble to conceal the fact that he considers China's proceedings in connection with the Llama's country as suspicious.

"You should press the Chinese government," he wrote to his Pekin representative, "to send strict orders to their local officers to co-operate with our officers in a friendly manner, since without such friendly relations, of which there has recently been a marked absence, friction between the two governments is bound to rise."

In the meantime, according to the Simla advices, Chinese are fairly pouring into Thibet, evidently determined to secure their position there, and to make it in fact, as well as in theory, absolutely subject to Chinese rule.

Chief Howard to Our Aid.

Our readers may, even with a shadow of right, object to the comparitively scanty amount of local news in yesterday's issue. Our chief linotype machine broke down during the night. At the late hour the accident occurred, our operators telephoned everywhere for a capable machinist. Fortunately they thought of Fire Chief Howard, knowing him to be an expert machinist. Chief Howard, very kindly came to our assistance. The consequence was that our readers were enabled to get their paper though in a somewhat diminished shape.

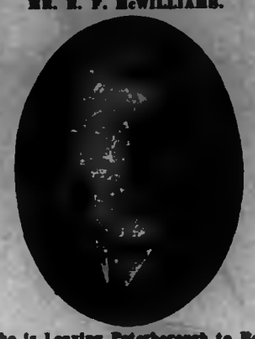
Local Lawyer to Leave For Winnipeg, Man.

MR. R. F. McWILLIAMS.



Who is Leaving Peterborough to Reside in the West.

Ex-Mayor R. F. McWilliams Decides to Cast in His Lot With the Growing West.

Peterborough is about to lose one of its brightest and most progressive citizens in the person of ex-mayor R. F. McWilliams, who has decided to remove to Winnipeg and engage in his profession in the western metropolis. Mr. McWilliams will join the firm of Aikens, Robeson, Fullerton and Coyne, which is one of the strongest firms in the province of Manitoba, and in which a vacancy has just been created by the appointment of Mr. Robson to the High Court Bench. He will leave to take up his new work in the second week of August.

It would be impossible to recount all of the many ways in which Mr. McWilliams, or "Rollie" as he is known to thousands here, has taken a part in affairs of all kinds in this city. Probably no man at his age has ever acquired so prominent a place. He is best known as alderman and mayor, the latter an honor won against a very strong opponent at the age of thirty-two. In politics he has been for a dozen years one of the most effective speakers on the Liberal side, being particularly effective in joint meetings, and was the Liberal candidate in the year of the Ross deluge. In professional practice he has had a wide experience and has won the confidence and esteem of both clients and associates at the bar by his vigorous fighting combined with absolute reliability.

In earlier years, Mr. McWilliams was an active participant in sports of all kinds and has been an officer and supporter of innumerable athletic clubs. He is best known as the "father" of Rugby football in this city and the captain of the team in its first two years in the league, when the first championships were brought to Peterborough. In military circles, he will be greatly missed, for, as captain of No. 7 company for the last eight years, he has both maintained a company always amongst the best and been most active in promoting the interests of the whole regiment. In church circles he has also taken an active part and nowhere will he be more missed than in Knox Presbyterian church in which he has been a manager and the superintendent of the Sabbath school.

In social and literary circles both he and his wife will be a great local loss, for Mrs. McWilliams has shown herself possessed of talents equal to those of her husband. We cannot but regret the loss of such excellent citizens and we congratulate Winnipeg on their acquisition. Peterboro' will have to wait some time to replace so young and so energetic a citizen, who will take such active part in political, municipal, athletic and religious affairs.

Thousands are Dead from Earthquake

Tokio, July 26.—Tremendous earthquakes and a volcanic eruption have worked havoc on Usubay, on the southern part of the Island of Hokkaido, according to advices received here today.

The advices say the earthquake shocks began on July 23, and continued almost without interruption until today, 184 distinct tremorors being recorded.

For four days a panic has reigned in the vicinity of the mountain, and 6,000 refugees have abandoned their homes, and are fleeing inland for their lives. It is feared that the entire surrounding country will be laid waste by the volumes of hot sand.

The meagre advices received here state that during the most violent earthquakes there was a terrific upheaval of the bottom of Usu Bay, and that the harbor and practically all of the shipping in the bay were destroyed. As the result of the upheaval, the great bay is now only four fathoms deep.

Loss by Strike is Nearly a Million

Toronto, July 26.—During the seven days in which the strike has been in operation the loss to earnings to the Grand Trunk Railway has been between $800,000 and $900,000. One authority figures the daily loss in gross earnings at $137,000. Multiply that by seven to make the week, and the total will come to a few odd thousands over $900,000. This figure, however, allows nothing for the reduction in the cost of operation, due to the suspension of the freight traffic, and the fact that a part, at least, of the business now held over will be carried later and will show in later earnings.

The average daily gross earnings of the railway are between $100,000 and $200,000. Of this the passenger earnings average about 30 per cent. making the average gross earnings from freight between $135,000 and $140,000. The average cost of operation on the Grand Trunk railway is 36 per cent., making the total proportion of this cost for freight traffic in round numbers, $50,000. That would make the net earnings for freight per day, or the net loss during the suspension of freight traffic per day, about $90,000. That would make the loss for the week about $630,000.

This figure, however, is rather conservative. It allows nothing for the decrease in passenger earnings, which has been material. It allows nothing for the expense the company has been put to engage special constables and for other expenses incidental to the strike.

The loss to the men in wages is estimated at between $300,000 and $400,000 for a month.

JUST ESCAPED JAUNDICE.

Shows How Important it is to Keep Liver and Kidneys Active.

When you read of the growing yellowness of the skin extending to the whites of the eyeballs, as described by Mr. J. P. Nostrand, a well-known grocer in Manchester, you will realize that jaundice is nothing to be sniffed at. "Despite the best medical skill my face grew more yellow every day. It is no fun," he writes, to be given a lemon and find its hue reflecting itself upon every part of the body. My physician informed me that a catarrhal condition had resulted in a plugging of the bile ducts and the absorption of the bile into the blood. I had some knowledge of the remarkable, stimulating and healing qualities of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and started in using them. At first I felt better, had more appetite, and entire freedom from headaches. Then came an easier feeling in the region of my stomach and I saw an almost imperceptible fading away of the yellow tinge in my skin. I persevered; used Dr. Hamilton's Pills for twelve weeks. My reward was cure—today I am healthy, happy and well."

Nothing ever discovered has such an influence on liver diseases as Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Refuse any substitute. Price 25c per box, all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

EXPECTED DEATH ANY DAY.

Another Case Where Life Was Saved and Health Restored By Nerviline.

We have all read and heard of the agonies of Sciatica, but only those who have been tortured by this dread malady can fully appreciate what it must mean to be cured after years of suffering.

It is because he feels it his solemn duty to tell to the world his faith in Nerviline that Victor P. Hires makes the following declaration. "For three years I was in the Royal Mail service and in all kinds of weather had to meet the night trains. Dampness, cold and exposure brought on sciatica that affected my left side. Sometimes an attack would come on that made me powerless to work. I was so nearly a cripple that I had to give up my job. I was in despair, completely cast down because the money I spent on trying to get well was completely wasted. I was speaking to my chemist one day, and he recommended Nerviline. I had this good liniment rubbed on several times a day and got relief. In order to build up my general CURED health and improve my blood I used Ferrozone, SIX one tablet with each meal I continued this treat- YEARS. ment four months and was cured. I have used all kinds of liniments, and can truthfully say that Nerviline is far stronger, more penetrating, and infinitely better than anything else for relieving pain. I urge everyone with lumbago, neuralgia, rheumatism or sciatica to use Nerviline. I know it will cure em."

There isn't a more highly esteemed man in Westchester than Mr. Hires. What he says can be relied upon. For six years since being cured he hasn't had a single relapse. Don't accept anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." 25 cents per bottle or five for $1. Sold everywhere or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston.

THE REVOLT AGAINST PRIZE FIGHTING.

In the moral revolt against the prize fight, the yellow press has thought it necessary to make a quick volte face. One of the most astounding examples of this is the New York American, the yellowest of the yellows. In the American and other papers of that type, the Jeffries-Johnson fight was featured day after day by some of the most highly-paid writers and artists. The public was informed that the contest would be determined by brains as well as brawn and that superiority in the ring was something to admire as more than an index merely of physical strength and prowess. It was also indicative of mental superiority. If anyone was responsible for the fact of the disgusting fight or did more than another to make it great, and so greatly mischievous, it was the New York American itself. Yet after the fight, so soon as the country began to show its disgust, the American discovers that the prize fight is a low-down exhibition of mere brutality. As the Springfield Republican exclaims: Oh, shame! where is thy shame! Could cant and pharisaism—about which the American and its like are so fond of discouring when good people and good causes are concerned—be more sickeningly exhibited? Can it be possible," one asks oneself, that a newspaper that was the vilest offender in circulating news and pictures of the fighters before the event can now come out and say: The American hereby records its protest against the exhibition of the Reno prize fight in this city. New York is sick of the whole miserable business and wants to see and hear no more of it. As a representative of this public sentiment the American not only protests, but intends and expects to make its protest effectual. The fight was a national disgrace. The pictures that represent it are immoral, and are calculated to inspire racial antagonisms and general disorder. Mayor Gaynor has no right to permit such an exhibition. The issue is one of principle. It is not trivial. It is socially portentous." ...

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for a case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Miss Giroux Takes Honors.

In the report in a Toronto paper of the candidates who passed the examinations of the Toronto College of Music, Miss Bernice Giroux was not given the proper standing. She was only credited with an ordinary pass, where as she should have been mentioned as passing with honors. It appears the error was made in the returns from the college.

Little Irene White's Leg Broken.

Irene White, the little daughter of Thomas White, of Smith street, had her leg broken in two places Monday night. She was playing with some other children, and was accidentally struck with a brick. The fracture is a compand one of the right leg between the knee and ankle. Dr. Leach, assisted by Dr. Eastwood and Dr. Hammond, reduced the fracture, which is a very serious one. The child is now in Nicholls Hospital, and is progressing favorably, her physician states.

Nothing in the way of a cough is teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so throughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety, even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. Its remarkable curative effect. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

Miss Perry Gets Big Lunge.

Fishing is particularly good in the vicinity of Beckhorn and Pigeon Lake this season, and some good catches are recorded by those summering at Oak Orchard. Miss Perry is one of the favorite ones, having landed a fifteen pound lunge the othe day, and other similar catches occur quite frequently.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearson Honored.

Mr. Pearson, former general secretary of the local Y.M.C.A., previous to his departure for his new field of usefulness in Toronto, was presented by the Board of Directors with a handsome fruit holder and a complimentary address. Mr. Pearson at a garden party at Mr. Gillen's, was also presented with a locket, and Mrs. Pearson was given a handsome handbag, by the Young Men's Bible Class of St. Paul's Church.—St. Catharines Standard.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or insider nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—those weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the easily sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

On account of an excursion down the river Captain Grey of the Lintonia, has been compelled to cancel his Thursday trip up to Stony Lake.

Mr. Pappas, proprietor of the Royal Theater, has struck the right conception of what Peterborough theater goers want in the way of amusing vaudeville. The comical quartette that appeared yesterday, greatly pleased his patrons.

The Woodmen of the World, one of Canada's most promising secret societies, is gaining ground in this city rapidly. At the last meeting a large number of candidates were initiated.

Much interest is being taken in Peterborough in the horrible Crippen murder case. Whether as Crippen or Robinson, it is to be hoped that the man, who sat daily in front of the woman whose home made buns he presumably eat, and whose bones he cut from her body, will be arrested and given the full limit of the law.

"Can be depended upon," is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by all dealers.

Use of Royal Highness.

The London Express learns that the style of Royal Highness will shortly be conferred on the brothers of Queen Mary—the Duke of Teck, Prince Francis of Teck, and Prince Alexander of Teck. At present their style is Serene Highness. The late Duke of Teck was granted the style of Highness in 1887.

The Teck family belongs to the Royal House of Wurtemberg, and the present Duke of Teck would be King of Wurtemberg now but for the morganic marriage contracted by his grandfather, Alexander Duke of Wurtemberg, who married, in 1835, Claudius Countess de Rhedey, a member of the Polish nobility.

The Duke of Teck, Queen Mary's eldest brother, is married to Lady Margaret Grosvenor, a sister of the Duke of Westminster.

Prince Francois of Teck, her second brother, who is one of the best-known men in London, is unmarried. Prince Alexander, the third brother, is married to a daughter of the Duchess of Albany.

Echo of the Rebellion.

W. J. McLean, who landed at York Factory in 1840, to enter the employment of the Hudson Bay Company at that place, and who in 1885 was stationed at Fort Pitt, and with his family was a prisoner in Big Bear's camp for 60 days during the rebellion, is now in Montreal. He declares that Lawrence Hickman, one of the great conflict, being deaf and incompetent for the position, came out scouts with Mr. McLean. Had they remained at the fort, McLean is almost sure that an arrangement could have been reached whereby the Indians would have gone back to their reserves. They in fact had about decided to abide by the Hudson Bay agent's advice, when the two policemen came along and upset everything.

Ireland's Blue.

Strange to say, the national color of Ireland is and always has been blue (that is, heraldic blue, ultramarine—not, as some people have thought, sky blue). Green never was the national color of Ireland. The national color is taken from the ground of the arms. In the case of Ireland it is azure, a harp or stringed argent—thus blue is the color for Ireland.—Argonaut.

Bees in Warfare.

Certain Nigerian tribes find bees very useful in warfare. The villagers on retiring before an enemy excite the bees and set them free, and painful is the experience of the man who is attacked by them in the labyrinths of cactus which surround the villages.

PORCUPINE CITY

THE PORCUPINE BOOM has started. The district is proven. It is to-day the greatest Gold Camp in the world.

With a present population of over 5,000 in the district, which will increase to 15,000 or 20,000 before the snow falls, the opportunities for rapid growth of the Camp's business centre are self-apparent.

PORCUPINE CITY

The Townsite has already the "Porcupine Post Office," two Banks, one 75-room Hotel, general stores, hardware stores, hospital, a drug store, bakery, theatorium, laundry, several office buildings, and numerous boarding houses and dwellings.

Townsite lots worth to-day from $60.00 to $300.00 should treble in value by Christmas, and be worth many times this amount within the next year or two.

SUDBURY, COBALT, HAILEYBURY and NORTH BAY have returned fortunes to the original investors in their real estate when those towns were young. They thrived on the returns from the baser metals—copper and silver.

A Rare Opportunity for Sale and Lucrative Investment.

The words "Black Hills" are synonymous with "fortunes in gold." From this rich section of South Dakota, many millionaires of today have drawn their fortunes. The mines there, that are today shipping out their golden flood of wealth represent but a part of the wealth that is still to be dug from that auriferous district. In the center of the fabulously rich Homblend Mining district, Pennington Co., South Dakota, the Black Hills-Anaconda Mining and Milling Co., of that State, has secured 14 claims, comprising 280,9-10 acres of rich mining ground. The company are preparing to purchase machinery and appliances needed to work their magnificent property, located in the center of the richest hundred square miles of mineral belt in the world. To obtain capital needed at once to develope and work their ore, the company has decided, for a limited time to offer a small allotment of stock at par, viz., $1 per share full paid and non-assessable. This company duly incorporated under the laws of South Dakota is capitalized at $1,500,000. This property is already developed by shafts, drifts, open cuts and tunnels, with buildings etc

VOL. XXXI NO. 172 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO THURSDAY JULY 28 1910 PRICE TWO CENTS

9,000 Harvesters for Saskatchewan

Winnipeg, July 26.—The Free Press wired the Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan, for an estimate of the crop yield for the Province. The following is the reply:

"Disconcerting and somewhat alarming reports regarding the Saskatchewan wheat crop having been circulated, it would seem to be an opportune time, now that the crop is sufficiently advanced to warrant the fairly safe estimate of the aggregate output.

"Assuming that the remaining portions of the growing season is normal, Saskatchewan promises to reap sixty million bushels of wheat. This estimate is based on the fullest information obtainable from crop correspondents and a personal inspection by members of the departmental staff, and upon the assumption that half a million acres of wheat in the new settlements will not be cut, and that the remaining four million acres will average fifteen bushels. There was rain Friday and Saturday generally in the greater portion of the wheat belt, and this has been followed by cooler and more favorable conditions for maturing and filling, all of which has tended to relieve the natural anxiety occasioned by the protracted and unusual drouth of the past four weeks.

Careful enquiry points to the necessity of securing from outside points nine thousand harvest laborers to care for Saskatchewan's rapidly-maturing harvest, and that the first harvesters' excursions will be required not later than August 15, although many of the lighter and earlier fields will be ready for the sickle before that date.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Fire Swept the Kelvin Hotel—Rev. Mr. and Mrs. McCaughan Among Guests.

Belfast, Ireland, July 26.— Fire swept through the Kelvin Hotel, burning to death three people, while several guests received frightful injuries. Five of the guests were dangerously burned and others are in a serious condition.

Among those surviving who suffered most were the Rev. William John McCaughan, for several years pastor of St. Andrew's church, Toronto, Ont., and later of Chicago, and his wife.

Dr. McCaughan escaped the flames by leaping from a high window, as did his wife. The injuries of both were pronounced serious, each having sustained a fractured skull.

The McCaughans left their room when the flames were well advanced They were compelled to dash through a wall of fire to reach a safe part of the hall. There, however, they were cut off again.

Their falls were unbroken, the minister and his wife plunging to the pavement. They were rushed to a hospital, but little hope of their recovery was extended.

Dr. McCaughan left Chicago in May, 1907. Since then he has been pastor of the May street congregation of Belfast.

Many other guests were forced to jump, and two others received probable fatal injuries. Many others were badly burned.

The three persons killed were employes.

Another "Girlies" Song.

"Girlies ! "

"Twenty of them and all under twenty."

This is the way the New York billboards read. The New York Sunday World has sent its Song Man up to see "Girlies" at the New Amsterdam Theatre, and he has picked out a good song from this summer show. The song will be given with next Sunday's World, words and music complete, also a page of theatrical pictures, in colors, and lots of other features.

COMPANY IS SILENT NOW

BECAUSE THE STRIKE IS OVER THEY CLAIM.

INACURRATE INFORMATION,

INSISTS VICE-PRESIDENT MURDOCK OF THE BROTHERHOOD.

G. T. R. Chairman Coming to Canada

London, July 27.—A. W. Smithers, chairman of the Grand Trunk Railway Board, goes to Canada on Saturday, sailing on the Mauretania.

Mr. Alfred Waldrop Smithers was appointed chairman of the Grand Trunk Railway Board, in succession to Sir Rivers Wilson, and had been its vice-chairman for five years. His connection with the company dates back to 1896, in which year he made his first tour of inspection in Canada traveling over all the numerous branch lines of the company, as well as along its main arteries. This trip he has since repeated.

In 1907 in company with Mr. Hays he traveled over a large stretch of the route to be taken by the Grand Trunk Pacific going from Vancouver to Prince Rupert, the site of which as a terminal port much impressed him.

Mr. Smither is thoroughly optimistic as to the future which lies before the G.T.R. and G.T.P. systems He is an active, alert man, still in the fifties, and is credited with that mastery of detail which is so essential in the head of a great organization. Mr. Smithers has been a member of the Stock Exchange since 1873; he is chairman of the English Association of American Bondholders, having succeeded Mr. Joseph Price, formerly vice-president of the G.T.R. in that position in 1904.

Horse's Narrow Escape From Lightning.

Yesterday afternoon the driver of a local delivery wagon, left his horse, tied to a telephone pole on George street, as he, the driver, went into a shop on business. The young man was occupied with his business for possibly three-quarters of an hour. Whilst he was inside the thunderstorm that caused thousands to seek shelter, came on. As the horse stood, tied to a pole, a vivid flash of lightning illuminated the street. Whether a bolt or a casual flash of lightning, it is impossible to say, caused the animal to suddenly rear and then tug vigorously at its restraining halter strap. An eye-witness saw the electric flood play all round the horse, and then in an instant disappear. The horse trembled in its fright but did not seem to have sustained any serious injury.

AT THE HEADQUARTERS AT MONTREAL THE G.T.R IS ISSUING NO MORE STATEMENTS.

The Men Still Speak Up—Maintaining Company is Moving But Little Freight—Booth's Mills Open.

Montreal, July 27.—The announcement was made by Mr. Murdock at midnight last night that the strikers were coming to the relief of the idle Ottawa lumber mill hands, and that strikers would be allowed to man one train, which would relieve the congestion at the big Booth mill yards, and give the crowd of workers employment again.

"We have felt that a certain amount of responsibility for the closing down of the Ottawa mills might be laid at the door of the men, and rather than allow that we have decided on this step," said Mr. Murdock. "It will allow the resumption of work at once, for Mr. Booth has said that with one train crew he can clear his yards. This move on our part is entirely in the interests of the men."

"What if the Grand Trunk will not agree to work its trains with strikers?" he was asked.

"Then the onus is on the Grand Trunk," was the reply. "It will not be through any fault of ours that the great crowd of men is kept in idleness."

Earlier in the evening Mr. Murdock gave the necessary orders for the carrying out of this plan. The clearing of the Booth yards applies only to the plant in Ottawa, not to that in Burlington, Vermont. The bulk of the business done at this point is done by the Rutland Railway, although the Central Vermont runs past the yards there, and does some of the hauling.

INACCURATE INFORMATION.

Mr. Murdock still insists that much of the information given by the company as to the number of freight trains handled is inaccurate. "In a normal 24-hour day business for the Grand Trunk is about 700 freight trains, or 21,000 cars, that is taking 30 cars to the train," he said. "They handled 60 freight trains on their whole system, with about 1,600 cars, in the twenty-four hours. On some of these trains there was a man to about every car, with deputies and men like that. Can you call that moving freight? Is it anything like the statements the company has been making? Our information is accurate, too.

TRAINS CANCELLED.

"On the northern and some other parts of the line many passenger trains are still cancelled.

"The superintendent at Lindsay has called up some of our executive men and pleaded with them to come back while there is yet time. Our men do not show much of a disposition to accede to the prayer, however.

"The situation today is practically the same as that of yesterday, and it will remain the same as long the company maintains its present attitude."

TO TALK THINGS OVER.

Messrs. Garretson and Berry, head of the striking trainmen, are expected here this morning, Mr. Murdock said that he could not state before hand what they would do here.

"I expect that they just want to talk things over with me," he said.

"Is it likely that this will make any alterations in the conduct of strike?" he was asked.

"I do not think so, I do not expect that they will come here to annul my actions," he laughed. "I fancy I will have just as much authority as ever. In a critical affair like this it is just as well to have the heads of all the departments together to talk things over sometimes."

BOURASSA NOT IN IT.

Asked as to the rumor that Mr. Henro Bourassa, M.P., would likely take an active part in trying to bring about a better understanding between company and men, Mr. Murdock indulged in a quiet smile. "That's all nonsence," he said. "Mr. Bourassa is naturally deeply interested in this affair, and I was asked to meet him and talk it over with him. I met him on Monday and again this evening. He has nothing to do with it, however.

Guelph Hopes to Become a 'Taxless City'.

City of Ambitious Canadian Town Believe in Municipal Ownership of Public Utilities.

They Have Found a Way to Reduce Their Taxes Clear Down to the Vanishing Point.

Guelph, Ont., July 27.—It is said "Nothing is sure but death and taxes," but this sober old city bids fair to become the exception that proves the rule. Not that its worthy citizens have discovered the elixir of life and are able to prolong their lives indefinitely. They live and die pretty much the same as the citizens of any other place, except that, perhaps, being for the most part of hardy Scotch stock, they hang on to life a little longer than most others. They have rather made some advances along that other avenue of research favored in olden times, and have found a modern philosopher's stone. It is called public ownership, and so far everything it has touched in this "royal city of the North," has turned to gold in the shape of annual surpluses. Death is still sure but taxes are not nearly so certain in Guelph as they used to be. This is an age of wireless telegrams, horseless carriages and smokeless powder. Why not a taxless city? Guelph citizens are asking.

The city owns its own street railway, the light and heat plant, the waterworks and a small railroad called the Guelph Junction, which has been leased to the Canadian Pacific and forms an important link in the dragnet of lines the latter has stretched across Ontario. All these investments are paying large surpluses year by year, and taxes are falling regularly. The rate has already reached 14½ mills, the lowest of any city in Canada by long odds.

When the tax rate was set last year it was believed that low water mark had been reached. This year it is announced, however, that if the civic administrators "grind exceedingly small," a further reduction of several mills will be possible. This will make the rate a little more than half what it is in other Canadian cities of the same size.

But this gradual cutting down of the tax rate is only a beginning. It is boldly proclaimed that if Guelph keeps straight ahead on her municipal ownership programme the time will come when there will be no tax rate at all! This may sound extremely improbable; it may be regarded as the mere outpouring of an extravagant optimism bred of a temporary success, but there are tangible reasons for the hope that the day of no taxes will come. Hard headed business men who take a prominent part in the affairs of the city have set it before them as an objective point.

The greatest source of revenue is the Guelph Junction Railway. This little eighteen mile road is in a strategic position to make money. It connects the Guelph and Goderich Railway with the Canadian Pacific road and the city collects toll on everything that passes over. A glance at the map will show in what an important line the civic system forms a link. At one end is Goderich, a harbour town on Lake Huron, the most convenient terminus for lake steamers from the west. Goderich is to-day diverting a large share of the lake trade and is believed to be only on the threshold of its career as a grain shipping port. Steamers bearing the golden grain from the wheat fields of the West deposit their loads at Goderich. The grain is then shipped East and travels perforce over the Guelph and Goderich and the Guelph Junction before reaching the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The yearly earnings of the city amount to approximately $30,000 to-day. It is predicted that the profit will be doubled at least in the next decade.

Then there is the Light and Heat Department, which manufacturers both gas and electric light. It yearly turns over a neat profit, well up in the thousands, despite the handicap of expensive power. When Niagara energy comes, this year, the city will save $10,000 alone on the operation of its plants by "white coals" transmitted direct from the falls. This, of course, will be applied to the reduction of the rates charged for light and heat, but the city will make a profit on the sale of power to manufacturers and neighboring municipalities.

The next few years are expected to see Guelph the centre of a network of radial lines branching out through surrounding countries. Niagara energy will be used almost exclusively by these lines, and as it will be supplied through Guelph there will be a further profit for the city from that source.

The street railway hands over to the city coffers a neat sum every year. The redemption of the trolley system has been the most distinct victory for public ownership that Guelph has yet scored. Built by an ambitious citizen, it proved a costly experiment. Guelph, with its population of only 13,000, did not seem large enough to support street cars. The road owner, who had exported the road to be a bonanza, discovered it was a white elephant. A fortune was sunk in it.

Then the city took over the road and put under the control of a radial board. Operating expenses were put on a basis of economic efficiency and the receipts were carefully nursed by the establishment of pleasure parks outside the city and the opening of a rink in winter time. Year by year the road was pulled out of the hole, until finally a surplus was declared. This surplus grows larger every year, and the board now talks of building new lines in the city. Before many months the building of a radial line to Paulinch Lake, a popular resort nine miles from the city, will be commenced.

The waterworks paid last year a profit of $21,200 and established the enviable record of supplying the best water in Canada. Six miles from the city are springs, running every season with sufficient volume to supply several cities the size of Guelph. The Commissioners conceived the idea of bringing this pure water to the city by force of gravitation, and a large conduit was laid from the spring district to the pumping station in the city.

Having met with such unvarying success in everything undertaken to date, Guelph, like Alexander, sighs for more worlds to conquer. There is talk now of the establishment of municipal telephones and a venture into the realm of municipal insurance. The city aims not only to provide her citizens with every comfort, but also to look after their wives and children when they die.

Mrs. (Rev.) Parson's Death.

After having passed through an operation two weeks ago at the Toronto General Hospital, the wife of Rev. M. L. Pearson, who resides at 377 Rusholme road, this city, died unexpectedly Monday morning at the hospital where hope had been entertained for her recovery. Rev. M. L. Pearson had just retired, accepting the superannuation allowance from Strathroy. Those of the family who survive besides Rev. Mr. Pearson, are Rev. Ed. A. Pearson, B.A., of Central church, Hamilton; Mrs. F. Edson White, Chicago; Wm. P. Pearson, South Africa; Harold W. Pearson, Toronto, and Miss Kathleen, who resides with her father. The funeral took place on Tuesday at Toronto, and was private.—Toronto Globe.

Claim They Could Wreck the Company

STRIKERS HAVE STILL MORE POWERFUL WEAPONS TO USE AGAINST G.T.R.

President Lee Believes That the English Shareholders Will Yet Step in to Stop the Conflict.

Montreal, July 27.—"The Grand Trunk is losing one million a week. The strikers have spent only five thousand dollars and have a fund of two millions. Now which can hold out longer?"

This query was the climax of an interview which a reporter had this afternoon with Mr. W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who, with Mr. Garretson, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, was in a long conference with Mr. James Murdock here this morning. Both gentlemen return to Toronto tonight.

"Surely," said Mr. Lee, "public opinion in Canada will compel the Grand Trunk to adopt as fair an attitude towards arbitration as the strikers have."

WANT BETTER BASIS.

"In our readiness and ability to continue the battle indefinitely, we are willing to throw the fight overboard and resume relations as employes of the company, though on an improved basis.

"On the other hand the railway refuses peace at any price and brazens it out in an effort to convince the public of their indifference. Grand Trunk trains are traveling with coaches half empty. Rival roads are reaping the revenues and freight lines crippled all along the line despite what anyone says.

"The strongest argument gainst the position taken by Mr. Hays," continued Mr. Lee, "is the fact that one hundred and ten railways in the United States have adopted the standard wage scale for their men, and the Grand Trunk is practically the only exception. Even the Erie Railway and the Pere Marquette, which have for years run on the thin edge of bankruptcy, pay their men the recognized wages.

Tragic Culmination of a Bar-Room Row

Toronto, July 27.—A few minutes after reaching the General Hospital this morning, and after a long and tedious ride from North Bay, George Matthews, a teamster of Horning's Mills, Ont., died as the result of a blow from the fist of James Burk, during a saloon brawl at North Bay on July 11th last. Burk came here in charge of the patient and upon his death, gave himself up to Police Constable Egan who was driving the police ambulance. He is now in custody on a charge of murder.

In the row which occurred in a hotel in North Bay, but one blow was struck, and Matthews, the deceased, fell against the bar inflicting a small wound on the head. Burk cared for him and had him placed in a hospital at North Bay. Then when the hospital could do nothing more for him, Burk undertook to remove him to his home in Horning's Mills. On the way down from Sudbury, Matthews became worse. A doctor was called in at Alliston, Ont. He pronounced the case as not being serious and gave some tablets. Matthews began to grow still worse, however, and when he reached Toronto, was removed to the General Hospital this morning. Burk accompanied him to the hospital in the ambulance and saw him die in the corridor before he could be put to bed. He then gave himself up to Driver Egan and was brought down to detective headquarters at the City Hall. There he made a statement to Inspector Duncan, which was taken down by a court stenographer.

Warrant for Crippen's Arrest was Issued to Police at Rimouski

Ottawa, July 27.—If Dr. Crippen proves to be on the Montrose and any trouble should ensue as to his extradition, it would not be necessary to institute such proceedings. The immigration authorities here say he could be taken into custody and deported under the Act as an undesirable. The Dominion police have no further advices on the subject.

Quebec, July 27.—A warrant for the arrest of H. H. Crippen, wanted in London in connection with the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore, was today placed in the hands of Chief Constable Guavreau, representative of the Dominion Police at Rimouski.

By this move, the final preparations were made for the trap into which it is said Crippen will walk on Sunday.

Under direction of Commissioner Sherwood of the Dominion Police, Gauvreau's superior at Ottawa, the police exerted every effort today to get into wireless communication with the steamer Montrose, on which the American dentist is believed to be a passenger indisguise, accompanied by Ethel Clare Le Neve his stenographer.

Although the authorities had maintained an attitude of taciturnity, it was learned on reliable authority that Gauvreau will board the steamer from a pilot boat, making no show of authority until all danger of the suspect's suicide is past.

It is possible that the arrest will not be made until the vessel is almost at Quebec, though the officers will board her at Father Point. He will act the part of assistant to the pilot, according to the understanding.

It is unlikely that the arrest will be made immediately when the officer sees the suspects, as the authorities are fearful of a mistake in identity. Time will be taken to test the suspicions from every port and point before the supposed Rev. Mr. Robinson and his son will be apprehended.

Mr. Fred C. Borland of Pittsburg, is in the city.

FIGHTING THE PRIZE FIGHT.

Owing to the discussion aroused by the Jeffries-Johnson fight Los Angeles is to legislate prize fighting out of existence. It will have a boxing regulation ordinance so drawn that it is guaranteed to do the trick without coming into conflict with the state law.

If the question be asked whether this indicates any marked change, we can only say that the neighborhood of Los Angeles has been very favorable to the doomed art. A review by the San Francisco Argonaut before the fight at Reno came off presented the California record and showed that the fights in the vicinity of San Francisco numbered between twenty and thirty a year during the last two or three years, and that within the same period there had been sixteen notable fights at Vernon, a suburb of Los Angeles, with many others of which no record had been made. "For the past few years the fights at Vernon, large and small, have averaged about three a month."

Manifestly Vernon without fights would be a new suburb, and the Los Angeles movement is certainly indicative of the effect of the recent agitation on public sentiment in the state which has made a regular feature of these mauling displays. There have been frequent contests not only at San Francisco and Los Angeles but at Oakland, Sacramento, San Diego and a dozen or more other towns. Without the heavy hand of suppression the boxing exhibitions simply means the prize fight, and it will be interesting to see if the example of Los Angeles is followed by other California cities.

Nothing in the way of a cough is teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so throughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety, even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. Its remarkable curative effect. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

A Virginia judge has sentenced a man to a year in the penitentiary for prize fighting. An encouraging thing about it is that there is no evidence that the judge had a bet on the wrong fighter.

An Ohio religious paper wants the building of airships stopped by law "because the Creator would have given men wings if He had intended them to fly." This may be a sound argument, but why did the Creator neglect to give men clothes if He intended them to be dressed?

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for a case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Tell Some Sick One

It Is Free If It Fails.

Will you do an act of humanity?
Will you tell some sick friend of ours, or somebody else?

Just tell him or her, that you have learned of a medicine so certain that its makers dare say to the sick, "If it absolutely and unconditionally fails it costs you nothing."

And you, no doubt, already know of Dr. Shoop's Restorative and its possibility.

For 20 years it has been the standard remedy for stomach, kidney and blood ailments everywhere in America.

When the "inside" or controlling nerves, those which organs begin to fail, it is Dr. Shoop's Restorative that has quickly vitalized and strengthened and brought those nerves and organs back to health again.

I do not dose the stomach, nor stimulate the heart or kidneys—for that is all wrong.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes direct to the cause of these ailments—the failing, faltering inside or controlling nerves. And herein lies the harmless to my success.

When those nerves are again made well and strong, then that is the certain end of all such sickness.

To me it is a great satisfaction that I am the only physician able to say to the sufferer sick, "Take my prescription for full 30 days, and if it fails to help you, the entire expense is mine—and yours."

Then why should the sick take any chance on any other medicine, when mine dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer?

I also have a Rheumatic Remedy—and that remedy is covered by the same identical "no help, no pay" protective plan.

But last, you are free to consult me just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some one's ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan. My best effort is surely worth your simple request.

So let me send you an order at once. Take the message to some sick friend.

A postal will bring the opportunity.

I will have an honest and trustworthy druggist to whom you can conveniently go for the Restorative.

But first, ask me for the order, for all druggists are not authorized to give the Shoop Cure.

So write me now and save all doubts. Remember that tomorrow never comes. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

Mrs. James Frowde left on the 11.28 C.P.R. yesterday morning for Sydney, Nova Scotia, where she will visit her son, Mr. H. A. Frowde for a month.

LIFE IN KHARTOUM

For Well-to-Do Folks It Has Numerous Attractions.

Somehow or other, one always associates life in the Soudan with something decidedly unpleasant, but the following little glimpse of a day at Khartoum does not even hint at any disagreeable phases. The day is divided into five stages. First stage starts between 5 and 6 o'clock a. m., and consists of a ride out into the desert. The next stage, beginning after bath and breakfast, is, for the men, work in their offices or barracks, and, for the women, household duties. There is no shopping for them to do. That must be left to the servants (all natives except the personal "maids"). But everything that native servants do must be overlooked. They are as well paid as servants at home. A good cook will get $5 a month, for example. But they cannot be trusted to keep a house in order as English servants can.

Third stage is the middle-of-the-day rest. Not many officials do much after 2 o'clock. From that hour until 4 English houses are wrapped in slumberous silence. Those who are not asleep are reading or writing. Then, at about 4, the place suddenly springs to life again. Up to now the hot, wide dusty streets and the shady river front have been left to the natives. From 4 onward there are plenty of white faces and smart frocks and hats to be seen, plenty of men in flannels, with tennis rackets, driving in neat little carts or riding donkeys, or even walking after the sun has gone down and the cool breeze from across the river brings back one's energy with a refreshing rush.

Final and fifth stage is dinner—dinner under the brilliant stars which cover the deep blue southern sky, at a table lit by discreetly shaded lamps. There is a frank geniality around Khartoum dinner tables which leaves a wonderfully pleasant impression on the mind. Nowhere could strangers experience greater kindness, a more charming radiness to make friends. It may be because they are in a Mohammedan country, where hospitality is a sacred duty enjoined by the Koran. It may be because Khartoum is favored with particularly attractive people as residents. Whatever the reason, they are in a delightful conspiracy to give their visitors a good time.

A Motley Gathering.

The following curious analysis of the names of M.P.'s in the British House of Commons is interesting.

Color is represented by a Black, a Green, a Grey, a Reddy, and six Whites or Whytes.

Culinary matters are well looked after by two Boyles, a Cooke, and a Kettle, While Burns keep them company in this department.

The animal kingdom is extremely numerous, with its Bird, Craik, Dewes, Fox, Haddock, Leach, Martin, Roches, Roe and Wolff, not to speak of a Bull and two Horns (s).

The surface of the earth is well defined by a Beach, Caves, Craig, Fell, Field, a Heath, Hill or Hills, Moore, Leagh, Mount, Parkes, Rookes, Sandys, Weir, and three Wood (s).

Of places there are the Clyde, France, Holland, Holt, Jordan, Lincoln, Lumdon, and Snowden.

Agriculture can claim Barnes, Clay, Croft, and two Hodges; horticulture its Primroses and two Thornes; sport a Falconer, a Fisher, Bowles, Hunt, two Hunters, and two Walkers.

Clothing is represented by Brace and Coates; nautical matters by a Holmes; ecclesiastical by a Bell, a Peel, Chaplain, Chapple, and a Churchill.

There are two Kings, a Chancellor, a Duke, and a Barran and a Knight, while there is a Long and a Short of it, a Thynne, two Youngs, and two Youngers, the humor of the House being looked after by Smiley.

Passed as Inspector.

A clever ex-convict named Thomas Parkes, has been sent back to prison at Gorey for obtaining his livelihood by dishonest means. Throughout County Wexford he had been masquerading as an inspector of orchards under the Local Government Board; and so charming was his address that he was feted by the farmers. His examination of the orchards was a masterpiece of play acting. In some cases he merely required that the owners should limewash the premises, and in others that they should concrete the floors. Grants from the Estates Commissioners were promised by him and also, as a step to the laborers, an additional half acre. On such promises he borrowed money galore and lived like a lord.

A Mournful Comedian.

Melancholy Peter Doody, the jockey—in private life Mr. Alfred Lester—who is one of the chief attractions of "The Arcadians" at the Shaftesbury Theatre, in London, Eng., tells an interesting story of the genesis of "The Scene-Shifter," the sketch which may be said to have marked the turning-point in his career. Some years ago he was on tour as stage-manager of a musical comedy, one incident of which was the carrying across of a piece of scenery. This was generally done by one of the stage hands, as not a word was allotted to the part. One night the usual man was missing, and Mr. Lester, to save the situation, promptly performed the duty himself.

THE NEW GOLDEN BUCKET

A few years ago, the recovery of Gold from auriferous gravels and subaqueous beds, was considered impossible. The "pan" and "grizzly," operated by hand, appeared to be the sole method of recovering values. It was during this period that Dr. Lindeman, Director of the United States Mint expressed the opinion that he who could devise a machine, without adding proportionately to the cost of production, capable of saving 20 per cent. of all the placer gold, would not only enrich himself, but within the lives of men still living, would double the world's available gold supplies. The Director of the United States Mint further said: "WE CAN HARDLY HOPE FOR THIS, THOUGH NO MAN DARES SAY IT IS IMPOSSIBLE."

The perfected modern Dredge is to-day a substantial reality. Allowing for delays in shifting, for necessary repairs, etc., the Gold Dredge runs on an average about 16 hours out of twenty-four, thus making, up in length of working day, loss of operations during winter months. These Dredges are operated in ready made mining areas, recovering millions of dollars annually, at the lowest possible cost.

The Director of the Mint of the United States in his report for 1908 says:

"The Gold Dredge makes money where a cooly would starve."

Outing Magazine: "When you think that bold inventive talent has been able to devise machinery that makes it profitable to extract ten cents worth of gold from a ton of earth, the enterprise becomes one of the romances of American industry."

"A chain of powerful buckets bite into the earth, each bringing up a considerable quantity of earth and gravel. These are subjected to screen treatment and the gold recovered."

Callaguin in 45 years, within gallop of less than two miles of placer ground, produced $200,000,000 in gold. To-day the vast number of Modern Dredges working over all ground are recovering millions annually.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or insider nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drug the organs. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

The Man Who Knocks.

The man who knocks on the railroads belongs to the Lobsteria. As the railroads prosper. When the shops shut down, orders for iron are cancelled; and the empties line the sidings, we are all up against it, and the bread-line forms.

Always in times of stress a vast number of people look to the Government for relief. But what shall we say of a Government which makes war on those who are now giving work to millions, and thereby assure us peace and prosperity! If the men in charge of our Government insist on being Business-Baiters, the horse roar of the mob, demanding work or bread, will again be heard and women and children will be pushed defenseless into the storm. Business in this country gives work and wage to everyone who wants to work. Let business alone.

Ex-Parte actions against the railroads should be forbidden by the statute. Burglarly, hold-ups, strong-arm tricks, rape, are all ex-parte proceedings. And what think you of the dignity of a President who resorts to an ex-parte action in order to gain a cheap and transient legal victory over a very important part of the people, whom he has sworn to protect in their legal rights!

The Railroads have only one thing to sell, and that is transportation, and the people of this country are willing and anxious to pay for the transportation all it is worth. We are not mendicants, and we ask for nothing at less than its value.

He who tries to incite class-hatred and makes it appear that there is war on between the railroads and the people is a wicker-sham. The railroads thrive only as the people thrive, and every railroad manager knows it.—Elbert Hubbard.

SERIOUS FIRE AVERTED.

Conflagration in the Early Morning Does Much Damage.

What threatened to become a serious conflagration, broke out early yesterday morning in a barn at the rear of Mr. D. P. McFarlane's residence in the south end of the city. Mrs. Lang, attired in her robe de nuit, on seeing the barn ablaze rushed out and loudly raised the cry of fire, in an endeavor to awaken the neighbors. Her lusty cry of "Fire!" not bringing the aid she sought, Mrs. Lang kicked vigorously at the door of a neighbor's house. Unfortunately Mrs. Lang, who is a widow, living with her son, is not acquainted with local conditions as regards the nearest alarm box. During the subsequent excitement Mr. Chas. Chambe, 57 Rubidge street, was awakened, and was soon out on the street. He went to box 17, at the C.G.E. gate, and rang in the alarm. By this time Mr. Davis and his family, living near by, were awakened and realized the danger their property was in.

The brigade made a quick response and from the time they reached the scene until they left it two hours later, they worked like Trojans, and the property owners who suffered cannot speak too highly of the way the fire was handled by Chief Howard and his men. The three houses that are damaged, are built of clapboard, and are seperated only by a roadway.

The fire fiend was rampant, and this conflagration and seemingly in full possession of affairs, but he had not reckoned with Chief Howard's gallant fire fighters. The houses were on fire when the brigade arrived, and it was these that Chief Howard turned his attention to. Two lines of hose were laid from the hydrant at Park and Townsend Sts. The heat was intense, but the men stayed with it. They soon got to work with their appliances and skilled knowledge in control and streams of water pouring where it would do the most good. Neighbors did all they could in saving furniture, etc. It is not altogether a joke when it is remarked, that in the excitement, a mattress was carefully carried down stairs while a china utensil was flung from a window. The neighbors like the brigade, however, spared neither time nor labor in assisting to save goods. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The damages to the various properties is principally to the rear of the houses. Mr. D. P. McFarlane loses his barn and the back rooms and the rear part of the roof was badly burned. The loss, as far as the other two houses is concerned, will amount to about $900. Another incidental loss was the destruction of a telephone cable, which was promptly re-connected.

A Marriage in St. John's Church.

The marriage of Miss Edith Mary Sparrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sparrow, 208 Wescott street, to Mr. Ed. C. Jeary, Detroit, Mich., and formerly of Charlton, England, was solemnized at St. John's church yesterday morning at eleven o'clock. The bridesmaid was Miss Margaret Weaver, and the groom was attended by the bride's brother, Mr. A. H. Sparrow. The ceremony was witnessed by a large number of the friends of the contracting party. A wedding luncheon was served at the home of the bride's father, and hearty congratulations were extended to the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Jeary left on the 4.30 train for Detroit, where they will reside.

Lift Lock Temporarily Disabled.

The Peterborough Hydraulic Lift Lock was on Tuesday night closed temporarily, against navigation, pending some slight repairs to one of the guard gates. The trouble was fortunately not serious. It is expected that this morning this great Canadian engineering accomplishment will once more be in full working order.

DRINKING WATER AT MEALS AND RIGHT AIR.

The more staunchly a hygienic precept asserts itself the surer it seems to ultimate reversals. For years the doctors have been telling us that the copious use of water at meals was a mistake; it diluted the gastric juice and impeded digestion. Now the profession, through the Rockfeller Institute for Medical Research, recants. Definite experimentation has been going on. As a result we may drink all the water we want at meals. So far from harming us it will do us good.

What will be the next established notion to weaken? That of the necessity for fresh air at night? The open window by the bed is really an American fad. The Europeans of the continent sleep with their windows as tight as drums and seem to be none the worse for it. They regard the predilection for night air with dismay and horror. It must be confessed that analogies from the animal kingdom are on their side. The chicken sleeps with its head under its wing. The dozing dog or cat is never at ease until its nose, buried between its paws or on its fur, is inaccessible to air. Irrigation and suffocation—such seems to be the simple rule for a happy and healthy life.

ILL HEALTH, ITS CAUSE.

Sluggishness of Liver and Bowels.

It took me a long time to learn, and big doctors' bills in the bargain, writes Mr. Ogilby, of Winnipeg that the disturbance of my system inactivity. A sleepiness and langour extinguished my old time ambition. I fear irritability of temper added little to the comfort of my family, yet the headaches, general misery and melancholy forebodings that weighed me down ought to be considered. Tonics, electric treatment and mineral waters in turn failing to cure me, the advertising of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and the testimonials supporting the claim of great medicinal virtue induced me to try them. The result of even the first box made clear that my own body was making its own poison, that by driving it from the system and removing the cause which undoubtedly resided in the liver and bowels, by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, my health would be as good as ever.

It seems certain to me that more than half the sickness we see about us is caused by carelessness in keeping the bowels open and the liver active. Dr. Hamilton's Pills I found do both, and find it better than other remedies. 25c per box, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston.

AWAITING HIS DOOM

NEGRO FIEND WILL HANG TOMORROW MORNING.

One of the Foulest Crimes Possible Will be Avenged—The Prisoner in a State Bordering on Collapse

Fort Madison, Ia., July 28.—Before the expiration of another day John Junkin, the negro who, on the night of February 5th, 1909, brutally murdered and then robbed Miss Clara Rosen, a handsome choir singer at Ottumwa, in this State, will have expiated his crime upon the gallows. The scaffold recently erected at the penitentiary is waiting for the doomed man and the preparations for the execution, which have kept Sheriff John G. Clark, of Appanoose county busy for many days, are completed in every detail.

With the approach of the time for his execution the condemned murderer has become extremely nervous and the prison guards who have kept the death-watch over the prisoner for several weeks, have doubled their vigilance, fearing that Junkin, almost insane from fright over the approaching ordeal, would attempt to commit suicide at the last moment, rather than undergo the legal penalty upon the scaffold.

The attitude of the negro murderer has undergone a remarkable change since the time when he was first taken to the penitentiary to protect him from being lynched. After his fear of the lynchers had worn off Junkin displayed a bravado which thoroughly disgusted the prison officials. He seemed to feel great satisfaction over his importance and notoriety and did not even lose his assurance when he was found guilty of murder and sentenced to death. But, as the time for his execution approached, his dread of the terrible ordeal made him a craven, sullen and whining as his moods changed. Never for a moment did he give the slightest evidence of remorse for his brutal crime or of sympathy for the victim and her family.

The crime for which Junkin will pay the legal penalty upon the gallows to-morrow was one of the most heinous in the criminal annals of this State. The young and handsome victim, Miss Clara Rosen, was returning from choir practice on the night of February 5th, of last year, when she was waylaid by Junkin in a deserted locality. The negro choked the girl to prevent her crying for help, beat her brains out with a rock and then robbed her of her earrings and finger rings. The unusual brutality of the crime had aroused the most intense feeling among the citizens of Ottumwa and when it became known that the slayer of the girl had been apprehended, the citizens gathered with the intention of lynching the murderer. Only with the greatest difficulty did the authorities succeed in thwarting the plans of the incensed citizens and in smuggling Junkin out of the city and bringing him by special train to Fort Madison where he was kept safe at the penitentiary.

The execution of Junkin to-morrow will be the second legal hanging of a negro in this State in twenty-five years. The last negro who paid the death penalty upon the scaffold in this State was Joe Smith, a negro from Buxton, who was hanged on April 20th, 1906, for the murder of his sweetheart. It is a remarkable coincidence that Judge M. A. Roberts, who passed judgment on Junkin, also presided at the trial of Smith.

There was a great demand for permits to witness the hanging of Junkin, but Sheriff Clark was compelled to refuse the requests of a majority of the applicants. Among those who received tickets of admission are the father and two brothers of the victim, the aged mother of the condemned murderer, six Sheriffs, three of the jurors who pronounced Junkin guilty of murder, four of the special guards who watched Junkin day and night since the conclusion of the trial, the prosecuting attorneys of Wapello and Appanoose counties, one of the attorneys for the defense, the superintendent of the railroad who had arranged the special train to take Junkin to Fort Madison, three newspaper men and a few others.

After the execution the body of Junkin will be turned over to Professor H. J. Hoeve, the criminologist, who wishes to make a careful examination of the brain and other organs of the criminal. Junkin sold his body to Dr. Hoeve for $50, the money to go to his mother who spent her last dollar for the defense of her son.

THE WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE BILL.

There is something ominous in the large majority by which the women's suffrage bill has passed its second reading in the British house of commons. It is safe to say that there are not three hundred members ready to accept the principle of parliamentary votes for women as a system to go into immediate operation. The measure has been referred to a committee, and it may be that the second reading was supported by the majority in order that the questions involved in the bill might be discussed in detail. However that may be, the fact remains that the second reading has been passed by a majority of 109, and the second reading is usually held to affirm the principle of the measure. Hereafter the suffragists can always claim that the main feature of their programme has been endorsed and accepted by the representative chamber of Great Britain.

So far as can be judged by the brief cabled report, Mr. Balfour and Mr. Winston Churchill favored the principle of the measure, but declared that it could never become law until endorsed by the people. Mr. Asquith is obviously opposed to the opposition, and so is Mr. Austin Chamberlain. Chancellor Lloyd George is represented as a strong supporter of women's suffrage, but the reports leave it to be understood that he refused to accept the measure as introduced. It would appear that the measure is sentenced to death by a lingering process, and that in the committee stage the work of slaughter will be neatly and courteously performed.

A tickling or dry cough can go quickly loosened with Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. No opium, no chloroform, nothing unsafe or harsh. Sold by all dealers.

PORCUPINE CITY

THE PORCUPINE BOOM has started. The district is proven. It is to-day the greatest Gold Camp in the world.

With a present population of over 5,000 in the district, which will increase to 15,000 or 20,000 before the snow falls, the opportunities for rapid growth of the Camp's business centre are self-apparent.

PORCUPINE CITY

The Townsite has already the "Porcupine Post Office," two Banks, one 75-room Hotel, general stores, hardware stores, hospital, a drug store, bakery, theatorium, laundry, several office buildings, and numerous boarding houses and dwellings.

Townsite lots worth to-day from $60.00 to $300.00 should treble in value by Christmas, and be worth many times this amount within the next year or two.

SUDBURY, COBALT, HAILEYBURY and NORTH BAY have returned fortunes to the original investors in their real estate when these towns were young. They thrived on the returns from the baser metals—copper and silver.
